A birthday party and also in the nature of a surprise was held at the Elmer Hylland home on Monday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hylland highly respected old settlers of this community. As evidence of the esteem with which they are held was proven by the large crowd present. Rev. Anderson gave a very splendid talk which was much enjoyed then the guests partook of refreshments after which the honored were presented with a purse of money. A very large and beautiful cake served as a center piece for the table.

Last Saturday at the Olstad home, Mrs. Olaf Olstad was presented with many beautiful and useful gifts at a baby shower, also honoring the new arrival.—Sigurd Johnson returned to the village after his absence of a couple of months. He is staying with Knut Sollid. —For amusement and pleasure do not fail to be at the RNW hall on Saturday evening for the presentation of the Gay Pretender, a comedy given by local talent. The play promises to be very entertaining and a dance will be given immediately after the show to patrons.

In Appreciation

To all our many friends who made possible the surprise extended to us on Monday we sincerely extend our heartfelt thanks.

Your thoughtfulness, best wishes and congratulations shall never be forgotten.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hylland. 10c

BUFFALO HUNT STAGED AT PARK IN MANKATO

Mankato.—Scenes reminiscent of pioneer days were re-enacted at Sibley park recently in an honest-to-goodness buffalo hunt. The "hunter" was Art Finney, and the victim, Toby, two-year-old bull. Toby was chased down into a corner of the deer yard at the park and executed on the run by four shots from Finney's high-powered rifle. The first shot, near the heart and through the body just back of the front legs, dropped the young bull, but he shook himself and attempted to rise. Three more shots ended his brief career. Although the buffalo yard at the park is spacious, it isn't big enough for two buffalo bulls and so Toby had to be executed to halt the strife. He weighed between 800 and 900 pounds.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

PROWLERS CAP 1937 DISTRICT CAGE CROWN FRI.

E. G. F. Wins Over Warren in Consolation Game

The magnanimous Prowlers perched themselves on the summit of the District 31 basketball heap by outpointing the gallant Crookston Pirates 22 to 16 in the tournament finals here Friday evening. Coach George Lee and his squad gave Thief River Falls its first district championship since 1933, and won the right to represent this district in the Region 8 meet at Ada, March 11 and 12.

The Pirates, game to the core, met a disastrous end at the hands of the shrewdly tutored Leemen whose almost impregnable citadel of defense reduced the high scoring Crookston offense to its minimum. The ever cautious Prowlers attempted almost every strategic avenue of scoring know in basketball to beat the Pirates in their own lauded style of play.

The victory brought a dramatic finish to the Prowlers conquest of the district title. At the beginning of the season, the mighty Pirate juggernout was expected to take the district crown with hardly a workout, but the Lee machine gained momentum as the season advanced and climaxed it with the final and third victory over Crookston.

In the first period, Lorentson won the plaudits of the crowd when he scored under the basket. Crookston came back strong as Panzer hooped a push shot and a charity toss. Nelson ended a conservative first quarter in a 3 all deadlock by caging a gift throw.

The Prowlers rode on the crest of victory in the second quarter as Nelson counted two free throws and Helquist a long try before Jessen tipped one in the net. Helquist counted a free throw and Lorentson one before Panzer was awarded a gift conversion. Stadum ended the half with a field goal that shot the score up to 13 to 7.

Morlan copped a long shot and Panzer a free throw before it was duplicated by Lorentson's field goal, and Stadum's free throw. Jessen again found the meshes as the quarter ended 16 to 12 in the locals' favor.

Caldis opened fire in the last quarter with two charity shots. Nesse's and Lorentson's long trys were countered by Panzer and Wheelhouse for the only scoring of the last quarter.

It is impossible to beat a team that doesn't allow its opponents to shoot and that, literally, was the situation Crookston faced as the tenacious Prowler ball-hawks repeatedly tied up the Pirate offense.

In such finely-balanced combination as the Prowlers presented there was little chance for individuals to stand out. Don Lorentson and Roy Lee, at forwards, "Bones" Stadum at center, Lenny Helquist and Bud Nelson at guards, were all-star men, every one of them against Crookston. The insertion of Gordon Caldis, Clark Mickelson and Milt Nesse showed no perceptible weakness, either.

Lorentson was local high score leader, however, with eight points. "Bones" Stadum, elongated soph center, was second with four. Roger Panzer scored eight markers for Crookston but Captain Barnes was rendered scoreless by Nelson, but played an excellent floor game.

East Grand Forks defeated victory-starved Warren, 29 to 20, in the consolation fray to capture third place. Warren led, 6 to 5 in the first quarter but surrendered their lead in the second.

Harold Gronningen of Fertile, and R. Laing of Milton, N. D. served capably as officials during the entire tournament.

After the final game the jubilant Prowlers were presented with the trophy emblematic of the district championship. Crookston and East Grand were given prizes as holders of second and third places, respectively.

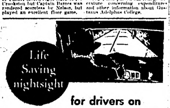
'ROUND THE SCHOOL

The seventh grade boys under Mr. Johnson have been making lamps out of scrap iron. They find the scrolls on the stands especially interesting. The eighth boys are using the hand tools of the manual training department to construct scotty book ends.

Miss Tandberg's English III classes have been writing sales letters this week and will give their vocational talks.

Both Miss Greenland's and Mrs. Korstad's algebra classes have been studying graphing.

Last Monday, a representative of Gustavus Adolphus College entertained the seniors with movies of campus life at Gustavus Adolphus College, and passed out college literature concerning expenditures and other information about Gustavus Adolphus College.



for drivers on CONCRETE

DRIVING through the night with your family, how much safer you feel when a concrete "ribbon of light" stretches out ahead!

Hazards stand out clearly against the light grey surface —shoulders, ditches, obstructions, pedestrians are clearly defined. Eye strain is reduced by the absence of glare.

Brakes are at their best on the gritty non-skid surface of concrete. Low crowns make the entire road width usable. Traffic doesn't hug the center of the road. You drive in comfort . . . relaxed. Every car is a better car on concrete.

Concrete's better visibility, safety and comfort are not luxuries because first cost of concrete is less than that of any other pavement of equal load-carrying capacity. Maintenance cost is far lower. And motorists save in gas, tires and car repairs on concrete.

Winter or summer, spring or fall, Minnesota drivers prefer concrete. It's economical, too. Paving all heavy traffic routes with CONCRETE is the most effective way to cut Minnesota's highway maintenance bill.

BAND, TUMBLERS, PEP-SQUAD, ADD TO DISTRICT MEET

Lincoln Students Perform for Tournament Crowd

This year's district tournament was pepped up a great deal by various organizations that performed between games and during intermission.

The local tumbling team performed both Thursday and Friday nights giving an excellent exhibition of dives, pyramids, and all the other thrills that tumblers can offer. The diving performances had several boys flying over five, six, seven, eight and nine other tumblers and coming to a climax with Jack Adkins' spectacular diving over ten outstretched forms. The second night's performance starred the team on spring board dives over a five foot wooden barrier.

The team, under the supervision of Mr. Gabrielson, consists of Jack Adkins, Clarence Freed, William Claffy, Delmer Hoyle, Cliff Lunke, Hjalmer Asseby, Jim Aalbu, Leonard Furuseth, Dick Battleson, Roy Aalbu, Milton Poppenhagen. These boys will exhibit their skill at Ada tonight.

The Lincoln band also gave a stellar performance all three nights. This forty nine piece aggregation gave much pep to the followers of all the teams. Their many familiar pieces were gladly received by the large crowds every night. The final evening a bit of added interest was supplied when they staged what can almost be called a duel with the always popular Crookston tunesters under supervision of Mr. Thoreson. A great deal of credit is due Mr. Riggs, band director, for his excellent work with the local band. He has been responsible for the larger and better band and also for the large following that the band is collecting.

The girls' pep squad made its third appearance between the halves of the Crookston-Thief River game last Friday, March 5. It is under the direction of Miss Harriet Helquist and Miss Lois Thoreson. The girls entered singing the school song and then they formed an L for Lincoln High. They then formed a C and W for Crookston and Warren at the same time singing their respective school songs. The next formation was a circle and a yell: Fight, team, fight, given for East Grand Forks. The last number was a squad formation and the echo yell.

The girls were peppy, and their gold and blue uniforms added a lot to the performance. This performance will be the last one this season unless the basket ball team wins tonight at Ada where the squad may go tomorrow night to perform at the regional tournament.

MARCH-SLUSH

My name is Talka Lot and I live in Crookston. Our basketball team played in Thief River Falls at the tournament so us kids all skipped school and went there. We got over just in time for the pep fest and boy—it sure was good. The teachers put it on and they were real goofy too and acted like they was crazy. I never laughed so hard in all my life. It sure was funny watching all the kids studying 'cause they were most half asleep from the night before. There was one swell chick over there and his name was Jack Adkins and he took an East Grand girl to the dance. Oh boy. There was a guy on that basketball team that sure made my heart skip a beat, and his name was Gordon Caldis. Oh, oh, boy. The kids in Thief River went up and down the streets yelling for all they were worth. They thought they were so blamed smart just 'cause they beat us but they aren't so hot. One girl yelled and talked so much that I asked somebody her name and they said it was Mary Olden. One of the fellas that lives here he got a girl over there and her name is Adeline L. and her brother plays basketball and his name is Don. A girl that lives here likes a boy that lives there and his name is Bud Nelson and he's got curly hair. I was standing around town and one boy walked up to a girl and asked her for a date right in front of me! Was I burned up" (I found out that her name was Dorothy Lang) I got a friend at Warren and now he is in love with a girl at Thief River Falls, but I promised I wouldn't tell her name, but she's about 5 ft. 4 in. tall, has brown hair, wears glasses, and has a green coat. Remember I didn't tell her name. Some people they think I am a chatterbox but I don't. They asked me to say a word about the tournament at Thief River Falls, and that's what I did—Practically!

Lincoln High School may well be proud of her district champions. These eight boys have worked hard and long to give Thief River Falls its first district championship since 1932. Since mid-November the team has worked two hours a day, five days a week to gain this end and, if possible, to go on even farther. They have played hard and won, and the rest of the student body should appreciate this and give them due recognition. Perhaps the best way we can do this is to turn out in full force at Ada this week-end. The boys have an excellent chance of adding the regional crown to their laurels. Let's all boost our Prowlers—1937 districts champions.

Our basketball games this season have been of much added interest this year due to two prominent school organizations, the tumbling teams and the girls pep squad. The tumblers, under Mr. Gabrielson's supervision have added thrills without the usual spills. The team was especially entertaining between halves of the tournament. They will give the patrons of the regional tournament a real treat when they travel to Ada tonight. The girls' pep squad also gave an excellent account of themselves Friday evening. They showed up well after their practice under the supervision of Miss Helquist. We hope that both of these features will be continued in the years to come. They add much to our reputation.

CLASS TOURNEY WILL BE STAGED

New Intramural Feature to Start Next Week

A new and novel event in the history of Lincoln High School is to be staged at the city auditorium for the first time next Tuesday and Thursday, March 16 and 18. This event is none other than an inter-class basketball tournament for both boys' and girls' teams with all the trimmings and many added attractions.

Teams will be composed of the ten best basketball players from each class, in the opinion of the respective coaches who will pick the teams. Boys who won letters this year in the sport, are of course, barred from competition in this tournament. The teams will be picked the latter part of this week and the first part of next week and will then swing into diligent practise until tournament time.

Several trophies are to be awarded, first and foremost of which will probably be the two fourteen inch, sun gold trophies. One will go to the championship girls' team and the other to the top ranking boys' team. Then there is a trophy which will go to the class showing the best sportsmanship at the tournament, and another to be awarded to the class having the best organized cheering. (Here's a tip—get together and figure out some original yells for the team representing your class.) Each class will be given an opportunity between the halves of one of the games to put on some kind of act, exhibition, or play and the class which puts on the best act will be presented with a trophy. There will also be two individual awards in the form of medals. One for the girl scoring the most points in the tournament and the other to a boy in the similar position. All these trophies, except the two medals, will be kept in the trophy case at the high school and each year will be awarded to the lucky class. The class will then have their name engraved on it. The judges in all these contests will be the members of the faculty.

Perhaps the highlight of the last evening will be two exhibition games to be played between the faculty women and the senior girls. This should present quite an amusing spectacle. Can't you just see your favorite teacher running around in a basketball uniform?

There will be two sessions each day, the first starting at three thirty o'clock in the afternoon and the second at seven thirty in the evening, with two games in each session. The time stated, however, is not yet definite.

The admission will be as follows: Afternoon session: Grade children 5c; H. S. Students, 5c; Adults, 15c. Evening session: Grade children, 5c; H. S. Students, 10c; Adults, 25c.

The coaches for the boys' teams: Freshmen, Bud Nelson; Sophomores, Loren Stadum; Juniors, Lorentson and Lee; Seniors, Lenny Helquist. Referees, Milt Nesse and Gordon Caldis. Scorer, Ted Helle.

Five Schools Represented On All-Star Cage Team

As the usual aftermath of the district tournament the Progress editor and sports editors go into their trance and come out with their choices for all district teams. Their choices for the first five included two Prowlers and one each from Crookston, East Side, and Warren. For the alternate team, Crookston, East Side, and Plummer placed once and the Prowlers gained two places. The teams this year were exceedingly hard to pick with the one guard in question up to the final ballot. Barnes, Crookston ace, lost a first team place because of his scoreless game the final night. Raymond of East Side also was prominently considered for a first team position. Ripple of Plummer was given a place because of his excellent performance against Warren. Nesse's place was awarded on his super defense efforts in the final game.

First Team—Lorentson, Prowlers, F; Nelson, Prowlers, F; Sandeen, East Grand, C; Panzer, Crookston, G; Bossman, Warren G.

Second Team—Ripple, Plummer, F; Raymond, East Grand, F; Barnes, Crookston, C; Nesse, Prowlers, G; Lee, Prowlers, G.

MUSIC NOTES

The mixed quartette composed of Dorothy Lang, soprano, Ira Grualle, alto, Robert Smith, tenor and Ralph Gustafson, bass, sang at the Regional Declamation Contest, Tuesday, March 9.

The chorus and glee clubs are rehearsing contest and cantata selections now.

One of the cantatas, "Fair Ellen" written by Max Bruch is a dramatic portrayal of an event supposed to have taken place at the siege of Lucknow, during the war in India in 1858-59. The garrison, originally expected to hold the fort for fifteen days, found itself at the end of eighty-seven days with nothing left but their spirit. Even this could not hold against much more, and so they were ready to die.

The other cantata "Hear My Prayer" by Mendelsohn is a sacred number for soprano solo, chorus and small orchestra.

The High school band performed successfully at the district basketball tournament last Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings. On Wednesday and Thursday, Warren had their school band here and Friday night Crookston brought their pep band so our band had plenty of competition. Mr. Riggs was very pleased with the way in which the student body cooperated with the band in singing the novelty numbers such as the "Old Gray Mare", "Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing", and many others. Some of the students do not know the words to all the songs so each week the words of one of the songs will appear here and all the students can learn them. Here are the words for "Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing":

Let's all sing like the birdies sing,
Tweet, tweet, tweet, tweet, tweet
Let's all sing like the birdies sing,
Tweet, tweet, tweet, tweet, tweet
Let's all warble like nightengales
Give your throat a treat
Take your time with the verse,
Now you know all the words,
Tweet, tweet, tweet, tweet, tweet.

After the game Mr. Thoreson, director of the Crookston band, congratulated Mr. Riggs on the performance of the band, and said that the improvement in the band is remarkable.

FACULTY PRESENTS DISTRICT TOURNEY PEP FEST THURS.

1900 Faculty Is Theme for Pep Program

Last Thursday afternoon the faculty of Lincoln High School conducted a pep fest for the students such as we have never seen before. All the students agree that it surpasses any pep fest we have ever had for years.

Mr. Bye, dressed in top hat, frock coat and leaning heavily on a cane acted as the dignified old Master of Ceremonies. He informed us that the high school faculty of 1900 had returned to the school to put on this pep fest. Because this faculty was known for its unusual musical talent, the program would consist largely of musical numbers. To prove the wonderful talent of these teachers, the 1900 "symphony" orchestra consisting of Mr. Riggs, Mr. Montague, Mr. Gabrielson, and Mr Harrison, played the first, second, and third movements of the Unfinished Symphony using ocarinas as instruments. The first movement was Crookston's school song, "popeye, the Sailor man", the second movement was "Popeye" again, the third movement was E. G. F. school song, Soft, Soft, Music is stealing and the last was Warren's School song, a little Norwegian ditty. Coach Lee directed this classical number and the costumes of the players caused just as much laughter as the playing itself. The musicians wore black cotton capes lined with bright red, and each player wore a derby which was either several sizes too small, or was so big it covered half the player's face. Coach Lee as director of the concert wore tight white trousers, a coat several sizes too small and a badly crushed top hat.

After the orchestra had bowed itself off the stage accompanied by long and loud applause, Coach Lee returned and read a poem, such as might be written by Warren after being defeated by the Prowlers. Mr. Lee read the poem in Norwegian brogue, and if you have never heard Coach talk in broken English you've certainly missed something.

Next on the program, Mr. Bye, introduced Mr. Harrison and his famous European chorus. Mr. Harrison had studied music in the greatest agricultural school in Europe and he had numerous trained soloists among his group. Mr. Claffy, Miss Wise, Miss Greenland, Miss Helquist, Mrs. Korstad, Mr. Riggs, Miss Tandberg and Miss Olson, each sang a short song about the game, or about one of the basketball players. The words of the songs were all original and some of the basketball players were razzed in the songs. After each solo the whole faculty joined in the chorus of ta-ra-ra-boom-de-a.

The loudest part of the pep fest came when Mr. Gabrielson led the faculty in two yells. He then challenged the students to prove that they could beat the faculty at yelling, and the student body had never made as much noise as they did in that yell.

The fact that all the teachers wore old fashioned costumes added much hilarity to the pep and the faculty proved that they have more pep than the students have when it comes to giving a good pep fest.

The students of Lincoln High hereby wish to thank the faculty for their successful efforts in entertaining the students and for arousing the pep and spirit in the students which they displayed throughout the tournament.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

Mmmm—am I happy! This is a typewriter, and I won't have to use my overworked rah-rah cords. Save my all for the game—yours truly. And does that district trophy look super-elegant!

Well, seems 'sif the in-between season sport is to be popular hitpin. Competitive teams are: First period, Monday and Thursday: Lorentson's "Hitlerites", and Paulson's "Lucky-Strikers". Second period; Snelling's "Gas House Gals", and Chommie's "Gopherettes". Third period: Dahlquist's "Doodledugs".

First period, Tuesday and Thursday; Thompson's "Raiders", and Nona Nelson's "Dandy Lions". Second period; Eleanor Erickson's "Snappers" and Fabel's "Zippers". Third period: Harel's "Kod Liver Kids", and Gulseths "Dark Horses."

Advice: turn to the third party—the Pepocrats, so ably headed by such outstanding personages as Montague, Gabrielson, Riggs, Harrison, Lee, and such! And keep your feet dry!

See you—ogling that trophy, gang—at Ada!

REGIONAL DECLAM CONTEST TUESDAY

Hallock, Crookston and Halstad Win Firsts

The regional declamation contest for Region No. 8 was held in the Lincoln High School Assembly, Tuesday, March 9, at eight o'clock. Twelve district winners competed from the towns of Baudette, Bemidji, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Fertile, Hallock, Halstad, McIntosh, Park Rapids, Roseau, and Warren.

The winners in the three divisions were as follows:

Oratory

Meet Your Friend—Dale Pillstrom, Hallock.
The War Prayer—Frank Hammand, Walker

Dramatic

The Revealing Moment— Katherine Hohn, Crookston
The Reprisal—June Dahl, Fertile.

Humorous

Just One Big Happy Family—Doris Strommond, Halstad
At the Lawn Fete—Helen Holmgren, Warren.

These winners will represent Region 8 at the state contest in Minneapolis next week. Judges were: Miss Clara Strutz, Miss Gladys Westman and Superintendent S. J. Reinerson, all of Moorhead.

While the judges were making their decisions, a mixed quartet composed of Ralph Gustafson, Dorothy Lang, Ira Groslie, and Robert Smith, accompanied by Miss Erma Springen, rendered two numbers: "I Can't Do That Sum" by Victor Herbert, and "Mammy's Lil' Pigeon" by Fearis.

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

"It aren't right".—Florence
"I get so mad!"—Myrtle

On July 2, 1919, the stork dropped by Thief River Falls on his way home one night and left little Florence at the Hansen home. She prefers to while away the hours by talking. Her favorite book is "Blue Window" by her favorite author Bailey. When Florence grows up she would like to be a teacher. Biology being her favorite subject and her inspiration for her future ambition none other than Mr. Gabrielson (these senior girls, Oh my!) "It aren't right", is her favorite expression. Conceited people make Florence a bit peeved. She is partial to Robert Taylor (just another victim) and Deanna Durbin on the screen. Her favorite movie is "Three Smart Girls." Florence has rythmn in her soul for she likes Kay Keiser's orchestra and the number "Let's Go Slumming." To humor her offer her a piece of butterscotch pie.

"I get so mad!" Don't be frightened it's just another of our harmless senior's favorite expressions. Ye old collector, Myrtle Elizabeth Hedland, (Myrt, to you who rate) was born in Thief River Falls April 30, 1919. Anything containing chocolate will do as far as Myrt (I rate, I hope) is concerned, but she doesn't fancy the idea of being financially embarrassed. On the contrary, it rather peeves her. Songs such as "Let's Go Slumming" were just made to order as far as she is concerned. Sinclair Lewis writes the best books, "Ann Vickers" being an exceptionally good one. Bookkeeping is the subject in which she is most interested. The Jello program brings with it Myrt's radio favorites, Jack Benny and Mary Livingston. Miss Hedlund is a "general listener" of Wayne King and his orchestra and the Lux Radio Theater.

The Moorhead High School was host to the sub-district declamation contest held on February 18. Three winners were picked from the contestants.

EIGHTH REGIONAL TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD AT ADA

Prowlers, Ada, Lancaster and Cass Lake to Play

This evening and tomorrow the 32 districts throughout the state go into battle to decide the regional champions and the participants in the state meet next week-end.

The Prowlers travel to Ada where they meet the tough Ada five, headmen in District 30. The other game of the eight region meet brings Cass Lake and Lancaster together.

When the Prowlers take the floor against Ada's Vikings they will be the underdogs. The hard fighting Ada crew defeated the Leemen early in the season but can they repeat? Both teams are so vastly improved that it is nearly impossible to choose between them. Ada finished her district meet before the Prowlers and the entire team scouted the final game of the Prowlers in the 31st District meet. They had easy going in their district winning the final game from a small McIntosh crew. The Prowlers, on the other hand, had to work hard to win their final two district games.

When Cass Lake meets Lancaster, a victory seems unavoidable for the Indians. They won their district by upsetting the former state champions from Bemidji 20-19, and went on to make easy work of the finals against Blackduck. Lancaster, the 32nd District hope, defeated Argyle to cop her district crown.

Tomorrow evening the winners of these two games meet to decide the regional championship, with the two losers fighting it out for consolation prizes. First games of both nights start at eight o'clock with tickets selling for 25c for students and 50c for adults.

WIND-CHILL

Everyone is singing "Hip-hip-hurray, the team's O'Kay" They are all right too, aren't they?

Joyce Bennes has been having a bit of trouble these nights when the Warren delegation was in our city because she had 2 boy friends here at the same time! Oh well, Joyce is a diplomat!

Some of our famed senior boys had a good time at the dances last week-end. And I might mention that the girls and boys of the rest of the student body had fun too!

Hear Ye, Hear Ye. A good way to make money is to run a bus line from here to Ada. Thursday and Friday.

Wonder if Brunell and "Mac" finally found each other on Friday night. With all the people in town it was hard to find the one you were looking for.

Famous remarks—Mr. Lee in Social Class—"With the new feeble minded school, all you seniors can continue your education right here at home.

Clap hands for our tumblers, the out-of-towners surely appreciated them. (Jack was especially good for two East Grand damsels—Oh boy Jack).

How can we forget the swell pep fest the faculty gave last Wednesday. ? Remember the dress Miss Leavitt wore? That pretty number was the gown that graced Miss Leavitt's form on her graduation from college.

By the way; isn't Miss Diebel's diamond nice and sparkly?

I betcha you all wish you were Mr. Lee last Thursday. He went into the Home Ec. room and there Miss Dahlen presented him with a big drum stick of a nice juicy chicken fried on the new gas range. Oh, me what the faculty doesn't do!

The Home Ec. II gals certainly had a swell time at a bakery when cup cakes were passed around. Which do you prefer—cocoanut or nut cup cakes?

Famous Finales: "———'Sprig, Sprig, beautiful Sprig!"

Oen Mercantile Modern New Store to Open Saturday

Completed in Five Months After Old Store Was Razed by Fire

COMPRISES LATEST FEATURES IN DESIGN

Handsome Display Windows on Both LaBree and 3d St. Frontages

Five months, almost to the day, after October 23, 1936, when a spectacular fire destroyed the substantial Oen Mercantile company building, the institution Saturday, March 20, will open for business in an attractive and thoroughly modern new structure on the site of the old.

Built of brick of a light tan shade with white stone trim, the building includes two floors in addition to a full basement, and the dimensions are 75 by 140 feet, giving a depth approximately ten feet greater than the structure it replaces. A feature of the new store is the great expanse of handsome display windows with aluminum trim on the first floor, and novel grouped windows upstairs extending down to the floor level, which will be utilized for furniture displays plainly visible from the street. Unlike in the former building the display windows on the first floor extend along the Third st. frontage as well as on LaBree av. The windows have attractive backgrounds and have inlaid oak floors in an ornamental design.

The main entrance, in the center of the LaBree av. frontage, is attractively recessed and admits patrons immediately to the men's and women's furnishings departments, while a wide aisle extending thru the store gives access to all other sections. Handsome low-type fixtures of modernistic design, finished in natural oak with dark trim have been installed thruout the main floor, and are the product of the Northern Woodwork company of this city and the L. Paulle company of St. Paul.

At the right, as one enters, are the shoe, piece goods and ready-to-wear sections, with the men's furnishings department at the left. Proceeding farther back the patron comes first to the grocery and then to the hardware depart

General Manager

ROY OEN

Son of Rasmus Oen, founder of the Oen Mercantile company, who recently returned to this city from Oberlin, Ohio, to assume the post of general manager. His friends are confident that, in his new capacity, he will continue to show the same qualities of leadership that distinguished him as captain of the 1933 University of Minnesota football team. Graduating from the university in the fall of 1933, he has the degree of bachelor of science in education, having specialized also in economics. After graduation he served for 18 months as athletic coach in the Hibbing high school, and during the past year and one-half was assistant athletic coach and physical training instructor at Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio.

OEN'S JOHN DEERE DAY SATURDAY IS MOST SUCCESSFUL

Packed Auditorium Sees Motion Pictures and Hears Talks

The largest gathering of the current season assembled in the Auditorium Saturday afternoon for the annual John Deere day, staged under the local sponsorship of the Oen Mercantile company, who distribute Deere & company farm implements in this territory.

So large was the gathering that the commodious Auditorium was not large enough to accommodate the crowds, no less than 2,700 lunches being served to the visitors during the noon hour.

Rasmus Oen briefly welcomed the gathering in behalf of the Oen company, while A. J. Rudbeck of Minneapolis, John Deere representative, discussed tractors and tillage tools, and V. O. Jensen presented a series of highly entertaining and informative motion pictures.

Senator E. L. Tungseth also spoke briefly. Samples of John Deere implements were on exhibition adjoining the Auditorium during the afternoon.

Montgomery Ward Co. Announces Changes in Store Personnel Here

R. K. Van Derhoef, who has served as merchandise manager of the local Montgomery Ward store the past eight months, last week was transferred to Bismarck, N. D. and has been succeeded here by Dan Radke, who has been recently connected with the Ward store in Fergus Falls. M. G. Peterson, manager of the local store, announced today. Mr. Radke, whose service with Ward stores covers a period of five and one-half years including service at Bismarck and Grand Forks, was accompanied here by his wife and son. Also announced was the transfer to Grand Forks of Joe Brody, who has handled appliance sales in the furniture section of the local store, he being succeeded here by C. G. Gilbertson of Grand Forks.

COUNCIL GETS PROPOSALS FOR WPA PROJECTS

To Seek WPA Sewage Disposal Aid as Alternative to PWA Application

CROOKSTON OFFICIAL OFFERS NEW PROJECTS

Mayor Prichard Points Out Need for Creating More Jobs

At a conference Tuesday evening of the city council with Detroit Lakes and Crookston WPA officials and E. L. Llum, Grand Forks consulting engineer, the local body requested the WPA men to map out a series of five city-wide projects for council approval, the work being designed to continue over an extended period.

At the same time the council voted to have Mr. Llum cooperate with S. A. Siverts, area WPA supervisor at Crookston, in submitting to Washington authorities an application for WPA aid in financing the construction of the proposed sewage disposal plant in this city. The funds, if obtained, would supersede an application for a grant from the Public Works administration submitted last fall, action on which is still pending in Washington.

Mayor W. W. Prichard, who introduced the visiting officials, pointed out that present WPA projects in the city are now being completed, and that it will be necessary to create more jobs as a means of reducing the local relief burden. Mr. Siverts suggested a program calling for sewer and water main projects and a street improvement project including construction of sidewalks, curbs and gutters. He was asked to submit a detailed proposal for approval at an early meeting.

J. B. Kovarik of Detroit Lakes, district WPA director, said that while present WPA appropriations extend only to July 1, a continuation of the work beyond that date because of widespread unemployment still existing thruout the country. He said approximately six weeks is required to obtain approval of a project in Washington.

Fred Frederickson of the county WPA supervisory staff stated that 17 local WPA workers had been transferred to the resettlement project and other jobs during the past few days, and that this should take care of the situation for the next two months, giving time to get new projects under way. Other officials who spoke briefly included Mr. Plut, district engineer of Detroit Lakes, and J. C. Halseth of the Crookston office.

Before adjourning the council voted to advertise for bids on water mains for inclusion in two WPA projects, one on the east side and the other on the west.

Mr. Senstad explained that the sale has been deferred owing to the fact that the state legislature is considering passage of a measure giving affected property owners another period of grace in which to redeem their properties.

At the same time it was announced that tax-delinquent lands on which the county holds a writ of attachment, as well as lands forfeited for non-payment of taxes will be rented or leased by the county beginning March 29. HOUSE PASSES MONEY. CREDIT TAX INCREASE

Lower House Monday Raises Levy From Three to Five Mills

BILL WOULD RAISE GAS TAX ONE CENT

Propose Making November 15 Deadline for Getting License Plates

Designed to impose a heavier tax on wealth and expected to yield between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 additional revenue, a bill to increase the tax on monies and credits from 3 to 5 mills was given final legislative approval by the house Monday by a vote of 69 to 51.

Before putting the proposal to a vote, provisions relating to a tax on bank shares were stricken so that there would be no question as to the constitutionality of the measure.

Rep. George Hagen, Crookston, principal author of the bill, led the fight which began several days ago. Governor Elmer A. Benson in his inaugural address advocated a higher levy on monies and credits.

Other major provisions of the bill are:

1. The Minnesota tax commission to handle collections and make assessments instead of local assessors.
2. Assessment date is changed from May 1 to December 31, with returns to be filed by March 15, final date of payment.
3. Mortgage registration tax is abolished.
4. Increases drastically the mortgage tax.

Another administration bill fell by the legislative wayside Monday when the Minnesota senate judiciary committee killed a measure to bar deficiency judgments.

The bill would apply to cases where sale of any property netted less than the mortgage called for. Now the mortgage holders may obtain a judgment for the balance. The bill would have barred this procedure.

The senate also killed a bill to permit off-sale liquor stores to extend their hours in keeping with on-sale stores.

Bills to raise the state gasoline tax from 3 to 4 cents, to revise state laws governing public schools and setting up state machinery for co-operating with the federal government in soil erosion control, were introduced in the senate.

Senators Michael Galvin, Winona, and James A. Catley, Wabasha, presented the soil erosion plan which would create soil conservation districts with proponents of such a plan petitioning the state supervisor for authority to proceed. The measure calls for an appropriation of $20,000 for the first biennium.

Automobile owners would apply for license plates by November 15, instead of February 15, to avoid a penalty under a bill recommended for passage by the house motor vehicle and motor vehicles bus committee.

Tax Collections Reach Aggregate of $38,550 in County for February

County Treasurer John Gullingsrud announced today that total collections of current taxes in February amounted to $38,550.05, the total being made up largely of personal property tax payments. The figure compares with $37,392.23 for February, 1936, when household goods were exempt from taxation. Receipts last month, he explained, were reduced somewhat by the fact that many personal property tax payments were not made, pending applications for reduction in assessed valuations.

Region Eight Champions to Meet Farmington in First Round

TAKE REGIONAL TITLE FROM CASS LAKE FIVE

Local Players and Coach Lee Given Rousing Sendoff Tuesday Night

Eyes of Northwestern Minnesota sports fans this afternoon are looking toward Minneapolis, where, at the municipal Auditorium at 3 o'clock, the Lincoln high school quintet of Thief River Falls, champions of Region 8, open the state high school basketball tournament by meeting Farmington, Region 4 champions, in a first-round battle.

The local quintet, which hopes to emulate the record of the 1932 Prowler team by returning with the state championship, won the right to participate in the state-wide event by defeating Ada 29-27 in the first round of the regional tourney last Thursday night and following up Friday with a 20-14 victory over Cass Lake in the final contest for the title.

Coach George E. Lee's boys were given a rousing sendoff Tuesday evening by their schoolmates and adults before they boarded the train for Minneapolis. Headed by the Lincoln high school band and the city fire truck the members of the team and their coach were paraded from the Auditorium to the depot, each player riding in state in a shiny, gaily decorated new car.

Included in the players who will see action in today's game are Captain Alfred (Bud) Nelson, Don Lorentson, Loren Stadum, Leonard Helquist, Roy Lee, Milton Nesse, Clark Mickelson and Gordon Caldis. Coach Lee announced before leaving that he would give the boys a work-out Wednesday afternoon in the Mill City Auditorium, the scene of the tournament.

The Thief River Falls-Farmington contest will be followed this afternoon at 4 o'clock by a game between Rochester, winner in Region One, and Virginia, Region Seven. This evening at 8 Triumph-Monterey, Region Two, will meet New Ulm, Region Three; while the final battle tonight at 9 will be fought between Minneapolis Edison, Region Five, and Crosby-Ironton, Region Six. Minneapolis Edison is the only quintet that took part in the 1936 state tournament, while Farmington and Triumph-Monterey are participating in the state event for the first time this year.

Playing in the regional tourney at Ada last week, the Prowlers lagged behind in the first half of their game with Ada, but snapped into action in the third period, scoring a total of 15 points, and holding a narrow lead for the remainder of the contest. Don Lorentson of the local quint distinguished himself by accounting for fifteen points.

Thief River Falls had less trouble Friday night in the championship tilt with Cass Lake, leading thruout the game, altho only two points ahead at one stage. Cass Lake made only three field goals during the entire game and were successful in eight out of 20 free-throw shots. Caldis was high scorer for the Prowlers, making a total of nine points.

As announced elsewhere in the Times, the score at the end of each quarter of today's opening game will be broadcast over Radio Station WDAY thru the cooperation of four local business places.

SALOON RETURNS TO PITTSBURGH

"The old saloon with all its evils has returned to Pittsburgh," says a correspondent in the Presbyterian Tribune. "Shrouded curtains and doors hide a new type of establishment which embodies all the sins and none of the virtues of the pre-Prohibition era. Youth are not forbidden but urged to drink. Few proprietors fear the removal of their licenses. The newspapers are not exposing the conditions because they fear that the public will be enraged if they discover the real facts about the present situation and that Prohibition will come back. The safety director has ordered the arrest of all who make sales to minors."

Didn't Like Newspaper; Employe Burns Plant

Held for observation in Clay county jail at Moorhead today was one itinerant printer, who admitted freely that his activities were too "hot" for this part of the country. The man, Frank A. Bennett, 55, was arraigned on a charge of third degree arson Tuesday and bound over to district court, after assertedly admitting that he had burned the plant of the Hawley, Minn., Herald simply because "it was all cluttered up and I didn't like it anyhow." Damage to the plant and contents was estimated today at $5,000.

Evangelist Discusses "Capital and Labor"

"As long as men have worked and hired there has been strife between the employee and the employer, between labor and capital. It is a struggle that never ceases. Every day newspapers, radio announcers and current magazines bring us the story of new outbreaks somewhere in the world. Thinking men and women are everywhere asking the question, "What are the fundamental causes for all this dissatisfaction and ceaseless unrest?" The striking words of the apostle Paul, "The love of money is the root of all kinds of evil" (I Tim. 6:10) hit the nail on the head." So stated Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture on "Capital and Labor" at the old Methodist church last Sunday night. The announcement of a very interesting program for next Sunday night appears elsewhere in this issue.

Crookston College Is Given Committee O. K.

The house appropriations committee Tuesday recommended for passage a bill to establish a two-year junior college at Crookston and providing $50,000 to finance it for two years.

Representative George Hagen, of Crookston, is author of the measure under which the institution would be operated in conjunction with the Northwest School of Agriculture, already in that city.

The bill provides that the $50,000 be used for remodeling, maintenance and to introduce a new curriculum. Classes would be held in the agricultural school buildings. The new college would be under the university board of regents.

In the State Senate

By Sen. E. L. Tungseth

During the last two or three weeks there has been some publicity given to the possibility of obtaining for the City of Thief River Falls a state hospital. This public project has frequently been mentioned in legislative circles as a necessity in the near future. I do not believe there is an immediate prospect of such an institution being built since the one for which we appropriated funds two years ago, and which is being constructed at Moose Lake, is yet very far from finished, in fact construction has just been begun. It is not likely that a second institution will be built at the same time. I have noticed that certain publications have made reference only to other members in the legislature as being active in behalf of such an institution for Thief River Falls. I only wish to assure my fellow citizens of Thief River Falls I too am doing my part with reference to bringing this institution to our City whenever that may be possible of building this institution.

It will, however, be necessary for our city to do a great deal more than simply pass a resolution or two by some civic organization. If Thief River Falls wants an institution of this kind—the city will have to provide not less than 720 acres of very good farm land in close proximity to the city and favorably located for the institution. It will be necessary to enact legislation making such action by the city legal and possible. This I shall try to have completed in this session of the legislature. If this is not done we may find ourselves entirely unprepared to take the necessary preparatory steps when opportunity presents itself. The institution which is in prospect is a state hospital for feebleminded. I might add here that we are not seeking such an institution because of such patients within close proximity, but rather because there is no better place in the world to establish a cure for such a disease.

I shall not take the required space in this article to discuss rural credit legislation. I anticipate that some favorable measures might be passed; however, it seems as if the house and the senate will disagree on the type of legislation with reference to rural credit.

Our district is very much concerned about conservation legislation. We are in much need of a controlled water supply with a sufficient reserve of water at all times. There are two matters of vital importance here—one is the amount of appropriation allowed the conservation department, and the other is the new compact proposed between the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, which has for its purpose a better control of all of the waters in the Red River Valley of the north. There is much disagreement with reference to the latitude and limitation which should be permitted in connection with the Red River Valley project. It may not be possible to pass any such legislation at this session.

We must, however, insist on sufficient appropriations for our state conservation department in order that dams and other necessary projects in connection with the preservation of our water supply might be built.

E. L. Tungseth.

Sky Absolutely Black

When a picture represents the sky as blue, it is not true to the facts, says a writer in Pearson's London Weekly. The sky is absolutely black. The reason the sky appears bluish to us is that the dust particles reflect rays of light. Without any dust the sky would be black all the time.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

CONGRATULATIONS MR. OEN

Nice things are being said about Rasmus Oen this week. Which is neither new nor strange. As long as we can remember, nice things have been said about Rasmus Oen. These nice things were not always prompted by occasions of achievement. There have been times of adversity when the character of Rasmus Oen has been tested more severely than it was this winter. During the past twelve years Rasmus Oen has been called upon to pay for a lot of dead horses. There have been times when his ability to pay has been stretched nearly to the breaking point. But he has never wavered. He has met his obligations thruout the years, taking the rough roads along with the smooth going, his faith in himself and in his community unshaken.

This week the community has an opportunity to celebrate with Rasmus Oen on a happy occasion. It isn't another dead horse to be buried this week but a monument to be unveiled. Rasmus Oen has rebuilt his store. That he has done his usual good job in rebuilding, the people of the community will realize when they are given their first opportunity to inspect the result Saturday. That result will far exceed the expectations.

The new store is a credit to the city and a splendid monument to the life of a man who has served his community well throughout the first half century of its development.

The Oen store, like the city itself, has passed through two distinct stages of development. The new store, with its modern facilities and latest appointments thruout, is symbolical of a third era for the store and for the city. The original tin shop served its purpose in the pioneer settlement. The larger store, that was destroyed last October, provided well for the community through its second period of development. And now, as Thief River Falls becomes more of a metropolitan center, serving a larger and more substantial territory, the Oen store once again keeps abreast of the progress of the city.

We congratulate Mr. Oen on his enviable record and in behalf of the community express our sincere appreciation of this latest and most effective testimonial of his faith in Thief River Falls.

Hats off and a round of cheers to George Lee and his basketball team which represents the eighth region in the state tournament this week. If they come through and win the state we will be surprised. But if they do not make it plenty tough for their opponents in that state tourney we will also be surprised. The team has been characterized as one that plays best in hard competition. As the boys are crowded, they themselves put on the pressure. And in the state tournament they will be crowded plenty. In that tournament there are no setups. Anything can happen in basketball. Any of the teams may have bad days. The hoop is a most perverse and obstinate thing at times. But with reasonable breaks we know that the Eighth Region will be given creditable representation in the state competition by the Prowlers. If they do not return as state champs this year they surely will next year. So hats off and a round of cheers to the team. Five years have passed since Thief River Falls last enjoyed that State Championship thrill. As we recall it, it was a decidedly pleasant sensation.

Favorably impressed with the good work done in snow removal on the city's streets this winter, there is considerable agitation thruout the county for the purchase of several light plow units for use on county and township roads. Just how effective a light plow unit would be on country roads is hard to say. Under real bad conditions they probably would be of little value. Most of the time however, they would serve the purpose more efficiently than the larger unit and do satisfactory work. One thing is certain and that is that people now want to use their cars both summer and winter and will demand more and more that the roads be kept open. Light plow units, covering a lot of mileage in short time, may be the right answer.

President Roosevelt does not like the idea of the Supreme Court killing acts of Congress. Congress is made up of a group of fine, upstanding, alert and informed citizens elected by the people. Nine old men shouldn't question the combined wisdom of our Congressmen. Such a group of eminent statesmen couldn't be wrong. Yet, strange as it may seem, during the first four years of his administration, Roosevelt himself has vetoed exactly one hundred and seventy acts of Congress. One would think Congress would be ten times madder at the President than it is at the Supreme Court. Of course if the Supreme Court Justices were politicians instead of judges things might be different. They cannot crack the party whip or control patronage. No, by all means we should do away with judges and pack the courts with politicians.

Northwestern Minnesota will lose a good man when Dr. A. A. Dowell leaves the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston to accept a professorship at the University Farm at St. Paul. During the ten years he has served this territory Dr. Dowell has made many friends who will regret his departure from the district. The management of the school, however, continues in good hands. T. M. McCall, who succeeds Dr. Dowell, has served on the school faculty twenty-six years. He is an able teacher, knows the problems of our territory, and has already had much experience in the administration of the school's affairs.

Olson & Kolden, the contractors who handled the construction of Oen's new store, deserve honorable mention for the important part they played in rushing the new building to a speedy completion. A construction job of that size, handled in so short a time during the winter months, must have had good supervision. It was a nice piece of work.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN

(William Feather)

William Graham Sumner gives the title "The Forgotten Man" to one of his essays. He is a different forgotten man from the one more recently publicized.

"The Forgotten Man" is that individual who does an honest day's work, pays his bills, brings up three or four children, indulges himself in a pipe or an occasional cigar, keeps up a small savings account, never asks for charity from any one, never gets into trouble with the police, never makes a speech or writes a letter to the editor. In short he's the individual who keeps going on his own momentum, good times, bad times, or indifferent times.

When the hat is passed around for the down-and-outers the Forgotten Man chips in his mite.

The tax gatherer visits the Forgotten Man regularly, and collects toll for the upkeep of the police courts, jails, workhouses, and poorhouses—none of which the Forgotten Man ever uses.

Hundreds of social agencies exist for the improvement of the human race, but the Forgotten Man is never included in their surveys.

He is self-supporting, self-starting, self-sufficient, and being so he is counted in on nothing except the census.

But in that document he cuts a big figure because he probably forms the vast majority.

TRUST ME, HE SAID

(Business Week)

And after the thunder and threats of the victory dinner came the fireside chat; and in the fireside chat a still small voice. Trust me, said the most persuasive radio speaker in the world, bringing to the people not a frank and reasoned argument but the soothing calm of a hypnotist.

Trust me, he said, for you cannot trust a court which in the gold clause case divided five to four, barely escaping a decision which "would have thrown all the affairs of this great nation back into hopeless chaos." But he has prophesied chaos before, and there has been no chaos. After the NRA decision, in which the court was unanimous, he gave his "horse and buggy" interview, warning that if AAA were invalidated we would have 36-cent wheat and 5-cent cotton. In a few months AAA was invalidated, and wheat and cotton prices moved upward.

Trust me, he said, for I seek harmony, not domination. I am only one horse in a three-horse team. I am not the driver. Not the driver? He is the boss of Congress, the boss of the party that rules Congress. He drives the second horse and now seeks authority to drive the third horse, which prefers to go about its business, doing the routine job of plowing, instead of jumping over the fence into a lot outside the Constitution.

Trust me, he said, and do not fear that this congressional enactment which I seek will be a precedent for future Congresses to act more dangerously against democracy, because America must always trust Congress, there is no help for it. But America has never trusted Congress or any other branch of the government completely. That is why the Constitution set up checks and balances, dividing power between the courts and Congress and the President, so that none of these might ever become a despot.

Furthermore trust me, he said, for what I seek is merely to carry out the plain terms of the Constitution, which "gave to the Congress the ample broad powers 'to levy taxes * * * and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States'." Trust you, Mr. President, when, by a trick of asterisks you have just misquoted the Constitution? The Constitution did not give Congress broad and vague powers to provide for the "general welfare." It specified the powers of Congress, and it authorized Congress to levy such taxes as were necessary in carrying out those powers. The exact words are, "to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States, but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States." In other words, to levy taxes in order to carry out the powers elsewhere specified. No power except the taxing power is granted by this clause of the Constitution which the President garbled.

And because the Supreme Court does not garble the Constitution, thoughtful Americans will prefer to trust and protect the Supreme Court.

What is an excessive income tax? The two houses of the Minnesota legislature do not agree, and he must be wise indeed who really knows. It was not so many years ago that Minnesota hesitated to pass an income tax law because of competition with other states which do not have income tax laws. Now the income tax bill as it has passed the House provides for a tax much higher than that imposed by any other state, and the cry is raised that industries will move out of the state and that new industries will not locate here if any such heavy tax is imposed. Perhaps there is something to it. At least income taxes can be as destructive as general property taxes, and certainly general property taxes have reached a point in this state where they discourage investment and improvement and promote unemployment. Without attempting to mix into the present controversy as to income tax rates, it may, however, be observed that it would be unwise for the state to make the same mistake with regard to income taxes that it has made with respect to general property taxes. Perhaps, after all, there is a limit to the amount of taxes that can be taken from the public in any form, and that the real remedy is such a curtailment of public expenditures as will bring the taxes within that limit. Certainly, we have come to a point where spending without taxation must cease, and we may be at the point of learning that there are limits to taxation.—Morris Tribune.

There are few apologists in North Dakota for the course taken by President Roosevelt. Even the long list of federal office holders would rather discuss the weather than be drawn into an argument over the attempt of the President to wreck the foundation on which the Nation has builded. Even the tremendous majority given Roosevelt last November, a majority which has turned his head, conferred no such autocratic, dictatorial power which he now seeks. It is liberty loving America against a governmental policy that ranks with Nazism, Fascism or what you may choose to call one-man rule.—Mandan Pioneer.

Topics of the Times

By M. A. H.

When it was learned that Thief River Falls would be represented in the state high school basketball tournament in Minneapolis this week, a lot of local men discovered they had urgent business in the Twin Cities.

The problem, it appears, is how to increase taxes on business and at the same time to increase employment.

To relieve a glutted market a 60-day letup in the production of limburger is being considered by Wisconsin cheese factories. It seems to be a matter of dollars and scents.

Speaking of the menace of the rich, consider the $100-a-plate Democratic victory dinner recently held in Washington.

One effect of the proposed increase in moneys and credits taxes would be to make bigger and better deceivers.

The expression "Charge It" isn't heard as much in business circles as formerly, but it's right in style in the business of government.

Those hard-working state employes obliged to put in 32½ hours a week may now be expected to strike for more pay to finance their leisure time activities.

Unknown to us is the author of this sermon, "Life is a grindstone, and whether it grinds a man down or polishes him up depends on the stuff he is made of."

Robins must be sissies this year. They haven't showed up yet hereabouts this spring.

Someone suggests this revised version to suit the trailer fad, "What is home without a motor?"

Sign of spring: The first baby chicks arrived Saturday at the postoffice.

Some of these fireside chats develop a lot of heat.

Farmer-Laborites in Minneapolis Propose Two Mayor Candidates

Minneapolis Farmer-Laborites Sunday split into two factions and each, meeting in separate convention, endorsed candidates for mayor and other offices for the May primary election.

One group styling themselves conservatives, composed of Farmer-Labor ward units and trade unionists, indorsed Mayor Thomas E. Latimer for a second term and set in motion steps to oust communists from the party.

The second convention endorsed Kenneth Haycraft, state old age pension director and former University of Minnesota football player as its candidate for mayor. This group adopted a resolution authorizing employment of counsel to commence injunction proceedings to deny the other faction the right to use the words "Farmer-Labor Association."

The conservatives turned down a plea sent by Governor Elmer A. Benson to delay endorsements pending efforts to bring both groups together to settle their differences. The second faction had agreed to the delay.

THOUSANDS OF PHEASANTS SIGHTED NEAR FAIRMONT

An army of 3,200 pheasants was counted along three miles of highway near Fairmont recently by Charles Schorr of the federal bureau of roads. Schorr, who used computometers to make his count, reported that the pheasants were picking up grit and appeared to be in excellent condition.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

In "Business Week" for Feb. 27, 1937, is a very interesting comparison between 1929 and 1936 employment and payroll statistics of 40 of the most important industries, except agriculture.

An exhaustive analysis of these statistics would be too lengthy for a layman's contribution to a newspaper, but there are a couple of points I wish to call attention to.

The best showing is made in the canning and preserving industry. In this industry 1936 employment is 105 per cent of 1929 and the payroll is only 95 per cent. The poorest showing is made by the construction industry which is not yet half-way back, only 37 per cent of the employment in 1929 and the payroll only 40 per cent of what it was in 1929.

Only in 8 of these 40 main industries is employment equal to or better than in 1929, and in not a single one is the payroll equal to what it was! Yet the propagandists for the Internationalist banking interests are telling us that the present wave of strikes is a sure sign of improvement and disappearance of the "depression". No, do not think these strikes are any sign of general improvement in industry, because it only proves that the condition of even that part of labor which have been lucky enough to get a job is still underpaid, though we cannot say just how much because we do not know exactly how the present price index compares with that of 1929.

The victory of John L. Lewis for the principle of collective bargaining is by far the greatest ever gained by American organized labor and will benefit not only themselves but also the employers and the public.

However, there is one class it will not benefit financially, and that is the creditor class, because it will reduce the trading value of money for labor, so they are now working up a set of "Trade Treaties" with foreign countries, so as to force American industry to compete with the world, knowing that in the long run this will compel American labor to accept wages competitive with foreign labor very closely, and thus wipe out the gains made through the medium of collective bargaining.

I am inclined to believe the principal reason for wanting a Supreme Court which will not be "sticklers" for the letter of the Constitution," is that the "letter" of the Constitution provides for all treaties to be made with the "advice and consent" of the Senate, while the present trade treaty law does not require action by the Senate.

Organized labor should watch the International Banking propaganda before they endorse this plan of stretching the Constitution.

FOUR-INCH SNOW FALLS IN THIS AREA WEDNESDAY

The onward march of spring received a setback Wednesday morning when four inches of moist snow fell locally. Temperatures during much of the past week were high enough to permit considerable thawing on the streets of the city, altho not in the open only a slight impression has been made on the winter's accumulation of snow.

Nearly Million Steel Workers Gain by Pay Increase in Industry

Nearly a million men and women went to work Monday in United States industrial centers fortified by the knowledge their wages had been raised substantially.

Steel workers were the chief beneficiaries of wage increases, aggregating $168,128,000 annually, which become effective for an estimated 925,075 toilers.

Effective today, 550,000 workers in the steel industry will receive 10 cents more per hour, fattening their pay envelopes by $120,000,000 over the period of a year.

The new minimum of 62½ cents per hour for steel workers will make the average hourly rate for labor approximately 82½ cents. Although a forty-hour week also became effective Monday, plants will continue to operate 48 hours, with time and a half for overtime.

Lundgren Says Council Favors Street Decorating Program

Following the luncheon of the Civic and Commerce association last Thursday reports were submitted by Secretary Paul Lundgren and several committee chairmen concerning various phases of association activities.

Mr. Lundgren stated that at a meeting the previous evening of the convention committee with the city council, that body had indicated its approval of a program calling for the installation of decorative lighting facilities on the present ornamental light standards in the downtown district.

Reporting on the campaign to secure designation of Highway 59 from this city to Erskine as a federal aid highway, Mr. Lundgren said he had received word from the office of Senator Henrik Shipstead in Washington that the federal bureau of roads was awaiting recommendations of the field office in this district.

Frank Hinkel, chairman of the road committee added that he had just been informed by Mr. Slocum, district U. S. engineer, that he had submitted the necessary data and expected that the section would shortly be placed under the federal aid system. Mr. Hinkel also stated he had been informd that the state highway department plans to rebuild Highway 1 for a distance of fifteen miles east of this city during the current season provided funds are made available for the project.

Andrew Anderson, chairman of the agricultural committee, reported that April 7 had been set as the date of the banquet to be served to Pennington county 4-H club workers in the Auditorium. He added that preparations were being made for a gathering of 300 boys and girls and their leaders.

W. L. Carlisle reported that he and President Walter Jung had represented the association at a recent meeting held in Goodridge for the purpose of organizing a civic club. The association went on record in favor of the bill now in the legislature providing for water conservation in the Red River Valley.

OEN MERCANTILE CO.'s NEW BUILDING ONE OF FINEST IN NORTHWEST

ment, each of which also has a separate entrance on the Third st. frontage. Light and airy office quarters are located on the north side between the grocery and hardware sections.

The huge second floor will be devoted largely to displaying the store's varied lines of furniture, as well as radios and stoves, and a radio repair section. Another appreciated facility on the second floor will be a completely equipped ladies rest room for the use of the public.

A large-capacity freight elevator connects the second floor with the basement, where incoming shipments of merchandise will be received and checked. Also located in the basement are the extensive farm implement repair department, the tinshop and a substantially constructed storage vault with inner cork insulation. Other storage space is provided in addition in other parts of the basement.

Ceilings of the two upper floors are finished in Celotex, laid in an attractive panel design, this material also having insulating and sound-deadening qualities. Efficient lighting is provided thruout the store by dome-shaped electric fixtures, while the heating installation utilizes the elevated fan type of radiation.

Nels G. Olson, of the firm of Olson & Kolden, local contractors, served as superintendent in charge of the razing the remains of the old building as well as construction of the new one. Work was rushed from the beginning, with a large crew of men employed, so that the building was well enclosed by the time the severest weather of the winter arrived. Mr. Olson's efficient work is given much credit for the early date at which the big project was completed.

An augmented staff will be on hand Saturday to welcome patrons and friends on the opening day of the new store, which marks a substantial addition to the shopping facilities of this section of the state.

Oen Store History is Story of Life of Founder, Rasmus Oen

Present Institution Had Its Origin in Tin Shop in 1889

BUSINESS KEPT PACE WITH GROWTH OF CITY

Mr. Oen's Other Activities Include Banking and Farming

Entering on its 48th year of service to residents of the Thief River Falls community and Northwestern Minnesota, the Oen Mercantile company October 23, 1936, sustained what appeared at the time to be a devastating blow when a disastrous fire completely destroyed its building and stocks of merchandise with a loss of $115,000.

Rising to the occasion, however, with courage and farsightedness, Rasmus Oen, founder and president of the company, and his associates hesitated not at all, but immediately set about the huge task of reconstruction. A large crew of men was at once put to work clearing the site, and today, five months after the fire, there stands a thoroly modern store building filled to the doors with stocks of new merchandise which will be opened to public inspection Saturday, March 20.

The manner in which this situation was met is typical of the spirit that has animated Rasmus Oen since he first opened a tin shop near the site of the present postoffice 48 years ago in 1889. A happy combination of conservatism and progressiveness, he has so conducted his operations that the volume of business handled by his institution has increased from $8,000 the first year to a peak of well over the $300,000 mark.

Oen's store has indeed kept pace with the growth of the community in which it has played so prominent a part. Coming to what was then a village of less than 200 inhabitants without a railroad, Mr. Oen established his shop, which kept abreast of the fast developing community. The town had 840 residents by 1895, 1,350 in 1900, and then, after the Soo Line came in shortly after the turn of the century, the population reached the 3,000 mark by 1905. In addition to being an important railroad center, the opening of the Indian reservation for settlement brought new residents streaming into this section.

While steadily putting his profit back into the business, Mr. Oen found a need of more capital to finance his expanding operations, and in 1891 Christ Granum became a partner in the firm of Oen & Granum. Dealing in hardware and farm machinery the business was moved into a new building at La Bree av. and Third st. the site of the present store. This building later was moved east on Third st., and is now occupied by the Reep Seed company.

Sensing the future possibilities of this community after the coming of the Soo Line and the opening of the reservation, the large and substantial brick structure which last fall was destroyed by fire was erected in 1907 and 1908. At the same time the Oen Mercantile company was organized with $30,000 capital, and with Mr. Oen as president; C. O. Granum, vice president; Ed Ness, secretary; and T. J. Reierson, treasurer.

At the same time E. K. Aasen, formerly employed in Langseth's store became a stockholder in the company and aided in establishing the new departments added at that time, including groceries, dry goods, shoes, men's wear and furniture, expanding the business into a complete department store. In the years that followed Mr. Oen retained personal supervision over the hardware department along with Ed Ness, who became associated with the store in 1908 after having traveled for a hardware company.

H. M. Olson, president manager of the enlarged men's wear department, assumed that position in 1922. Preceding him in that post were E. K. Aasen, who served in 1908 and 1909, followed by Louis Lonson, Henry Hermanson and Ole G. Granum. Mr. Olson is assisted in the department by Melvin Carlson and Roy Johnson.

The dry goods department was managed from 1908 to 1923 by Mr. Aasen, he being then succeeded by Roy Frytz, who established the read-to-wear lines. Since 1925 the department has been under the efficient management of Mrs. H. M. Olson, daughter of Mr. Oen, who has greatly expanded the operations of this portion of the business. She is assisted in the work of the department by Mrs. Thyra Snyder and Mrs. Cliff Storholm.

The staff of the hardware department includes Henry Oen, manager; Luther Haugen, in charge of specialty sales; Gilbert Granum and Vernon Myrin, salesmen; Morris Lasell, tinner; and Gibbie Granum and Art Simonson, truck drivers. Gilbert Granum has the longest record of service of any employee of the Oen company, having been associated with the enterprise for 45 years.

Roy Oen, son of the founder of the business, who recently assumed the post of general manager, will in addition maintain special supervision over the grocery department, assisted by Arnold Johnson, other employes including William A. Parist, with a long record of service; and Alfred Haugen; while Raymond Parist attends to deliveries.

Olaf Solheim is the genial manager of the enlarged furniture department, which occupies the entire second floor of the new store. Assisting him is Clifford E. Overum as salesman and Gordon Hoel as radio service man.

The varied details of office work in connection with the large enterprise are under the supervision of T. J. Reierson, treasurer of the company since 1908. He began his long term of faithful services in 1905, beginning as salesman in the hardware store as well as assisting in keeping the books. His assistant in the office is Miss Myrtle Oen.

The expanded shoe department is the special province of Orrin R. Hall, while the farm machinery department, featuring the John Deere line of implements, is under the direction of Earle Ripley, who has varied experience in this line, having been associated until the first of the year with the Deere & company branch at Grand Forks.

The Oen company further enlarged its activities in 1932 by entering a new field, the oil distributing business, taking on the local distribution of the products of the Shell Petroleum company. Ed Ness, for 30 years associated with the Oen company, is manager of this department, assisted by Chris Bang and Carl J. Olson. In addition to the distributing plant on the Soo Line right-of-way, a modern service station has been in operation since 1932 on Main av. near Fifth st., and the company also owns the building occupied by the O. K. One-Stop Service, which handles Shell products.

This is, in brief, the history of the Oen Mercantile company, and, in large measure, it is the story of Rasmus Oen. It does not, however, do full credit to the energy and activities of this man, for he has, in addition, engaged in other fields. He has directed farming operations on a large scale in Pennington county and in Eastern North Dakota, and during his career has been heavily interested in several local banks as a stockholder, serving at the present time as a director of the Northern State bank. Thru his various enterprises he pays the largest tax bills of any resident of the county.

Making steady progress that has not been swift or sensational, Mr. Oen says he has not tried to get rich quickly, but rather to play safe. His success appears to be the result of a little good fortune, a lot of hard work and an abundance of common sense in the handling of his affairs. With the opening Saturday of his new store, constituting a substantial testimonial to his faith in the future of this community, Mr. Oen, at the age of 72, may confidently anticipate the good wishes of his host of friends in the community.

Youth Administration Workers to Aid State Public Safety Project

Thousands of student and non-student workers of the National Youth administration will be enrolled in public safety projects in Minnesota, it was announced today by George A. Selke, state NYA director, and A. V. Rohweder, chairman of the Minnesota public safety committee.

The youths, now receiving federal aid from the NYA, will assist in a widespread program of safety projects developed by the staff of the Minnesota public safety committee, the announcement said.

Participating in this latest move in the battle to reduce accidents will be youths now attending school by means of federal funds and non-student workers who have been engaged on other NYA projects.

The youths will be assigned to various safety projects, the work being selected on a basis of personal interest and qualification. They will work with municipal authorities, school officials and the 84 county and 32 city public safety committees of the state.

Projects will include service as aids to safety committee secretaries, checking accident records and recording mishaps in and around schools, keeping traffic accident spot maps, construction of safety displays and compilation of school safety scrapbooks.

In addition, the youths will obtain and classify safety material for schools, distribute and display safety posters and conduct statistical traffic violation counts.

DR. DOWELL WILL QUIT POSITION AS N. W. SCHOOL HEAD

Resigns After Ten Years to Become Professor at University Farm

Dr. A. A. Dowell will resign April 1 his position as superintendent of the Northwest School and Station at Crookston to take a professorship in the division of agricultural economics at University Farm, St. Paul. He will be succeeded as superintendent of the school and station by Professor Thomas M. McCall, who has been in charge of the horticultural work at Crookston for twenty-five years.

During the ten years Dr. Dowell has been in charge of the Northwest School and Station, student enrollment has increased one-third. Over fifty-seven per cent of the graduates have completed their course work during this period.

Following graduation at the Iowa State college, Dr. Dowell taught there for two years before accepting a position as head of the animal husbandry department at the university of Alberta, Canada. While stationed in Canada, he was appointed to make a study of livestock markets in the British Isles. He joined the agricultural extension staff of the University of Minnesota in 1922 and was transferred to Crookston five years later.

For ten months during the school year 1933-34, he was granted a leave of absence to direct special studies in livestock marketing for the bureau of agricultural economics at Washington, D. C. Dr. Dowell collaborated with Dr. O. B. Jesness in the publication of a book on "The American Farmer and the Export Market", in 1934. He is president of the Winter Shows board of managers, president of the Red River Valley Livestock Association president of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, and past-president of the Red River Valley Development association.

Professor McCall came to the Northwest School and Station from the Iowa State College in 1911. He returned to the Iowa State College in 1929-30 for graduate study and was granted the degree of master of science. Professor McCall was acting superintendent during the time that Dr. Dowell was assisting the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C. His knowledge of agricultural conditions in the Red River Valley and his keen interest in the work of the school and station insure a successful administration.

7,000 PERSONS AT 1937 MEETING OF L. O'L. CREAMERIES

Largest Gathering to Date Attends Convention in Minneapolis

Governor Benson was the principal speaker at the opening day's session of the sixteenth annual convention of the Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., Thursday at its plant in the Northwestern Terminal.

More than 7,000 members of the great co-operative and their wives, the biggest crowd that ever took part in a meeting of Land O'Lakes or any other farm organization in the northwest, crammed the huge auditorium to capacity. Hundreds were forced to stand through the all-day program Those in attendance from this community returned late last week.

Other speakers were John Brandt president of Land O'Lakes; Dean Walter C. Coffey of the Minnesota college of agriculture; Dean Chris L. Christensen, division of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, and T. G. Stitts, dairy economist, farm credit administration.

Net sales of Land O'Lakes Creameries increased in 1936 to $38,516,541, from the 1935 total of $35,666,291, despite a decline of 6 per cent in production of butter and cheese in the co-operative territory.

This resulted in substantial gain in earnings and all-round improvement in financial position, which increased the net worth of Land O' Lakes $192,515, from $273,736 in 1935 to $466,251.

Land O'Lakes resources at the end of 1936 totaled $6,423,909, which included $4,739,980 of current assets, exceeding current liabilities by $131,241. Net value of land, buildings and equipment owned by the co-operative was $1,261,486, consisting of $1,688,602 as cost of the properties, less $426,816 held in reserve for depreciation.

Young Son of Former Local Couple Drowns

William Wayne Bakken, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias O. Bakken of Culver City, Calif., formerly of this city, was drowned recently in the storm drain of a creek at Culver City, according to an item appearing in a recent issue of the Culver City Star. Funeral rites were conducted from the Berean chapel in Palms, Calif., Rev. R. C. Dorrance and Rev. L. E. Sechrest officiating, and burial was made in Ingelwood cemetery. Pallbearers at the funeral were members of the Culver City Junior Detective organization of which William was a member. Surviving relatives are the boy's parents, two brothers Merl and Robert, a twin sister Beverly, two other sisters, Kathryn and Mrs. F. G. Conovan, and a grandmother, all of Culver City, Calif.

Owatonna Solon Cites Reasons for Voting Down State Oleo Tax Measure

"Minnesota will retain its present law restricting the sale of oleomargine and will not adopt the Wisconsin law, thanks to action just taken by the Minnesota state senate", says Senator M. R. Cashman in a statement this week. The senate turned down the Craven bill, modeled after the Wisconsin plan, and Minnesota farmers thus will not suffer from the retaliatory action in other states which is proving so detrimental to the sale of Wisconsin butter and cheese. Minnesota thus will keep the markets of all states open to Minnesota dairy products.

"The oleomargarine bill just defeated has been a political football for the last two sessions. Senator Craven, a newspaper man from Milaca, gained considerable publicity by introducing it both in 1933 and 1935. The bill would have repealed all the present oleomargine legislation, which dairymen believe to be the most effective on the statute books of any state. If enacted, it would have excluded not only oleomargarine as described in the present laws but would exclude with it a product made from Minnesota produced farm products, chiefly tallow and lard, to which is added a small percentage of milk solids and approximately 12% of cotton seed oil. It was the exclusion of this latter product which livestock producers of the state claimed would not only damage livestock producers but would place Minnesota in the same unfavorable category in which Wisconsin has found itself.

"It was brought out clearly in the debate in the senate that Wisconsin's cheese and butter producers have suffered materially from retaliatory action in other states, especially those producing cotton—states which formerly used large quantities of Wisconsin butter and cheese. Retaliatory measures directed against Wisconsin are pending in legislatures "In many of these other states."

Former ERA Engineer in This City Faces Charge

Frisble, former supervising engineer for the Emergency Relief administration in Thief River Falls and Bemidji, was returned by St. Paul police to Bemidji Wednesday of last week to answer charges of forgery in connection with cashing of ERA paychecks for non-existent workers, according to the Northland Times of Bemidji. Brought into court Thursday, Frisble asked for a hearing which was set for Saturday, March 20, bonds being fixed in the sum of $2,000.

COWS CHINNED ON ICE WAIT FOR RESCUERS

Walker — Chinning themselves on the edge of the ice and treading water to keep to the surface, two cows belonging to John Wynn Powers township farmer, patiently awaited rescuers to take them from an icy bath. The ice on Pickerel lake had broken under their weight as they approached their usual water hole and they plunged into 15 feet of water. The fact that the ice at this spot was only two inches thick greatly handicapped the rescue men, who finally were able to fasten a chain about the head of each animal and one by one pull them to safety.

State Seeks Safety Survey for Schools; Urges More Patrols

In a letter to every county superintendent of schools in Minnesota, Chief John P. Arnoldy, of the Minnesota Highway patrol, has asked that a survey of every school in the state be taken at once to determine the number of children killed or injured annually since 1930, especially in schools where school patrols are being operated under the sponsorship of the American Legion, with the assistance of the Highway patrol.

"We hope to show," Mr. Arnoldy said, "that accidents have been fewer under the school patrol system and I have asked for a report by years, since 1930. The American Legion is doing a wonderful job in organizing school patrols and the Highway patrol is glad to assist in any way that it can.

"We now have approximately 300 school patrols in Minnesota, outside the cities of the first class, which have their own systems under the sponsorship of the police departments. Through this survey we expect to find the dangerous spots in the state and to remedy them. We have asked for the number of children attending schools, together with the number of killed or injured."

SCISSORS PIERCE CHILD'S EYEBALL

Remer.—A young child here faces the prospect of completely losing the sight in one eye, for Francis Peabody secured as a plaything a pair of sharply pointed scissors often denied him, and accidentally the point pierced his eyeball. Francis caught sight of the scissors when no one was watching him and after approaching them a great many times he could not resist the temptation of taking them in his hands as a cherished possession. He was rushed to the hospital at Grand Rapids for medical treatment.

Complete New Stocks Will be Offered at Opening Next Saturday

Fresh new merchandise from the central markets has been rolling in to the Oen Mercantile company during the past week in quantities up to solid carloads in preparation for the formal opening in its new quarters next Saturday.

Only skeleton stocks have been carried in the limited temporary quarters which have been utilized since the former Oen building was destroyed by fire October 23, 1936, so that, to all intents and purposes, an entire stock of new merchandise is now available to the public.

To permit giving undivided attention to the huge task of moving into the new building and arranging stocks, all departments of the store in their temporary locations will be closed Thursday and Friday. An enlarged staff will be on hand Saturday to welcome patrons and friends to the new store.

INCOME OF RURAL CREDIT BUREAU IS HIGHER FOR 1936

Theodore Arens, Conservator, Submits Annual Report

Cash liquidation in the state department of rural credit increased almost three million dollars in 1936 over the preceding year, the annual report of Theodore Arens, state conservator, showed last week.

Receipts of $6,371,281 for 1936, $2,951,740 more than in the year previous, were in part attributed to refinancing authorized by the 1935 legislature. The federal land bank refinanced most loans.

The department, organized in 1923, made 13,562 loans, amounting to $62,270,500. Arens' report disclosed that 2,390 loans totaling $11,665,300, had been paid as of Dec. 31, 1936. Loans were discontinued and liquidation begun in 1933.

Cash on hand was $8,138,875, sufficient to meet maturing principal on bond payments of $7,077,749.

Complete liquidations at the close of business for 1936 since the reorganization act, included 2,390 loans and 1,207 sales on contract for deed.

Losses since the liquidation was begun, actual and contracted, are approximately $14,500,000, of which $10,799,630 is uncollected interest and the balance is principal investment. The report said these losses necessitated issuance of debt certificates and tax levy certificates.

The process of liquidation is shown by a comparison of loans status at the time the conservator act was passed and at the close of 1936.

Work Is Scheduled to Commence March 20 on Marshall County Park

Actual work on the Old Mill state park project east of Argyle may get under way on March 20 by the federal Works Progress Administration, A. A. Trost, Marshall county attorney, stated Tuesday on receipt of a letter from J. B. Kovarik, district WPA administrator of Detroit Lakes.

The northwest's popular picnic grounds will be known officially as "Middle River State Park," this title being selected by officials in the state park division of the Minnesota conservation commission.

Mr. Kovarik's letter to Mr. Trost stated that he had requested authorization from St. Paul to initiate work on the project effective March 20. The project has received presidential approval and everything appears certain that it will be carried through this spring and summer.

State and County Pay $12,000,000 in Relief in '36, Says Zimmerman

Minnesota and its counties footed a relief bill of more than $11,300,000 during 1936, State Administrator L. P. Zimmerman reported late last week.

Approximately $900,000 of federal relief funds available from a late 1935 grant were also distributed. Relief funds handled by the state last year thus totaled more than $12,000,000.

Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis counties accounted for more than $9,000,000 of the total outlay. They contributed $4,997,000, received $3,656,271 from the state and got $478,310 from the old federal fund.

Exclusive of WPA and other federal agencies, the Minnesota expenditures include state disbursements to counties on the basis of need and supplementary payments by the latter.

Evangelist Discusses New Testament Sunday

"If some one should attempt to meddle with a will or testament after the death of the testator the strong arm of justice would reach out for such an individual and punish him. Thus it is with the testament of God made with His people. Whatever Christ put into that testament before His death remains unaltered; whatever is, by unprincipled human elements, introduced into the New Testament, though it were done only one minute after the death of the Saviour, would by the heavenly tribunal be considered a major crime because such an act, perpetrated by selfish motives, manifests utter disregard for the divine authority of Christ and His explicit will." So stated Evangelist Gulbranson in his discourse on "The Two Covenants" at the old Methodist church last Sunday night. The program of the Back to the Bible lecture course for next week is announced in this paper.

WPA Quotas for April and May Are Announced by Victor Christgau

WPA employment in Minnesota will be on a somewhat steadier basis from now until June 30, as a result of definite quota adjustments that were announced this week by Victor Christgau, state administrator.

Original quotas for the state were first proposed last January, when Harry L. Hopkins, federal administrator, appeared before the house committee to submit data upon which the recently enacted deficiency appropriation bill was drafted and passed. At that time, he proposed for Minnesota an April quota of 41,000 and 36,900 for May, contingent on expected pick-up in private employment.

After these figures were made public, Mr. Christgau called to the attention of Washington and regional officials, the unusual need that prevails in Minnesota as a result of the drought and asked that special consideration be given the state.

As a result, the quotas announced this week were established. The new quotas are 43,000 for April and 39,000 for May. These quotas, Mr. Christgau said, together with the expected pick-up in seasonal private employment this spring, will enable WPA to carry on without any appreciable reduction in the number of jobs available for those in need.

It became known this week that while the quota for Minnesota for March was 44,000, it has been possible to employ 45,000 or 1,500 more than originally was intended for the state.

1360 DIMES OUT OF COLD STORAGE

Red Lake Falls—Dimes, 1360 of them, came out of "cold storage" into circulation in a big way last week in Red Lake Falls, when a local citizen gave them in payment for an electric refrigerator which he purchased. And, upon recounting the dimes, it was found that the person who saved them will have one with which to begin his next account, for the total exceeded by ten cents the price of the refrigerator. Eighteen months ago when Mr. and Mrs. Thrifty Citizen decided they needed a refrigerator but that payment of it should be from savings instead of an additional burden to their budget, the dimes started their trek into "cold storage". They saved all dimes coming into their possession and when the refrigerator was delivered to their home they turned them over.

"IN GOOD COMPANY"

(A Tribute to Rasmus Oen)

DOING business, with some people, is a distinct pleasure. Rasmus Oen is one of these.

Since the year 1908, we have had the privilege of serving the Oen Mercantile Company in furnishing John Deere Quality Farm Equipment to the farmers of the Northwestern part of the state.

From that date we have watched, with interest, the steady growth of the Oen store. It has been a healthy growth because it has been guided by the determination, the enthusiasm, and the unwavering honesty of the owner.

And now, the same spirit of determination and progressiveness with which he met those early trials again manifests itself in the opening of this fine new store.

Because it has been our privilege to work with you all these years, Mr. Oen, we feel that we are "one of the family," and we take this space to tell you that we share with you the feeling of pride that most certainly is yours in the opening of your new building.

Ours has been a business friendship of long standing. Your prosperity and ours is based on serving customers well. A record such as yours can be accomplished only by offering your customers products that rate among the best. Naturally, we are proud that your organization chose to handle the John Deere line almost 30 years ago and has continued to sell and service John Deere goods all these years.

Therefore, we take this opportunity to congratulate you, our good friend and customer, and extend our wishes for a future even greater than your past.

We salute you, too, because you are still looking FORWARD, after 48 years in business, when others might be content to rest on such a wonderful record.

You have contributed much to your community, Mr. Oen. We are proud of whatever share we have contributed to your splendid record of achievement. For our pleasant relations we are most grateful.

May your new building long stand as a monument to your vision, to your business courage, to your reputation for square dealing.

Thief River Falls Automobile Dealers Offer Facilities to N. W. Minnesota

Dealers Set for Start of '37 Selling Season

With Thief River Falls having the reputation of being the largest retail automobile marketing point in the state northwest of the Twin Cities, with one possible exception, dealers operating in the city this week are proceeding with an intensive sales drive which they are confident will set during the current season a new high mark for the number of both new and used cars sold.

That the undertaking of the dealers is an ambitious one is indicated by the fact that no less than 600 new automobiles were disposed of in Thief River Falls in 1936, in addition to nearly 1,500 used cars, the market for these units extending thruout the northwestern region of Minnesota. However, with more than 100 men in the community aggressively engaged in automobile sales and service, and on the basis of their past record, it would appear that their optimism over 1937 prospects is well justified.

Dealers here stress the fact that by coming to Thief River Falls the prospective purchaser is given the widest possible range of both new and used models from which to make a selection, there being seven local dealers handling fifteen of the most popular lines of automobiles. Selling agencies report that owing to the many trade-ins received on new cars sold during the past few months, their used car stocks are now in excellent shape to meet the needs of the most exacting purchasers. In advertisements on this page are listed some of the outstanding bargains available at this time.

Minnesota Horses Hold Numbers in Past Year

For the first time since the World War, the number of horses on Minnesota farms in 1937 failed to decrease, according to A. L. Harvey, member of the animal husbandry staff at University Farm, St. Paul.

The number of horses on Minnesota farms, January 1, 1937, was 724,000, the same as on January 1, 1936. And in spite of contrary reports, states Mr. Harvey, horses still remain the most valuable class of livestock on farms. In the United States, the value of horses and mules together was $1,739,067,000—more than twice the value of all hogs and sheep and greater than the value of all milk cattle (cows and heifers 2 years old and over kept for milk).

While numbers of horses in 1937 remained stable in Minnesota, the number in the United States as a whole declined .9 per cent, estimates the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

87 MILLIONS ROAD AID PAID COUNTIES IN STATE SINCE '21

Reimbursement From State Reaches Huge Figure in 15 Years

Counties of Minnesota have received back from the state more than $87,000,000 in gas taxes, the one-mill tax and reimbursed county highway bonds since January 1, 1921 through return to them of highway revenues of all kinds, not including direct federal aid, according to a study just completed by the Minnesota Highway department at the direction of Commissioner N. W. Elsberg. In the same 15-year period, the state has invested $182,914,242 in its state trunk system which, with bonded indebtedness, brings the investment up to between $240,000,000 and $250,000,000.

Records show the one-mill tax, which originated in 1921, has paid counties $15,853,522 to December 31, 1936, for highway construction; $11,190,743 for maintenance and $833,161 for rural highway certificates. This money is used exclusively on state aid secondary roads but plans and surveys for all improvements must be approved by the state highway commissioner. From January 1, 1929, to January 1, 1937, the state gas tax fund has turned over $25,502,307 to the counties. This money is used exclusively on so-called county aid secondary roads and is set up by law.

The state, by legislative enactment in 1921, was required to assume $26,306,773 in county bonded highway indebtedness and through subsequent enactments, in 1923, 1925 and 1927, this was increased to $34,762,450. Of this, all but $9,019,357 has been paid as of January 1, 1937. One small contract in the amount of $2,768 was also assumed.

In addition to monies paid counties for local highway construction and maintenance through the gas tax and one-mill tax, the state, for the last four years, has paid Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth $81,040 annually for maintenance of 162.8 miles of state highways through these three cities. There are 66.5 miles of such highways in Minneapolis, 55.4 miles in St. Paul and 40.9 miles in Duluth.

Counties have also received large federal grants direct for so-called town-to-market roads, grade crossing separations and other improvements, for instance $2,100,000 for roads in 1936 alone. This is in addition to the savings to the counties through maintenance of 4,500 miles for former county and secondary roads taken into the state trunk system by legislative enactment. In many instances roads so taken over by the state required new and wider bridges and other extensive improvements to bring them up to the standard of the trunk highway system.

Social Security Board Jobs Now Are All Taken Region Director States

A warning to citizens against lavish promises made by self-styled "social security correspondence schools" and mail order "training courses which prepare you for social security jobs" has been issued by the federal social security board and the civil service commission, according to Fred M. Wilcox, regional director of the board. Such courses are being offered by mail and personal solicitation, in some cases by salesmen posing as government representatives.

The social security board states that its permanent organization is now well established and that all positions of the types which are being so advertised must be filled both for Washington and for its field offices by persons who have civil service status. Mr. Wilcox states that the Board has on file more than 35,000 applications for positions.

Completion of private courses of instruction, such as are being advertised, does not eliminate the necessity for meeting civil service requirements.

Patrol to Make Drive on 'One-Eyed' Vehicles; to Enforce Truck Law

An intensive drive on all "one eyed" motor vehicles on the highways of Minnesota has been ordered to begin March 15 by Chief John P. Arnoldy of the Minnesota Highway patrol. Orders to arrest all drivers of cars or trucks displaying but one headlight, or without tail lights as a means to reduce accidents on the highways have gone out from Mr. Arnoldy's office.

"This is not a threat to anyone," Mr. Arnoldy said, "but I think any motorist who spends much time on the highways will agree with me that vehicles with one light are a menace to traffic safety."

The patrol has also been ordered to check all "J" license trucks to see that the home cities of the operators are plainly stenciled on the side of the vehicles, showing from what towns the trucks are operating under the 35-mile law. Operators who fail to have their trucks so marked will be arrested Mr. Arnoldy said.

Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild Opens '37 Contest

Original motor car designs represented by models submitted in a nation-wide competition will be sought by the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild in 1937 as a means of developing the creative genius of American youths. Announcement of the new program extending the influence of the General Motors-sponsored educational foundation into the field of industrial design was made today by President William A. Fisher, who disclosed that four $5,000 university scholarships and other awards totalling more than $80,000 are being posted for this and the Napoleonic coach-building competition. The latter is being continued this year with even more awards than the number posted last year.

CITY HAS VARIED FACILITIES FOR AUTO REPAIR JOBS

Service Shops Supplement Work of Local Sales Agencies

In addition to being the outstanding center in this section of the state for the marketing of new and used automobiles, Thief River Falls is well supplied with all other agencies necessary to meet the requirements of this automobile-minded age.

The numerous local dealers maintain completely equipped service departments equipped with every facility and appliance needed to perform the most difficult mechanical repair work, in addition to which the city boasts several garages that offer repair and storage facilities exclusively.

It is unnecessary to go away from Thief River Falls to have automobile bodies rebuilt, fenders straightened or other similar work done, as there are several companies here that make a specialty of this class of work, enjoying an excellent reputation for the quality of their work.

The city's reputation as a marketing center is further enhanced by the fact that it is the home of several companies during an extensive business in automotive equipment, accessories and repair parts.

TAX ASSOCIATION QUESTIONS FUND MATCHING PLANS

State Group Opposes Tax Increase for Highway Purposes

Warning citizens here to keep their legislators informed of their opposition to any increase in the gasoline tax and the motor vehicle license, the Citizens Tax Relief Association in a report received here today presented new evidence to support its claim that there is no necessity to give the highway department additional funds.

Through its president, John F. Scott, the association questioned the necessity of Minnesota providing any money whatever to match federal aid road funds during the next two years and suggested rather pointedly that the legislature examine into the $5,333,000 annual payroll which the department has built up and see if economies cannot be effected.

Mr. Scott disclosed that congress inserted a provision in the Hayden-Cartwright act in 1936, stipulating that a state could secure federal aid for highways for the fiscal years of 1936 and 1937 without matching federal aids if it could show that its inability to match was not due to a diversion of highway taxes to other purposes. Minnesota does not divert highway funds to other purposes. He quoted a letter from Congressman Wilburn Cartwright, chairman of the committee on roads of the National House of Representatives, written March 4, 1937, saying that it is likely there will be a reenactment or extension of this provision to apply to the years 1938 and 1939.

"The 1935 legislature was importuned to authorize the issuance of $12,000,000 in bonds for the highway department," Mr. Scott said. "It was told that Minnesota would lose millions in federal aid if the legislature did not take such action. We are being told now that the department must have $6,000,000 or more additional revenue in order to match just part of the federal aid available. Congressman Cartwright's letter should dispose of that claim.

"The state could have been excused from matching federal aid road funds in the fiscal year just ending and might have saved $3,500,000 had the legislature not authorized the issuance of those bonds. Does not this suggest the need of going a little slow now with requests for additional funds?

"Even if federal aid funds did have to be matched, it may not be to our interest to do so. It is an unwarranted extravagance to spend $6,000,000 to get $12,000,000, if we haven't got the $6,000,000 and do not particularly need the improvements. The hard-pressed citizens who pay the bills need a lot of things more than more highways right now."

FISH ARE SUBJECT TO SPRING FEVER

Ortonville—Even fish are subject to spring fever, so the story goes, for "They fairly begged to be hooked on the last day of the winter fishing season here." And there were fish to prove this fish story. They were biting and biting plenty. Everything from kitchen string with a wire hook, along with improvised gaff hooks, spears and gang hooks were used to pull up the thousands of carp and pickerel that could easily be seen in the clear water as 250 fishermen cut holes in the thin newly formed ice at the spot where the ice-harvesting was made. One fish house alone had a ton of carp piled near it.

Coal Apples

Coal apples are specimens of spheroidal anthracite coal found in the Mammoth seam of Pennsylvania, varying from one-fourth of an inch to 10 inches in diameter. They are usually about the size of a hen's egg and are thought to be due to jointing.

Extend to You a Cordial Invitation to Attend Their

STORE RE-OPENING

Saturday, March 20

The doors open at nine o'clock Saturday morning. They open to a store that is new in every detail --- new merchandise and new fixtures in a new building.

As old as the community in years, the Oen store is as young as the community in spirit. In the spirit of a young and vigorous community that is just beginning to swing into a healthy stride of development, our new store aspires to a new standard of merchandising service.

In the planning of this new store it has been our purpose to provide the best possible shopping facilities for the people of Thief River Falls and the large territory which it serves. We have looked upon this as an obligation to the community that has made our progress possible. It is the community that has made the store. In appreciation of this fact, we now rededicate it to the service of the community.

We open the doors Saturday morning with everything new—except one thing. The policy of fair dealing which, under the personal leadership of Rasmus Oen has guided the course of the store through nearly a half a century of pleasant business relationships, remains unchanged.

We offer you dependable merchandise at fair prices. We offer you a friendly and considerate service. We offer you the many shopping conveniences which our more adequate facilities now make possible.

Cordially, we invite you to join with us in the re-opening celebration Saturday. Sincerely, we invite you to look upon this new store as the store which the community has built---your store.

Mr. Rasmus Oen, Thief River Falls, Minnesota

DEAR MR. OEN:

The fire, which on the night of October 23rd destroyed your building, might have meant a serious set-back to the progress of our city. The ruins of the old structure, standing as a tomb in the heart of our city, would have cast a shadow of discouragement over our entire community, had they been permitted to remain.

By your prompt action in replacing the old structure with a beautiful new building you have performed a valuable community service . . . The energy with which you have rushed this building operation through to a speedy completion has been an inspiration to all of us.

We take this means of expressing to you our sincere appreciation for the substantial contribution you have made to the development of Thief River Falls, not only by your present achievement, but by that long record of usefulness which extends over a period of forty-eight years of service. May that faith in our community which you have so often demonstrated prove to be well founded and bring to you that satisfaction of accomplishment which your many years of industry so richly deserve.

HIGHWAY PROGRAM SUPPLIES JOBS TO 72,000 LAST YEAR

Gives More Than Half of NRS Jobs During Year, Says Elsberg

Seventy two thousand persons in Minnesota depended for their living, during at least part of 1936, upon highway employment, and more than 55 per cent of all men placed on jobs by the National Reemployment service in Minnesota were put to work on road projects.

These figures were made available by federal agencies to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, this week, in response to his query as to what the effect on employment will be in Minnesota if the state highway department is forced to abandon the major part of its 1937 and 1938 construction and improvement program because of lack of revenues to match federal aid funds.

Without the 1936 work program, supported by license fees, gas taxes and federal aid money, the burden of maintaining these families, totalling something over $2,000,000 would have fallen on general property tax levies for direct relief.

Dreng Bjornaraa, Minnesota director of the National Reemployment service, disclosed that, despite the fact that the highway construction season is comparatively short, more than 55 per cent of all male placements by his office were on highway work.

Out of 69,617 placements of men during the entire 12 months of 1936, 38,440 were placed on highway work, leaving only 37,177 placements in jobs on all other types of projects or industrial enterprises, public or private.

These figures, it was explained, refer to placements rather than to the individuals placed, as one man might be placed on two or more jobs, in which case each new job would be listed as a separate placement.

These figures are consistent with highway department figures, which show approximately 18,000 individuals and their dependants obtained work on highway projects at some time during the year.

To have maintained these 18,000 persons and their dependents on direct relief would have cost the state from $540,000 to $720,000 per month, depending upon the varying relief standards of urban and rural districts.

Employment Offices Have Farm Workers Available for Jobs

March 1 is moving time, and with it comes a demand for farm labor to assist with putting in crops, repairing machinery, and with farm operations in general. In this connection farmers thruout the state are offered the facilities of National Reemployment offices in securing competent workers.

More than 4,600 farm jobs were filled by this service last year, according to Dreng Bjornaraa of St. Paul, state director, who states that increased activity can be expected this season as a result of a greater number of farmers having been familiarized with the National Reemployment Service.

Farmers are invited, said Mr. Bjornaraa, to telephone, write to, or call on their nearest National Reemployment office. Most of the 25 offices in the state have an available list of qualified applicants seeking farm work, but if a suitable person is not available locally, the office will clear with other offices in order to secure just the type of worker desired. The service is furnished without charge to farmers and applicants alike. As of March 1, Mr. Bjornaraa reports, the National Reemployment Service files contained 2,001 applications for farm work.

NO CASES READY AS COURT OPENS

Waseca—Local citizens have evidently become more law abiding since the depression, as evidenced by the fact that when district court opened there were no cases to be tried, in comparison with the 100 cases appearing on the civil calendar in years gone by. A condition unprecedented in the legal history of Waseca county developed at the opening of the March term at which Judge Fred W. Senn presided and there were no cases to be tried. The county's oldest practicing attorney stated that he had never seen a regular term of court open without several cases ready. Absence of the witnesses in the first case set for trial at the recent term made it necessary to adjourn court until a later date.

WARDENS SEIZE 200 PELTS IN FEBRUARY

More than 200 animal pelts were confiscated by the state division of game and fish during February, according to Chief Warden O'Toole. The skins seized included 149 muskrats, 35 skunk, 10 raccoon, and eight beaver. Nine guns, 42 traps, and a quantity of fishing equipment were confiscated during the month.

AUTO COMMITTEE OF HOUSE ADVISES BOOST IN GAS TAX

Recommends One-Cent Rise, No Change in Auto License Fees

The motor vehicle committee for the Minnesota house of representatives, after a careful subcommittee study of Minnesota highway needs and prospective revenues, has recommended a compromise legislative program which it believes will make it possible for Minnesota to match federal aid funds and carry on a reasonable road construction program without imposing any great burden on Minnesota motorists.

The committee has recommended a one cent increase in the gas tax but no increase during this biennium of the motor vehicle license fees to make up the shortage of approximately $2,000,000 that would still exist between the highway revenue produced and the money needed to match federal funds. The committee then recommends a bond issue of $1,000,000 for each year, 1937 and 1938.

Although giving consideration to Highway Commissioner N. W. Elsberg's recommendation that the state place its highway program on a pay-as-you-go basis, the committee held that the issuance of $1,000,000 a year, at a time when the state highway department is paying off $4,100,000 a year in bond and interest charges, would still permit a material annual reduction in highway bonded indebtedness, and would be less of a burden on the taxpayers than would be an increase in the motor vehicle license fee.

Simultaneously with the adoption of the report of his sub-committee, Chairman George Haugen issued a memorandum calling attention to the fact that the counties, under new federal rulings, will require approximately $825,000 a year for the next two years in order to match and take advantage of federal money that now has been made available direct to them.

The proposed one cent gas tax increase, he said, would supply this needed county revenue as well as that needed by the State Highway department, because the counties' one-third share of the new revenue would amount to about $800,000 this year, and $1,300,000 next year, thus making available for the biennium $3,200,000 in combined county and federal funds for county road work on secondary and feeder roads throughout the state.

Drowsy Drivers Are a Menace to Themselves, Medical Group States

When the automobile driver falls asleep at the wheel the chances are very good indeed that he will not wake up again. Studies by the National Safety Council are cited by members of the public health education committee of the Minnesota State Medical association in a bulletin issued today to show that accidents to sleepy drivers frequently kill the driver himself.

About one in every twelve of the accidents that happen when the driver falls asleep kills somebody and in one-third of the cases it is the driver, himself, who is killed.

The most important conclusion drawn from these studies was that driver-asleep accidents are not the result of long, gruelling drives. Nearly half of them happened to people who had been driving for less than two hours. One-third of them happened to people who had been without sleep for 16 to 20 hours.

The trouble is that the drivers were out trying to drive cars without the normal period of seven or eight hours' sleep out of 24. The most common victim was the drowsy driver returning home from a late party.

The physicians advise motorists who have a hard time staying awake to remember that they are running a grave risk to their own lives as well as the lives of others. They should get off the road immediately and not return to it until they have made up the necessary hours of sleep.

Livestock Shippers to Conduct Annual Meeting on Saturday, March 20

The Thief River Falls Livestock Shipping association will hold its annual meeting Saturday afternoon, March 20, in the Civic and Commerce association rooms, Carl Beiswenger, secretary, announced today. Members of the board of directors will be elected, and other business will be transacted including the reading of the report covering 1936 operations of the association. Mr. Beiswenger stated that the patronage dividend checks have been received and are available for distribution to members at the county agent's office.

CART TO COUPE FOR VETERAN MAIL MAN

Princeton—A two-wheel cart drawn by one horse, a buggy and team, a motorcycle, and a Chevrolet coupe served as vehicles of transportation for Joe Cohoes of Zimmerman who has retired after carrying mail for 31 years on one route. He has received scores of letters of congratulations on his excellent record from his friends. When years ago someone, who was not a patron on his route, filed a complaint against Mr. Cohoes, every patron wrote a letter to the post office department concerning him. Accustomed to overcoming difficulties, Mr. Cohoes, in order to make a well beaten path while riding his motorcycle, dragged a long pole along the side of the road.

Red River Valley History

By Win V. Working

On Origin of City's Name

We offer today still another version of the source of the name of Thief River Falls. While it may sound apocryphal to some readers we hasten to reveal that our authority is none other than Mr. Homer F. Mussey, formerly a Thief River Falls editor and now a resident of San Gabriel, Calif.

We direct readers' attention to the fact that Mr. Mussey does not vouch for the story. But we believe readers will agree that it is worthy of presentation here.

Mr. Mussey first explains that he had read the recent story in this column about geographical names and adds that some time ago he wrote a story about the naming of this city. This story was lost he said and he decided to write it again and submit it to the writer. But first he referred to the recent death of his mother at Grygla and furnished some facts that we propose to use in this column later.

"And here" he wrote next, "is that story of why they call it 'Thief River Falls. I don't claim it is authentic but it is an old saga of the town. "Back there years and years ago when the Indians of the Sioux tribe from the Dakotas and the Chippewas from the Minnesota country met in their occasional warfare, a common meeting ground was the junction of two rivers. One came from the north (now Thief river) and another wound its way from the Big Lakes to the east (Red Lake river.)

"The redskins gathered their ginseng on the wide prairie spaces. They scraped their kinnikinick' from the red willows along the banks of both streams. They pealed the pearly white bark from the tree by the rivers' edge and made their canoes and baskets and tepee patches therewith. They met in their seasonal celebrations and they played together in their snake, moon, sun and harvest dances. They met in their funeral obsequies, danced and feasted and sped the departing brave or squaw or papoose on the way to the Happy Hunting Grounds. They gathered around the shallow hole, tossed in their contributions for the welfare and safe voyage of the departed. They consecrated the little box-like structure over the brave. And they went back to their feasting.

"But these feasts didn't always end peacefully. The Sioux were most exceedingly given to temper and to petty thievery. It was at a celebration following the death of a minor leader of the Chippewa tribe, Sioux braves had joined in the funeral celebration. Just a few short miles from the river junction known for years as 'Squaw Point', a group of hardy, daring pioneers of the white race had established a trading post, The Wallins, the LaBroes, the Roulettes, the Cooks and a few more. It made an easy transfer for the Indians-beads, trinkets, powder for their pelts, their beadwork, their ginseng (snake root).

"And so when the harvest was over and the trading completed the Sioux and Chippewa alike gathered for the big celebration. Chiefs and subordinates mingled, each displaying his own profitable successes. Ond Kombro and his three wives with Mary, the favorite, old [illegible] ([illegible]), the Colbonees boys, all gathered around the central table to show their winnings.

"Suddenly there was darkness over the moon. When the cloud passed there was a great hue and cry. Beads, trinkets, flashy silver treasures had disappeared in the twinkling of an eye. Bedlam broke loose, "Thief, thief", in the Indians' tongue, rent the air. But one alert sentinel had seen a fleeing form dash across the open space, dive into the river, swim across and scramble up the opposite bank, only to fall in a faint on the other shore. This alert sentinel could think of but three words to tell his tale, and strange as it seems, those three words were of the white man's language— 'Thief—River—Falls!'

"Indian braves in boats and without boats crossed the stream and recovered the loot. An Indian runner dispatched to the settlement down a mile or so below the union of the two streams burst in upon the usual evening smoke-fest around the cracker barrel and fatigued as he was, could only ejaculate, 'Thief—River—Falls!' And so those hardy old pioneers could see nothing more appropriate to commemorate the capture of the first thief of record than to name that little settlement Thief River Falls. And so the name stands today, famous the world over. Famous for its oddity; famous for its lack of duplication—the only known name of its kind and famous as a place from which few care to go and to which all who leave crave to return".

State High School Music Contest at "U" May 6-7

The thirteenth annual Minnesota state high school music festival and contest under the sponsorship of the state public school music league and the General Extension Division of the University will be held on the 'U' campus, May 6-7. Professor Irving W. Jones of the University faculty, secretary-treasurer of the Minnesota Public School Music league, announced that the deadline for all entries will be May 1. District contests thus will necessarily be held not later than April 24. Thus far, Professor Jones said, district contests are scheduled for Dawson, April 17; Granite Falls, April 24; Chatfield, April 24; Glenwood, April 23-24 and LeSueur, April 24. The state finals are divided upon the basis of junior and senior high schools and further grouped into divisions upon the basis of enrollment to make competition as fair as possible. In the finals, Mr. Jones said, each competing group will be ranked A, B, C, and D, rather than in the former ranking of first, second or third.

THINGS NOT ALWAYS WHAT THEY APPEAR

New Ulm—Things are not always what they seem to be, the person has discovered who thought he presented a coffee mill and a garden spray to the Brown County Historical museum. During the years which have elapsed since the objects were made their origin was completely hidden. It now appears that the "coffee mill" was not made for that purpose at all, but as a mill for grinding birdseed. An early settler made the mill for his wife who ground in it the hemp and sunflower seeds she fed her canary. The "garden spray" is in reality an early model fire extinguisher, which shows the inventive ability of another early settler.

A FUNERAL SERVICE OF CHARACTER AND ECONOMY

News Behind the News in the Legislature

By Senator Vin Weber

"The fight must go on. The cause of civil liberty must not be surrendered at the end of one or even one hundred defeats."

So said the immortal Lincoln in a letter to H. Asbury, on November 19, 1858, and today those words rise to haunt us not infrequently, for civil liberty is rapidly becoming something of a misnomer, though the courts go on uninterruptedly.

And one of those fights which had something to do with "civil liberty," occurred in the Senate this week when the much talked of bill on "the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine came up in the Senate for consideration on General Orders. The bill had been on General Orders for weeks and had been "progressed" from time to time. To one who receives much mail, the delay was premeditated so that the author might work up sympathy in the rural districts and start an avalanche of letters, petitions, resolutions, and what have you, in support of the bill. But such sinister motives were unavailing for after some three or four hours of consideration, during which the stentorian voices of not a few of the Senators lifted the rafters, the bill was finally killed by a vote of 35 to 27.

It was Senator Arvid Runtsinois, of Meeker county, a dirt farmer and real thinker who sounded the economic, logical, indisputable facts that caved in the best that Senator Cravens had to offer. It was learned that not a single dairy organization appeared before the committee considering the bill in opposition to it, and of course, when such organizations as the Land O' Lakes, the Farm Bureau and the Twin City Milk Producers Association, and their like, did not appear in opposition it gave Senate members reasons for suspicion that all was not well.

Rumors in Capitol corridors are to the effect that there will be a housecleaning in the tax commission office. In these days when taxes are an all absorbing question nothing is more important than able, conscientious men on this commission. Down in Lincoln county, A. L. Swenson for many years county auditor, proved his worth as tax expert. He resigned his position to accept an equally important position with the Miller-Davis Company. The tax question is his hobby. He knows tax laws and tax problems as do few men. If there is to be any change, Governor Benson could do no better than to place A. L. in a key position in the department. It would reflect credit on the department and the state.

The consumer now holds the pole position as the "forgotten man." Heretofore I have alluded briefly to the Fair Trade Practices Act, which is now before the Senate committee on general legislation. The bill, in its original form, was vicious in the extreme. I well realize that the merchant must be protected against unfair competition, but the proposed legislation would place him in the gilded seat to the disadvantage of the consumer. Everyone wants to see the merchant fair well. The Lord knows his path has not been strewed with roses, but those who buy must likewise be protected. I prophecy that the bill will come out in such form that it will be fair to all, and after all that is sensible.

The Farm Bureau has been the real agency that has fought for the best interests of the farmer for many years. Unwilling to be controlled by politicians, forces are at work to enact legislation that will bring the Bureau under the control of politicians.

To keep fences up and in good repair the Farmer-Labor party must have a lot of good jobs to give out. The agricultural extension service and the 4-H club department embraces some good jobs, not particularly well paid when qualifications are weighed, but good jobs nevertheless. Gov. Benson would like mightily to control the patronage on these positions, by giving hire and fire authority to the state commissioner of education and the state commissioner of agriculture. So House File No. 1017 was drawn, the Farmer-Labor steam roller was started and 59 representatives went on the bill following the most intensive lobbyist campaign in years.

There's a new element around the state capitol these days, known for want of a better name as "Elmer's stooges." Some of them, such as John Bosch, and other agricultural department underlings, are on the state payroll. Others represent organizations that have been opposed to 4-H club and extension work. They're working harder than any of them have ever worked before, trying to crowd the bill through before the farmers of the state wake up to what is going on.

The Farm Bureau, which has always supported the extension department liberally, through cash contributions and the volunteered services of the membership, is naturally opposed to the bill and the thousands of members throughout the state are making it quite embarrassing for the house members who hope to please both the administration and the farmers of the state. Minnesota farmers seem to be waking up, abruptly, to the fact that it just can't be done. Elmer's stooges saw their last argument in favor of the bill blasted away when Farm Bureau officers pointed out that the Farm Bureau "subsidy" the stooges have been prattling so much that does not exist—that the Farm Bureau has—augmented appropriations for extension work by donations of hundreds of thousands of dollars to help with office expense, mileage bills, 4-H leaders salaries and the like.

This is the first time the Farmer-Labor administration has felt itself strong enough to come out in open opposition to the organized farmers of Minnesota. The administration may get a lesson that will make this the last.

Minnesota has some of the largest farm co-ops in the country—Land O' Lakes, Twin City Milk Producers, Central Co-operative association and others. The members of these organizations own a debt of gratitude to the agricultural extension service. Being non-political organizations, they have put up with a lot of nonsense from the state administration, leaning backwards in their insistence that nothing be done or no statement be made that could be construed as political. The officers of these organizations are still sitting tight, still holding to their non-political creed. But the membership is getting madder and madder and madder.

Receipts of Federal Income Taxes Shatter All Records to Date

The greatest throngs of income tax payers since 1921 jammed federal collection offices Monday, filing an estimated three million returns and raising treasury hopes that government income may match outgo during the rest of this fiscal year.

Treasury officials said the heavy volume of returns indicated that their $810,000,000 estimate of tax collections this month would be born out.

All collection offices remained open until midnight, however, and the computation of exact figures was delayed until Friday. If collections total $840,000,000 they will more than double last year's and will be $164,000,000 over 1929.

Higher levies on upper-bracket individuals and the new undistributed profits tax on corporations are expected to account for a major portion of the increased receipts.

ASKS FOR MONEY TO SHIP OWN BODY HOME

Lake Wilson.—The attempt to extort money from his mother by asking her to send funds for shipment of his body, is costing Willard Butler of Lowville township 90 days in jail. A letter which his mother received, signed by J. J. Stenberg of Fennimore, Wisconsin, stated that the body of her son had been found in a box car, and that it would be shipped if she sent sixteen dollars. By getting in touch with authorities in Wisconsin it was found that Butler, in need of funds, had written the letter himself and signed the name of "Stenberg."

MAY TULIPS RUSH SEASON 2 MONTHS

Moorhead—Tra la for the flowers that bloom in the spring! It's a happy theme song for the flower grower if it comes in April or in the following months, but it takes on a worried note when the flowers take it upon themselves to appear in March. That's the sentiment of the H. C. Brewers family, confronted by the sight of 24 green tips pointing figurative saucy tongues at surrounding snowbanks. When, and if, the tips grow and blossom, they will be tulips, which last year bloomed just in time for Mother's day. Florists advised that snow with leaves or straw be placed over the tips so they may remain under cover until proper time for their appearance, which is not early in March.

Prowlers Enter State Tournament This Week

Prowlers Open Against Farmington Today at 3 P. M.

The Prowlers enter their third state tournament campaign against a powerful Farmington Tigers. The Farmington five, coached by Oscar Lubke, holds a remarkable record for a school of its size. Although there are only 250 high school students the club has been in the district finals five times in the past six years. They are in one of the toughest districts and regions in the state. Included in their district is Red Wing who has been in the state meet more often than any other team. In 1933 they lost to Red Wing and that team went on to win the championship. In 1936 they also lost to Red Wing and that versatile five went on to win the sportsmanship trophy in the state meet. This year the Tigers are one of the favored clubs in the annual classic. They ran through all district and regional competition easily, defeating Stillwater, Red Wing and Columbia Heights to cop district fourteen honors. They then defeated Princeton and Montgomery, the five that took the St. Paul representative, for fourth region honors. Their high scorer for the three district games was John Barger with fifty points. All of their men are remarkably accurate at the free throw line having the high percentage of .703. Barger led in this field also dropping twenty-six out of thirty tries. The entire team is composed of two all-district men Pfaly, forward and Barger, center, and Reisinger, Davidson, Sullivan, Siebold and Bohm. John Barger is a brother of Ray Barger, U of Minnesota star.

The Prowlers left by train after a pep parade Tuesday night. All but one of the players is in the best physical shape. That one is Stadum, who suffered an injured leg in the Cass Lake game. The Prowlers have high hopes for the tournament despite the fact that they are underdogs in their first clash. The remaining games bring Rochester and Virginia together in the other game in the Prowler's bracket. The other bracket brings New Ulm and Triumph Monterey together, with Minneapolis Edison, the tourney favorite meeting Crosby-Ironton, another perennial favorite. Only one of last years' eight remains to fight for the title that was won by Bemidji last year, that one is the favored Edison. This is the first year in the state meet for Farmington and Triumph-Monterey.

Thirty paintings of Iowan artists will be displayed at the Luther College the week of April 3 to 10. —College Chips.

Tryouts for the spring play, "The Valiant One" will begin Mar. 19 at Concordia College, Moorhead. The play will be given April 23— The Concordian.

PROWLERS

(By David Jaranson)

The Lincoln "Prowlers" were going out to win,
When they found the Captain wasn't going in.
The captain was very pale and still
Which was much against their golden will
When the half was over and defeat was in their eyes,
The prowlers bold began to take hold
And leave the opponents lying cold.
They took their victory with a smile,
That made the captain's life worth while.

BAND, TUMBLERS APPEAR AT ADA

Add to Entertainment at Regional Meet

The Lincoln High School band journeyed to Ada last Friday to provide entertainment for the large crowd which attended the regional games. The victory of the team at the semi-finals of the regional Thursday merited the presence of the band at the finals Friday evening.

The band occupied the stage of the Ada High School along with the Ada Concert Band, and the two bands played alternately. The two exhibited their talent before the games and in the halves. However they shared honors with Shirley Peterson, who did two tap-dances, the latter upon encore.

The Lincoln High School Band played the selection "Drums and Bugles". Then Ada's six piece German Band consisting mostly of basket-ball players, played several appropriate numbers. They were attired in attractive black and gold military costumes. The two bands performed again, Lincoln High School Band rendering such numbers as "Loyalty," "Slide Some," "Military Escort", and of course, the Lincoln High School Song. Novelty numbers such as "The Old Gray Mare", and "Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing" were played by the band and sung by the student body, with accompanying movement to and fro in rhythm with the music.

Thursday evening the boys tumbling team, under the direction of Mr. Gabrielson, filled in the half of the game with Ada with tumbling antics, amusing tricks, and breathtaking acts, and were received with many oh's and ah's from the various schools.

Dr. A. M. Elliot of the science department of Bemidji State Teachers' College, was recently given a national honor by being presented with a $200 grant by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, to be used for research equipment.

ADA AND CASS LAKE BOW TO LINCOLN CAGERS IN REGIONAL

The incomparable Prowlers marched to the Region 8 basketball finals by whipping the speedy Ada Vikings, 29 to 27, last Thursday evening at Ada in one of the most heart-breaking conflicts ever seen in the northwest. The defeat of Ada was a crushing blow to the confident Vikings whose superlative ball handling and passing attack, plus an uncanny ability to cage short shots appeared sufficient to wallop the uncertain Prowlers. Had Ada attempted a few more long shots during the game, the result might have been different.

The Prowlers seemed to be hopelessly outclassed in the first half as they took it on the chin again and again as the tenacious Vikings whipped the ball around awaiting the inevitable opening for a shot. The grim Prowlers took to the floor like a different quint with surging aggression in the third quarter. Coach Lee's charges answered the plea for vengeance with fifteen points in the third period as they seeped through the usually competent Ada defense. The Prowlers held their slight lead for the remainder of the contest.

Don Lorentson scored more than half the local's points as he chalked up fifteen points for the scoring honors of the evening. Gordon Caldis played an excellent game and will bolster the strategic center post, sharing duties with Stadum.

The speed-merchants, Merlyn Anderson, Ada boy prodigy and one man team led his team with eleven points.

In the other bracket, the Cass Lake Panthers advanced to the finals by outlasting a gritty Lancaster quint by a 35 to 19 count. The Lakers held a slim 12 to 11 margin at the half. Captain Letendre of Cass Lake saw his first service since January when he was forced out by illness.

Friday evening the Prowlers went on to defeat Cass Lake 20 to 14 and win the regional. The locals had the Pathfinders thru the entire game, the closest the latter could get was within two points, 16 to 14.

Cass Lake was unable to put in a field goal during the first half and in the whole game made only three. They were awarded twenty free throws making eight while the Prowlers were credited with six out of twelve.

High point honors for the Panthers went to LeRoy Wright who made ten of his teams sixteen points. Caldis was out in the front for the Prowlers with three field goals and three free throws for a total of nine points.

We noticed a lot of difference in the spirit behind the team at Ada, both evenings, especially the first one, it seemed to us that the Prowler backers seemed to out yell all the others. We hope it seemed that way to others. The reason, Thief River had to fight to win and the students know it. Therefore they supported their favorites. Will they yell as loud and long in Minneapolis? We hope they will. The team has shown us they can—win,—the students have shown they can give their vocal support. If they combine these two—Minneapolis here we come.

The Prowler five is once again in the state tournament. This 1937 journey marks the third appearance of a Thief River representative in this state wide meet. Twice before they were entered, once in 1916 and once in 1932. As most of us know the Prowler team captured the coveted trophy in 1932. Now we again have that chance. Can we come through? In '32 the team, at that time under Roger Dooley, went into every game as the under dog, according to Twin Cities' sports writers, now we notice the same circumstances are present. When our player's take the floor at three o'clock today they will not be the favorites. They meet Farmington, Region four—winner,—a city of 1507 people, each and every one of whom is right behind his team. The Prowlers went into the regional tournament as underdogs and they came out on top. Can they do that again? We all know our team has the stuff it takes so we believe they can win. Let's get behind them and make our goal the state championship— Minneapolis here we come! Farmington and all others beware!

Riff-Raff

Mr. Montague and Mr. Riggs certainly are good pickers—of declam contest winners.

Now-a-days it isn't necessary for Mr. Claffy to ask "Your reason for absence". It's to be taken for granted that you were out helping the team win a game.

Peggy J., Don O., and Company surely must have welcomed breakfast in bed after their journey's end at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

Have you heard the latest debate question? Resolved: That I should get a new summer coat, white flannel suit, and permanent instead of going to the cities.

Share and share alike seems to be the motto of Frances W. and Helene S. When the truck knocked Fran down, she turned right around and knocked Helene down. That's palses for you.

From the langwitch Fae was using, it was apparent that she was not in favor of trying to sleep with Squirt A.'s feet in her face.

And we're wondering if the "fire hall kids" picked up any bed-bugs while in Ada. Take them home and pin them to the wall—we don't want any.

Some big send off for the team— I'm sorry I didn't go that night, too.

And was Yours Truly feeling sore after that speech by Coach Thursday morn. When I went home and told—Dad—of—my woes and grievances, he looked at me and said, "Offspring, there are still a few things about life that you don't know and one of them is physchology. You let Coach alone. He knows what he's doing and that team is going to do all right." And I did and Coach did and the team did.

Accidents happen even to the best of people. Miss Wise found that out when she slipped on the icy sidewalk and had to go home and change her dress Tuesday noon. (Bet the dry-cleaners like the new rush of business the sidewalks are giving).

Betcha Miss Dahlen's Home Ec. II classes loved getting in school at 7:30 on Wednesday morning. Hope the bread raised!

This typewriter doesn't want to spell very well at all, but it sure tells me that we are going to win in the State. All the tea cup fortunes say so, too!

MARCH SLUSH

And so I said to Mr. Claffy says I, "That was a good game Thursday night at Ada, wasn't it? The team can play better with a lot of support can't it, Mr. Claffy? It give Thief River a peppy representation if a lot of kids go to the out-of-town games doesn't it, Mr. Claffy? You want us to have a peppy representation don't you, Mr. Claffy? Well, you feel pretty good because we won the regional tournament don't you, Mr. Claffy? Well, could I have a er permit please er, Mr. Claffy? Well, sir, he handed over one big juicy O. K. Nice guy, that Mr. Claffy.

The trip to Ada was healthy to say the least. Just think of all the thumbs that got their spring airing.

Ade L. sure must have lotsa pull. Imagine sleeping with the coach!

And speaking of Lorentsons— We see that Adeline and John M. are strongly considering a duet— not a new couple.

How did you do it, Mel H.? Yes I mean get that brunette cheer leader to cast her intentions in your directions? May we congratulate you upon your achievement.

Mae A. says she got that black eye in gym. It looks pretty bad— you've got to prove it to us, Mae.

What say we all join the basketball team? Those lucky stiffs are all sprouting out with new spring outfits—well, they deserve them!

As we've said before, these sophomores are doing mighty well for themselves. It's not enough that they have a party at Robarges Saturday night. No—they have to have a party at Ramholts on Monday night. My, my, a school night at that!

That paradise Tuesday night— Heck—we're lost for words.

Bet those kids in Minneapolis are having fun too.

Famous finale: Minneapolis— here we come!

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

"Oh Phooey!"—Havel

"Oh You!—Gothe

Apple pie a la mode suffices the appetite of Vivian Havel who was born December 17, 1919, right here in Thief River Falls. Her spare time is spent listening to the radio. The delightful star Katherine Hepburn is her favorite actress and Robert Taylor her favorite actor. Another of her favorites on the screen was "Trail of the Lonesome Pine". Phil Harris has the best band (you're sure it's not Phil himself?) on the radio, but the Jello program is the best in general. "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm" is the best selection which comes over the air. Bookkeeping is her favorite subject but oh my, when they pass out that yellow paper (her pet peeve)! Her future ambition is to be wealthy. (who says they marry for love?). Her inspiration (she's not fussy) just any millionaire. Vivian enjoys that "true to life" comic strip "Blondie", spends a goodly amount of time among her seventeen and still believes "Little Women" by Louisa May Alcott to be the most delightful book she has ever read.

Here is a young lady who prefers Sonja Henie, Don Ameche and the movie "One in a Million" to any other that she has ever witnessed. She is Ruth Goethe born November 21, 1918 in Thief River Falls. Her musical yearnings are satisfied by Guy Lombardo and the song "This Year's Kisses". "Main Street" is her favorite book and Sinclair Lewis her favorite author. Ruth is partial to courses in Science especially Biology. She likes Jack Benny and Mary Livingston on the Jello hour. Keeping a scrap book is her hobby and she can't stand conceited people!

Inspired by our very own Miss Helquist, she hopes to become a girls' athletic teacher. Banana splits are her favorite dish. Ruth has participated in girls' sports.

WIND-CHILL

It's been awfully hard for the students to settle down this week after spending part of last week in Ada.

Wonder if Joyce O. and Marcella R. are really "Small-town" girls after all—at least they like the small town boys from Fosston.

Did you notice those Bemidji band boys jump when Lorraine and Hetty came in?

Bet there were lots of sore necks after trying to crane around all those pillars.

Never have seen better sportsmanship in any tournament. Everyone seemed to be patting everyone else on the back.

Bet this little red building was kind of emptyish Friday.

Some of the kids had to go way back to Crookston to sleep. (The rest just bunked up in the city hall.) Three cheers for that night cop!

The Junior and Sophomore boys have the definite opinion that there ought to be more out of town tournaments with dances. (Looks like they have been taking lessons from Fred Astaire.)

Our old pal and quarter back, Jim Nesse, hitch-hiked all the way from Northfield to attend the game.

And a couple of the boys were doing their best to attract the attention of that cute Freshmen yell leader from Ada. (Good taste we calls it.)

The Crookston team attended in full force, easily seen was that longing look to be out there battling themselves.

Ardith S. enjoyed her time in Ada. Thanks to Marvin Lindberg.

Earnest Snetting wants to go to Ada again. Well, you can write to her every day.

"High School students do more things now than we used to", claims Mr. Montague. But as he says times have changed!

Wish we could all be in Minneapolis now to give the team support.

The Men's squad of Macalester College was declared winners of the Northwest Tournament. The team is now going to the Invitation Tourney in Indiana.—The Mac Weekly.

TEAM HONORED AT NIGHT PEP RALLY TUESDAY

Student Body Gives Mp'ls Bound Cagers Gala Send-off

A royal send-off was the only way to describe the farewells and best wishes that Lincoln High School and the city of Thief River Falls gave the eight boys who hold our hopes for the State Championship.

On Tuesday night a pep rally was held uptown and at the depot before the basketball team left for the state tournament at Minneapolis. The student body assembled at the Auditorium at 10 oclock with banners flying and school colors predominant to parade through town. The fire engine, with siren screaming attention, led the parade. The high school band, directed by Mr. Riggs, following beating drums, and playing marches. The pep squad followed bedecked in blue and gold. The faculty and student body turned out en masse to follow the eight boys who were driven in cars donated for the occasion by the local garages. Everywhere were blue and gold streamers, decorating the cars, placards and signs.

The parade progressed from the Auditorium down to First Street, up LaBree Avenue to Third Street. Here it was halted temporarily to allow for cheers for the team and a few selections by the band. The parade then went up to Fourth Street, down to Atlantic Avenue, and to the depot.

At the depot, the band assembled to render several pep selections. Cheers were led by the cheer leaders, and various novelty numbers were sung by those who had come to see the team off. At 11 o'clock the train arrived, and all students thronged outside the depot, once more giving many yells, and the team began its journey to the State Tournament.

MARCH SLUSH

We wonder what Micky got from Mary when our team beat cass lake maybe he got the same thing that lenny got from brunelle—ade l has got lotsa pull 'cause he slept with the coach down at ada—at least it was healthy going to ada—think of all the thumbs that got their spring airing—this town oughta build a fire hall for out-of-town kids to sleep in when they're broke— blamed nice of ada to furnish a hall for that purpose—johnny mattson has got a girl and her name is adeline lorentson—three soph boys had one soph girl out riding sunday afternoon and her name is anna hanson—mr riggs decided that a car needs a fan belt to make it run—don't know why—bob hanson is the stubbornest kid in the junior class he musta been born that way—betcha peggy jacobson caught heck friday morning—ask her why—it's a spitting shame the way these seventh and eighth graders trapse around the country why they're mere upstarts—betcha vic lung felt pretty good friday night— mel haugham sure thought that dark cheer leader from ada was pretty nice and she was making eyes at him too—gee clarence mattson is a good friend to have 'cause he has the car so much— must be spring 'cause even sophs have the car in the afternoon— good patriotic people come from here you tell 'em—take those concordia, st. olaf and mayville kids for instance—pretty nice—it ain't right the way the basketball team gets out of school, gets swell eats and stay in a swell hotel oh boy, oh boy, oh boy—there's going to be one hugh enormous war if a lot of pep doesn't turn out—the sophs have pep if no one else does —dorothy robarge had a party for them saturday night and they got so peppy they broke a lamp — perhaps in behalf of the student body we should thank mr. claffy for dishing out so many o k's— pretty nice of him.

The Geometry I classes have finished the study of similar polygons.

The Home Economics II classes are studying the preparations of breads, salads and deserts.

High School Band Joins in Team Sendoff Tuesday

On Tuesday evening the high school band helped give the basketball team a big send-off to the state tournament. Before the parade started, the band played several numbers at the auditorium. When the parade reached the depot the band again played several marches and added greatly to the pep and spirit of the occasion. Although it is impossible for the band to go to Minneapolis for the tournament, the next best thing by marching in the pep parade, and if the boys come home victorious you can be sure the band will be there to meet them.

On Tuesday evening before the parade, the clarinet ensemble played for the Dorcas meeting in the Trinity Lutheran church. The two selections played were "Sweet and Low" and Brahm's "Lullaby". The members of the clarinet ensemble are Archie Monson, Ileene Hoffseth, Gordon Winger, Palma Jahr, Margaret Jacobson, Thomas Carlisle, Charles Gustafson and Mae Wilson.

The entire band, and various divisions of the band have been performing two or three times weekly for the past month and the band has been praised by many other school bands in the surrounding towns. It has gained the reputation of being a good high school band and there will be an excellent chance to compare with other school bands at the music contest which will be held in Thief River Falls in a month.

PUPILS GET FIRST AID CERTIFICATES

Fifty-five Students Complete Three Weeks' Study

Having successfully completed a three weeks study in First Aid fifty-five students of Mr. Gabrielson's biology classes received their Red Cross First Aid certificates. A complete study of all First Aid methods, with demonstrations, and applications of this knowledge constituted the program. The students found the First Aid course very interesting, to say nothing of all the benefits derived from this training.

The course of study was as follows: First Aid—Its needs and uses; Physiology of the body—the study of living processes and structure of the organs; Dressings and bandages —the purposes, types, and applying them; Wounds— types and treatments; Shock—the symptoms, causes, and treatment for it; Artificial Respiration—the need and practical applications of this knowledge; Injuries due to heat and cold; Injuries to the bones, muscles and joints; Poison— antidotes and immediate treatment for them; Unconsciousness—the causes, type and treatment; Common emergencies; and the preparation of First Aid Kits.

The following persons received standard certificates: Mendell Erickson, Gordon Neset, Mary Margaret Cosgrove, Caroline Lillevold, Florence Hanson, Loren Stadum, Kenneth Murzy, Marion Oden, Margaret McKechnie, Mary Chommie, Evelyn Tungseth, Solveigh Fjelstad, Fae Belcher, Mary Mayer Orkes and Enid Olson.

The following students have completed the Junior course and have received their certificates: Clifford Lunke, Lorraine Amundson, Marion Parbst, Bertha Hohle, Esther Hougham, Glenn Newland, Orville Eide, Mae Langevin, Arda Crown, Norma Haugen, Mildred Peters, Eileen Bouen, Margaret Dowacter, Beatrice Pederson, Margaret Althoff, Dorothy Holthusen, Judith Halland, Kenneth Jorgenson, Dorothy Robarge, Florence Erickson, Lester Erickson, Lorene Dahl, Lucille Thomas, Perry Pederson, LaVern Wood, Ella Jorde, Gloria Quist, Elaine Hoard, Palma Jahr, Rose Gulseth, Ernest Erickson, Alyce Jenson, June Yatesund, Helent Storhaus, Ellen Dalos, Leona Kramer, Edgar Sorenson, Leona Bimler.

NOTED OPERATIC ARTISTS PRESENT PROGRAM HERE

Davie's Light Opera Company Appear in Assembly Series

The fourth in the series of Northwest Assembly programs was held in the Auditorium Tuesday morning, March 16, at 11 o'clock. The Davies Light Opera Company, composed of four concert singers, rendered several numbers included in the repertoire of glee clubs and choruses, and others from famous operettas and light comedy successes. Among the selections in the first group were: "The Sleigh", "Come to the Fair".

Several solo numbers were rendered including two bass solos, "Old Man River" and "Torelo-torely-a", two soprano solos: "My Hero" and a novelty number; and two tenor solos: "Me and My Little Banjo", and "Home on the Range".

Then while the pianist played two selections: "Polonaise" by Macdowell, and a special arrangement of "Turkey in the Straw", the singers retired to change costume for the rendition of songs from "Naughty Marietta", "The Student Prince", "Rio Rita" and "Of Thee I Sing". The two men returned in full regalia of soldiers, and the soprano attired in the costume of a peasant girl of the time of the operettas. Such selections as "The Drinking Song", "Golden Days" and others were selected from "The Student Prince"; "The Tramping song" "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life", "I'm Falling in Love with Someone", and "The Italian Street Song" from "Naughty Marietta"; "Rio Rita" and "The Song of the Texas Rangers" from "Rio Rita"; and "Of Thee I Sing, Baby", and "Love is Sweeping the Country" from "Of Thee I Sing" were some of the popular airs selected.

The costumes of the singers added greatly to give the illusion of seeing the operettas and musical comedy productions.

STORES CLOSE FOR SERVICES GOOD FRIDAY

To Remain Closed From 1 to 3 for Joint Services in Auditorium

THREE PASTORS WILL DISCUSS REDEMPTION

Local Churches Arrange Special Services for Easter Sunday

With the Lenten season approaching its Easter Sunday climax preparations are being completed today for the annual Good Friday services in the Auditorium tomorrow at 1:30, sponsored jointly by the Trinity, Augustana and Zion Lutheran churches. The usual large attendance is anticipated, stores of the city having been requested to remain closed from 1 to 3 o'clock Friday.

The theme of the services will be based on the 53d chapter of the prophet Isaiah dealing with redemption, each of the three participating pastors discussing one phase of the subject. Rev. Charles W. Erickson's topic will be "Redemption foretold", while Rev. E. L. Tungseth will talk on "Redemption Fulfilled" and Rev. R. M. Fjelstad will discuss "Redemption Proclaimed".

Reverend Fjelstad will preside at the services, which also will include musical selections by groups of members of each of the three congregations.

LEGION PLANS EXPOSITION TO BE HELD MAY 6-8

Varied Entertainment Program Is Arranged for Annual Event

BUILDERS SHOW TO BE A NEW FEATURE

Elaborate Cooking School Sponsored Jointly by Legion and Times

While the automobile show will not be a feature of this year's event, having been held last November immediately following the introduction of 1937 models, this will be more than offset by additional features added to the exposition this year. Chief of these will be a builders' show and household appliance exhibit. That ample space will be provided for the varied program is assured by the fact that all exhibits will be housed in the sports arena, while the programs will be presented in the adjoining Auditorium.

Mr. Lund today announced the appointment of the following committee chairmen: O. C. Paulson, entertainment and car tickets; W. E. Dahlquist, cooking school; Palmer Tommerdahl, exhibits; A. H. GOVERNOR ASKS MORE SPEED ON REVENUE PLANS

Says Legislature Must Stay at Work Until Budget Is Balanced

INHERITANCE LEVY APPROVED BY HOUSE

Higher Taxes on Whiskey Are Provided in Senate Measure

Governor Benson Tuesday issued another warning to the legislature regarding his revenue raising program, advising legislators that it is "up to them to balance the budget" or remain in St. Paul until they do.

The governor indicated that he is dissatisfied with the progress of the income tax bill in the senate, where for several weeks it has been in the hands of the tax committee undergoing revision. He said he would stand by the bill passed in the house, calling for maximum rates of 16 per cent on corporation incomes and 25 per cent on individual, and indicated he would veto any bill that does not come near those figures.

Putting the problem of balancing the budget up to conservative leaders in the senate, Governor Benson declared that the house has acted satisfactorily on his program so far and "will continue to pass the needed bills."

An administration plan to tax gifts, aimed at estates that are divided among heirs before the owner dies, was approved in the house Tuesday by vote of 108 to 2.

The bill, urged by Governor Benson in his message, is designed to plug the gaps in the state inheritance laws, which now cannot touch through taxation estates that are handed down to heirs in order to cut down inheritances.

Spokesmen for the administration, urging passage of the measure, pointed out that the law will not produce a large amount of revenue in itself, but working in conjunction with the inheritance tax laws will eventually bring in a substantial revenue. They explained that proprietors of large estates who now are able to avoid the inheritance tax will be compelled to pay under either manner of disposing of their holdings.

Increased taxes on whisky to raise the revenue from that source by approximately $5,000,000 was proposed in the state senate by Senator George Siegel, St. Paul.

The measure would boost the levy principally on the older varieties and would more than triple the assessment on imported whiskies.

The present state tax is 60 cents a gallon on all hard liquor. The Siegel plan is to raise the levy on all liquor more than 18 months old to $1.00 a gallon with the levy on foreign brands increased to $2 a gallon. Present annual revenue from this source is approximately $2,000,000.

LOSE TO VIRGINIA IN SEMI-FINALS 37-17

Take Third Honors by Defeating New Ulm Saturday 31 to 24

Cheered on by nearly 150 of their fellow students and fully as many adults from this city, the Lincoln high school Prowlers, whose ages average no more than 17 years, distinguished themselves late last week by winning third place in the in the state high school basketball tournament conducted in the Minneapolis Auditorium.

In the opening game against Farmington last Thursday afternoon, the local quintet won the first round victory by a score of 26 to 17, only to be eliminated in the semi-finals Saturday night by the powerful Virginia team 37 to 17. In the consolation finals Saturday night Thief River Falls came back to win third place in the tournament standings by trouncing New Ulm 31 to 24. Minneapolis Edison bore out advance predictions by winning the state title in the final contest of the tourney, defeating Virginia 37 to 24.

In the game with Farmington the Prowlers led 4-2 at the quarter, 8-7 at the half and 20-13 at the end of the third period. Lenny Helquist accounted for four field goals, making some sensational long shots, while Lorentson scored three times and Nelson and Caldis twice each. Close guarding on the part of the locals limited Farmington to only five field goals.

Pepienjak of Virginia was the individual star in the semi-final contest with the Prowlers, accounting for a total of 14 points. The local quintet was apparently bewildered by the fast start made by the Iron Range team, but got their bearing later in the game and in the final period held their opponents on fairly even terms. Helquist again led the scoring for the locals, making three field goals, while Nesse made two and one basket was registered by Roy Lee, smallest player in the tournament.

In their last game Saturday evening, with New Ulm furnishing the opposition, the Prowlers had everything their own way, leading by a 12-0 score at the end of the first period, 19-5 at half time and 27-9 at the end of the third quarter. Helquist continued his tournament record for effective long shots by making four baskets in addition to a free throw, while Roy Lee also made four baskets and Nelson three.

The powerful Minneapolis Edison team was in the state tourney for the third successive year, having narrowly failed to win the title in 1935 and 1936. Three of the team's players were placed on the tournament all-star team in a poll of officials and sports writers.

CONFERENCE HELD HERE OF DISTRICT ADULT EDUCATORS

Mayor Prichard, Supt. Bye and Judge Brattland Are Speakers

Fourteen teachers of the adult education group in District Seven met in the Thief River Falls Auditorium, March 15 and 16th, under the direction of L. O. Caldwell, district director of recreation and adult education.

Among the speakers were Mayor W. W. Prichard; Supt. Morris Bye, President M. W. Deputy of the Bemidji State Teacher's college; Dr. Beck of Bemidji and Mr. N. A. Thoreson, district supervisor of NYA. Miss Ruth Johnson, member of the Thief River Falls Youth's Forum, also appeared on the program Tuesday afternoon and gave a paper on the life and activities of Kagawa of Japan.

Mayor Prichard welcomed the teachers cordially and gave as his opinion that adult education is a distinct advantage to the youth of today; that it has been of special value to this community. Judge M. Brattland gave valuable and practical comments from his varied experience. Summarizing, he advocated that a definite outline for the completion of the program should be arranged; that their achievement should be recognized; that adult groups should be made to feel that they are advancing; that problems of self-government, money, economics, and social problems should be studied.

Superintendent Bye stated that the movement should be identified with the state department of education and allied with local school authorities. Adult education is necessary to keep people abreast of the times; it should foster hobbies; it should overcome deficiencies in earlier education; it should train youth to make valuable use of their leisure time, and eventually become a permanent part of our public school system which would permit long-range planning the same as is done in our city schools.

N. A. Thorson, NYA supervisor of District Seven, gave a summary of the youth movement in the search of jobs. He compared the American situation with that of Sweden. He spoke of the controversy between unions and the organization of part-time and apprentice work.

C. W. Bouvette Will Talk Over WDAY Friday on Rural Credit Bill

The Farmers Legislative Council of Minnesota has arranged for time over WDAY, Fargo Broadcasting Station, at which time Clifford W. Bouvette, member of the state legislature, will outline the plan being formed now in the state house to liquidate the department of rural credit. Mr. Bouvette will speak Friday night March 26 from 10:30 P. M. to 11 o'clock. It is the contention of the farmers and business men sponsoring the new rural credit legislation that it would be better for the state to charge off a fair portion of their investment in farm lands and so get these lands back into private ownership and to otherwise refinance the existing bond issue to cut the rate of interest to at least half of the existing rate and to otherwise provide for liquidation of the entire bureau as fast as possible. Mr. Bouvette's talk Friday will outline the plan and give the entire history of the department of rural credit.

Big Manitou Falls

In the far northwestern corner of Wisconsin is a natural wildwoods area of rough terrain, rocky escarpments, cascades, waterfalls and deep gorges—1,140 acres of scenic land. Here the Black river, which rises in the highlands of Minnesota, cascades over the rocky range on its rush to Lake Superior. Here the river plunges deep into a mountain gorge in a waterfall that is higher even than the Canadian falls at Niagara. This sheer drop, the highest in Wisconsin, was called by the Indians "Gitchee Monido," the Falls of the Great Spirit. It is known as Big Manitou Falls.

Tradition Links Easter 'Bunny' With New Moon

Tradition abounds in the popular American customs that surround Easter eggs and "bunnies," familiar to every child who has been taught the occasion's significance.

The connection between Easter and the rabbit is said to come from the fact that the hare is a symbol for the moon, which determines the date of Easter. In Egyptian, the name of the hare also means "to open," hence the association of the hare with the opening of new life at spring festivals.

The egg is an obvious symbol of the spring awakening. The bright colors of painted eggs symbolize hues of the Easter sun and the joy which follows the whiteness of winter. In Germany, where both Easter rabbits and eggs originated, children are told that if they are good a white hare will steal down the chimney and hide brightly-colored eggs in the house. In many foreign places the Easter hare is as important a figure as Santa Claus at Christmas.

If young men in some English villages can catch a hare and present it to the parson before 10 a. m. on Easter Monday, the rector is bound by an old law to give them 100 eggs, a calf's head and a groat.

Egg rolling on the White House lawn, a popular Easter custom at Washington, began soon after the close of the Civil war. Originally the annual affair took place on the Capitol terrace. When authorities complained that children were harming the turf, President Hayes and his wife invited youngsters to do their egg rolling on the White House lawn. The event has been annual ever since.

Easter island, mysterious dot of land 2,000 miles off the west coast of South America, was discovered on Easter Sunday, 1722, by the Dutch Admiral Roggeveen.

First U. S. Currency

This country's first national currency, $3,000,000 of it, was issued in 1775 by act of Continental Congress, and distributed among 12 colonies (Georgia was excepted) for revolutionary expenses. Congress quickly found it couldn't raise money by taxation, and these and additional notes, totaling $250,000,000 depreciated in value to nothing. Years later the government redeemed a few of these rubber checks at one cent on the dollar, and repudiated the others. Consequently, say the Philadelphia Inquirer, there is currency authorized by congress held in this country which even the government regards as worthless.

WORK COMMENCES ON OLD MILL STATE PARK IN MARSHALL

Crew of 15 WPA Men Will be Increased Later in Spring

Actual work on the Middle River State Park located at the Old Mill site in Foldahl township got under way Monday morning with a crew of 15 WPA men under the direction of Hans Urtes of Warren, as foreman being employed on the project says the Warren Sheaf.

John Martin, scenic engineer of the Minnesota Park division, was in Warren Friday and conferred with members of the county board of commissioners at an informal meeting. The board members agreed to maintain the park until the state legislature appropriates the necessary funds for state maintenance, said Levi G. Johnson, county auditor. Three members of the board attended the meeting while the remaining two were contacted by telephone for their approval.

The crew of WPA men employed on the project are being kept busy clearing brush, chopping down undesirable trees and in general tidying up the place. This crew is working eight hour days, and four days a week. It is expected that this crew will be increased considerably following the spring breakup.

Treat Potatoes for Better Field Stands

The treating of seed potatoes to prevent rhizoctonia, known commonly to potato growers as brown stem disease, will pay dividends in better field stands, states R. C. Rose, extension plant pathologist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Many poor stands are caused by rhizoctonia, a disease that cuts off the sprouts, examinations in the field have shown. With sufficient rainfall, many of the seed potatoes will produce a second set of sprouts, but yields from such plants are certain to be low. The organism causing this disease is carried in both the soil and the seed. Disinfection of the seed in a mercury compound will usually prevent infection from the seed itself but not from the soil. However, seed disinfection is well worth while, states Mr. Rose, for a better stand means more potatoes.

The acid-mercury dip, as originated by the Minnesota Experiment Station, is especially effective in treating seed potatoes for rhizoctonia. The treatment is simple and requires little time. Materials can be purchased already mixed. Folder No. 29, which can be obtained from the county agricultural agent or by writing to the Bulletin Office University Farm, St. Paul, describes how to make the treatment.

Tayra Resembles Weasel

The tayra is a native of Brazil. Like his smaller relatives in the United States, he is a tireless and bloodthirsty hunter, trailing his quarry by scent and following into dens and crevices which would thwart a bulkier animal. The tayra at times runs in large bands. The tayra's stream-lined body resembles that of the common weasel.

Capitol News Review
By A. I. Harris

The steel barons have evidently seen the handwriting on the wall and are hastening to come to an understanding with their employees. With the signing of an agreement between Carnegie-Illinois and the C. I. O. last week, giving recognition to the union and a 10 cent pay increase to workers, there is little doubt that other large steel corporations will follow with similar settlements without the necessity of costly and sometimes disastrous strikes.

The lamp of enlightenment, however, seems to have cast no rays on Henry Ford. He claims that the "international financiers" are behind the current drive for unionization, which sounds to Judge Musmanno of Pittsburgh as if "he is talking through the cracked cylinder of an abandoned Model T." Perhaps the auto workers in Detroit will yet light the way for Mr. Ford.

With a sustaining fund already set up, the National Lawyers Guild has laid definite plans for its fight for Supreme Court reform, the child labor amendment, social security laws, minimum wage laws and preservation of civil liberties, said Judge John P. Devaney, national president, who was back in Minneapolis for a day last week.

Alongside its fight for progressive legislation and judicial reform, the Guild will launch immediately an extensive membership drive among the 80 per cent of American attorneys who are not members of the National Bar Association, the conservative legal group. Devaney, who resigned as chief justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court last month, will open Guild offices in Washington and divide his time between Minneapolis and the national capital.

Liberal support is swinging behind President Roosevelt's proposed federal court changes from both workers and farmers organizations. Such powerful farm groups as the Farmers Union, the Farmers National Grain Corp. and many units of the Farm Bureau are supporting the president, as is the American Federation of Labor and its many affiliated unions throughout the country.

The state department of rural credit in 1936 had its best year since it became a liquidating agency in 1933, figures submitted to the legislature last week in the department's annual report reveal. Receipts from outright farm sales and mortgage refinancing through federal agencies totaled $[illegible], bringing to the department an increased revenue of nearly $3,000,000 over 1935. Inventory of all properties held at the end of last year showed a state investment of $[illegible].

In order to stem the alarming rise in farm tenancy revealed by a survey of farming in Minnesota, a committee under supervision of the State Planning Board has made the following recommendations:

Prohibiting sale of farm land to any except owner-operators.

A graduated land tax, progressively increasing on volume of land held, as an inducement to sell land to individual owners.

Moratorium legislation enabling the indebted owner to pay all taxes, interest and principle on debts entirely by crop shares, in order to make the investor share in the uncertainty of farming.

Gradual substitution of a net income tax system which eventually would supplant the general property tax entirely.

Assessment of farm property for taxation on the basis of equities held by owner and mortgagor alike.

Equal risk for tenant and owner alike by making the crop share the only lease.

"It is patent that the seriousness of the farm tenant situation in Minnesota dictates the necessity for immediate adoption of constructive policies and the prosecution of effective plans designed to stay and reduce tenancy, and to alleviate conditions under which tenants operate," the report said.

It was to be expected that the reactionaries would fight Governor Benson's order instituting a five-day week in all state departments under the administration. In the long run the governor will get credit for his step, however, because he is progressing in the right direction. It wasn't long ago that the 14-hour day was practically taken for granted, even in this country. Gradually this long day, which robbed workers of their physical and mental efficiency, was scaled down to twelve, then ten and eight hours as labor unions battled for better conditions and a more humane attitude. The state, as the largest single employer of labor in Minnesota, is now setting the example for private industry to follow.

Senator A. J. Rockne would send five university professors to Russia to teach Americanism and would appropriate $50,000 for the mission.

We have no objection to the state sending such a mission, but we would prefer they teach a different kind of Americanism from that which Senator Rockne believes in. We would like them to teach the American ideal of free speech, the principle that government is instituted to bring happiness and security to all people, and equal educational opportunities for all children. In fact, a little bit of this kind of missionary work might help right here in America, where there are quite a few like Senator Rockne who have yet to grasp the true spirit of Americanism.

The liberal House laid two more measures sponsored by the Benson administration at the door of the conservative senate last week as it approved a bill exempting all homesteads, city and farm, from the state real estate levy for the first $4,000 valuation, and a measure increasing the monies and credits tax.

At the same time the Senate killed the anti-lobbying act which has been approved by the lower House, and continued to delay consideration of important bills, including the income tax schedule revisions.

Senator A. J. Rockne introduced an omnibus appropriations bill to provide running expenses for state departments, which includes an attempt to veto Governor Benson's five day work week for state employes. A bill prohibiting importation of strikebreakers was recommended favorably out of the House labor committee.

The homestead exemption bill, which is expected to pass the Senate, will exclude homes and farms under $4,000 valuation entirely from state tax, and the first $4,000 valuation on homes and farms above this amount will not be subject to levy. The saving to home owners will run to more than two million dollars yearly.

Applications for both federal and state seed loans have been pouring in rapidly. Since the signing of the state seed loan act, Minnesota farmers have been quick to take advantage of the liberal terms for repayment, according to A. D. Crissey of Morris, author of the act.

The state's act approaches the bushel-for-bushel payment plan which farmers long have been demanding. The borrower may pay back in kind, one-and-a-half bushels of his crop for each bushel of wheat or oats seed, and at the rate of three bushels to one for corn seed. Out of his loan he is allowed to buy feed for his work stock or fuel for his tractor, but the money cannot be spent for anything else.

A delegation of Minnesota public officials has been spending the past week in Washington demanding not only that W. P. A. retrenchment stop, but that it be expanded and that the federal government recognize relief as a continuous problem. The group, headed by State Representative Carl Eastvold and state Relief Director L. P. Zimmerman, has received no immediate reply to their demands, but it appears likely that the airing of the Minnesota situation will result in similar trips of officials from other states to bring cumulative pressure on Congress and the Roosevelt administration to extend federal responsibility for relief aid.

The lesson that American liberals can learn from events in Europe today is that democracy must act—or big business will find a "man on horseback" who will, according to Professor Benjamin E. Lippincott of the University's political science department, recently returned to the Twin Cities after a year spent abroad.

Governor Benson pointed out to the 7,000 farmers at the Land O' Lakes convention in Minneapolis last week just which legislators were their enemies, and promised them that two years from now, whether or not he is a candidate for re-election, he will go out into the counties where these men come from and tell their constituents exactly what they did in the present Legislature.

A little less than a year ago the late Governor Olson delivered a stinging rebuke to the U. S. Supreme Court in which he advocated limiting the terms of the judges to ten years. It is interesting to recall his words in view of President Roosevelt's recent proposed court reform.

"By reason of the nullification of acts of Congress and the restraints placed upon the legislatures of the several states in their endeavors to promote the welfare of the citizens of this nation," he said, "the supreme court has created a legalistic no man's land, within the boundaries of which no representative institution of the people may trespass.

"To fail to take steps to curb the ever-increasing domination of the federal court over our government and our lives is to resign ourselves to the dictatorship of a tribunal having all the attributes of kingship except hereditary succession, and possessing greater powers than any king."

No doubt if the late Governor Olson were living today he would be one of the foremost champions of the President's plan and would further advocate a constitutional amendment curbing the powers of the court.

Light Feeding of Sow Will Save More Pigs

"Spare the feed and save the pig" is a good rule to follow when feeding a sow for the first 2 weeks after farrowing, according to E. F. Ferrin, member of the animal husbandry staff, University Farm, St. Paul. The first day, the sow should get only warm water. After that the feed can be increased gradually but it should be about 2 weeks before the sow is back on full feed. A sow that is a heavy milker will overfeed her pigs. Wheat bran, because it is light and bulky, is one of the best feeds to give at first. Oats are more suitable than corn for the grain feed of the sow when the pigs are small. Over-feeding of the sow produces scours in the pigs, and while the death loss may not be heavy, the growth of the pigs will be retarded. If the pigs show symptoms, the sow's rations should be cut in half and a small handful of Epsom salts added to the slop. A teaspoonful of mineral oil is a good treatment for scours—dry pens and bedding also help, especially in cold, rainy weather.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

Folks hereabouts are not disappointed because the Prowlers did not win the championship in the state basketball tournament at Minneapolis last week. On the contrary, everyone seems to be well satisfied with the third place position that was won by the team. Winning two of the three games played was excellent. George Lee and the five lettermen who will be back on the team next year, however, will find next year's fans quite unreasonable in their expectations. Anything short of perfection will be disappointing. Which is the penalty of being great.

This evidently is not going to be one of those years when the field work is started in March. Spring is officially here but spring weather hasn't arrived as yet. It is too early to get impatient however. In thumbing through last year's files we discovered that on the sixth of April last year we had a snow storm that blocked all roads and on the following day the thermometer dropped to thirteen below. And that was during the week preceding Easter, too.

Compared to the old structure which it replaced, the new Oen building is lacking in just one thing. The shady north side has no iron rail for the convenience and comfort of those who, year after year, have held regular morning and afternoon meetings there. It is the irony of fate, or something like that. Just when a fellow gets a good, thick callous developed that enables him to sit on an iron rail in comfort for hours at a time then somebody comes along and takes out the rail. Now new rails must be found and new callouses developed. It's a fast moving world. Sometimes a fellow just don't know where he's at.

An organized effort is now being made to control cancer, one of the most dreaded diseases. Through local units of a nation-wide organization, the American Society for the Control of Cancer, a campaign of education will be conducted that, it is hoped, will definitely check its ravages. A unit of that organization is being formed here, and deserves local support.

As a means of checking inflation, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board Eccles now advises an immediate increase in federal taxes and a balancing of the federal budget. The ability of this simple device to stay the rapidly accelerating whirlwind of price rises is questioned by some authorities, but there can be no question of the wisdom of balancing the budget and checking the tendency toward increased indebtedness. The longer this procedure is postponed the more difficult it is going to be to meet our obligations when the inevitable day of reckoning finally does come. We have had a lot of fun for several years on borrowed money. The high cost of wasteful spending has not as yet been felt by the consuming public. It is only recently that the pressure has started to make itself felt. That pressure will become increasingly painful as time goes on and it is not strange that the administration is hesitant about changing from its course of lavish spending to large scale collecting. But, as Mr. Eccles has pointed out, it must be done.

Those who think our method of amending our Constitution is too slow like to point to the Child Labor amendment which has been in the process of adoption for many years. Roosevelt himself has mentioned it if we remember correctly. Which is interesting. Minnesota and most of the other northern states have already ratified it. New York, Roosevelt's home state, the state of which he was Governor, the state which Jim Farley controls, is one of the few northern states that has failed to approve it. That most of the southern states have not yet seen fit to ratify it is also quite puzzling, considering everything. Roosevelt didn't have much trouble legalizing liquor a few years ago. And we have wondered just a little if he wouldn't be able to speed up the ratification of the child labor amendment if he applied half as much pressure in its behalf as he has applied to some of his other plans.

SOON BECOMES BOSS

(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

Those who would reform people ought to recognize that it is a difficult job.

There are two problems which confront humanity and make lots of discussion. One is liquor. The other is gambling.

If people knew how to consume alcohol with moderation there would be little discussion about it. To make it too easy to drink increases the demand for liquor. That makes for more places at which liquor may be used. That helps to create activities related to booze. The outcome is that soon liquor affects and monopolizes the attention of too many people. It becomes the master of politics. It regards people as its servants and slaves. Moderation is neither encouraged nor possible. Liquor is voted out. That happened once. It will happen again. Possibly it will keep happening for threats of extinction seem to be the only methods of control.

Gambling is just the same. To gamble a little is not to be regarded as too sinful. But once gambling is encouraged or permitted it becomes a business without conscience or restraint. One gambling den develops into a dozen. A village or city is soon run in the interests of its gamblers. Gambling becomes the principal business. That is the history of it.

Those things must be remembered when there is talk about regulation of the liquor business or legalizing gambling and gambling devices of any kind.

UP TO THE GOVERNOR

(St. Paul Dispatch)

Defeat of Governor Benson's substitute civil service bill by his own Farmer-Labor controlled House puts the issue squarely before him. It is whether Minnesota is, as he pledged in the campaign, to have a state civil service.

There were two main measures on civil service. One, sponsored by the State Federation of Labor, and the state employes, while not perfect, includes most of liberal thought on this subject. The other, put up by the Governor, was only civil service in name; actually it was a bill for the entrenchment of a bigger and worse spoils system than now prevails.

Defeat of his own bill leaves the genuine article alone in the legislative field. But it is so far down the list of business that to bring the bill to a vote in the House will require a special order, which necessitates a two-thirds vote. So it is squarely up to the Governor. He can give his approval and allow the bill to come before the House, or he can let the bill die without a vote.

By his course on this bill he will proclaim whether he wants, as he said, a civil service or whether he really wants to kill civil service.

Someone who evidently figures that playing chess is a waste of time, instituted a series of experiments in regard to women painting their lips vermilion. He deduced that each lady who uses lipstick paints a surface equal to 2.68 square feet a year and that if 30,000,000 women in the U. S. A. steadily follow the custom, they use enough lip paint in a year to paint 40,000 barns—if it were barn paint. But who'd kiss a barn? Jordan Independent.

"That the Supreme Court in its long history has erred I would be the last to deny; that it will err in the future, I entertain no doubt; that on some occasions felt the effect of mad party passions fluctuating about it probably is true. But after all this is admitted, when its true worth is measured by the service it has rendered to the cause of human liberty, to the advancement of human happiness, and to the maintenance of a Government of law rather than a Government of men, that it stands among the foremost institutions of the world seems true beyond peradventure of a doubt." Borah.

Constants of Nature

The large constants of nature is applied to various unchangeable quantities characteristic of natural phenomena or relations. The speed of light through space is 183,770 miles per second and is called a constant of nature. The period of rotation of the earth on its axis may be considered as one. The atomic weights of elements are also constants of nature.

Bruce's Body Found

When excavations were being made in 1818 at Dunfermline Abbey, sepulchre of Robert Bruce, for the new church, Bruce's body was discovered wrapped in a shroud interwoven with threads of gold and encased in two leaden coverings. The remains were placed in a new coffin and re-interred.

Editor's Note—Thank you, "Subscriber. Such contributions are always welcome, especially when they are short, original and clever. Let's have some more of your rhymes. And what's your name?)

My dear Mr. Editor:

There always seems to be room in your paper for a short story, or two—or sometimes a few extra pointed paragraphs, now, since it is our Pennington county paper, why not fill those aforementioned spaces with contributions from the Pennington countians.

I know there are heaps of us with original bits hid away here and there. We've all hoarded them in the hopes that they would some day burst into "print"—

C'mon, give us a chance.

Here's my first contribution:

Ruddy cheeks like sunkist roses,
Funny attitudes and poses—

Little boys with stubborn hair,

Little boys with laughing eyes,
Shrill voices and lusty cries,
(Now they're pirates in disguise)
Don't you?

Little boys with chubby knees,
Tanned by sun and stung by bees,

Rich with a bunch of ends and odds,

Editor Times:

Andrew Trovaten advocates through columns of another county newspaper the use of man power and horsepower in the construction of highways in this county. He asks the people of this county to use their influence with their county commissioner for that purpose. He says that the present rates of moving dirt are as much or more now as compared with what it was in the past when man and horse power were used. "This big advantage" (by this plan) he says, "would also indirectly reduce taxes by reducing the need for unemployment relief."

I agree with Mr. Trovaten. In spite of all W P A work, CCC, etc. the number of unemployed people in our country are not diminishing very fast. Just think of all the men who could be employed if all the road construction and graveling were left to men with shovels and wheelbarrows.

The depression from which this country still suffers began in 1929. A year or two later a law was passed in the State of Delaware, providing that all unemployed men who applied for work should be provided with spades and shovels and be set at work on the highways of that state. It is of course too late now to ask our present Minnesota legislature to pass such a law. But let us by all fair and honorable measure influence our county commissioners to use man power and horse power in the construction of roads in this county and thus help to reduce taxes and unemployment.

J. W. Erlandson.

A Giant Bell

Chion-in Monastery, main temple of the Jodo sect, is one of the biggest temples in Japan. The buildings were erected in 1633. There is a huge bell cast in 1633 in a nearby belfry. It is the second largest bell in Japan, measuring 12 feet in height, 9 feet in diameter, and weighing 71 tons.

Gives Suggestions for Roasting of Poultry

Since turkey is no longer considered only as a holiday delicacy, Miss Grace Kern, instructor in the division of home economics at University Farm, St. Paul, is giving a few hints on the roasting of turkey, and other poultry.

To improve muscle quality and to simplify basting, Miss Kern states that after the bird has been cleaned, trussed and well-greased, a piece of muslin that has been dipped in grease should be placed on the breast; then the entire bird should be wrapped in two thicknesses of cheesecloth or thin muslin that has been dipped in fat. To make the delicate white meat of the breast as juicy and flavorful as possible, the best method is to roast the bird breast side down. The fat will melt and run down over it, continually basting the breast.

Homemakers who are in the habit of roasting poultry in a covered pan will be surprised to note the increased flavor and juiciness of poultry roasted in an open pan, states Miss Kern. The bird should be placed in an uncovered pan in a moderate oven (300 to 350 degrees) and kept at this same temperature during the cooking period. In this process, an initial searing at a high temperature is not necessary, for a thoroughly browned bird can be obtained without it. Water should not be used either, for poultry roasted in dry heat is superior to that roasted in moist heat. However, older birds may have to be covered at least part of the time, as the moist heat obtained by doing so will help make the meat on these birds more tender without requiring too long a roasting period.

THREE STORY PLUNGE

Hastings—Anyone who doesn't think it's quite a drop from the third floor of the Kuercher furniture store into the basement should consult Carl Loesch, 22-year old Hastings youth. He tried it—unofficially, of course, and also unintentionally. Since he did not regain consciousness for more than an hour, he could not make a report on the "exploit" immediately. When he was finally revived, physicians and the victim himself were surprised to find that he had apparently broken nothing more alarming than the local record for indoor diving. He was in condition to try another from the fourth floor, if he felt so inclined. But it is not likely that he will. The accident occurred while Carl, who was assisting with carpenter work at the furniture store, attempted to slide down a rope from third floor. The rope broke suddenly, and Carl plunged through two "dummy" elevator openings into the basement. He is still shaking hands with him self over his miraculous escape from death or permanent injury, admitting it must have been his lucky day.

FARM LOAN GROUP BOARDS TO MEET IN WARREN APR. 1

Secy. Sands Calls Meeting of Fifteen Groups From Three Counties

Members of the boards of directors of the fifteen National Farm Loan associations in Kittson, Marshall and Pennington counties will meet in joint session at Warren, on Thursday, April 1st, to review the activities of the group since its formation on March 10th, 1930, according to an announcement made today by J. W. Sands, secretary-treasurer. The joint meeting will be held at the Marshall County court house, and will begin at 10 o'clock A. M.

Representatives of the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul will be in attendance to acquaint the directors with the condition of the Federal Land Bank, and to bring before them certain problems which have arisen, especially concerning the conduct of association affairs.

Since the formation of the Kittson County National Farm Loan Association of Bronson, on April 9th, 1917, the first association to be organized in these counties, these associations have brought to the farmers of this territory the services and credit of the Federal Land Bank, and in recent years, the Land Bank Commissioner.

The group office now services approximately 1200 loans, farms and contracts for deed within the three counties, which represent an investment of over $2,800,000. This will be the first opportunity for the directors to review, in joint session, the operations of the group since its formation.

Bishop, past department president of the auxiliary, reviewed the record of the Legion in an enlightening address, and musical offerings included numbers by a high school boys quartet accompanied by Miss Erma Springen, solos by Dorothy Lang, and songs by the drum corps quartet accompanied by Mrs. Mildred Engen Hamilton. Community singing of songs of war days also was a feature of the evening, which closed with an excellent lunch provided by the auxiliary and dancing to the music of an improvised orchestra.

Hallock Wins Title of States-Dominion Loop by Win Over Emerson

Hallock was awarded the States-Dominion Hockey league championship trophy at Emerson following its 6-2 victory over Emerson in the fifth playoff game Thursday night after the Canadian team, playing under protest, withdrew its complaint following discussion with league officials.

Emerson's protest was entered because Hallock was using a player said to be ineligible.

Ken Wood of Grand Forks, president of the league which completed its first season, presented the championship cup to the winners. Hallock had eliminated Roseau in one semi-final round while Emerson put Thief River Falls out to gain the other final berth.

Says Evolution History Dates Back to Greeks

"The history of the evolutionary theory begins with the Greeks. Being of a speculative and inquiring nature, but ignorant of the true account of creation, they constructed the rough framework around which the modern theory of evolution has been built. Charles Darwin in his 'Origin of Species' owes more to the Greeks than has been realized therefore. Darwin's theory is today discounted by an increasing number of the most eminent scientists. No evolutionist has thus far disproved the first sentence of the Bible: 'In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth'". So stated Evangelist Gulbranson in his lecture on "Evolution or Creation" at the old Methodist Church last Sunday night to a large audience. The next week's Back to the Bible Lecture program is announced on the church page in this issue.

WPA Recreation Heads Attend Session in This City Last Wednesday

The recreation leaders of the three northern areas of WPA District Seven met in the City Auditorium last Wednesday, March 17. The meeting was called to order by L. O. Caldwell, district director of recreation and adult education. He talked briefly on several topics of interest to all present.

N. A. Thoreson, district supervisor of the National Youth Administration, spoke in regard to the work and purpose of the NYA in the United States. G. G. Denning, Adult Education teacher, commented on the value of hobbies both as recreation and life-time occupation. Judge M. A. Brattland spoke on juvenile delinquency. He pointed out that society often commits a great wrong by sending very young boys and girls to our penal institutions from which they often return almost hardened criminals. In most cases, if these boys and girls had been given something worth-while to work with and be interested in during their leisure time, they would never have had occasion to be called before a judge.

At the close of the meeting a puppet show was presented for the group by local workers in the basement of the library.

RESTRICTIONS ON ROADS EASED FOR SPRING BREAKUP

Old Three-Ton Minimum Is Increased Full Ton by Elsberg

Load restrictions placed on state trunk highways during the spring breakup will be eased this year, with a four-ton minimum and a maximum that may go as high as 10 tons, according to a ruling by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner and announced by W. F. Rosenwald, chief maintenance engineer. Restrictions, wherever imposed, will be enforced without exceptions, however.

Because many secondary roads have been snowbound practically all winter and foodstuffs, in many cases, are needed, state officials will increase the old three-ton minimum by a full ton on an average. But, because it is the desire of state officials to protect the state's heavy investment in its roads and because of a desire to shorten the time over which restrictions are necessary, all motorists will be asked to co-operate with the highway department and keep heavy loads off soft highways.

In the last two years new construction plans of the highway department have called for the elimination of all soils that would cause so-called frost boils in the spring breakup, but many of the roads were constructed more than two years ago and frost boils are a constant road maintenance menace in the spring. When a road surface is destroyed there is a strong possibility the road will become impassible in a short time, which means not only heavy expense for restoration but means blocked traffic over a longer period, with a definite loss to the public.

Restrictions are put into effect under authority of law to prevent excessive damage. Traffic, when frost is coming out of the ground and the road foundation is in a weakened condition, easily breaks down the road surface. This condition continues until the frost is entirely out of the ground.

It will be necessary to change restrictions often as climatic conditions change, Mr. Rosenwald said. Where restrictions are in force, signs will be placed on the trunk route on both sides of the intersecting road, on the right hand side of the trunk highway, and at intermediate points where the restricted section is intersected by other roads.

WILL STAGE LINDBERGH ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL

Little Falls—An invitation will be extended to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh to come again to his former home town, Little Falls, when it celebrates the commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the famous ocean flight. Plans for the festival have been launched by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce and M. A. Engstrom, superintendent of Lindbergh State park, will take up with state officials the request that the park be dedicated on that day, the exact date for which has not been determined. Elaborate improvements, carried on the last year by public works, will be completed by about that time, it is expected.

Melby Introduces Bill to Care for Discharged Patients of Sanatoria

To secure adequate medical care and supplemental relief for tuberculous persons discharged from sanatoria is the purpose of a bill originated by Representative J. O. Melby of Oklee. The bill has been favorably voted out by the public health committee of the Legislature. It provides for an annual appropriation to establish a statewide system of aftercare for tuberculous patients.

"A large number of patients discharged from sanatoria as arrested cases, later suffer relapse because they are financially unable to give themselves proper care after leaving the institution," said Representative Melby in explaining the bill. "We aim in this legislation to provide medical supervision and the necessities of life for the needy patient for from two to five years after they leave the sanatorium, in order that their recovery may be made permanent.

"It costs taxpayers $2.33 a day to care for patients in a sanatoria without considering the depreciation of the property. By spending a small additional amount in aftercare and thus safeguarding the patient from relapse, we will save much tax money now being spent in the care of those who break down after leaving the sanatorium and must re-enter."

"MEANEST MAN" DEPRIVES BLIND MAN OF HIS LIVING

St. Cloud—This week's "meanest man" title goes to the person who deprives the blind man of his living by manufacturing lead nickels and passing them in candy slot machines. N. O. Hukee, known as the blind broom man, operates several candy machines about St. Cloud and recently discovered that in several, nearly half of the coins were of the lead variety. Everyone represented not only a curtailment of profits, but also an actual loss. The chief of police declared that the accumulation of five cents "duds" would be turned over to the United States secret service for investigation. He remarked also that most persons using lead nickels hand them out to newsboys and youngsters who do not realize as rapidly as grownups that they are being swindled.

MOTORIST BRINGS IN DINNER ON RADIATOR

Fairmont—A new way to obtain a chicken dinner has been discovered by the tourist who brings it in on his car radiator. Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Rinderknecht of Ringsted, Iowa, were driving to Fairmont when a hen struck their car, causing damage to the radiator. The fowl, weighing five pounds, was wedged between the number plate and the right front fender and refuses to pay for damages done. The driver thought the bird, after hitting the car, had dropped on the highway. Instead it came to rest back of the license plate, where Mr. Rinderknecht found it upon reaching Fairmont. The radiator grill had been torn loose and bent back against the radiator.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

Prowlers Take Third Place in State Tournament

PROWLERS DOWN FARMINGTON BUT BOW TO VIRGINIA

Fiery Iron Range Quintet Wins in Semi-Finals 37 to 17

The Prowlers' hopes for a berth in the finals against Edison in the state championship game were dashed to bits as Archie Skalbeck's fiery Virginia Rangers swamped the Leemen, 37 to 17, in a semi-final contest.

The aggressive blue Rangers outsped the Prowlers to grasp an 8 to 0 lead before a lone field goal dented the local scoring column in the first quarter which ended 8 to 2. Pepelnjack and Salmi led the heated Range boys offense which piled up an additional lead which reached overwhelming proportions as the half ended 21 to 7.

Virginia tired in the last half before three reserves took up the burden and they continued to outscore the Prowlers in the third successive quarter which saw the gap widened to a 31 to 11 count. The Lincolnites let loose a hasty barrage of shots but most of them were too hurried to find their mark.

Lenny Helquist continued his skill as a long range marksman to drop in three long field goals for six points. Milt Nesse caged two successive attempts from the floor plus a gift toss to account for five points. Roy Lee probably played the finest all-around game, and ambidextrous Clark Mickelson also played a strong game for the brief term he saw service.

Nick Pepelnjak, clever forward, netted fourteen points and Pat Dolan, a sub guard, was second with eight.

Neither quints were very effective at the free throw line as the Prowlers hooped only 5 out of 13 and the Rangers 9 out of 19.

The Prowlers upset the dope bucket in the first round contest when they whipped the ballyhooed Farmington Tigers 26 to 17 to gain a place in the semi-finals.

The Leemen exhibited a strong defense which throttled Coach Oscar Lukke's scoring aces, Tom Feeley and John Barger, who managed to snatch ten points between them, however. This was a very conservative figure for these twin stars who usually post up about fifteen markers apiece in a single game; even against strong opposition.

The locals gained a 4 to 2 margin in an erratic first period and held a slim 8 to 7 advantage at the end of the half. Helquist found his range in the second half when he hooped all of his field goals. The locals stretched their lead to 14 to 8 at the third quarter and coasted to the finish.

The game furnished a unique attraction in Eddie Siebold, Farmington forward, who is only two inches over the five foot mark, and Roy Lee, local guard, who stands only five inches over five feet. Both played stellar games.

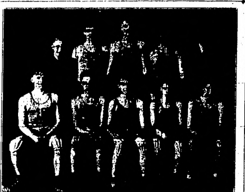
REAL HOSPITALITY

Win Third Place in State Tournament in Minneapolis



Pictured above is the Lincoln high school basket ball team, which, after winning the championship of Region Eight, went to Minneapolis last week and defeated Farmington in the first round of the state tournament, losing to Virginia in the semi-finals. By virtue of their victory over New Ulm in the consolation finals, the Prowlers were awarded third place in the tournament standings, which all agree is an excellent showing for a team of 17-year olds.

Junior Senior Masquerade Slated for Friday, April 9

The socially inclined Lincolnites will have ample opportunity to "trip the light fantastic" at the Junior-Senior masquerade, April 9, at the Sons of Norway Hall.

The masquerade, the event which opens the school's social season, will be followed by the Junior Prom and some senior activity.

Of paramount importance is the fact that each person attending must disguise himself in some mask or unusual attire. Prizes will be awarded to the students, who in the eyes of the judges, has the best costume.

Music, an important factor in the success of any such affair, will be furnished by either Al Duncan's band, Eddy Eastman's aggregation, or the Queen City Revelers. Such details as decorations, arrangements etc., will be very creditably taken care of by Senior Class Committees.

The masquerade has in the past been a very successful affair, and advance predictions by seniors in charge say that this years ball will be no exception. A nominal fee will be charged for admission (twenty-five cents having been tentatively set) to defray costs of renting the hall, expenses for music, decorations. Any sum left over will be put in the treasury of the Senior Class.

MARCH SLUSH

And there she was hanging right over the door of her hotel room and I'll be danged if she could get down again. By she I mean Tat M. Poor girl, she sure was strung up over some Virginia kids!

The basketball team didn't do so badly after all. At least Bud N. besides winning third place in the tournament he won a date with Lovey C. Chalk a double one down for the captain!!

Now everyone take a good look at the new member of our student body, his name is Harold Harrison. Must be a pretty smart fellow to manage to get into the game for student price!

Speaking of squirts, lest we forget now is the time to bring up Roy Lee. Roy, we all think you were superb, colossal, magnificent, gigantic, excellent, wonderful, and besides that we thought you were pretty good.

A nice home-like bunch—that one from Thief River. They stuck together like as if they were really good friends. But not so with Jimmy P. and Archie M. Say not so—say not so. Ask them about it.

Don't think the tournament didn't have some rather disastrous results concerning our local romances. Goodness gracious, some people were most "burned up". Of course, Ira was as faithful as ever Tom.

It seems as though Jack A. has finally made up his mind and the unlucky (?) miss is Peggy P.

Just think of all the maidenly hearts that took a few leaps and bounds when the eyes of said maidens fell on Mr. Gabrielson's twin. Dear me!

The students aren't the only ones who enjoy their out-of-town meets. Of course any direct remarks are out of the question but bets are ten to one that faculty members Sprungen, Montague and Riggs thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Maybe the Helquists weren't proud of their thumb licking Pal [illegible]. On second thought maybe they were.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Coach George E. Lee and the members of the Prowler basket ball team wish to take this opportunity to acknowledge the many letters and telegrams they received during the state tournament. Following is a list of the individuals, concerns, and organizations from whom letters and telegrams were received: W. W. Prichard, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Booren, A. M. TEACHER'S TRAINING

The honor roll for the fourth six weeks' period is Iris Ayers, Esther Bluemke, Luella Bjorkman, Irene Hammer, Thelma Kolden and Alice Ann Severson.

The students are continuing their units of practice teaching in the following schools: Miss Hermanson, Miss Hammer, Miss Ayers and Miss Kolden in the eighth grade at Central; Miss Peterson, Miss Bluemke and Miss Andrea Moland in the seventh grade at Central, Miss Tornes in the fourth grade at Knox; Miss St. Martin in the fifth grade at Knox; Miss Paquin in the sixth grade at Northrop; Miss Severson in the fourth grade at Northrop; Miss Audrey Moland in the sixth grade at Washington; Miss Bjorkman in the fourth grade at Washington.

The Industrial Art class is taking up the study of pencil and crayola sketching. Some work has already been done in illustrating poems. The next assignment is the illustration of certain books.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

The season may be over but we haven't forgotten "our heroes"—(just the Prowlers!) Now showing! The G. A. A. and Prowlerettes are for them every last one of 'em. We'll remember Lenny's long shots, along with Bud and Milt's excellent playing next year, perhaps more than the others, on account of they're seniors and won't be Prowlers—but they won't be forgotten either!

Prospects for the women's faculty team aren't numerous! Could it be—are our teachers bashful, or what is the reason? They'll have one—but who'll be on it? Hmm, more things to watch for.

Prowlers Select 1937 All-Opponents Team

At a final basketball meeting Monday Coach Lee and the ten lettermen picked their choices for an all-opponents team. This team consists of one man from our district, two from region eight, one from the state meet and one from out-side the State. This team was picked on a basis of their performances against the Prowlers and only in those games. One man Pepelenjack, was an all-state forward. The entire team is as follows: Forwards—Anderson, Ada and Olson, Bemidji; Center—Barnes, Crookston; Guards—Pepelenjack from Virginia; and James, Grand Forks central.

H. S. INTERCLASS TOURNEY TO BE HELD APRIL 6, 7

High School, Central and Grades to Compete

When the school booms with activity after Easter, among the most talked of occurrences will be the inter-class tournament. This will be the first of what we hope will be an annual post-basketball event. This will be staged Tuesday and Friday, April 6 and 7. Each class will be represented by a boys team of 10 members and a girls team. The meet will be held as an elimination affair. Varsity players will coach and choose the teams. The teams have had several practices during the past two weeks. Several trophies will be awarded, included among which are the boy championship, the girls championship, a sportsmanship trophy, the best class stunt, the best cheer leader, the grade champions, the junior high school championship, a medal for the highest scores. The boys teams will be selected from the following boys: Freshman, Nelson coach, Bredeson, Brodin, Freed, Holmberg, Jung, Kielty, Kompellen, Battleson, Claffy, Conner, Peterson, Swanson, Furuseth, Nelson, and Hovle. Juniors: Lorentson and Lee coach, Haug, Booren, Olesen, Tunberg, K. Jaranson, Hanson, Carlson, Dicken, Hill, Johnson, Salveson, Smith, Bugge, C. Mattson. Sophomores: Stadum coach, DuChamp, Lunke, Nicholson, Peterson, Gustafson, Jaranson, Mickelson, Eide, Poppenhagen, Stadum, Aaseby, and Evenson. Seniors: Helquist coach, Prichard, Olson, Christopherson, M. Erickson, V. Erickson, Adkins, Kelly, L. Erickson, Dicken, Neset, Sorenson, and Wedul.

PROWLIN' 'ROUND

Roy Lee seemed to be popular with most of the scribes. His picture occurred more often than any other.

All state belts were awarded to Warhol, Andrewski and Memick of Edison, Papinjack of Virginia and Barger of Farmington. (Why not our Lee or Helquist?)

Lenny also got some nice notices. He was called the hottest shot in the tournament, and still not all-state.

Our cheer leader "Squirt" held up the game for three whole minutes. She made a big hit too.

Each boy received a bronze-medal, the state champs got gold ones and the runner-up, silver.

We were pleasantly surprised at the swell publicity T. R. F. received from the Twin City press—from many angles—informal shots of the sharp-shooting Prowlers, our rosy-cheeked, mentor, our peppy little cheerleader, and the coach's pappy-in-law.

Louis Sheldahl of Fargo, father-in-law of George Lee, Prowler coach, held a tete-a-tete with Charley Eckwill of Willmar, father-in-law of Archie Skalbeck Virginia mentor. Accidental and coincidental.

Aufderheide, name of New Ulm's star forward, is a queer combination of German words, which when used separately—"auf der Heide"—mean "on the meadow".

We nominate for "all American" ski, Koski, Kominski and Kusaki.

Now that this basketball season is over it might be worth the fans time to look forward to next year's prospects. These seem very bright, in fact the best that the school has had in some time. Only three of the eight tournament men graduate. They are Capt. Bud Nelson, sharpshooting Len Helquist and the defensive giant Milt Nesse. This leaves Roy Lee, Don Lorentson, Gordon Caldis, Loren Stadum, and Clark Mickelson to carry on. The two other lettermen are Quale and Hougham. In addition to these boys, Haug, sharpshooting forward, Nicholson, center and guard, Booren another guard, and the youngest of the ball playing Mickelson tribe to hold the Prowler laurels. These boys should form the nucleus of a big fast five next season.

Goings On At The Curtis

Eileen R. was the object of a number of lads affection on the train Sunday night. Bob Sande, Tuney Carlson, and Gene Nelson are just a few of them.

Hasn't Mr. Gabrielson got the cutest twin brother, though?

Isn't Tuney Carlson a mean little thing? His mother gave him five dollars to buy her a hat. But he forgot the hat—he even forgot to bring her back the money.

Farmington's star players were in a tussle over a couple of T. R. girls. You guessed it, Lovey and Tat.

Freddie Kavanaugh, Ade Lorentson, Bruce Prichard and Bob Bredeson certainly kept things going at the West Hotel.

The way things looked last week, our old friend Roger Wessling is doing O. K. for himself around Minneapolis.

The unfortunates who stayed home from the state tourney will soon be sprouting out with new spring outfits—their reward for staying home. (Keep your eye on Harriet S., Joyce B. and Fae B.)

Harriet S. is on a shut-up strike at home because she couldn't go to the state. She won't say a word to anyone. I'll bet her family likes that.

Now that basketball season is over and school interests will be turned to other events we think it is proper that we offer a bit of praise and congratulations to those eight boys and the coach for their excellent work. Although they started the season as a very mediocre team they finished up in grand style proving to be the third best team in Minnesota. They did not win the state championship but I am sure we are all pleased with their efforts and feel glad to call any team that played as well as they did, our own. These boys went into the first game of the regional as underdogs and were conceded only an even chance in the second game yet they came through to give Thief River Falls another representative in the state. In their first game at Minneapolis they were again underdogs and they won by a comfortable margin. This proves they have the spirit that the student body should admire. So to the team and the coach—Congratulations!

When the state tournament was over and the all state selections were announced we were stricken with surprise. Not at finding three Edison men on the team or one Virginia man, but rather at seeing a Farmington boy honored and not any of our own men placed. Edison, of course deserves the three places she received, they were by far the best in the meet. Virginia's representative was well chosen too. But the fifth position went to the team that we defeated by a nine point margin, the team that received seventh or eighth place in the tournament. That man may have been good. He may have scored high against other teams, but our boys held him down and he was not even high scorer for the Prowler tussel. We believe that at least two of our representatives could be placed before when teams as strong as the Prowlers, New Ulm, Crosby-Ironton and Rochester, all of which finished above Farmington, are omited there can be but one answer; the method of all star selections is not nearly accurate enough.

"Big Hearted Herbert" Is Title of Senior Play

Announcement was made Monday relative to the Senior Class Play. Mr. Bye and Miss Olson have selected "Big-Hearted Herbert" as the vehicle for the class of 1937. It is a comedy in three acts by Sophie Kerr and Anna Steese Richardson.

This play provides employment for thirteen of the promising young actors among the seniors.

Tryouts will be held the week of April 5-9, and the play will be presented in the Municipal Auditorium May 21. The plot, cast, and other notes regarding the play will be presented in subsequent issues of the "Progress."

WIND-CHILL

Mr. Bye certainly had fun daring Mr. Montague and Mr. Harrison to get into the auditorium last Friday—Can you see Mr. Harrison pulling his hat way down, and Mr. Montague grinning—It worked!

Boy, oh, boy these teachers. Did they go down for the tournament?

Bet'cha the hotels are missing a lot of towels, and the Fanny Farmer shops were busy selling box upon box.

Where did I last see you—The Forum, Daytons, or the Curtis?

Miss Dahlen should feel pretty good having one of Home Ec. II girl's dress being taken for a Cartwright.

Some T. R. F. gals were quite honored being up in the team's rooms. (Bruce was there too.)

Mr. Montague was certainly celebrating—Cigar at all. Coach, too.

Did you notice all those seniors trooping into the assembly for a sit-down strike Friday morning? (Oh well, it was worth it to hear that game.)

Roy Lee finally met his equal in size only though Farmington had a 5 foot 2 inch player.

Oh for a tournament every week. Less school and more honors.

That little yell in the halls at three o'clock must have helped.

The Minneapolis newspapers must have had a big subscription list last weekend. One paper had an especially good picture too.

Are we mad or are we mad, not one of our swellegant players on the all-state team.

A couple young men were going to stay up and meet the player's train but the late hour got the best of them.

Famous Finales: "So long Minneapolis, we'll be back next year."

Preparations for Hamline's part in the annual, nation-wide strike against war, set for April 22, has gotten under way as a committee of representatives from the American Student union, the Hamline University Christian association, the Student Senate, and other campus groups have held meetings.

Band and Chorus News

Now that the basketball season is over the band will not work much on novelty numbers and marches such as are played at the games. Instead, the band is now starting to prepare for the district music contest which will be held in Thief River Falls, Saturday, April 24.

Instead of working on just one contest number, the band is practising three numbers, "The Norwegian Rhapsody," "Cabins" and "Larghetto" by Bethoven. Mr. Riggs has definitely decided to play "Norwegian Rhapsody" for the contest but the band may also play one of the other numbers. The Clarinet Ensemble and the Brass Quartette will also be prepared to play in the Chamber Music division of the contest.

Besides taking part in the contest, the band will participate in the evening festival after the contest April 24. The massed bands from all the neighboring high schools will play four numbers: Grant Us To Do With Zeal—Bach; O Light of Life—Bortniansky; Moment Musicale—Schubert; Soldiers' March from Faust—Gounod.

The members of the band who have completed twelve weeks in the Prescott system during the last week are Gordon Winger, Mae Wilson, Vivian Havel and Martha Havel.

Dorothy Lang and a quartette from the boys' double quartette appeared on the program of the American Legion and Auxiliary, Thursday, March 18th. Dorothy Lang sang "I Dream of Jeanie With The Light Brown Hair" by Foster-Nevin, and "Rollin' Along" by Stuart Zomecnik. The boys' quartette sang "Down By the River-Side" and "In the Evening By the Moonlight."

SPLENDID PLAY OF PROWLERS TAKES THE CONSOLATION

Local Quintet Wins Third Place by Defeating New Ulm 31-24

George Lee's magnanimous Prowlers ended the 1936—1937 basketball season in grandeur by rocketing into third place in the state standings when they walloped the sturdy New Ulm five, 31 to 24, Saturday evening at Minneapolis.

The contest ended the high school basketball careers in blue and gold spangles for three seniors, Leonard Helquist, the team's leading scorer, Captain "Bud" Nelson, a versatile leader, and Milt Nesse, aggressive defensive luminary.

The acquisition of third place in the state race was a dramatic finish for the Prowlers who were regarded as underdogs even in the local district grind. The Leemen boast a final season record of twenty-two wins and only six losses.

The locals unleashed a powerful attack in the very beginning of the contest against the weary, down-trod New Ulm youngsters who did their best to make it a close contest.

The stout-hearted Germans were unable to penetrate the Leemen's defense in the first quarter as they trailed 12 to 0. Sterner opposition in the second quarter was furnished by Coach Joe Harman's proteges, but they were unable to quench their adversaries powerful charges as the locals led 19 to 5. The Thief River lead advanced to 27 to 9 at the end of the third stanza but New Ulm sliced off eleven points of the Prowler margin in the last quarter. The Prowler subs saw extensive service in the last quarter and they were lax on defense with the game in the "bag".

Lenny Helquist and Roy Lee, provided the greater portion of the Prowler onslaught as the former garnered nine points and the latter eight. "Bud" Nelson played an impressive game and tallied eight markers also.

Otis Loose and Don Kuske kept their quint in the running by their frequent scoring attempts to count up fifteen points between them. Bob Aufterheide, a constant New Ulm scoring threat, saw little service and was held scoreless by the tenacious Prowler ball hawks who showed a keen edge of superiority over the southern representatives.

WOMEN OF COUNTY ENTER CAMPAIGN TO FIGHT CANCER

Mrs. G. W. Booren Is Head of Committee Staging County Drive

Under the sponsorship of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, headed by Dr. Clarence C. Little, noted authority on the dreaded malady, a women's field army this week is soliciting memberships in the society in 39 states to aid in combating the disease.

In charge of the campaign in Pennington county is Mrs. G. W. Booren, captain, assisted by the following group of lieutenants: Mrs. O. Gunstad, St. Hilaire; Mrs. Roger Anderson, Mavie; Mrs. R. H. McDonald, Goodridge; Mrs. Ed Korstad, Highlanding; Mrs. Ed Singer, Erie; and Mrs. Ole Odegaard, Hazel.

In connection with the opening of the campaign, Dr. Little made the following statement:

"Early cancer is curable. There can be absolutely no doubt of this. In a few years, despite being hampered by lack of funds and inadequate follow-up facilities, the American College of Surgeons collected and made public in 1934 records of 24,440 cases of individuals cured of cancer and alive five, ten and fifteen years later. The figure 24,440 represents only a part of the large total of cured cases.

"These former patients are not invalids, leading hopeless lives. They are busy women doing housework and raising families. They are men carrying on in all lines of business, supporting their dependents, doing their jobs, enjoying full lives.

"We all know of cases where cancer has been fatal. Too few of us know of the many who have been saved. The person cured of cancer shows an understandable but regrettable willingness to accept the general reluctance to discuss cancer."

POLICE ARRIVE IN LAST SECONDS, HALT SUICIDE

Winona—The 40-year-old mother of two children sat in the willows screening the Milwaukee tracks at Winona and waited for the eastbound Hiawatha, but was saved from suicide by the arrival of two policemen when the train was already in sight. Only a few seconds remained. A police call had been turned in by persons living in the neighborhood who had seen the woman conceal herself in the willow growth and guessed from the way she waited out of sight except for an occasional look along the tracks that she intended to jump in front of the train. When questioned by police, the woman, a Winona resident for many years, admitted she had waited for the train even though she knew she wasn't at the depot. She had intended to wait until the engine was close before running onto the tracks, she said.

OPPOSE BILL TO PLACE EXTENSION WORK IN POLITICS

Farm Leaders Condemn Bill Introduced in State Legislature

Farm people throughout the state are rallying to oppose a bill in the state legislature that would eventually destroy the county agent system and seriously hamper the 4-H club program, says Lewis A. Nelson, President of the Pennington county farm bureau. The bill would place agricultural extension work under political control, with hire and fire authority resting with the state commissioner of education and the state commissioner of agriculture. Under the present set-up, control rests with the state college of agriculture, boards of county commissioners and local farmers who use the service.

The bill, known as house File No. 1017, was introduced in the house recently by 59 sponsors, only 12 of whom were farmers from counties that have agricultural extension service. One-third of the sponsors are from the counties of Ramsey, Hennepin and St. Louis, where commercial and labor interests are dominant.

The Farm Bureau was drawn into the fight when proponents of the measure asserted that the purpose of the bill was to cut off appropriations of public money to the Farm Bureau. Many legislators, rightfully holding that no organization should receive public funds, supported the bill on the basis of this false information. On clarification of the situation, by proof furnished by the Farm Bureau that not one penny of public funds, either federal, state or county, have ever been appropriated for the farm bureau, a number of the legislators withdrew their names and promised to line up with farmers in their fight against the bill.

The drive for this anti-farm bill has been carried on very intensively for several weeks past, and every house member has been polled by those pushing the measure in an effort to get them to support the bill. The interests and groups pushing the bill have for years been vigorously opposed to agricultural extension work, but have never been able to do much in the way of impeding its progress. The present drive, a back-door campaign based on "farm bureau subsidy" arguments, has a better chance of destroying the agricultural extension service and it may pass unless those who believe in non-political control of the public educational system make their desires known to their house members and senators.

DOG TWICE COMES TO RESCUE OF MASTER

Rochester.—From serious injury at the hoofs of a bad-natured cow, a shepherd dog has twice within the last six weeks rescued his master, Michael Sexton of Rochester township. Sport, the dog, performed his second heroic act when he drove off an ill-humored cow, which in a rage knocked Mr. Sexton down and trampled on him, cracking a rib and badly bruising his body. Mr. Sexton called to Sport, who, barking and growling drove away the cow. About six weeks ago the same cow attacked Mr. Sexton and badly bruised him before Sport could drive off the surly animal.

COMMENCEMENT AT N. W. SCHOOL SET FOR TONIGHT

Rev. Roy E. Olson of Minneapolis Will Address Graduates

The presentation of diplomas to 113 graduates this evening brings to a close the most successful year in the history of the Northwest School. A new attendance record of 401 students was established as compared with the previous record of 394 reported by Registrar J. W. Milnar for the year 1935-36.

Commencement week activities opened last Saturday with the traditional interclass field meet. Baccalaureate exercises were held Sunday evening with the Reverend Abner Haugen, pastor of the Federated Lutheran Congregation of Crookston as guest speaker. Rev. Haugen spoke on the subject "In the Days of Thy Youth". The extemporaneous and oratory contests were held Monday afternoon followed by the declamatory contest in the evening. On Tuesday evening, members of the senior class, together with the class advisers, were guests of Superintendent A. A. Dowell and Mrs. Dowell at their home on the campus. A student concert recital was presented Wednesday evening under the direction of the music faculty.

Senior class exercises will be held this afternoon to be followed by the commencement exercises in the evening. The commencement address, "Youth at the crossroads," will be delivered by the Reverend Roy E. Olson, Minneapolis, general chaplain of prison missions of the Federated Lutheran Churches of America. The program will close with the presentation of diplomas and scholarship awards by Superintendent A. A. Dowell.

Dr. John T. Tate, professor of physics and chairman of the University College committee, has been named to succeed Dr. J. B. Johnston as dean of the arts college, the largest single college, at the University of Minnesota by the board of regents.

Widely known in scientific circles as a physicist and also for his work in helping to found the American Institute of Physics, Dr. Tate also is editor of journals of the American Physical Society.

Born on a farm near Essex, Ia., in 1887, Dr. Tate took his college work at the University of Nebraska, later studying at the University of Berlin, Germany. After teaching at Nebraska he came to Minnesota in 1916 as instructor in physics. During the World War he was attached to the Science and Research Division of the U. S. Signal Corps where he worked under Professor Robert Milliken, famous scientist, and developed among other things a portable floodlighting system for flying fields.

GIRL'S THROAT GASHED IN FALL THRU SHOWCASE

Luverne—A local department store clerk narrowly escaped serious injury when she fainted and fell through a showcase while on duty. She fell through the glass of a dry goods counter before any of the other employees could come to her assistance and she suffered a serious gash across the right side of her neck. Had the cut been only an inch deeper, the jugular vein would have been cut and the girl would have been in danger of bleeding to death.

Red River Valley History

By Win V. Working

Just Thirty Years Ago

Here are some interesting incidents of 30 years ago from the files:

"During the winter of 1906-07 the Soo line branch to Kenmare had been blockaded with snow and on January 31 a large rotary snow plow in direct charge of Superintendent Michaels left to open the road. The round trip to Kenmare, a distance of 300 miles each way, required a total of 24 days' work before train service could be resumed".

There was "dirty work at the cross-roads" in connection with the county seat fight in 1907 and it happened just about 30 years ago now:

On March 25 came a sudden turn of affairs in the county seat fight when it was discovered that the petition for the removal had mysteriously disappeared from the vault of the county auditor. Then began a vigorous legal battle" We have dealt in detail with this fight in previous articles in this series.

The contest for the location of a sixth state normal school was waxing warm with Cass Lake, Bemidji and Thief River Falls in the lists. Bills providing for location of the school in one or the others of these towns had been introduced in the state legislature. That body finally passed a bill locating the school at Cass Lake but Governor John A. Johnson vetoed it.

Among business blocks erected in the summer of 1907 were the Meehan building at LaBree avenue and Second street, the Evenson-Torrison block on Main avenue and Third street and a wholesale house. The latter is called "the" wholesale house, so we do not know which it means, presumably the branch of Nash Finch Co.

On May 7 as a possible solution of the telephone difficulties a number of the business men petitioned the city council for a franchise to operate a local exchange, but the petition was rejected. A short time later the Tri-State company asked for a receiver for H. Fant, then operating the exchange, alleging that the owner was allowing the plant to deteriorate. Later still, Mr. Fant sold the exchange to J. M. Bishop.

May 31 witnessed the graduation of the fourth class from the local high school. The members of the 1907 class were Clara Blanchard, Nina Horton, Marie Caldwell, Will Prichard and Roland Blanchard. We should like to be able to tell readers where all of these graduates are today, even including any that may be dead.

On July 1 the postoffice was raised to second class status and the salary of the postmaster increased to $2,000 a year. A census of the city taken in connection with the establishment of an Elks lodge here revealed that the city had a population of 5,027.

That the city was growing rapidly was evidenced by the fact that state aid for the schools that year was $2,000.

At the city election November 5 T. P. Hamre was elected mayor; M. V. Evenson and L. M. Hoag, aldermen-at-large; Olaf Ramstad, alderman, first ward; Milton Forder, alderman, second ward; W. W. Prichard, Sr., alderman, third ward and J. M. Bishop municipal judge.

On Dec. 17, 1907, the county commissioners appropriated $5,000 to aid in the construction of a bridge across the river—it was to be an iron bridge. As soon as the river had frozen over the work of construction was started and the structure was completed early in 1908.

When the new city council took office after the first of the year the following appointments were announced: E. A. Jaranson, chief of police, and A. W. Lang and Ole Ihle, patrolmen. Mavie postoffice in the Eleven Towns was established Jan. 10, 1908.

Early in the year there was considerable talk in favor of drainage of territory in the Mud lake district and statements from Washington that such drainage would add $1,250,000 to the state's business revealed the great benefits to be derived from the plan, at that time at least.

The city, having at that time a company of the Minnesota national guard, steps were taken to procure an armory under the state law governing the procedure and it was decided to include in the building an auditorium for the use of the city. We learn from another item that the militia unit was mustered in on April 21 "with appropriate ceremonies. But if the company already existed it must have been a detachment of recruits that was mustered in or a reorganization of the company.

Another proposition discussed about this time was the construction of an electric railway from this city to Roosevelt. On February 18 at a meeting called for the purpose a company was organized with D. N. Winton as president; D. P. O'Neill, Milton Forder and M. V. Evenson, vice presidents; T. P. Hamre, secretary; L. M. Hoag, treasurer and G. Halvorson, counsel.

These notes indicate that the leaders of activity in Thief River Falls 30 years ago were not remiss in meeting their responsibilities.

HUGE ANT STORY WINS LIE TITLE

Hopkins— Fantastic stories about shooting deer from a distance of 12 miles and wrestling with ants as big as police dogs won for A. N. Johnson the title of Glen Lake's "worst liar" in a liar's contest held at a parent-teacher association meeting. Mr. Johnson, on the basis of the applause of the audience, was pressed for honors by the second worst prevaricator who embellished his truth-stretching act with several vocal solos. The winner protested saying, he "couldn't sing a lie".

Drivers License Law Takes 2,357 Drunken Operators Off Roads

Since the drivers license division of the state highway department was organized in 1934, a total of 2,357 drivers have been denied the right to operate motor vehicles on the streets and highways of Minnesota, at least temporarily, because of convictions for drunken driving, according to a report to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, by Gil Carmichael, director of the bureau. In the same period, licenses of 2,082 drivers were suspended for various causes, principally for speeding, reckless and careless driving, failing to satisfy judgements, and failing to file proof of financial responsibility after convictions.

To date in 1937, there have been 112 revocations and 78 suspensions of licenses, the report shows. Records since the bureau started to operate show 769 revocations and 877 suspensions in 1936, 889 revocations and 678 suspensions in 1935 and 694 revocations and 449 suspensions in 1934.

In February, 1937, 38 licenses were returned to drivers whose suspensions expired or revocation was terminated and who filed proof of financial responsibility.

Records of revocations for February show Hennepin county, seat of the state's largest city, leading with 23 and Ramsey county second with seven. Goodhue and Steele counties had two each and St. Louis, Brown, Freeborn, Mahnomen, Meeker, Mower, Polk, Waseca, Washington and Wright counties one each. Hennepin also led in suspensions with eight. Blue Earth, Goodhue and Washington had two each and Ramsey, Carlton, Isanti, Kanabec, LeSueur, McLeod, Olmsted, Pennington, Pine, Waseca, Watonwan, Wright and Yellow Medicine one each.

The Spirit of Easter

Posed by Loretta Young

In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from Heaven and came and rolled back the stone from the door and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning and his raiment white as snow.

And for fear of him the keepers did shake and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women: "Fear ye not; for I know ye seek Jesus, which was crucified

"He is not here; for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay."—St. Matthew 28:1-6.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

The year 1937 promises a steady increase in dry victories throughout the nation according to a survey based on 1936 wet and dry elections, just made public by the National W. C. T. U.

The survey shows that out of 21 states in which such elections were held during 1936 the drys won hundreds of victories in counties, cities and townships of 18 states. The dates of these contests include some as late as December 5, November 3, and the rest in September or earlier in the year are as follows:

Oklahoma, which emphatically defeated repeal;

Massachusetts, which banned bar rooms from two cities and 97 towns with an aggregate population exceeding 250,000, including Medford, which a recount of the November contest now shows voted in every precinct against bar sales of all liquors whether beer, wine, or distilled, thereby making it (59,711) the largest city in the United States, outside of strictly dry commonwealths, which has made illegal the sale of all liquors except in the unopened original package;

More than 31 county victories in Kentucky since June 1, 1936;

Hundreds of local dry victories in Maine, New Hampshire, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois;

A continuing 1936 tally against beer in county after county in Mississippi;

Scattering dry victories in Connecticut, Florida, New York, Oregon, Texas, Louisiana, Washington, Wisconsin and Vermont.

Pilgrimages Determined Easter Date

Easter was originally dated to suit the convenience of pilgrims who needed moonlight in their annual treks to Resurrection festivities.

Footsore and weary, they plodded both day and night to reach sacred shrines for this observance. Hence it was decided that Easter shall fall on the Sunday following the first Paschal full moon after March 21. The occasion may therefore vary over a period of 35 days—from March 22 to April 25.

Lent, great period of fasting in Christian churches, grew from a 40-hour to a 40-day ritual as it came down through the ages. While most Christians commemorate Good Friday as the day of the Crucifixion, Mohammedans also celebrate it as the day of Adam's creation. Among ancient Germans, this date was sacred to the goddess-mother, wife of Odin.

The association of Easter Sunday with the arrival of spring arises from a coincidence. The day occurs almost simultaneously with the ancient heathen Roman celebration of the vernal equinox.

Many customs have grown up around the Easter observance. In England, figs are always eaten on Palm Sunday to commemorate Zaccheus, the publican, who being "little of stature," climbed into a tree to see Jesus pass by the way through Jericho.

Easter eggs and "bunnies" are traditions among American children at this season of the year. In Germany, spring lambs are sold for the Easter feast.

Easter Parade Features Veils, Lacy Neckwear

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Veils in all manner of treatment and lacy, frilly lingerie neckwear with the ultra feminine look is the big news for spring. And more news—many of the smart hats are worn far back on the head. See the tiny off-the-face cap "top-hats" are "it" in Paris! here pictured. Three American beauty roses are posed atop this cap of navy felt. The perky little veil is of navy blue string. The navy crepe frock takes on dainty lace lingerie accents in accord with the latest dictates of spring fashion.

One of the especially flattering jabots of white lace so enthusiastically endorsed to enhance the simple dark frock this spring is also shown. This is a favorite type. It has the high close neckband and a full double ruffle beneath.

BRAY

The organization meeting of the Bray-Polk Centre 4-H club was held Saturday evening at the school house. The following officers were elected: Lucille Lindbloom, president; Laura Anderson, vice president; Clarence Swanson, secretary treasurer.

The Splendor of Lilies . . .

Oh, rare as the splendor of lilies,
And sweet as the violet's breath,
Comes the jubilant morning of Easter,
The triumph of Life over Death;
And fresh from the earth's quickened bosom
Full baskets of flowers we bring,
And scatter their satin soft petals
To carpet a path for our King.

In the countless green blades of the meadow,
The sheen of the daffodil's gold,
In the tremulous blue on the mountains,
The opaline mist on the wold,
In the tinkle of brooks through the pasture,
The river's strong sweep to the sea,
Are signs of the day that is hasting
In gladness to you and to me!

Oh, dawn in thy splendor of lilies,
Thy fluttering violet breath,
Oh, jubilant morning of Easter,
Thou triumph of Life over Death!
Then fresh from the earth's quickened bosom
Full baskets of flowers we bring,
And scatter their satin soft petals
To carpet a path for our King!

Why Do You Worry?

"But Mother, we were all right! We just stopped over at Helen's house after the show, and made sandwiches, and stuck around. Why do you worry about me?"

It was one-thirty, and Marjorie's mother's room had had time to get thoroughly cold since she had retired at eleven. Mrs. F. sat up in bed, shivering, while her fifteen-year-old daughter, who had come in to report before going to bed, peered into the mirror, and frowned impatiently at her reflection.

"You said I needn't get in 'til twelve—and why you should suddenly begin worrying at twelve is more than I can see," she went on. "I couldn't help it if Robert had to drive all over town taking other people home. George's car wouldn't start, when we came to go home, so we had to take the whole bunch."

"But wouldn't it have been a good idea to telephone me, as soon as you knew you were going to be late?" asked Mrs. F., determined to be reasonable.

"Oh, Mother, and have them think you're a perfect sissy about me?" Marjorie's alarm over such an outrageous possibility was evident from her tone.

"But Father and I wouldn't think of being an hour and a half late without letting someone at home know," returned Mrs. F.

"Well, honest, Mother, I never thought of it, and it does seem so silly of you to worry. After all, is there any more reason for you to get excited after twelve o'clock than before?"

Marjorie's mother, thinking her daughter's retort over afterward, wondered, herself, just why she could be so calm during the first part of the evening, and so tense as hours wore on. She realized, when she came to analyze the situation, that her fears had two trends. One idea back of her insistence on having Marjorie turn up at what her parents considered a "reasonable hour" was that they felt Marjorie should be responsible about keeping a promise. But, after all, perhaps it would be better not to set a specific hour. Could Marjorie's judgment, she wondered, be trusted if this much more leniency were given? The other main reason for her worry was, of course, fear of a traffic accident. When Mrs. F. wakened with a start, as she sometimes did, to realize that Marjorie had not yet come in, it was hard not to let her imagination run riot, with pictures of smashed cars and broken bones. The boys with whom her daughter went out were not much older than she, and had so little experience in driving!

However hard a mother may try to steel herself against worry, under such circumstances, her habitual concern, which she has acquired, layer by layer, through the years, makes it as impossible for her to put her child completely out of her mind as it would be for her to stop breathing.

That is what is so hard for Marjorie to understand—why her mother should always be thinking about her. She's not always thinking about her mother! Children in their teens are woefully lacking in imagination, when it comes to being able to put themselves in someone else's place. Parents might just as well expect this seemingly "callous" behavior, which is really only a poverty-stricken imagination!

Use for Respirators

Respirators, or masks, find many uses in peace as well as in war. To prevent the lung disease called silicosis, caused by breathing fine particles of ground rock, workers in quarries, zinc mines and tunnels wear respirators of gauze or finely woven wire which cover the nose and mouth. These filter out the noxious particles.

News Behind the News in the Legislature

By Senator Vin Weber

With night sessions becoming more regular and the day sessions crowding the committee meetings for first place, it need not be said that the fiftieth session of the legislature is fast drawing to a close. In other words it won't be long now before the business man, the farmer and just about everybody will be able to heave a sigh of relief. Or will they? Rumors that seem to be well founded that adjournment will no sooner be made on April 22nd, or thereabout, than Gov. Benson will call a special session. There is only one little "if" say those who are presumed to be close to his excellency and that is that the legislature in regular session pass a Tax Bill and a few other pet bills he is known to desire.

If this be true, it is this writer's guess that there will be a special session and, if its adjournment depends upon passage of the things demanded by the Governor, then the special session may last until snow flies. The Governor, the rumors have it, will not compromise. Such rumors have it that he said "If the reactionary Senate does not pass the kind of a tax bill I want I'll call them back into session if it takes them until Christmas." That isn't exactly the way he said it, say the rumorers. There were some pretty strong adjectives.

But that is a bridge yet to be crossed.

Those who have saved a nickel or two will have to dig down a bit deeper into their jeans, if a bill passed by the House meets with a like fate in the Senate. The bill passed by the House would increase the tax on bank deposits and private savings. The proposal, supported by Gov. Benson, raises the taxes on money and credits from 3 mills to 5 mills. It is, in fact, a poor man's tax, for it strikes at savings and imposes a heavy tax on mortgages. Those in the House who opposed it tried hard to drive home the fact that such a law would strike at the wage-earner and low-salaried class much heavier than on the wealthy, who can and do place their savings in tax exempt securities, but the farmer-labor controlled House would have none of it and passed on the bill by a vote of 69 to 51.

The much cussed and discussed lobby bill was the cause of more oratory in the Senate than has been heard on any single day of this session on Tuesday. The bill came up for hearing in committee of the whole and Sen. Charles Hausler, of Ramsey, and himself a liberal, moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed. Said he: "It is the most vicious, contemptuous, silly, ridiculous bit of sham legislation that I have ever seen. It is an insult to the intelligence of every member of this body and should be speedily killed." That started the barrage which continued for fully two hours. Senators Pederson, Lommen and Kozlack pressed for its passage and Senators Carley, Farnand and others flayed it unmercifully. Sen. Farnand brought down the house when he injected his keen Irish wit into the argument. Support of the measure was purely for a record vote, a thing impossible in committee of the whole. To shut off debate and get down to work the committee arose, and the bill now reposes where it was on general orders. Undoubtedly its fate will be definitely decided early in the week, and since it means "nothing to nobody" may pass.

Down in the state expert printer's office there is a busy gentleman these days in the person of Francis "Pat" McGowan. But recently appointed to that important position by Governor Benson, Pat has been on the job early and late endeavoring to get the department back into shape after some two years of mismanagement. Coming from a family of printers, the selection of Pat McGowan was a wise one and this writer prophesies that he will make of it a truly great department and one that will make for great savings to the taxpayers of the state.

There's worry aplenty in Farmer-Labor circles over the rift in the party in Minneapolis, where on Sunday two Farmer-Labor candidates for Mayor were endorsed. One faction, the Benson faction, endorsed Kenneth Haycraft. The other faction, presumably the Hjalmar Petersen faction, endorsed the present mayor, Mr. Latimer. The latter faction hold that the Haycraft supporters are too friendly to Communists and that they seek to destroy the party through their radicalism. In any event it is a bad situation for any party to find itself in and gives the other candidate, former Mayor George Leach, a fine opportunity for copping the prize.

SPORTS ARENA EARNS $1,500 IN SHORT SEASON

$1,000 Being Turned Over to City Treasury by the Arena Committee

COUNCIL SEEKS WPA SIDEWALK PROJECT

$7,500 in Building Permits Granted at Meeting Tuesday

That the winter sports arena in this city has excellent prospects of developing into a self-sustaining enterprise was revealed at an adjourned session of the city council Tuesday evening when W. E. Dahlquist, secretary-treasurer of the committee in charge of arena operations reported that, during the portion of the winter season that the skating rink was in operation, an operating profit of more than $1,500 was realized.

The report showed gross receipts for the season of $2,221, including $1,406.45 from skating fees; $631.67 from the arena's share of hockey game proceeds; and $182.98 from dances and other sources of income. More than $350.00 had been paid out for permanent improvements and it was indicated that a balance of $1,250 would remain after all bills had been paid, of which $1,000 was to be turned into the city treasury, retaining the remaining $250 as an arena operating fund.

Council President Emil Griebstein was directed to appoint an auditing committee, of which City Clerk P. G. Pederson will be a member. Councilmen commended the arena committee on the excellent manner in which they had conducted operations during the past season.

Following presentation of a proposal by S. A. Siverts and Alden Habeth of the area WPA office at Crookston, the council voted to make application for WPA labor on a city-wide program of sidewalk, curb and gutter construction. While sufficient work was projected to require several years for completion, Mr. Siverts explained that the city is obligated to carry out no more of the program than it wishes to.

The council granted a request submitted by Mr. Carlson of the Triangle Transportation company of Crookston to set aside for a bus stop 25 feet along the curb in front of the Palm Garden cafe on Main av. Mr. Carlson announced that a hearing will be conducted next week on the proposed extension of bus line service from this city to Warroad and Baudette and from Thief River Falls to Detroit Lakes.

Building permits aggregating $7,500 approved at the meeting include Theodore Hornseth, six-room residence and attached garage on Crocker av. to cost $3,500; Martin Bothun, store building, $3,500; Olson & Kolden, garage and warehouse, $300; and an addition to the rear of the Neset building to cost $200.

Ole Legvold, superintendent of the water and light department, called to the attention of the council the acute need for a new water pump and motor for the city waterworks system, and the council voted to call for bids for the equipment, which will represent a substantial investment.

E. B. Bakke tendered his resignation as assessor, which was accepted at the meeting. F. M. Shanahan, who also served as assessor last year, had previously resigned.

BUILDING PROGRAM ON RESETTLEMENT FARMS ADVANCES

Budget to Date Provides for Early Improvement of 45 Tracts

With the arrival of spring, preparations are being made to speed the construction program on farms in this section acquired in connection with the local resettlement project, John W. Taylor, manager in charge of the federal undertaking, announced this week.

Mr. Taylor stated that the budget set up to date provides for the development of 45 of the total of 114 farms acquired, and that he expects provision will be made shortly for improvement of the remaining number. Up to the first of this week, he added, nine residence basements had been dug and concrete foundation walls had been poured for five of them, six wells had been completed and 18 toilets built.

During the late winter months the resettlement administration leased the Lund & Sons warehouse in this city, where lumber has been cut to proper lengths and otherwise prepared for use in the construction program. When building work gets into full swing a number of non-relief carpenters will be employed in addition to WPA labor, Mr. Taylor said.

Of the total of 114 tracts being acquired by the federal government in connection with the project here, sellers of more than 50 of them have received payment up to today.

The moving of the Rolland market to a new location is made necessary by the plans of the Paehr theatre interests, owners of the property, to raze the present building preliminary to the construction of a new theatre on the LaBree av. site. The Rolland market had been asked originally to vacate April 1, but obtained an extension of time to the 20th.

Occasioned by the occupancy recently by the Oen Mercantile company of its recently completed building, members of the Civic and Commerce association following their luncheon last Thursday paid tribute to Rasmus Oen, president of the company and pioneer businessman of this community.

After speaking in praise of Mr. Oen's record as a citizen of Thief River Falls, President Walter Jung called on Mayor W. W. Prichard, who indulged in reminiscences of Mr. Oen's career, based on many years of acquaintanceship, telling of the activities of the guest of honor as a merchant, banker, oil man, implement dealer and farmer. Mr. Oen's investments in this community, he said, have added to the value of all property in Thief River Falls.

Judge Lars Backe, who stated that his acquaintance with Mr. Oen dates back to 1889, declared that he is deserving of all the complimentary remarks directed at him, and said that his influence has always been for the betterment of the city.

Frank Rinkel, chairman of the association's road committee, announced that he had been informed that the section of Highway 59 from this city to Erskine is now a part of the federal aid system, an objective sought by the association for several years. RED RIVER BILL PASSES LOWER HOUSE MONDAY

Measure Providing 3-State Commission Now Goes to Senate

PASS BILL TO RAISE SALARY OF ELSBERG

Benson Refuses to Accept Changes in Income Tax Measure

The house Monday passed a bill providing for a compact between Minnesota, North and South Dakota and authorizing creation of a tri-state waterways commission to control waters of the Red River of the North. The measure now goes to the senate. Vote on the bill was 91 to 0.

Two amendments were adopted. One specifically excludes the Ottertail river, its chain of lakes and tributaries from the project and the other provides for appointment of the commission for two years instead of at the pleasure of the governor.

Under the bill the tri-state commission would consist of nine members, three from each state. Expense of the commission would be prorated among the states. The bill carries an appropriation of $3,000 for the next biennium of Minnesota's share.

The commission would have the power to condemn land and to maintain and control lake levels and steam flow on boundary waters, with the approval of the authorized state agencies of the states. Plans for work on boundary waters prepared by state, municipal or industrial agencies would be subject to approval of the commission.

The state highway commissioner's term of office would be lengthened from two to four years, his salary increased from $6,000 to $6,750 a year, and he could be removed only for cause under a bill passed by the house. The vote was 88 to 9.

Amendments providing that the commissioner could be removed only for malfeasance or nonfeasance, and not "at the pleasure of the governor", as contained in the existing laws, were offered by Reps. Edwin J. Chilgren, Littlefork and L. A. Brophey, Minneapolis, and accepted.

Criticising senate amendments to the income tax bill, Governor Benson Monday said he "would not give in" to any changes in the administration measure as it was passed by the house.

The governor expressed faith that the liberal majority lines in the house will hold when senate amendments providing for reduced maximum income levies in personal and corporation brackets are reconsidered.

"But if the senate amended bill is accepted in any way," the governor said, "any veto will follow and a special session of the legislature will come promptly."

Particular dissatisfaction with the individual income tax revisions by the senate tax committee was voiced by the governor. He said he has not read corporation tax sections of the amendments.

The senate amendments would establish a flat 6 per cent corporation income tax, whereas the house approved bill sets up a graduated tax with a maximum of 10½ per cent for the upper bracket earnings. In the house bill, the individual income tax ranges up to 12½ per cent, while the senate amendments cut it to a top of 8 per cent.

Local Power Plant Shows Net Profit of $45,730 in '36

Annual Report of City Clerk Shows Slight Increase Over 1935

EARNINGS REDUCED BY REDUCTION IN RATES

$30,000 Reduction Was Made During Year in Bonded Debt of City

The Thief River Falls municipal power plant in 1936 yielded a net profit of $45,730.87 after allowances for depreciation and all other deductions, it is revealed in the annual report of P. G. Pederson, city clerk, completed this week.

The net gain, which would have been considerably larger had not a substantial reduction in electricity rates been in effect the last four months of the year, compares with $45,166 for 1935, a previous high mark, and $32,918 in 1934.

Gross billings during the past year for current aggregated $108,606.20, including $72,801.73 for lighting, $28,189.72 for power, and $7,614.75 for ranges and cooking. The total of these three items compares with $99,490.93 for 1935. Other billings included $3,232.23 for meter rental and $5,008.61 for merchandise.

Current output of the plant in 1936 aggregated 2,794,250 kilowatts, including 183,050 from the old Busch plant; 146,700 from the hydro plant; 1,055,000 from the McIntosh & Seymour engine; and 1,459,000 from the new Busch unit.

Operating costs per kilowatt produced ranged from 3.55 cents for the old Busch plant down to .937 cent for the new Busch unit, the average for the entire system being 1.315 cents. To this is added other expenses per kilowatt of .745 cent, making an overall cost per kilowatt of 2.06 cents, compared to 2.023 cents in 1935. It was possible to use the hydro plant only in April and May last year owing to the low stage of water in the river here.

Mr. Pederson's report reveals that total fixed assets of the power plant are valued at $328,545.12, against which there is an outstanding indebtedness of $189,000. Receipts of the waterworks department in 1936 are shown to have been $17,847.89, with disbursements of $9,450.37, leaving a surplus of $8,397.52.

The entire bonded indebtedness of the city amounted to $261,000 at the end of the year, reflecting a reduction of $30,000 in the total from that of the preceding year-end. Bonds outstanding, in addition to those of the power plant, include city bonds in the amount of $92,000 and waterworks obligations of $30,000.

Receipts of the city treasury in 1936 amounted to $197,590.86, including $72,390.17 in taxes, fees and other sources, $107,352.80 from the electric light department; and $17,847.89 from the waterworks department. Major expense items included the fire department, $5,832.28, police department, $5,617.94; street department, $3,841.76; municipal court, $1,346.53; parks, $2,772.68; land condemnation, $1,738.91; arena building, $17,450.11; wood-cutting relief project, $2,132.14; and direct relief, $11,644.54.

Poor fund receipts during the year included among the principal items $8,293.66 in taxes; $1,435.73 in relief repayments; and $5,074.77 representing reimbursement by the county for a portion of city relief costs in 1935.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

POLICE AND LIQUOR BOARD CLASH OVER DRUNK DRIVING

The drunk driver menace in Detroit has been dumped back into the laps of police officials by Frank E. Gorman of the state liquor control commission.

"We can't regulate how much liquor a man drinks", Gorman said in reply to a statement by Supt. Fred W. Frahm of the Detroit police department. "If licensees are selling to intoxicated persons, all the police department has to do is cite the proprietors before the commission and then we will act."

Councilman Fred M. Castator joined police in blaming liquor for the shambles on Detroit highways.

"It is my opinion that traffic accidents will continue as long as the present saloon regulations are in effect. These days when a person can get drunk at gasoline stations and grocery stores, anything can happen."

SPRING FEVER
(By A Subscriber)

The sun's so shiny and the sky so blue,
And the air so full of spring;
I hear a crow a'cawing; a sparrow calling,
And a blackbird trying to sing.
My heart is pulling away to be.
(I simply can't concentrate—
On meals and dishes and sweeping[illegible])
If I could but manage Fate*,
I want to be out and walking wide
Instead I'm in a coop,
I've got spring fevers all of me,
But baby's got the croup!

Sumptuous gardens delight the eye, and the famous fountains play the first Sunday of each month from May to October. Here, in 1871, the King of Prussia was crowned German emperor, and in June, 1919, the World war signatures were made.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

A profit of $15,000 in the light and power department for last year sets a new high mark in net revenue for the city from this source. Just a few years ago that figure represented approximately the total volume of business done by the department. Under ordinary circumstances a profit of this size would justify another immediate reduction in rates. It may be well, however, to continue on the present basis for a while longer. Providing for sewage disposal [illegible] to require another large expenditure. The steadily increasing demand for power may make it necessary to buy another power unit. A little reserve set aside for these purposes will be very useful when we are faced with the problem of financing such projects. Thanks to the earnings of the light plant, it has been possible to reduce the city's indebtedness in recent years in spite of the large sums that have been expended for public improvements. These earnings will enable us to continue to make necessary improvements without adding to the burden of the taxpayers and eventually will make Thief River Falls a debt-free city.

If the skating rink could be made to produce revenue thruout the year at the rate of return during January and February it would soon pay for itself. The problem of making it pay its way during the summer months, however, will be a more difficult one. That the building can be used to advantage for other purposes than skating was demonstrated last fall when it was used to house the auto show. Experiments along other lines this summer may develop other uses. The record this winter proves that the building is justified from the recreational standpoint as a skating rink and encourages the hope that it may prove to be less of a liability financially than many feared it would become.

Perhaps we misunderstand the statements of administration spokesmen but if we interpret their remarks correctly the Supreme Court has again proven itself wrong by handing down favorable opinions on three important laws this week. We are at a loss to know just what the Supreme Court could do to please the present administration. If it holds against the administration it is reactionary. If it favors the administration it is yielding to pressure. The court members have been criticized because they have lived too long. If they agreeably died tomorrow they probably would be accused of unfair practices in appealing to public sentiment.

TRAINING GOVERNORS
(Duluth Herald)

A bill which should not get far, but which is of more than ordinary interest, has been introduced in the Minnesota legislature. It calls for a constitutional amendment to make the serving of two full terms in the legislature an indispensable qualification for all candidates for governor and lieutenant governor.

There is no doubt that legislative experience has helped many who later became governors. Theodore Roosevelt, Alfred E. Smith and Franklin Roosevelt, all governors of New York, were helped immensely by legislative experience. In our own state Governors Christianson, Burnquist, Eberhart, Johnson, Van Sant, Merriam and others served in the Minnesota legislature before they were governors, and Knute Nelson also served in the Wisconsin legislature.

It is a natural and wholesome custom for able legislators to go on and become governors. There is no need for a law to make this service compulsory. There are certainly as many able persons among the 2,900,000-odd Minnesotans who have never been in the legislature as there are among the few hundred who are now or used to be members of the legislature. Good men are hard enough to find without imposing any such restriction. This measure deserves the prompt defeat it will probably get.

COLLEGES AND GOVERNMENT
(Murray County Herald)

Elmira College is going to institute a course in government and politics that will give students the opportunity to become posted on current problems. A good idea if it can be put over against the foolish prejudices that we hold in this country. The average American is afraid that if questions of government are taught in colleges there will be dangers of propaganda campaigns. As a result of this prejudice American citizens as a whole are less familiar with governmental and social [illegible] than the people of most other nations. Surely the best citizenship is that which is thoroughly familiar with the general problems of human society. The world is in chaos, are torn between conflicting opinions of what government ought to be and do. The younger generation who will tomorrow take over the management of human affairs everywhere should have the opportunity to know accurately the meaning of all proposed changes in government and society in order that their decisions may be based upon knowledge rather than on prejudice. There will, of course, be opposition. Many Americans bitterly resent their children studying such subjects in college or school, fearing that the minds of the young may be poisoned by unscrupulous propagandists for ideals which are not regarded as good by the average citizen of the country. But it is difficult to see how democracy can be protected properly if its citizens are not familiar with all other systems of government and aware of the various [illegible] change. Knowledge is [illegible] on which to build our ideals.

SUBSTITUTING [illegible] FOR HEAT
(Northfield News)

Nothing so discourages good citizens from taking an active part in public [illegible] that as soon as they do so they are subjected to criticism and gossip and condemnation out of all proportion to their just desserts. [illegible] laid on issues, problems, and measures. Let the argument was not on those points, but relegate personalities, boycotts, and personal animosities to the scrap heap of public discussion where they belong!

There are two schools of thought in the matter of local government. One adheres to the principal of "representative democracy," that having elected certain officials and clothed them with responsibility and authority, we should permit them to make their decisions without public interference, with recourse only to the polls if the decisions fail to meet with public approval. The other group feels that all matters of public concern in local government should be freely and openly discussed with the contention that a more vital interest in public affairs is created thereby and more satisfactory decisions are reached. The strength of the first idea rests on the certainty of more direct and quicker action; that of the second upon a fundamental democratic principle of popular participation.

As a matter of fact, both methods have a place in democratic government, especially local government. A happy combination of the two, with kindly judgment constantly being cultivated is perhaps most desirable.

IT'S THE HUMAN WAY
(Murray County Herald)

Everybody is for economy for the other fellow. We talk about reducing taxes until we are black in the face, but we do not give much help to the poor legislators when they make the slightest effort to curb the cost of government. Take the smallest city; one group wants no money spent on parks; another group is sure that schools could get along for less than they get; another group is opposed to expenditures for snow removal; and so on. But all want lower taxes. When, in response to a general demand for tax reduction, the officials cut some activity, then the group that was for that one thing yells itself hoarse. We are all for saving at the other fellow's expense. We are gloriously willing to go without what some other fellow wants but which we do not want; but when the other fellow opposes something we want, and he doesn't, we call him a bad citizen. No use getting mad about the situation. It has always been that way and probably always will be. Ninety per cent of all law-making is selfishness; a very little of it represents conscious effort to serve actual need.

WHY NOT TRY RETRENCHMENT?
(Wadena Pioneer Journal)

Wasn't it Aristotle who said, "taxation is the art of plucking from the goose the largest amount of feathers, with the least amount of squawk"? To date there has been comparatively little squawking, which we assume is due to the fact that most of our taxes are hidden in the cost of the things we buy and what we don't know doesn't hurt us.

Some economist has figured out that one-fourth of what we earn or produce is taken by the tax collector, either in visible or invisible taxes. It is not very pleasant to contemplate that on an average of ten years of a man's productive life is taken from him in the form of taxes but if this fact could be brought home to every man and woman it would arouse such a storm that our state and national legislators would be induced to think two or three times over every appropriation.

Daily we read of the need for additional money with which to operate the government; we hear of new or increased taxes proposed for financing the increase, but not a single word [illegible] about reducing expenditures to within reasonable limits. No, evidently economy is not very popular these days, but mark well, the day is coming, and it is not far away, when we will see the governmental waste that has brought us to the brink of confiscation.

PUNCHBOARD RACKET
(Waseca Herald)

According to a recent statement made by St. Paul's chief of police, the innocent bystander who tries his luck at a punchboard in that city has no more chance to win the best prizes than a humming bird would have in a snow storm. He said that every punchboard supply man would sell a "key" with the board. This key fitted over the board and would show the position of the winning numbers, so that the proprietor could win them himself or let his friends win. This is just one illustration of how profitable and dishonest the gambling racket is in the large cities.

MINNESOTA WATER PROBLEMS
(St. Paul Dispatch)

Although Minnesota's famous "land of ten thousand lakes," as a matter of fact, it is rather precariously situated in the matter of water resources. In the first place, its geographical location is such that it cannot retain all the water that falls on it in the form of precipitation, being at the head of three great drainage systems of the North American continent. Minnesota must study diligently to keep the water that falls on it, for not a drop of this precious commodity is brought in across our borders from another state.

POLITICAL BUCK PASSING
(Worthington Globe)

Buck passing has no doubt been a favorite indoor sport among politicians through many centuries. But we [illegible] very much whether the years have provided more glaring examples of the practice than those we have in this country today.

President Roosevelt has vetoed over 200 bills since he became president. There can be no doubt that a large percentage of these bills were not qualified to become law, that members of the senate and house who passed them were not at all anxious to see them become law. They knew, however, that the president would kill the measures by his veto power. So why not please small pressure groups by voting yes and let the president be the goat? He can get by with it better than the member of congress who has to get all his votes from a certain district.

And [illegible] have both congress and the president passing the buck to the supreme court, an art which has been perfected during this new deal age. Bills which the best legal minds have called unconstitutional before they went into the legislative hopper have been deliberately passed by both houses of congress and signed by the president with a view to passing the buck to the courts and making a [illegible] of the whole proceeding.

We have a perfect example of back passing in our state legislature just now. The house has passed the new chain store tax by a strong majority. The members admit that there is no chance of passing it in its present form. The play is to make the bill a tough one. Pass the buck to the senate. Let the conservative boys on the spot. Let them do the cutting.

No doubt the final bill to be passed will be a compromise with the [illegible] features deleted. In the meantime the wrangle will have served its political purpose. Statesmanship?

AFTER THE COURT, THE PRESS?
(Owatonna Journal-Chronicle)

After the Court, the Press? That is the question which everyone is well pondering. First congress given up its powers and duties to the executive. Now the court would be made subject to the President. Anything and everything that stands in the way of one man must give to the edict. After the court will the freedom of the press be next? After the press will the freedom of speech be next? One follows as logically as the other. Liberty is not a heritage. It is something that must be eternally fought for and guarded. America has enjoyed freedom from oppression so long it no longer recognizes the forerunners of oppression. George Washington summed it up when he said, [illegible]

News Behind the News in the Legislature
By Senator Vin Weber

Special to the Times—It is difficult for this correspondent to write today (Thursday). When the heart is heavy the mind does not function well, and my heart is very very heavy. I have lost my best and truest pal, Larry Ho Hodgson, who peacefully entered the dreamless sleep this morning.

I was awakened at 7:20 by Laurence Junior, who related the sad tidings. While I had known he was far from well, the blow was none the less keen. Only yesterday had he called me to come and visit with him. This I was unable to do because of an afternoon session of the Senate, but I had promised to be with him today, and I shall be, for with these lines written I shall go to the home he loved and gaze upon his lifeless form, and live again the many happy hours spent in his presence.

All St. Paul is in mourning. Tomorrow his body will lie in state in the new Court House and thousands of friends will pass by in deep reverence. On Saturday interment will be made at Hastings, his old home town.

"Rising to Personal privilege," was a favorite pastime in the Senate Wednesday. Sen. Fay Cravens was the cause. He "got under the hides" of some of the Senate members for having written a letter to the creameries and dairy farmers of the State in which he informed the operators of said creameries and the dairymen that his pet oleomargarine bill had been killed in the Senate. He stated that the oleo interests made the principal fight against the bill and "started out by hosting all members of the Senate to a banquet at South St. Paul."

Senators were incensed because there was no banquet at South St. Paul and the oleo interests did not invite them to South St. Paul. Senator Berg, as has been his custom for many years, invited the members of the Senate to his home town to inspect the Swift packing plant, where those who made the trip, were given a cafeteria luncheon.

Sen. Cravens also invited himself to be invited to farm meetings throughout the state and suggested that the resident senator be invited to appear at the same meeting and explain his vote.

Sen. Carley accepted the challenge under personal privilege and assured the senator from Milaca an enjoyable time in Plainview. He chided Sen. Cravens for poor sportsmanship and his unethical actions.

Said Sen. Cravens in rebuttal, "You can't scare me."

On Monday the Senate passed the so-called Fair Trade Practice bills and the House on Thursday followed suit, so merchants of the state will be safeguarded against "chiselers" and cut price artists in the future. Under the bill merchants must fix prices on their commodities at least 15 per cent above the invoice cost from wholesalers.

In the opinion of this writer, the laws will increase the cost of living and Mr. Consumer will pay the bill. But it's just another one of the many laws upon our statutes protecting this or that business, firm or corporation. Regimentation is truly on the march and is stepping high.

Sen. Cravens forgot his oleomargarine bill, of unhappy fate, long enough Tuesday to introduce a Cigarette Tax bill, which if passed, will cost the "fag" smokers 2½c extra per package for having permitted the habit to grow upon them. The Senator estimates that if enacted into law, the state will receive approximately two million in revenue per year. No, the Senator does not smoke.

Well, the chances are that there will be a special session of the Legislature. The Governor reiterated this week that he would call a special session immediately following adjournment of the regular session if Tax bills to his liking were not passed. On Thursday the Senate subcommittee on Taxes practically completed their redraft of the House Income Tax bill and undoubtedly will have it ready for introduction on Monday. As was to be expected the Senate committee slashed the House rates, setting the top rate at 8 percent.

The stage is set for rapid work in both Houses now and from Monday on passage of bills will be the main order of business. Most of the important bills have been heard in committee and are now on General Orders. Local bills, of course, will continue to be introduced and acted upon in committee, but these are merely a matter of routine and take but little time. While much has been said about the jam the Legislature is getting into, it is this writer's opinion that the two bodies are further advanced than usual at this time of the session. Four weeks remain and a lot of bills can be put through the hopper in that time, in fact too many.

Organized labor is not wholeheartedly in favor of Gov. Benson's tax plan, apparently. The Governor would raise taxes on railroads, telephones, mines and what not. On Monday there was presented to the House committee a petition signed by 20,000 railroad employees protesting against higher taxes on railroads. Chances are that at the next election these same 20,000 signers will be whooping it up for the candidate who talks loudest about social reforms, etc., with their attendant higher tax requirements.

Capitol News Review
By A. I. Harris

A movement among college students to nominate Roosevelt King Franklin I has subsided after a short "campaign" [illegible]. Spreading rapidly from one campus to another, 23 colleges responded with movements which, it was frankly admitted, were aimed to ridicule the President's proposals on the Supreme Court. The movement evidently collapsed of its own weight.

An interesting sidelight on the Chrysler sit-down strike may be found in Chrysler corporation figures, which show that the company earned $62,100,000 in 1936, out of which it put $10,000,000 back in the company treasury and paid out the remaining $52,100,000 in dividends. Chrysler profits doubled between 1935 and 1936, the net income in 1935 being only $31,800,000. But the wages it paid its employees did not double. In 1936 it paid out to its workers only $90,000,000, making a 67 per cent profit on the transaction.

Quick aid for Minnesota's drouth-stricken farmers was asked by Governor Elmer A. Benson in a telegram to Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, last week, urging Hopkins to "do everything possible to employ the most needy on W. P. A., thereby increasing their monthly aid to tide them over until next harvest," the [illegible] grants to farmers in the drouth area "wholly inadequate for subsistence needs, let alone livestock feed and seed."

Every major piece of legislation involving farm aid has been knocked out by the Supreme Court, says Farm Research, Inc. The decision written by the Court on the A. A. A. stands out as the most sweeping opinion ever handed down in the courts. Not only did it obliterate the A. A. A. and save millions of dollars to the processors, but it practically ruled that "the federal aid to the farmers can be called constitutional."

Unless President Roosevelt's proposed reform of the Supreme Court goes through, it is commonly admitted that the substitute A. A. A., the Soil Conservation Act, will also be killed by the nine justices.

Tribute to the late Governor Floyd B. Olson was paid by senate conservatives in a memorial service last week. Senator Charles Orr delivered a eulogy of the late governor in which he said: "I think we can say that Floyd Olson helped more notably to give Minnesota a new and broader social vision. The causes which he championed and the vigor and zeal of his leadership have helped to turn our thoughts to a greater concern over ways to improve the lot of the great mass of our citizens. Floyd Olson was truly a great force for Minnesota."

It would appear that conservative Georgia has some suggestions to offer Minnesota state senators. County commissioners of Bibb county, Georgia, have just [illegible] the 41-hour work week for convicts on chain gangs, but the state senators of Minnesota have refused to recognize it for women.

A bill consolidating all veterans' activities into one department was reported favorably out of a joint house and senate committee this week. There are now five state agencies handling relief, hospitalization, and claims for the nearly 120,000 veterans in the state. The coordination plan is favored by such organizations as the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Military Order of the Purple Heart, Minneapolis chapter of the Disabled American Veterans, and the National Veterans Association.

It is time that liberty-loving people of the world gave thought to the plight of democracy in Spain. While democratic countries have steadfastly attempted to isolate the Spanish conflict and to avert another world war, the fascist countries, with brazenness unparalleled in modern times, have proceeded with their program of invasion. If democracy is to continue existence in the world, fascist adventures must be halted. It is time that democratic countries begin to take some stock.

STATE CALLS BIDS ON HENNEPIN BRIDGE JOB

Bids for the construction of approaches to a new railroad crossing separation bridge in Northeast Minneapolis, Hennepin County, to cost approximately $80,000, have been called for April 9 by N. W. Elsberg, State Highway Commissioner. The bridge, on Trunk Highway No. 56, crosses the Soo line tracks near a highway separation bridge at St. Anthony boulevard. The approaches will be approximately a half mile in length and construction involves 158,087 cubic yards of excavation.

ENGINEER STOPS TRAIN TO SAVE CHILD'S PET

Hallock— A happy school boy still has his pet and the thoughtful engineer who is responsible is receiving thanks from the entire community. When the engineer saw a dog crossing the tracks in front of the train, he was unaware of the fact that it was the faithful animal that pulls Johnny Sopewinik to and from the school bus depot every day, but in an effort to avoid running over the dog, the engineer stopped the wheels of the engine. The maneuver was successful and the animal leaped across in safety. He was harnessed to a sleigh, on his way to meet the bus. Perhaps the intelligent canine was so engrossed with the task of meeting his master that he forgot all safety measures and crossed directly in the path of the oncoming train.

March Passes on After Depositing More Snow

Winter had what is hoped was its last fling when March passed on after leaving a fresh accumulation of snow, which, however, melted almost as quickly as it reached the ground. Real spring weather made its closest approach of the season Easter Sunday when temperatures were almost balmy, adding to the pleasure of the many churchgoers and others who took advantage of the day to leave their homes.

President Signs Order Setting Aside 55,170 Acre Mud Lake Refuge

President Roosevelt in a proclamation Friday set aside 55,170 acres in Marshall county for the Mud lake game refuge. The state and federal government had co-operated in restoring Thief lake and efforts were made to include Mud lake in the restoration undertaking. The placing of the Mud lake game refuge under federal supervision recalled earlier days when that area was one of the greatest duck breeding grounds in the country. At that time commercial interests took ducks by the carload out of the area.

"PEOPLES LOBBY" MEETS IN ST. PAUL SUNDAY, APRIL 4

Paul Harris, State F.-L. Chairman, to Address Gathering

By unanimous vote the Farmer-Labor state central committee, meeting last week in St. Paul, endorsed the Peoples Lobby. Harold L. Peterson, Wilmar, secretary of the Farmer-Labor association, presided.

Paul A. Harris, Thief River Falls, chairman, was elected delegate to the mass meeting to be held in St. Paul Sunday, April 4 and will be one of the principal speakers at the meeting. The committee stressed the fact that pressure must be brought to bear on the legislature immediately if "Must" legislation is to be passed at this session.

Sander Genis, secretary of the Peoples Lobby, in a letter to all ward clubs in the Twin Cities as well as throughout the state urged that "the spirit of the last campaign must be reawakened. The Peoples Lobby was formed to do just that—to do it quickly, effectively and impressively. Every Farmer-Laborite can wholeheartedly support the "Must" legislation as set forth in the "Call" sent out by the Peoples Lobby last week."

Evangelist's Lecture Tells of Resurrection

"The first individual mentioned in the inspired record to manifest a living faith in the resurrection of the dead was Abraham, the father of the faithful. When he stood face to face with an ordeal, which only God Himself has gone through when He consented to give His only begotten Son to die for the salvation of a lost race, Abraham believed that God was able to raise Isaac from the dead. Four resurrections from the dead took place in Old Testament times and three individuals were raised from the dead by Christ during His ministry. Seven times had the omnipotent power of God manifested its ability to call men back from the realms of death before Jesus, the Prince of Life, came forth a glorious conqueror from Joseph's new tomb, and thereby demonstrating that He is the resurrection and life and is in the possession of the keys of death and the grave." So stated Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture on "The History of the Glorious Resurrection" at the old Methodist church last Sunday night. The temperance program for next Sunday will be the most interesting of the season.

PREHISTORIC SKELETONS UNEARTHED NEAR CHASKA

Chaska—Unearthing of human bones on the Carl Hedtke farm along the Crow river has started widespread discussion and expression of much varied opinions in this community. Men, who were stripping off soil for a gravel pit, discovered the skeletons after they had gone down about three feet. The fact that the skeletons were in a sitting position has led to the belief that they are the remains of Indians buried according to tribal custom. The peculiar skull shapes seems to indicate that the dead men were other than the Indians known today. The hair line comes down to the eyes. The eye sockets protrude quite sharply, and the scalp slopes back immediately from this point with but little trace of a forehead. Ideas expressed on the presence of the bones are that they may possibly be those of the Mound Builders, for burial of their dead. If they are those of the Mound Builders, erosion must have worn down the mounds, for the spot where the find was made is fairly level.

BUYS BAGGAGE CAR FOR MODERN HOME

Granite Falls—Selmer Hildahl will have one of the "travelingest" homes in Granite Falls when he completes the new house he now plans. The main part of the structure will be one of the Great Northern railroad's baggage cars, 9 x 70 feet, now being sold by the company for $100 and up. The car will be cut into two pieces. Moving it from the railroad tracks to the location it is to occupy as a modern residence, proved in itself a task. The car, well constructed and insulated, is one which the railroad is replacing with those of steel construction.

VILLAGERS STRUGGLE TO SAVE LAD FROM CAVE-IN

St. Cloud—Rice villagers and a crew of St. Cloud firemen worked frantically one day last week to extricate Severin Stachowski, 12-year-old son of Ed. Stachowski who was trapped in a 25-foot well on the Leo Gach farm, where the Stachowski family lives. Severin was trapped by cave-ins in the well. His father was repairing the well, and needing a wrench, went into town to get it, leaving Severin and a brother at the well. After his father left, Severin went into the well to shovel out some of the sand. The timbers which served as cribbing collapsed while he was down there, and he was completely smothered in sand which ran into the well like water. The brother gave the alarm and the father managed to get the boy's head out into the air. A rush call to the St. Cloud fire department for its inhalator brought the chief and two firemen to the scene in record time. The lad was trapped by the timbers which fell over his legs and were pressed down by constant inpouring of loose sand. By afternoon he had been extricated to the hips, but it was expected that it would be impossible to take him from the well for at least two hours more.

20 TONS CLAM SHELLS LOADED AT BAYPORT

Bayport—Twenty tons of the same clam shells which once made Bayport's own button factory busy left town recently, bound for Muscatine, Iowa, where they will fulfill their allotted destiny in the button-making factories of that city. The twenty tons which left were half of the forty tons gathered by the shippers in the St. Croix last year. The live clams were gathered last summer, either by hand or with the aid of a drag and stored in Stillwater. The by-products of the operation are the little rough pearl like secretions made by the clams, finding a ready market by the ounce. The shells, after they are cleaned, are separated into two grades. They sell at $55 a ton, a rise of ten dollars from the prices of last fall. The shipment from Bayport was made by a man and his two sons from Cannon Falls. In the winter they spend a great deal of their time trapping.

National Reemployment Offices Coordinate the Requests for Farm Help

In an effort to bring together farmers needing men and men needing farm jobs a procedure has been set up for supplying every National Reemployment office each week with a report on local farm work opportunities. The plan was announced today by Dreng Bjornaraa of St. Paul, state director.

Under the plan, says Mr. Bjornaraa, each of the 25 offices throughout the state compiles a report showing the number of farm hands available for transfer to points outside their immediate locality, the number of unfilled farm openings, and the number of such openings which likely will have to be filled with outside workers. The state office in St. Paul receives these reports each Monday, and immediately mails to all offices a consolidated report for the entire state.

The report issued for last week showed that 284 farm hands were available for transfer, and that there were 70 unfilled openings which were to be filled immediately.

Farmers and farm hands can obtain this type of current information each Wednesday from their National Reemployment office, says Mr. Bjornaraa.

REVISED FRAZIER LEMKE MEASURE UPHELD BY COURT

Supreme Court Upholds New Mortgage Moratorium Act Monday

Billions of dollars of farm mortgage indebtedness became eligible to a three-year moratorium Monday when the supreme court unanimously upheld the revised Frazier-Lemke act.

Senator Frazier (R-ND) co-author of the statute, said thousands of farmers, heretofore blocked by federal district court decisions that it was unconstitutional, now are free to apply for adjudication of their debts.

The court's decision that the moratorium law made "no unreasonable modification of the mortgagee's rights and hence is valid" was read by Justice Brandeis. Two years ago he delivered the court's unanimous decision invalidating the original Frazier-Lemke act, sought to grant a five-year moratorium.

Brandeis ruled that the statute, as originally enacted, took property from the holder of the mortgage and gave it to the farmer without compensation. He said the first law applied to mortgages existing prior to its enactment, and that it was invalid under the "due process" clause of the constitution.

In Monday's decision Brandeis said:

"We are of the opinion that, while the act affords the debtor, ordinarily, a three-year period of rehabilitation, the stay provided for is not an absolute one; and that the court may terminate the stay and order a sale earlier.

"In order to protect the creditor's interests, the possession is at all times subject to the supervision and control of the court; and, if the debtor at any time, fails to comply with orders of the court issued in the exercise of its supervisory power to protect the mortgagee against waste or abuse of his possession by the mortgagor, the court may order the property sold.

"The farmer's proceeding in bankruptcy for rehabilitation resembles that of a corporation for reorganization."

New Group Starts Drive to Back Court Program

The Minnesota Agricultural Committee for President Roosevelt's Judiciary Program was formed in St. Paul last week by a group of farm leaders who boldly assert that there is no hope for effective production control, crop insurance or stabilized farm prices until the supreme court is brought into harmony with the New Deal's farm policies. As quickly as a state-wide committee is formed, which will require a week or ten days, a meeting is to be called in St. Paul to consider ways and means of obtaining a personal contact with not less than 125,000 farmers of the state. The purpose is to inform them of the importance of the Supreme court issue, insofar as agriculture is concerned.

The committee will announce the names of the state-wide committeemen and the time and place for holding the general conference within a few days.

Non-Relief Quotas Are Slashed Under Terms of New WPA Regulations

Effective April 15, not more than 5 per cent of all persons on WPA projects may have a non-relief status. Heretofore, the maximum non-relief that could be carried was 10 per cent. In the state as a whole, the number always has been well below the total allowable, due to the policy of conserving funds as much as possible for those most in need. On March 20, the per cent of those not on relief in this state was 3%, according to information obtained from WPA officials.

The new regulations mean that where projects have 10 workers or less, all must be from the relief rolls and projects with more than 10 must be operated on the basis of not more than one non-relief employee for each 10 relief workers. This may require some re-adjustments on projects in each locality, local WPA representatives said.

The new regulations were promulgated in Washington as a further step to conserve funds that have been voted by Congress for the operation of the work relief program. They were designed especially to correct situations on some projects where the per cent of non-relief labor was above the maximum allowed.

NON-STOP FOOT RACE SCHEDULED

Foley—The biggest foot race in the history of Benton county will take place April 4 when Andy Kreger of the Hauck Hardware firm will make a non-stop foot race to St. Cloud, ten miles from Foley. He is accepting wagers that he will make it in less than two and one-half hours, all of which started when he and another Foley citizen got into a friendly discussion as to how well and effectively Andy could "hot foot" it to places in the shortest possible time. Andy, thinking he is quite a trackman, lost no time in boasting that it would be nothing for him to race to St. Cloud some morning. The turn was called and the race is on with the two and one-half hour time limit, and Andy is willing to accept all bets he can get on himself.

"RUSTIC COMEDY"

(By Sub Urban)

I jumped on a mule "from Missouri",
No check-line nor spurs did I have;—
The mule started out in a fury,—
Threw me off—now I'm usin' "strong salve".

Next thot I'd "bareback" a bull;
Reared, and then jumped on his back;—
That beast must ha' "paid me in full"
For my back struck the ground with a whack!

A billy goat is hard to "surmount"
Unless one can rattle his aim;—
If he hits where his "score does not count"
It's a dangerous game just the same.

The bulldog caught sight of the "stunts";—
Thot he, "I'll put end to this 'show',"
Caught me by the seat o' my pants
While over the fence I did go!

CATTLE PRICES DUE TO AVERAGE ABOVE '36 FIGURES

Further Advances Depend on Reaction of Consumers, U. S. Bureau Says

Prices of nearly all grades of slaughter cattle are expected to average higher this year than last, and they may be higher than in 1935, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics said today in a spring outlook report on beef cattle.

Prices of the better grades of slaughter cattle probably will advance somewhat further from present relatively high levels. It was pointed out, however, that prices of the better grades have advanced since last June and in mid-March they were nearly as high as in the spring of 1935.

"Whether or not such cattle will advance much beyond the present level," the Bureau said, "depends in part upon the reaction of consumers to increases beyond current levels in prices of the better grades of beef."

With below normal world carryover stocks in prospect in July 1937, world wheat prices are expected to continue at high levels in 1937-38, the Bureau said in the spring outlook report on wheat.

"And should another small world wheat crop or a small European crop be produced," the Bureau reported, "world prices would average higher in 1937-38 than in 1936-37".

If farmers carry out their spring wheat planting intentions, and if yields of spring wheat equal to the average for the 10-year (1923-32) period are obtained, this year's spring wheat crop would be about 260 million bushels, it was explained. Adding to this the winter wheat crop of about 600 million bushels indicated as possible by the Crop Reporting Board of December 1, the total wheat crop in the United States this year would be about 860 million bushels. The first official estimate of winter wheat abandonment up to April 1, however, will not be known until April 9 when the first winter wheat forecast will be made by the Crop Reporting Board.

CITES EFFECTS OF HOMESTEAD BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Tax Reform Group Declares Renters Are Adversely Affected

The homestead exemption bill passed by the Minnesota House of Representatives will impose an additional tax on renters and other owners of non-homestead property in this county of at least $7,030, the Minnesota Federation for Tax Reform pointed out in an analysis of the bill received here today.

Nor does this measure the full increase in taxes which owners of other property may expect as a result of the proposed law, Constant Larson of Alexandria, president of the federation, reported. The estimate is based merely on the 1936 state tax levy of 12.45 mills, he said, and all indications point to a state tax levy of between 15 and 20 mills for next year.

The bill as passed by the house would exempt the first $4,000 of value of a homestead from the state tax levy.

Adoption of this proposal would increase taxes on renters and other owners of non-homestead property from 5.5 to 10% in the average farm community in Minnesota, Mr. Larson's study of the measure disclosed, and owners of non-homestead property in the cities, towns and villages would have to shoulder an additional burden almost as large.

"It is important that we examine the effect of such a proposal before adopting it," Mr. Larson said. "The first $4,000 of value of homesteads in Minnesota as listed for the 1936 taxes totals $242,399,555, or 17.7% of the total assessed value of real and personal property in the state. All this valuation will be lost as a source of state revenue if this bill passes."

Warren Contractor Gets Blackduck Grading Job

Contracts for the grading and surfacing of approximately 30 miles of state trunk highways, to cost $228,137, were awarded last week by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, all projects to start before May 15. S. J. Anderson of Warren, on his bid of $76,061, was awarded the contract for grading on Trunk Highway 72 between Blackduck and ten miles north.

Patrol Arrests 53, Warns 393 Stop Sign Jumpers in February

The Minnesota highway patrol arrested 53 stop sign jumpers and warned 393 others in February, with a total of 88 jailed and 750 warned for the year on what was termed "one of the most dangerous driving practices of today," according to a report by John P. Arnoldy, Chief of the Patrol to N. W. Elsberg, State Highway Commissioner.

The report shows stop sign jumping on a steady increase and orders have gone out to members of the patrol to stop it. The report shows the patrol traveled 343,069 miles in February, weighed 364 trucks suspected of being overweight, tested lights of 148 cars, checked 2,550 operators for drivers licenses and 600 vehicles suspected of carrying illegal equipment. Six cars were taken into custody and 69 accidents attended.

First aid was given in three cases, 975 minor repairs were made, 682 cars were taken out of ditches and 238 obstacles were taken off highways by patrolmen in their service to the public. A total of 5,261 drivers were warned during the month, 1,276 got tags for carrying illegal equipment, 1,773 were tagged for improper license plates, 234 were arrested and fines for the month totaled $4,111. The patrol was responsible for the collection of $14,161 for license plate corrections, mostly heavy vehicles carrying wrong type licenses.

"We have many violators," said Chief Arnoldy, "but the stop sign jumper is getting to be in a class with the drunken and reckless driver as a menace to traffic safety."

CANBY BANK HAS WORK FOR JIMMY VALENTINE

Canby—Jimmy Valentine, the suave gentlemen who sandpapered his finger tips and opened safes for a dishonest living, could have obtained an honest job at the National Citizens bank here last week. Because bank officials expected to cash hundreds of soil conservation checks, a large sum of money was placed the previous evening in a safe, ordinarily not used for that purpose, so that it would be handy. In the morning employees were dismayed to discover that they could not open the electrically operated safe. Upon wiring the manufacturers that an expert be sent at once to open the vault, a telegram arrived the following day with directions for opening the safe.

114 DIPLOMAS ARE GIVEN THURSDAY AT N. W. SCHOOL

James Weckwerth, Hazel, Wins Scholastic and Citizenship Award

Commencement week activities at the Northwest School of Agriculture Thursday, March 25, concluded one of the most successful years in the school history. The Reverend Roy E. Olson, executive secretary of the National Lutheran Man's council, gave the commencement address. Reverend Olson, in speaking on "Youth at the Crossroads", emphasized that the great responsibility for the breakdown in the respect for law should not be placed on the shoulders of youth but should be placed squarely squarely on the shoulders of parents and constituted government authority.

Dr. A. A. Dowell, retiring superintendent of the School, concluded his administration of school affairs by awarding 114 diplomas and certificates to the graduating classes.

The highest scholastic and citizenship award made annually to the fourth year student was won by James Weckwerth of Hazel. The name of the winner of this award will be engraved on the Class of 1934 Scholarship Plaque.

The Northwest School Alumni Scholarship of $25.00 was awarded to Wilson Radway of Roosevelt. This award was offered to the outstanding member of the Junior class for high scholarship, high character, and outstanding service to class and traditions of the Northwest School.

The LaVoi-Widseth Athletic-Scholarship Medal, won by Roland Wentzel of Fisher, is awarded annually by D. H. LaVoi, former instructor and athletic coach to the fourth year student who has made outstanding contributions to the school athletic teams.

He is scheduled to speak over KSTP at 10:30 p. m. Friday, April 2.

Red River Valley History

By Win V. Working

(In the Early 1900)

The year 1900 was an important one in the history of Thief River Falls. In that year on January 1, in fact—the postoffice was raised to the first class and the postmaster's salary was fixed at $1,000. Before that he had obtained a meager income from the cancellations of stamps. August 24, 1900, a commercial club was organized. Occasionally in historical editions data about the commercial clubs of a city are sought and the writer wishes to give notice that he can be of some help in case such data are needed in Thief River Falls some time. C. L. Dobner was the president and W. C. Smiley the secretary of this 1900 commercial club.

Here is an interesting note: September 3, 1900 was another epoch marking date in the history of the city, when the city council decided to put in a $3,580 electric light plant. A special election was held on October 12 and bonds in the sum of $4,500 carried by a vote of 258 to 55. The contract for the plant was subsequently let to the Triumph Electric company and the lights were turned on for the first time on December 29.

We encounter nothing of outstanding importance in the city's history that has not been dealt with before in this series until we come to the election in the fall of 1903 when Frank H. Kratka defeated Ira C. Richardson for mayor by the scant margin of four votes. Richardson filed a contest in which decision was rendered in his favor. He qualified for the office at once, but resigned as soon as he had made his appointments. The matter was not settled until spring evidently, for we learn that it was not until spring that Louis Hanson was appointed mayor by the council. Evidently there was considerable rivalry over appointments and it seems that Richardson considered his triumph sufficient when he was able to name the appointees. The members of the city council at that time were K. J. Weeks, D. D. Bakke, Hans Langseth, M. C. Harlow, J. H. Higgins and J. M. Bishop. Harlow was president of the council.

It was on Washington's birthday in 1904, by the way, that the bill providing for the opening of part of the Red Lake reservation was signed by the president. On the morning of Feb. 27, 1904, the most disastrous fire in the city's history up to that time occurred. The buildings occupied by the Weeks bowling alley, Morgan's saloon, the Delmonico restaurant, K. M. Hanson's real estate office, C. J. Knox's office and the Curtis drug store were destroyed. The building housing the Roark saloon was so badly damaged that it was later removed. Comment on the fire in 1915 in the News-Press included the statement that "from the ruins, however, arose the block of buildings from the Brumund hotel north to the corner and the fire was not without its good effects."

The first commencement at the high school took place June 3, 1901. The graduates were Emma Backe, later city librarian (she was serving in that capacity in 1915) and Melvin Evenson, in 1915 a resident of Scoby, Mont. The first football game in which the local high school participated was played Nov. 17, 1901, with Red Lake Falls on the local grounds, the visiting team winning by a score of 29 to 0, which must have been somewhat discouraging to the Thief River Falls boys.

Early in 1905 agitation for a waterworks and sewer system was started with the result that during the summer complete systems were installed, the completion being accomplished about the first of the following year. There was also a dispute between the council and the fire department which finally resulted in the latter organization disbanding on March 1. How many remember this little contretemps? March 15 the department was reorganized with C. C. Jackson as chief. The fight for removal of the county seat from Red Lake Falls to this city and which terminated in the organization of Pennington county, was instituted early in the year, when the lower Falls attempted to purchase property for a new courthouse. A petition asking for an election on the removal was circulated by the Thief River Falls committee and was filed April 10, containing 2,000 names. An order was obtained by the opposition from Judge Watts compelling Auditor Ford to show cause why he should not be restrained from calling the meeting of the county board to consider the petition, but the injunction was denied and the board was called to meet June 5. At this meeting the board denied the petition and the long drawn out fight was on in full swing.

At a meeting of the school board April 18 Prof J. H. Hay was chosen superintendent of the city schools. The high school graduated its second class June 3, the members being Marie Burgess, Olga Kretzschmar, Gertrude Meehan, Hazel Prichard and Joseph Weeks.

ROAD MEETING FAVORS 1-CENT GAS TAX BOOST

Gathering in City Thursday Would Provide Needed Highway Funds

COMMISSIONER N. W. ELSBERG HONOR GUEST

[illegible] Men From This Section of State Attend Dinner Meeting

A dinner meeting in the Evelyn hotel last Thursday evening, arranged in honor of N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, was attended by 75 men interested in highway matters from Pennington and adjoining counties. Principal action taken by the meeting was to go on record in favor of a one-cent increase in the present three-cent state gasoline tax as a means of aiding in financing needed improvements to the enlarged trunk highway system.

The meeting was opened by Supt. Morris Bye with introductory remarks, after which he introduced Frank Rinkel, chairman of the Civic and Commerce association road committee, who presided. Mayor W. W. Prichard welcomed the gathering in behalf of the city.

Mr. Elsberg stated that in 1934 the trunk highway system was increased 4,500 miles, and that most of this was of substandard grade with little or no surfacing. During the past four years the department has been dealing with a system 11,500 miles in length, and Mr. Elsberg pointed out that wear and tear on roads has risen greatly in recent years and that snow removal and laying of dust are now demanded.

The highway department, he added, now has on file requests for $15,000,000 in what he termed are sensible requests for highway improvements. He also called attention to the federal funds that are now available for road construction in Minnesota if matched by state funds.

Others who were called on for brief remarks in the course of the evening included Judge M. A. Brattland, Walter Nelson, Ray R. Swanson of Bronson, president of the Soo Line Highway association; J. O. Juvrud, president of the Roseau Commercial club; Lee Boyd, city engineer at Crookston; B. J. Pinsonneault, Red Lake county highway engineer; and Paul Roy, chairman of the Pennington county board of commissioners.

LOCAL TRUCKERS WARNED OF LOAD LIMITS IN EFFECT

Five-Ton Restrictions in Force on Several Highways

Truckers of this community will be interested in the announcement that five-ton load restrictions went into effect this week on several highways in Northwestern Minnesota and will continue during this spring breakup season. Frank Rinkel, chairman of the Civic and Commerce association road committee, was advised of the limits by B. C. Craig of Crookston, district maintenance engineer.

Mr. Craig stated that five-ton restrictions are effective as follows: Beginning April 7, on Highway 75 from Beltrami to Ada; April 6, Highway 32 from Thief River Falls to Greenbush, and Highway 75 from one mile north of Crookston to Donaldson; April 8 Highway 1 from Warren to Thief River Falls.

It was further stated by Mr. Craig that dual tires or additional axel equipment do not alter the posted gross load limit. He added that the combined weight of a towing vehicle with the weight of the towed vehicle including load will be considered the gross weight restricted.

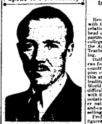
Spoke to PTA Monday



PROF. JOSEPH KISE
Of the faculty of Moorhead State Teachers college, who addressed the Parent-Teacher association at its April meeting Monday evening.

Professor Kise of Moorhead Institution Is Speaker Monday Evening

Revealing a thoro familiarity with the subject of international relations, Professor Joseph Kise, head of the political science department of Moorhead Teachers college, discussed "Neutrality" at the April meeting of the Parent-Teacher association Monday evening.

Outlining the history of American foreign policy, he said that this country has always been a champion of neutral rights, and that this attitude was responsible for leading the United States into the World War. He also discussed the difficulties that arise in connection with the various policies, including isolationism, cooperation with other nations and the present cash-and-carry policy of this country in selling supplies to warring nations.

Professor Kise cited impressive figures to show the tremendous cost of the World War in men and money, and made a stirring plea for an enlightened public opinion.

The program, over which President C. W. Pope presided, opened with a piano solo by Mrs. Casale Harrison, followed by three selections by the Woman's club chorus of ten voices, ably rendered under the direction of Mrs. Harrison and accompanied on the piano by Miss Violet Rhodegaard.

Completing the program, a skit, "Guyed and Guidance", presented in impressive fashion the right and wrong way of giving a young man vocational guidance, was given by Kyle Montague and Dr. A. E. Jacobson, enacting the parts of two attorneys, and Alfred Nelson, filling the role of a high school student desirous of entering the legal profession.

In a brief business session Mr. Pope announced that the annual election of officers would be conducted at the May meeting of the association, and named a nominating committee including Mrs. Theodore Quale, Mrs. G. W. Booren and G. H. Mayer-Oakes. He also appointed Mrs. Andy Williamson as chairman of the preschool clinic. Mrs. Williamson, he said, will name her own committee and will also be assisted by Mrs. Clara Paulson, school nurse.

CAR THEFT RING BROKEN UP HERE OVER WEEK-END

Four Boys Confess to Having Stolen Six Automobiles Since March 19

Taken into custody over the week-end by the police and Sheriff Arthur Rambeck, four local boys, whose ages range from 14 to 21, confessed to having stolen six automobiles in the city since March 19, some of which were in damaged condition when found by the authorities.

George Ferris, 21, who had been committed to the reformatory at Red Wing on two previous occasions, waived a preliminary hearing in municipal court Tuesday and was bound over to district court. Albert Zavoral, 15; Werner Zavoral, 14; and Robert Ferris, 15, appeared Tuesday before Judge Andrew Bottelson in municipal court, and were placed on probation. Albert Zavoral has been in juvenile court on several former occasions, and Werner once before.

The quartet was apprehended late Saturday night when, driving a 1937 Plymouth demonstrator stolen from in front of Gustafson & Son, they abandoned the car, after a trip to Goodridge, on Dewey av. N., from where they were trailed thru newly fallen snow to the home of two of the boys. The tail lights on the car were damaged when it was run into a ditch near Goodridge.

The A. M. Magnuson Chrysler Air-Flow sedan was taken from in front of the Magnuson home Friday evening, and was found later near the Northrop school. Other cars stolen by the quartet recently included those of Edgar Longren, Bert Geving and two that were taken from the Lund & Tonberg parking lot, one of which was recovered between Crookston and Fisher with the motor in damaged condition.

CROWD INVADES STATE CAPITOL HALTS SESSION

"Peoples Lobby" Invasion Endorsed by Governor Elmer Benson

GOVERNOR CHARGED WITH INCITING RIOT

Solons Busy as Only 2 Weeks Remain of Regular Session

Told by Governor Elmer A. Benson they had "done a good job," 200 men and women who held possession of the state senate chamber all Monday night broke up Tuesday, promising to come back if a special session is called.

Senators, arriving late after talking the situation over in the St. Paul hotel, found the chamber littered with debris, but no damage done. Visibly annoyed at the developments of the day and night, the senate met only to adjourn at once to permit cleaning up the place.

The house appropriations committee meanwhile took final action on the $17,000,000 relief bill which had been the main theme of the men who took possession of the People's Lobby, turned it into a series of hectic disturbances in committee rooms and an all-night "sit-down strike" in the senate chamber.

Time for the senate session was just an hour and a half away when Governor Benson appeared before the group that had spent the night in the senate.

"You intended to impress on the legislature the need for pending legislation and you've done a good job", Benson said. He remarked they were well received in both senate and house and "did a good job before committees."

They must carry on the fight back home for "the rest of your lives", he said.

Responsibility for the People's Lobby demonstrations, approaching "riot and insurrection," was placed on Governor Benson by Senator Charles N. Orr, majority leader of the senate.

Orr, in a letter to the Governor, quoted Benson's statement to the massmeeting Sunday night when he said: "It is all right to be a little rough once in a while," and mentioned the Governor's comments to the senate all-downers this morning that they "had done a good job."

"If this does not amount to inciting people to riot, I do not know what you can call it," Senator Orr said.

The legislature went to work last Monday to break the jam of crowded calendars and avert the necessity of a special session as only 15 more days remained for the regular session.

The legislature planned to hold morning, afternoon and evening meetings until all the heavy work is cleared up.

A batch of bills pertaining to highway legislation and two slum clearance measures were on special orders for this week. One proposal, sponsored by Rep. Edwin J. Chilgren, Little Fork, at the request of the committee on motor vehicle, seeks a $1,000,000 bond issue to provide funds to match federal aid.

SPORTSMENS CLUB MEETING TUESDAY IS WELL ATTENDED

Plans Developed for Crow Hunt to be Conducted Late This Month

A good attendance was present in the Civic and Commerce association rooms Tuesday evening at the April meeting of the Pennington County Sportsmen's club, which now boasts 169 members. President Carlie Johnson was in charge of the meeting, and reported on the Northwest Sportsmen's show held recently in Minneapolis.

Game Warden Erling Gilthvedt of Grygla outlined the program sponsored by sportsmen and the conservation department for the planting of small tracts of millet and buckwheat to provide feed for game birds, and stated that the project is receiving considerable support.

At the suggestion of Arnie Solem, who was present at the meeting, a resolution was adopted protesting a proposed open season for the trapping of beaver. Other guests at the meeting were Frank Race, O. M. Mandt and Alf Bredeson, members of the county board.

John Dokken of the committee arranging for a crow hunt this spring stated that while plans are still incomplete it is expected the hunt will be in progress the last week in April and the first week in May. The club acknowledged with thanks receipt of a $5 donation from the Junior Chamber of Commerce to be used for feeding game birds next winter.

Secretary Leon Kallher announced that the next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday evening, May 4.

PLANS FURTHER DEVELOPED FOR BASEBALL LOOP

Final Details to be Mapped at Meeting to be Held Here Shortly

Rules and regulations, similar to those in effect last season, are practically assured for the 1937 season of the Red River Valley Baseball League as a result of action taken at a league meeting held in Oslo Tuesday night.

Only four towns were represented at the meeting, these being East Grand Forks, Thief River Falls, Oslo and Warren. However, league officials feel certain that Grafton will seek membership in the organization, with St. Hilaire also a good possibility, said E. T. Chillstrom who presided at the Oslo gathering.

The four towns represented could not agree on the hired player limit rule maintained a year ago, with Warren and Oslo favoring one salaried player, with East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls favoring two salaried men for each team. This detail will be ironed out at the next meeting of the league officers to be held at Thief River Falls as soon as the fifth or sixth team signifies intentions of joining.

This city was represented at the meeting by Douglass Booren, George Lee, Al Cloutier and Jack Dempster of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Old- and new-time music will be provided by Bonsum and his KFJM orchestra, in addition to which there will be songs and yodeling numbers by Singing Joe and old-time fiddling by Larry Carter, both of whom are popular radio entertainers.

THREE BUSINESS PLACES ENTERED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Police Hunting Burglars, Who Got Small Amount of Loot

Local police, after a busy past week, were given more work to do Wednesday night when burglars broke into three local business places, apparently getting small returns for their labors. Breaking the glass in the front door, marauders gained entrance to Carl Christofferson's Golden Rule store on Bridge st., where they took an undetermined quantity of cigarets. Entering the Kiewel Products company plant after breaking the lock on the back door burglars broke the dial off the safe but failed to open it, and left apparently without any loot. The adjoining Bridgeman Creameries plant also was entered by jimmying the lock on the door, and there too it appeared that the culprits left empty handed.

TRIBUTE GIVEN 4-H WORKERS AT HUGE BANQUET

District Leader Presents Awards to Outstanding Members

Also present were the club leaders and a group of businessmen who were seated at the dozen or more tables, which were attended by a group of high school girls.

The program opened with the singing of "America" by the assemblage, followed by the invocation by Rev. E. A. Cooke and community singing led by Harold F. Harrison, after which Walter Jung, president of the civic group, extended a welcome to the gathering and praised 4-H club work as a community building institution. Iris Ayers gracefully responded in behalf of the club members, expressing appreciation to the association for its cooperation, which she said is much needed.

Following mandolin music and songs by LeRoy Rupprecht, enjoyable one-act plays were ably presented by the Rocksbury and Steiner 4-H clubs, regional winners, and at the close of the program it was announced that the Rocksbury club had won the county championship. He cited the responsibility of 4-H workers to carry their projects to completion and to use this training in their future careers. In this manner, he said, the northwest will be built from within rather than by utilizing the former practice of importing new settlers.

Cause of Cloudbursts

Cloudbursts are caused by violent whirlwinds which carry the hot and moist air up to tremendous heights. The vertical force of the wind is great enough to prevent the condensed waterdrops from falling until long after they are formed. When the upward current of air is finally broken, the amount of water collected is so large that it falls almost as a solid sheet, and a cloudburst results.

Growing With Your Child

COMPANIONS

University of Minnesota, Institute of Child Welfare

Have you ever watched a baby when a little child entered the room? If so you have been amused by the way his eyes followed the child about, by the absorption of his interest in that child. When two babies of about the same age are present in a room, they will often play unconcernedly, each with his own toys. Or they may sit in the same sandpile, each busy filling and emptying his pail. But let one of them wander off to some other activity, and the other is pretty sure to follow. Before children can really play with each other, they like to play in company. Delight in companionship with other children appears very early in a child's life, and unless things happen that frighten or distress him out of such enjoyment, he will continue throughout his life to like to be with people much of the time.

When we consider the advantages to adults of being able to get along with others, to mingle easily with all kinds of groups, to live harmoniously with their neighbors and to develop those traits of character that attract friends, we realize the importance of early practice in being with other people. The child whose parents put off his contacts with others, who keep him away from children because they are afraid he will be exposed to disease or will learn poor habits are making it harder for him to adjust when he does begin to enter into the world outside his home.

Every kindergarten teacher has the experience each year of dealing with one or more children who are shy and timid, and for whom the first weeks of school are anything but a pleasure. Why not save children such strain by opportunities for happy play from the time they are old enough to toddle?

We take children into our nursery school at the age of two years, and while the younger ones engage more in solitary play, they enjoy from the beginning being with other children. One may push another out of the way, in total disregard (in fact total ignorance) of the fact that bumps do hurt other people just as much as they do oneself, but learning is going on, learning in living together. Giving up, taking turns, sharing, laughing together over a funny occurrence, and thrilling together over the same rythm on the piano, which makes them want to clap or prance;—all these involve other children, and learning through companionship, which is a very happy way for children to learn.

Many mothers who realize their young children's need of companionship, but who have no near neighbors whose children are of like age, devote much time to playing with their children, in order to keep them happy and amused. As a matter of fact some of this time would be better spent in gathering three or four youngsters together, and letting them have the more natural fun of playing together. The child who plays with grown-ups the greater part of the time is always at the disadvantage of not really being on a par with his playmates. It is impossible for an adult to do more than try to "get down to the child's level." Groups of mothers who take turns in supervising the play of their three and four-year-olds are often rewarded by seeing those children enter school with an ability to profit by the companionship of other children in a way that wouldn't otherwise have been possible.

Unique Form of Home Rule

The Isle of Man has its own unique form of home rule. No act of the British parliament applies to the island unless expresly so stated in the law. The Court of Tynwald, one of the oldest legislative assemblies in the world, consists of a lieutenant governor appointed by the crown, and two chambers, the Council and the House of Keys. The 24 members of the latter are elected by popular vote, in which women share equal rights with men. All measures must pass both Council and Keys, and receive approval from the sovereign.

Composed "The Last Hope"

Louis Moreau Gottschalk, who composed "The Last Hope," was born in New Orleans in 1829. He studied in Europe and, from 1845 to 1852, made successful tours of the continent. Returning to America in 1853, he toured the country with notable success, playing and conducting his own compositions. Among his compositions are "Bamboula," "Bananier," "Savane," "Ojos Criollos" and "Ossian." He died at Rio de Janeiro in 1869.

Name "Hurricane" Traced

A god of the Carib Indians, "Hurricane," is responsible for the name most frequently applied to tropical storms. Born in the belt of calm air over the Atlantic ocean just north of the equator, hurricanes are greatly affected by the earth's rotation. Winds, which otherwise would blow directly toward the rain-storm center, are deflected to the right, and rotating winds begin to move at speeds from 50 to 120 miles an hour.

Burial Changes Status

Under the common law of the United States the burial of a human body changes its status from personal property to unowned "real estate." Hence the courts of several states have often ruled in favor of those who have opposed the removal of a body, even in cases in which the opposing party was unrelated to the family.—Collier's Weekly.

Kinds of Courage

Physical courage, which despises all danger, will make a man brave in one way; and moral courage which despises all opinion, will make a man brave in another. The former would seem most necessary for the camp, the latter for council; but to constitute a great man, both are necessary.

MEMORIES

In loving memory of our beloved son and brother Milton Asp who passed away one year ago.

We miss thee from our home, dear Milton;
We miss thee from thy place.
A shadow o'er our life is cast
We miss the sunshine of thy face
We miss you dearly every hour
The sound of footsteps, voice of cheer
Our home is dark without thee
We miss thee everywhere.

In his childhood he manifested loveliness of disposition. During his adolescent years his hands were ever ready to work and render unselfish service to others.

He shed sunshine into the lives of those with whom he came in contact. He loved truthfulness and in suffering he manifested patience.

In principle he was firm, and his life revealed to relatives, friends, and neighbors unselfish courtesy.

Greatly missed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Asp, and two sisters, Florence and Evelyn. 14p

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Governor Benson took a vigorous rap at the Senate income tax bill in a radio address last week. He charged that the bill, which the Republicans would foist upon the state, protects not the little fellow but the big fellow.

After citing figures to show that over 100,000 persons in the lower income groups would pay a tax under the Senate bill who would not have to pay a penny under the administration bill, the Governor stated:

"The people of Minnesota, whose incomes are under $2,000 a year, would pay under the Republican income tax bill $471,000 more in income taxes than they would pay under the administration bill, whereas those persons with incomes of over $50,000 a year would pay $641,000 less under the former bill than they would under the latter bill."

If any corporations would be driven out of the state by confiscatory taxes, it would certainly be the 1,286 corporations whose net incomes are less than $10,000 which would feel the brunt of the conservative tax bill. The Governor also pointed to loop-holes in the Senate bill which would enable large corporations engaged in interstate business to escape taxes entirely by establishing a sales agency in another state.

With planting time fast approaching, Minnesota farmers are in danger of losing out on the benefits of the state seed loan, because of failure of county commissioners to act, reports A. D. Crissey, member of the House of Representatives from Morris and Author of the measure.

The bill provides for loans up to $200, payable in cash, kind or work and entails no expense to the county. County commissioners must give final approval before a loan is issued to any farmer. So far eleven county boards have accepted the state's plan and are making the loans available to drouth-stricken farmers, but an equal number of other county boards, including Douglas, Swift, Pine, Pennington, Wright, Freeborn, Lake of the Woods, Sherburne, Polk, Pope and Ottertail have refused to administer the act.

Highly civilized America can learn a lesson from the lowly Indian who has so often been considered backward and inefficient by his white brothers. The tiny Indian co-operative community of Metlakahtla in southeastern Alaska has prospered to such an extent from their salmon fisheries that they recently donated $1,000 to aid flood victims in Ohio and Kentucky. This, while American communities were clamoring for aid to pay their school teachers and carry on municipal business.

Representatives Henry G. Young last week answered the charges by Senator A. J. Rockne, veteran conservative leader, concerning a land purchase deal by the highway department in Isanti county. Mr. Young called attention to the fact that those charges were publicly retracted in Isanti county during the 1936 campaign. He declared that Rockne's real purpose was to aid the gasoline trust, the Standard Oil Co., and other big refiners.

It was pointed out by other senators that P. J. Schroeder, spokesman for the gasoline trust, has been sending mimeographed papers to members of the Legislature containing erroneous figures concerning gasoline taxes in Minnesota and Minnesota highway expense. Earlier in the session a member of the Senate accused Mr. Schroeder of lobbying in the Senate chambers.

Governor Benson lent his support to the movement to free Tom Mooney, imprisoned labor leader, last week in a letter to the California Legislature in which he wrote: "I feel certain that not a single honorable fair-minded person, no matter what his or her political persuasions may be, would seriously contend that were this evidence today presented to an impartial jury or tribunal, a verdict of guilty would result."

Marshall County Relief Clients Are Forbidden to Visit Beer Parlors

Marshall county relief clients and W. P. A. workers were put on the "Blacklist" and will be prohibited from buying beer at any beer dispensary in the county, as a result of resolutions adopted by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners in session at Warren this week.

The commissioners have received complaints stating that many relief clients and W. P. A. workers were spending their money for beer and other articles not necessities, to the detriment of their families, and quickly adopted resolutions in an effort to curb the practice.

Requests will be made to each municipal government in the county to adopt similar resolutions, which if properly enforced will make certain that money spent for relief and W. P. A. work will go where it is intended which is to help families in distress.

Reemployment Service Reports Job Increase

An upward movement in private activity of the National Reemployment Service during March was reported today by Dreng Bjornaraa of St. Paul, director. A total of 1,814 such placements were made, a gain of 3 per cent over the March 1936 figure, 1,128 and a gain of 10 per cent over the 1,628 private placements made in February this year.

"The rising total in private placements continues the trend which has been evident since the early part of 1936," reports Mr. Bjornaraa," and reflects the results obtained through the concerted program carried out to increase private placement opportunities." Employers of the state are becoming better acquainted with service, Bjornaraa said, and are making use of the facilities offered.

The public employment service in Minnesota was thirteenth in the nation in private placements for February with 3,971 according to a report of the United States Employment Service made available this week.

Modern Woodsman Takes to Tin

Prepares Camp Foods In New Easy Ways

"ONLY mad dogs and Englishmen go out in the midday sun." So runs the old saying from India where life moves along in leisurely fashion and siestas are the order of the day.

Yet all over the United States, at this season, there are people going out in the midday sun and reveling in it—the great army of campers who hit the outdoor trail, rain or shine, and like it.

Cans Make Camping Easy

In order to meet old Sol halfway, as it were, it is necessary for the woodsman to eat foods which give him strength. And it is for this reason that the woodsman takes to tin. In the handy tin container food is packed in a form concentrated for convenient carrying and for abundant eating.

Everyone knows the many popular canned foods for camping—such favorites as corned beef, bacon, beans, corn, soups, fruits, and the good combinations—specialties such as chicken a la king, chili con carne, frankfurters and sauerkraut. But it is important to know some of the delicious new ways to prepare canned foods—simple ways, that make camping easy for even the amateur cook. Here are some suggestions:

For Fry or Broil

Hamburger and Corn Scramble: Saute one medium onion which has been chopped in two tablespoons of butter for a few minutes. Add three-fourths of a pound of hamburger steak and stir until well browned. Add the contents of one can corn, two teaspoons salt, one fourth teaspoon pepper, and heat. Serves eight.

Hot Bacon and Pimiento Sandwiches: Cut two canned pimientos in pieces. Dice three slices bacon, and fry. Drain and add pimiento. Then spread between buttered rye bread and serve hot.

Savory Corn: Chop two large, cold, boiled potatoes fine and saute brown in two tablespoons of fat. Add one cup of canned corn and brown again. Season well with salt and pepper. Break in two whole eggs and scramble lightly together. Serve with slices of broiled bacon. This serves eight persons.

Mexican Chili: Combine the contents of one 12½-ounce can chili con carne with two cups of thick tomato sauce. Heat thoroughly. This serves six persons.

Spanish Limas: Empty the contents of one No. 2 can tomatoes and one No. 2 can lima beans into a sauce pan. Season to taste and stew gently for ten minutes. Break eight saltines into the mixture. Season to taste. Serve at once. This serves eight persons.

Pineapple Meat Cakes: Add one slightly beaten egg to one pound of chopped round steak. Mix well, add one and one-fourth teaspoons salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Then add one cup crushed canned pineapple and one-half cup crumbs. Form into round, flat cakes and pan broil in a hot skillet. This makes eighteen medium cakes.

Sausages and Sweet Potatoes: To the contents of one can sweet potatoes, sliced, add the contents of a can Vienna sausages cut in rings. Fry until the sausages are well done. Serve hot. This serves six persons.

Warren Electric Plant Nets $8,737 Last Year

Warren's municipal water, light and power department returned a net profit of $8,737.70 after allowances for depreciation, interest payments and all other deductions, it is revealed in the annual report of Chas. J. Carlson, city recorder and clerk for the water, light and power commission. The report covers operations for the year ending March 1, 1937. The net profits for 1936 show an increase of $2,973.70 over 1935 when the net profit totaled only $5,76[illegible], which indicates a healthy increase in consumption of electrical current for the year, said F. W. Truhn, superintendent of the municipal institution.

"Contraband of War"

The term "contraband of war" was first used in the treaty between England and Spain in 1625. Actually it is applied to arms and ammunition, and materials from which they can be made, carried by neutral vessels to either parties engaged in war.

THANK YOU ALL

We more than appreciate the very fine attendance at our Spring Opening Program last week. We thank you for spending the day with us and hope you enjoyed the day's program as we did.

HORSES

10 head of horses, ranging in price from $40.00 to $135.00 and every one at good value.

HIGHER CAR PRICES VIEWED AS CERTAIN

Rising labor and material costs doubtless will make higher car prices a certainty before the close of the second quarter. Naturally we shall do all we can on price protection on orders placed. At least we shall do so if orders placed and we can ship in before prices advance. Shortage is a certainty and will continue, especially through the spring rush.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST

The three machines that seemed to be of greater interest to our visitors during our spring opening program, was the new McCormick-Deering Grain Drill, because of the many new special features of improvement. Then the new improved McCormick-Deering Field Cultivator. As for the new cultivators several of our customers who bought the same kind last fall stated their satisfaction so strongly that now we have more orders for spring delivery than cultivators on hand. But we do expect to supply the spring demand. The New McCormick-Deering manure spreader is the other important machine and the improvements now have resulted in several sales since our show.

THE NEW TRUCKS

Never before has a new line of trucks been shown which met with such unusual satisfaction and public acceptance as the new 1938 International Trucks, now on display at our garage. A combination of beauty and quality that every one must appreciate. What's more, no price increase so far.

HORTON WASHING MACHINES

HORTON built America's first washing machine in 1862 and the new models for 1937 are without a question outstanding in beauty and through all the years that we have sold Horton Washing machines we have never had a complaint. Electric or gasoline engine types from $59.75 and up. New models now on display.

Early Diagnosis of Tuberculosis Is Aim of Statewide Drive

Minnesota is joining with the other states of the nation in an intensive educational campaign for the early diagnosis of tuberculosis. Dr. Kendall Emerson, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, has proclaimed the month of April for the campaign for the Christmas Seal organizations throughout the country.

"Uncover Tuberculosis by Modern Methods" is the slogan for this campaign.

"Too many people either do not know or fail to use the great discoveries that science has given us in recent years to aid us in our fight against this disease," said Dr. Emerson in his proclamation. "The tuberculin test and the magic eye of the X-ray should be widely used to detect tuberculosis in its beginning stages when the disease is curable. If these modern methods were employed," he continued, "we certainly would not be finding nearly 70,000 individuals dying of tuberculosis each year in the United States."

Dr. Emerson said that this year's Early Diagnosis Campaign has three objectives: the first, to acquaint everyone with the four danger signs of tuberculosis—the persistent cough, indigestion, continued loss of weight and unexplainable fatigue; the second, to advise them to discover hidden tuberculosis by means of the tuberculin test, fluoroscope and X-ray; and the third, to stress the dangers of contact with an open case."

No Assessors Meeting to be Held This Month

No general meeting of township, village and city assessors will be conducted in Pennington county this spring, according to word received by County Auditor A. M. Senstad from the Minnesota tax commission. Only personal property is scheduled to be assessed this year, in addition to any new buildings constructed since real estate was last assessed in May, 1936.

Plummer Boy Is Winner of State Essay Contest

National and state scholarships awarded by the Josten Manufacturing Co. of Owatonna in the Josten national and state art essay contest have been announced by Daniel C. Gainey, president of the company.

Kyle Abernathy, student of the La Follette high school at La Follette, Tenn., was selected the national winner as well as the Tennesee state winner. Winner of the Minnesota contest is Jack Ripple of Plummer, high school student, who will receive a $50 cash scholarship as will the 23 other state winners.

The essays were written on the subject, "How I Can Use Art in My Everyday Life?" with contestants drawing their source material from "Art a Way of Life," written by Melvin E. Haggerty, dean of the college of education at the University of Minnesota, and director of Owatonna art education project which is financed by the Carnegie corporation for the advancement of teaching.

EXPERT TO REVIVE BOW, ARROW SPORT

Mahnomen— With organization of a local archery club, the third of its kind in this part of the state, Merle H. Leftridge of Roy Lake expects to revive interest in the ancient bow and arrow sport. Using what he has been able to learn from Indians while traveling in years past, he has spent the winter fashioning bow and arrows that reveal the work of a true Indian craftsman. Fashioning the bows, most of which are five feet, six inches long, requires two days of hard, tedious work. They are constructed of iron wood and finished by staining, varnishing, and waxing. The guard and cords are made of deer hide. The arrows which Mr. Leftridge displays are the type used for hunting, he says. He expects to use manufactured arrows for targets. Plans are already under way for archery clubs at Bagley and Bemidji and organization of a club in Mahnomen is expected to get under way soon. In these clubs it is usual for small groups to shoot together and often teams are formed for regular contests.

Memorial to Pocahontas

Pocahontas was buried in the chancel of St. George's church, Gravesend, England, where there is a memorial tablet and two stained glass windows set up by the Virginia chapter of the Colonial Dames of America. She died in 1617, at the age of twenty-two, when she was on the point of returning to Virginia with her husband, John Rolfe.

Edwin S. Wilcox, Early Settler Here, Dies in Washington

Edwin S. Wilcox, one of the early residents of this city and later of the Grygla community, who left last October to make his home in Ferndale, Wash., died at Ferndale Thursday of last week. He was seventy-one years and eleven months of age at the time of his death. The body was brought to this city, where rites were conducted at the Larson chapel Tuesday afternoon, Rev. E. N. Daley officiating, and interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Wilcox was born April 23, 1865, in Sardina, New York. He moved with his parents from Sardina to Sunrise, Minn., in 1966. In 1890 he came to this city. He was married here in 1896 to Mary Peterson. After making their home for some time they moved to Grygla, where Mr. Wilcox resided until his departure for the West Coast last fall.

Surviving relatives are his wife, three step-daughters, Pearl, and Hannah, both of Seattle, Wash., and Laura of Grygla; three brothers, Bert, George and John of Sunrise; and a sister, Mrs. Alice Strom of Harris, Minn. Two daughters preceded him in death.

Discovery of X-Ray by von Roentgen, Prussian

One of the greatest boons to suffering and sickly mankind, and equally as important as Louis Pasteur's discovery that microscopic organisms were the cause of many diseases, was Prof. Wilhelm Konrad von Roentgen's accidental discovery of the X-ray, asserts a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

Roentgen was born in Lennep, Prussia, in 1845, was educated in Holland and Switzerland, and served as a professor of physics and mathematics in various German universities. It was while he was employed on the faculty of the University of Wurzburg in 1895 that he made his celebrated discovery that has revolutionized surgery. He was experimenting with a highly exhausted vacuum tube on the conduction of electricity through gases when he observed the fluorescence of a barium platinocyanide screen which happened to be lying near by. Further investigation revealed that this radiation had the power of passing through various substances which were opaque to ordinary light, and also of affecting a photographic plate.

This newly discovered ray so mystified Roentgen that he called it the X-ray, the letter X being employed because of the unknown quality of the light. Roentgen continued his experiments, but it remained for other men to fully uncover the possibilities in the mysterious ray.

"Scarce as Hen Teeth"

"Scarce as hen's teeth," is the proverbial saying which refers to the fact that fowls are toothless. There is no species of bird or fowl extant which has teeth. Scientists, however, have found many fossils of prehistoric feathered creatures that had teeth. It is believed that previous to the tertiary geological period all birds had teeth.

State Gets 613 Million From U. S. Since 1933

During the period March 4, 1933 to December 31, 1936, the amount of money made available by the federal government to the State of Minnesota for emergency purposes totaled approximately $613,464,714 according to Anna Dickie Olesen, state director of the National Emergency council. Of this total, about $320,922,041 covered grants, allotments and expenditures; about $274,331,492 covered loans actually closed, and $18,211,181 covered loans insured. These figures are based upon agency reports and have been adjusted to eliminate duplications.

Funeral Services Held for John A. Anderson

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Zion Lutheran church, Viking, Rev. H. O. Peterson officiating, for John Alfred Anderson of Comstock, who died March 28, at the age of eighty years.

Mr. Anderson was born in Vastergotland, Sweden, November 27, 1856. He came to the United States in 1880, and on Sept. 1 of the same year was married to Mathilda Erickson. He and his wife lived at Chicago two years, and then moved to Comstock where Mr. Anderson resided until his death.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Anna and Ida, two sisters, Ida of Sweden, and Mrs. Fred Peterson of Alvarado. Three children preceded him in death.

Sleep Needs of Man Are Discussed by Authority

Sleep and how much or how little is required by mankind is discussed by a writer in the Journal of the Indiana State Medical Association. He says that habit has very much to do with the ability of an individual to sleep. Habits of going to bed too early or of eating irregularly and wrongly will complicate matters. He who is in the habit of waking at a certain hour and of thinking that he cannot go to sleep probably will continue the habit. Not infrequently an entire change of scenery and of routine will aid in correcting the condition.

"A distinguished physiologist," states the writer "has told us that he rarely or never sleeps more than two hours in a given night. He, however, rests quietly in bed for five or six hours of the night because he quietly and leisurely thinks about pleasant things that have occurred and are happening at the present time. He does not permit himself to brood over misfortunes or unpleasant situations.

"The lure of an attractive, 'nestling thought' may enable one to pass hours almost as if they were minutes. The patient is not really asleep, but for all intents and purposes he is so. Probably his mind is no more or possibly even less active than in the case when he is dreaming a pleasant dream."

First Vice President's to Die

The fourth and fifth Vice Presidents, Clinton and Gerry, were the first of the nation's Vice Presidents to die.

Change Ordered in Color of Town Direction Signs

To conform with national regulations on color of uniform traffic control devices and to make them plainer to read, all signs directing traffic to cities or towns on state highways will be changed from white letters on a black background to black letters on a white background, according to an order by W. F. Rosenwald, chief maintenance engineer of the Minnesota Highway department. The change will come as the signs are reconditioned. Smaller reflector buttons, to improve daylight visability of the black lettering, were also ordered. These signs are used principally where a state highway does not pass through the center of towns and a directional sign is desired to indicate the location of business districts.

WOLVES CHASE DEER ONTO MILACA FARM

Milaca.—For the first time in years a pack of wolves have been reported as having caused a disturbance in Mille Lacs county, when they chased a deer onto the George Skoog farm. The Skoogs were aroused early by a commotion which they thought to be caused by dogs molesting their sheep. Instead, three wolves had chased a deer into the yard, and through their snapping so frightened the deer that it hovered close to the house.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

Thief River Falls is listed in the current issue of the Northwestern Bell, house organ of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, as one of several Minnesota cities that have made substantial increases in the number of telephones in service. Increased demand here has caused the company to make a substantial investment in equipment this year. A new switch board, now being installed, provides for considerable future growth and will speed up the already prompt service on connections. All that is lacking now to give the local station an A rating is a ground floor office for the payment of bills.

Practically every bald headed fellow in town is now enrolled in one of the several hair growing contests being conducted by our barbers. Wherever and whenever bald headed men meet, the subject of conversation swings around to the new pump and push contraptions that restore circulation—and hair—to drouth stricken domes. It's going to be fun for some of these fellows to carry a comb around in the vest pocket again.

The old "Spanish Prisoner" game has been revived in a slightly different form. The Spanish Prisoner who is now appealing for help is an Italian who has been captured by the loyalists. These mean old loyalists are holding a trunk of his, but they don't know that the trunk has a false bottom and that beneath that false bottom there are concealed $300,000.00, no less. For the measley little sum of $1,500 on the barrel head he can recover his trunk. And to anyone who will provide him with the $1,500 he will give one-third of the trunk's contents. A nice deal. But he will do even more than that. Over in Rome he has a beautiful daughter, sixteen years old, who now lives with a widowed aunt. Whoever supplies him with the necessary bucks will not only be rewarded with a third of the recovered treasure but, of all things, may also have the guardianship of the beautiful daughter. According to reports, several hopeful Americans have already advanced the money.

DO WHAT HE SAYS OR ELSE

Governor Benson may not go down into history as one of Minnesota's greatest governors but he certainly will be recognized by all future generations as one of the noisiest. Unfortunately for himself, his constant yammering seems to have had but little effect on those he is trying to scare. To date the only apparent result is a split in the ranks of his own followers. His own floor leader in the senate turned on him last week. Senator McLeod is the chosen leader of the Farmer-Labor members of the upper house. It is reasonable to believe, therefore, that at the beginning of the session he must have been considered one of the true-blue. But last week Senator McLeod parted company with the Governor on the income tax bill and in a radio address delivered a scathing rebuke to his majesty. He accused the Governor of not even knowing the provisions of his own tax bill; questioned whether he had read it; and on the situation in general observed:

> "Good work on the part of the legislature and chief executive is not done by shouting from the house tops, the beating of drums, and the propagation of propaganda. Our citizens are sincere in their desire for good legislation affecting the entire commonwealth of Minnesota. Senators and representatives alike, be they Farmer-Laborites, Republicans or Democrats, are desirous of bettering our economic conditions, but only quiet, deliberate and thoughtful work along these lines will produce lasting results.
> "I may be accused of being a reactionary for certain remarks made here, but I wish to assure my listeners that as a liberal and with the aid of other legislators, liberal and conservative alike, in this legislature, it is my sincere hope to present to the people of the state a tax program based on sound economics and statesmanship, not a monstrosity based on politics."

Coming from one of the leaders in his own party, such an attack must have upset the Governor considerably. At any rate he still appeared to be off balance early this week when his "People's Lobby" took possession of the Capitol. He suggested to the visitors that it might be well to get a little rough. This from the chief executive of the state, who is sworn to maintain law and order. When the lobbyists left he told them that if the Legislature did not provide the things they demanded they should come back again. This presumably was an invitation to get tougher next time.

The law makers have now had their instructions. They will provide seventeen million dollars for relief or else. They will levy the taxes demanded by the Governor or else. They will do whatever the Governor tells them to do or else. A few hundred people, calling themselves the "People's Lobby," have spoken.

The one encouraging thing about the present situation in Minnesota is the fact that Benson is meeting with opposition within his own ranks. His appeal is to the radical left wing of the party. The more conservative leaders of the party are not yet ready to turn the state government over to that irresponsible left wing group.

By a vote of more than four to one, practicing attorneys of North Dakota have decided against Roosevelt's court packing scheme. Can it be that only one out of every five lawyers in North Dakota are ambitious to become Federal judges?

EXAMPLE OF FOLLY
(Mankato Free Press)

England is undertaking the beginning of a seven billion dollar armament program, running over the next three years.

So vast is the undertaking that it will virtually paralyze all other industrial activity and expansion in the nation. Announcement was made last week that the plans not only call for the heaviest tax in British history but that Sir Thomas Inskip, defense minister, had actually requested industrialists to delay expansion and improvements that might be planned so every laborer and all possible materials be available for the rearming drive.

Thus at the end of three years England will emerge from this program bled dry for tax revenues to finance it; handicapped by an industrial plant that is obsolete and out-moded because of the inability of private concerns to keep abreast of modern developments; burdened down with planes, battleships, tanks and war machinery that will even then be well on the road to obsolescence.

A more fitting example of the futility and insanity of our present day arming program could scarcely be imagined. And still every nation in the world is doing it today, our own well up among the leaders in such folly.

DENYING THE RIGHT TO ENTER A BUSINESS
(Business Week)

Are we going to establish in this country a medieval system under which a man is not allowed to enter a business if his prospective competitors are too soft or too numerous to stand his competition? That seems to be what some of our price-fixing laws are leading up to.

For example, take the automobile dealers' law in Wisconsin. Many dealers elsewhere like that law so much that they want to adopt it in their own states. In Wisconsin all dealers, salesmen, and finance companies are licensed. They are subject to many regulations, and one of them is this: Dealers who make what the state officials consider "excessive" trade-in allowances may be denied a renewal of their licenses.

Now, by holding the trade-in allowances down, the state is really holding the price of a new car up. That is the purpose. Fix prices; assure every dealer a profit. Very well; but if every dealer is assured a profit, many men with enough capital will enter the business, and their competition will produce a general profitlessness.

But a plan is under way to amend the law so that nobody can become an auto dealer unless there aren't enough dealers to serve the community. Of course this means that the dealers become a closed group; nobody can become a dealer unless a present dealer dies. Well, if this is good for auto dealers, what about clothing stores and retail grocers and magazine publishers? What business will your son be able to enter? Your own business and no other? Are we to become a nation of hereditary castes?

QUESTIONS FOR ROOSEVELT
(St. Louis Post Dispatch)

1. You tell the people at their fireside with alarm when you tell them you are trying to save democracy for Americans. What is the hidden danger to American democracy?

2. Exactly what kind of "crisis" confronts the country which requires the extraordinary means you now propose to meet it?

3. What legislation do you contemplate which you fear the supreme court will find to be unconstitutional?

4. You point out that thirteen states, citing the result, could defeat a "clarifying amendment" to the Constitution. Why this defeatist position when all the states except two were carried by you last November? And, if thirteen states did defeat it, would not that be their right under the Constitution, which you have twice as president sworn to uphold?

5. If time is now the essence of the country's problem and the bill to reorganize the judiciary must be passed immediately, why did you not recommend that reorganization in 1935, when in your "horse and buggy" press conference you, as a lawyer, said the court's unanimous decision killing NRA, the "heart of the new deal," implied the doom of all the rest of it? Have you not wasted nearly two years?

6. You deny intending to pack the supreme court. If you do not pack it, what is to prevent continued decisions with which you will disagree? Will not that sort continue, even the majority of the decisions that you denounce?

7. If the majority of the court which you create should interpret the Constitution as the present court has done, will you then accept the verdict, or will you seek further to enlarge the court and name still another majority?

8. You urge the people to read and reread the Constitution, and you say the court has been acting not as a judicial body but as a policy making body. Where in the Constitution do you find authority for the president to act in a judicial capacity to tell the court what it decides should be?

9. How can you exalt democracy and denounce minority decisions of the supreme court? Do you know of any way in which democracy can function except by majority rule?

The great majority of Minnesota citizens of all shades of political affiliation and belief read with some misgivings, not to say downright disfavor, current press reports indicating the intention of partisan politics in state educational affairs, particularly with reference to the state university, which has reached a position of eminence in its field, of which every Minnesotan can be justly proud. Prudence dictates that there are certain branches of state government for the politicians to tinker with and manipulate without thrusting our great state educational system into the maelstrom of petty partisanship.—New Prague Times.

Some 50 years ago this writer was told that if he would learn the painter's trade, he might not get rich but he would never starve. The old printer who gave the advice was absolutely right in every particular. One of the things that could be done for idle youth today is to give him a chance to learn a trade. Skilled workers are always in demand even during a depression. At least, they are the last to be laid off. Young people would do well to consider learning a trade instead of wasting time and money on a college education that may lead them nowhere unless they are especially gifted to take up one of the learned professions.—Milan Standard.

There's always somebody taking the joy out of life. This time it's the Brookings Institute, which recently said that the theory of shorter working hours and more pay was mistaken. Here we'd just found it all figured out that a two-hour working day would give more employment and prosperity than a four-hour working day was just twice as good. It's going to be hard for us to get back to the idea that we'll all have to work a little harder for our [illegible].—Mountain Messenger.

It may be that, after the tumult and shouting have died away, we shall have in this country only two branches of the government, the executive, and the executive.—Arkansas City Traveler.

News Behind the News in the Legislature
By Senator Vin Weber

St. Paul, Minn. (Special to the Times) Legislation is being enacted so rapidly and Capitol hill sees so many things of interest each day that it is difficult in the space allotted for this letter to even give a brief synopsis of the "goings on". With April 1st set as the last day of the session, a feverish tenseness seems to grip legislators, each one of whom has some one or more favorite bills which he or she desires to see enacted into law.

As yet major legislation has not been acted upon in the Senate and the remaining days will see stirring debate upon the pending measures. The House is working with unusual speed and passing bills that will tax every moment the Senate has left if that body hopes to acquiesce in their passage. But I feel confident the Senate will not acquiesce in many cases. Much of the legislation has been dumped on the Senate for political effects only. Other bills have been sent to the upper body without proper consideration in the House and have necessitated much change to get them into proper shape.

It is surprising what can be accomplished once committee work is completed and full day sessions are held. Senate committees have been unusually careful this session in seeing that bills are in proper shape before sending them to the desk and this will greatly expedite work in the closing days.

One major bit of legislation was settled in the Senate this week, H. F. 145, more commonly known as "the train length bill." Introduced by friends of the Railway Brotherhoods it was recommended for indefinite postponement by the committee hearing it. A minority report was offered however, and the debate took place upon the motion to adopt that report. While proponents sought to show that it was a safety measure, the opponents proved that in the past 20 months there had been fewer accidents on long freight and passenger trains than on the short trains. But the matter of cost was the thing that sounded the death knell of the measure. Need for much more rolling stock and labor, it was shown, would without question of doubt increase the existing freight rates. This cost would be borne by the farmer and the consumer, it was shown, and with both heavily taxed now the majority felt that such an additional burden was unjustifiable. The vote was 36 to 26.

Letters continue to pour in to every legislator approving or disapproving of H. F. 1017, or the Anti Farm Bureau bill. Because of an article appearing in this column a few weeks ago in support of the Farm Bureau, the Farmers Union, a farm organization having a small membership in Minnesota, issued a statement to all newspapers in the state, attacking my stand and putting forth its reasons why the bill should be passed.

While I still stand by my statement that the Farm Bureau has been an agency for great good to agriculture, I am not interested in the quarrel between that organization and the Farmers Union. To me it is regrettable that the two organizations cannot consolidate and fight shoulder to shoulder for the best interests of agriculture, rather than to pull in opposite directions.

I have made a very careful study of the bill, and have spent many hours trying to amend it so that any doubt of the political angle might be removed. But I am frank to admit that I cannot do so. Once twenty men are elected in an election to fill the office of committeemen on a County Agricultural and Educational Association, just that soon will the County agent be placed in the position of a candidate and, being human, will he naturally endeavor to "build up his fences." I cannot bring myself to believe that such would not be the case and that for a period of two months or more the County Agent would be paying more attention to see that personal friends were elected than upon the duties of his exacting position.

I hope for the day when the matter can be solved. Most certainly I do not desire to see agricultural enterprises suffer because of any organization, be it the Farm Bureau, the Farmers Union, the Grange or any other.

On Monday the Legislature will be visited by a "People's Lobby". Sponsors say that no less than 2,000 people will appear and make known their wants. Every legislator desires information upon the attitude of his constituency as it relates to laws under consideration. For that reason we all welcome the People's Lobby.

But while welcoming the public, one cannot help but feel that politics has had not a little to do with the arrangements for the visit. No less a personage than John Bosch, of Farm Holiday fame, and a present state employee at the State Mill where he receives a monthly stipend of more than $200, is chairman of the Lobby committee. Of recent weeks Mr. Bosch has been galavanting around the state making addresses and stirring the citizenry to the thought of attending. No doubt these trips have been made at state expense. The literature broadcast at these meetings carries many "Must" bills and a perusal of them leaves no doubt but that the lobby is entirely in the interests of the Farmer-Labor party. Every "must" bill included in the pamphlet is sponsored by Governor Benson. The Conservative Senate is taken to task for appropriating a niggardly $750,000.00 for Seed loans, but purposely forgets to add that a Conservative Senator introduced the first State Seed Loan bill that was ever passed by a Minnesota legislature and did so this session. Two years ago, when the need for seed was far greater than this year, $2,000,000 was appropriated. Even in those stressful days only $790,000.00 was required to supply every applicant with seed. It is but foolish, therefore, to appropriate more than is required even though the appropriation of two million or ten million might be good politics of the Bosch kind.

Tall Tales
As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Right Good Butter

VERMONT is noted for its maple sirup but it ought to be noted also for its dairy products—that is, if Uncle Joe Stokes' cow had ever become well-known outside of the little town in the Green mountains where he lived. She was a mighty fine cow, but Uncle Joe had a lot of trouble with her one time or another. Always wandering off somewhere, she was—just chock-full of curiosity.

One day when the door of Uncle Joe's ice house was open she strolled into it, and when the wind blew the door shut she was trapped. He didn't find her for three days, and when he did he had to put on fur mittens to milk her. Then, blamed if she didn't give nothing but ice cream!

Uncle Joe's family was getting tired of nothing but ice cream for dessert, when finally the cow seemed to thaw out a bit. But the next day she wandered over to a marble quarry. When the men blasted out a big slab of the stone the explosion shook her up so that for the next week she didn't give anything but butter.

But fine butter it was—cool and firm and hard. Then a hot spell came and Uncle Joe was afraid the butter might spoil. So he took it down to a shady nook and put it on a big stone. Up, up, up went the thermometer that day and Uncle Joe began to worry about his butter. Finally he went down to look at it.

"Well, sir," says Uncle Joe, "I found that that stone had melted and run away. But the butter was all right."

Child Care Undergoes Changes in 20 Years

The problems of child care have changed considerably in the last 20 years. This fact is obvious from a glance at the preliminary program of the Minnesota State Medical Association's 84th Annual Meeting which is to be held in St. Paul, May 3, 4 and 5.

Members of the Association's Committee on Public Health Education call attention to the change to show how much safer life is these days for babies and little children.

Twenty years ago medical men anxiously discussed smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria, fatal diarrhea, rickets and scurvy at their meetings.

Today the program sections devoted to child care are considering, instead, prevention of the rare disease accidents such as spinal meningitis and encephalitis; or the latest knowledge of the relationship between nutrition and proper growth; the promotion of good health habits and, especially, the prevention and early correction of behavior problems.

The Tell-Tale Thread

Not long ago custom tailors, unknown to their customers, used to sew a piece of white thread in a concealed place in each new suit as an indication that the buyer had not yet paid for it. Thus, says a writer in Collier's Weekly, they warned one another when to be chary with credit. When the bill was paid, however, they borrowed the suit for a moment, on some slight pretext, and removed the telltale thread.

Deepest Oil Wells

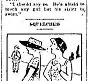
The deepest oil wells in the world are in the United States. The deepest is as deep as Pikes Peak is high.

SOMETHING WRONG

"Harry is very timid around the water."

"I should say so. He's afraid to teach any girl but his sister to swim."

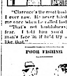
SQUELCHED



"Clarence's the most bashful man I ever saw. He never tried to kiss me once when he called last week."

"That's not bashfulness; that's fear. I told him you'd push a man's face in if he'd try anything like that."

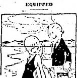
POOR FISHING



Mrs. W.—What! You have been fishing all day and only have an old boot to show for it?

Mr. W.—Well, I fished for years and all I got was a lemon.

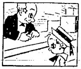
EQUIPPED



"Maude is received everywhere as a belle."

"I can believe she is—she has a tongue, I know."

KNOWS HIS TASTES

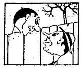


Kid—Do you exchange goods that ain't wanted?

Druggist—Certainly. We like to please our customers.

Kid—Well, I've got fifteen cents' worth of castor oil we bought here. I want to exchange it for a chocolate sundae.

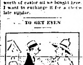
THE HIGH COST



First Neighbor—Didja ever stop t' figger out what it cost t' raise a cat or dog, Bill?

Second Neighbor—No; but there's a neighbor's cat 'round here what's cost me 'bout a bushel of brick-a-brac, two alarm clocks and a shot jes in th' past month.

TO GET EVEN



"Why is your father so glad to get city boarders?"

"Well, you see, one of 'em sold him the Empire Building last winter."

WITH THE AUTO BOYS

Passenger—Awful, isn't it, the way living expenses keep up?

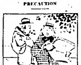
Driver—Oh, I don't know. Of course, motor accessories and gas are pretty high, but the fines for speeding are about the same as ever.

OLD BLUFFER

"How often do you kiss your husband?"

"As often as the style changes."

PRECAUTION



"Why are you always borrowing money of your friends? With your income, you ought not to need it."

"I don't need it, but it keeps them from asking me for money."

BUCKS AND KICKS

"What kind of an engine have you in your car?"

"A donkey engine, I guess. It's awfully stubborn."

Bay and Gulf

A bay is an inlet of the sea, usually smaller than a gulf, but of the same general character.

Tell the Truth

"Tell de truth," said Uncle Eben, "but before you start in be sure you has [illegible] necessary to find it out."

History of the Envelope Dates Back to Year 1755

In the British museum is a crude, hand-made envelope measuring 4½ by 3 inches in which a letter was sent in 1696 by the Right Honorable Sir William Trumbull, then secretary of state of England, to Sir James Ogilvie of London. Also in the British museum are envelopes used in the years 1755 and 1760 for the transmission of important government documents. It appears, however, envelopes were not in general use until almost a century afterward, says Envelope Economies.

The Japanese had used envelopes as containers for powders and scents for hundreds of years. Later, the French adopted the same custom. When the envelope was introduced for mailing purposes in England, it was regarded as a novelty but there seems some basis for a belief that envelopes had been used previously for mailing purposes in France. These were very dainty and made of the most expensive and delicate papers.

Book shops were the first envelope manufacturers, utilizing the spare time of their clerks to make envelopes. A bookseller in Brighton, England, a Mr. Brewer, is credited as being the first to make and sell envelopes commercially in England, about 1839.

The popularity of the envelope started in 1840, when Sir Rowland Hill established Penny Post in England. This changed the basis for postage to weight instead of the number of enclosures.

Ants in Robber Bands

Sometimes the red-and-black ants organize robber bands which attack neighboring rival mounds, trying to steal eggs and larvae. These attacks are met by soldier ants, who are also robber ants, depending upon which side they are fighting. They are equipped with formic acid, much the same as bees.

McLEOD OPPOSES BENSON INCOME TAX BILL RATES

F.-L. Senate Minority Leader Cites Danger of Proposal

Declaring that Minnesota must not jeopardize employment by unreasonable taxation, Senator J. L. McLeod, chairman of the farmer-labor minority group in the Minnesota senate, has injected a new element into the fight over the income tax bill of considerable consequence, according to dispatches from St. Paul today, by coming out in a speech against the rates in the house bill advocated by Governor Elmer A. Benson.

The speech is producing quite a stir in all sections of the state, and observers at the capitol see in it an indication that many members of the liberal group will not go along with the governor in trying to put through the income tax rates passed by the house.

The bill passed by the house provides for increases of 200 to 300 per cent in the taxes of most individuals and from 100 per cent to 800 per cent in the taxes on corporations. The senate still is working on its bill but contemplates enactment of lower rates.

Senator McLeod suggested that the framing of the house bill was prompted by political considerations.

"I may be accused of being a reactionary for certain remarks made here tonight," he said, "but I wish to assure my listeners that as a liberal and with the aid of other legislators, liberal and conservative alike, in this legislature, it is my sincere hope to present to the people of this state a tax program based on sound economics and statesmanship, not a monstrosity based on politics."

200 ATTEND CCC CAMP OPEN HOUSE AT MIDDLE RIVER

Total of 61 Persons Register at Camp From Thief River Falls

"Open House" of CCC Co. 710, Middle River, was a success in spite of a somewhat cloudy day and muddy roads. A total of 151 visitors registered in the camp library as they passed in their tour of the camp and grounds.

Fourteen different localities were represented as follows: Thief River Falls 61, Middle River 48, Goodridge 10, Hazel 8, Newfolden 7, Karlstad, Plummer 3, Rosewood 2, Red Lake Falls 2, Badger 1, Warren 1, Crookston 1, Gatzke 1, Decorah, Iowa 1. There were some who did not sign the register and in some cases one member of a group signed so that the probable total is nearer 200.

Leaders and assistant leaders remained in camp during the two days of open house and under the supervision of the senior leader guided the visitors about the camp and explained the workings and advantages of CCC camp life. A great many visitors remarked at the neatness of the barracks and beds. The power house also drew much favorable comment for its neatness and convenience. The mess hall had a great appeal for both men and women and various remarks of surprise and approval were heard as visitors inspected the kitchen, bakery, store room and icebox. The hospital with its neat rows of beds, all empty, was good enough advertisement for the health of the men in camp and many comments were heard on its immaculate interior.

The library, reading room and school building proved a popular place and many visitors paused to rest in the comfortable chairs, read the Sunday papers and listen to the radio located there.

Realizing that the weather may have kept many away who would otherwise have come, the camp officials and personnel wish it to be understood that visitors are welcome at any time until 9 p. m. and that they will be glad to show anyone about who wishes to see the camp.

Evangelist Gulbrandson Lectures on Temperance

"The Bible advocates temperance in all things. Temperance is listed as one of the fruits of the Holy Spirit. All Christians must strive for mastery of self. In rather terse language the Bible points out the effects of intemperance upon individuals and nations. By divine precepts both rulers and the clergy were strictly forbidden to touch intoxicating liquors. Drunkenness is in the Bible associated with the basest sins. Some people have suggested the theory that Jesus made fermented wine at the wedding in Cana, but the fallacy of that theory is exposed by the fact that the wine He made had no time to ferment, being used immediately". So declared Evangelist Gulbranson in his lecture on "Temperance" last Sunday night at the old Methodist church. The interesting Back to Bible Lecture program for next week appears elsewhere in this paper.

Polk County Thefts Cleared up by Arrest of Four Over Week-end

Arrest of two men in Cass Lake by Polk county officials, and of two in Duluth by U. S. department of justice agents over the week end, effects a complete solution of every Polk county burglary since summer, Deputy Sheriff O. S. Bolstad announced Monday in Crookston.

Held in the Polk county jail are Charley Roberts and Olin Sather, both of Cass Lake, who was to be arraigned on a charge of burglarizing the Fertile and Gully creameries. They were arrested by Polk county officers.

In Duluth, department of justice agents reported the arrest of Frank Funk and Charley Beaulieu, for burglary of a depot at Walker. Deputies Bolstad and Ed Kelley, in their investigations during the past ten days have found evidence to link these two with burglaries of the Fisher Oil company and the Merrill garage at Fisher last summer, with the burglary of the Winger hardware store in the early fall and with burglaries of oil stations at Fosston, Fertile, McIntosh and Gully.

The deputies recovered part of the loot from the Winger crime and some of the tools taken from the Merill garage at Fisher. A common law wife of Funk, the deputies reported, implicated him and Beaulieu in the series of crimes.

While residents have been getting restive over the slow arrival of spring, the situation is materially better than a year ago at this time. The files of the times reveal that the mercury registered 13 below zero on April 7, 1936, and that a blizzard April 6 blocked highways in this section of the state.

MINNESOTA WPA WORKER IS BEST PAID IN SECTION

Christgau Releases Figures for the North Central Area

Minnesota's WPA workers are the best paid in the north central states, according to a survey just completed by regional offices at Chicago. A summary of the survey was made public this week at St. Paul by Victor Christgau, state administrator. The survey covers 13 states in what is officially known as Region No. 4.

"Average monthly earnings for January, 1937 were $56.64, while the average for the entire region was $47.86," Christgau stated. "Throughout the entire 6-month period covered by this study the actual earnings of WPA workers have been greater in Minnesota than in any of the surrounding states and have even been higher than those in such industrial areas as Illinois."

Mr. Christgau pointed out that "both the high hourly rate and the relatively greater number of hours worked per month were responsible for this record." Minnesota's average work month of 121 hours was exceeded only by three other states in the region. Despite the handicap of winter weather conditions, time lost in this state was less than 10 per cent

TRAIN RUNS AWAY TWO MEN INJURED

Sleepy Eye— Runaway teams were not uncommon in the old days and many car drivers have failed to set the brakes, returning to find their machine on an uncharted journey, but seldom does one hear of a locomotive starting down the track without an engineer at the controls. This is just what happened at Lucan, resulting in minor injuries to two men. The Chicago and North Western train crew had gone to supper while a car was being loaded at the stock yard. A gang plank and loading chute had not been removed when the train started to roll forward. Climbing at the top of the moving train, the depot agent set the brakes before serious damage resulted. As it was, one of the men who was loading the car, hurt his ankle and the other injured his hand.

Salesmen used this stunt to prove the economy of malleable iron top lids
The OLD and the NEW . . . Both Full Malleable
1903
Monarch MALLEABLE
He is showing how a Monarch malleable lid heats through with an ordinary match . . . in a few seconds.
And is the customer surprised? Well, naturally. Who ever thought a range top could heat through so quickly!
That is the result of making a range top of malleable iron. With this unbreakable iron, the lids can be made half the thickness of cast iron lids.
This little demonstration means as much TODAY as it did long ago. For women still want to economize on fuel. They still want quick cooking with a small fire . . . and cast iron lids don't heat through any quicker than they used to.
Interest in modern design and porcelain enamel may divert the attention of some women from the inner construction that determines whether or not a range will give long life, good baking and fuel economy.
But surely YOU will not accept good looks as a SUBSTITUTE for good service . . . not when it is so easy to get BOTH.
The modern MONARCH Full Enamel Range is the very acme of beauty . . . but it is also a Full Malleable range, built to last and give good service for a lifetime.
Come in and try the "Match Test" . . . and let us show you the rigid, riveted, malleable iron construction beneath the Monarch's beautiful enamel body.
Beautiful Nesco Triple-Coat, Stainless Enamel Set will will be presented to every MONARCH purchaser who takes advantage of our MONARCH "11 Star" Sale offer. Call and let us explain how you can benefit by acting immediately.

LAKE PROJECT AT BRONSON IS NOW NEARLY FINISHED

Kittson County Dam to Make Lake Covering Total of 370 Acres

A picture of the $250,000 Bronson dam and the summer and winter quarters that housed the 400 WPA workers on the project was shown in a recent issue of the Grand Forks Herald with the following account of the project:

The Bronson dam $250,000 project a mile and a quarter east of the little Kittson county town and biggest project of the kind ever attempted in northern Minnesota, is nearing completion.

Gates have been closed by engineers and water of the south branch of the Two Rivers is slowly creeping up the dam wall.

Workmen, meanwhile are rushing finishing touches on the upper structure. Every detail of the project will be completed by next fall, George H. Nelson engineer in charge, declared.

Between 300 and 400 men have been employed under the WPA on the dam which was started last summer. The camp near the dam site is a small city of temporary homes, under the supervision of Roy T. Rasmussen.

Preliminary work on the dam got under way last April. By August engineers and workmen, confronted with the problem of combatting quicksand, had pumps operating night and day and eventually they were able to sink steel and wood piling after diverting the course of the river.

Three thousand three hundred cubic yards of concrete and 137,000 pounds of reinforcing steel have gone into the structure which rises 40 feet above the river bed to the deck, is 59 feet wide and 130 feet long. Fifty thousand cubic yards of gravel and earth will be required to build up the two approaches to the bridge that will grace the top of the structure.

The dam will create a lake covering 370 acres along the Two Rivers branch which when cleared will yield approximately 90,000 cords of fire wood. The average depth of the lake will be 12 feet. The site will be developed as a recreation center. Much of the larger timber on the tract that will be covered by water was cut and used in making concrete forms.

CATERPILLAR SERVICES NEEDED ON MILK ROUTE

Lafayette.—At least one milkman has service as his motto—for Julius Hagberg Lafayette's obliging milkman serves his patrons regardless of weather condition and means of travel. When travel by car is impossible, he hitches up a team of horses, and when even the horses can't plow through the snow drifts, he resorts to the caterpillar tractor. During bad weather in the winter months the genial milkman made his route with a sleigh and horses, but last week one day the streets, impassable by automobile, were even difficult for horses. He made the rounds by tractor.

SIX-FOOTED PIG IS OBJECT OF INTEREST

New Prague—A freak animal is always an object of interest and Henry Mamer, young farmer in this community, has found that a freak pig on his place has attracted many interested visitors. The pig, born last October, is of normal size and weighs about 100 pounds. It is like other pigs in every respect, except that it has six feet instead of four. The extra feet are on the front legs, each of which has two fully developed feet. Mr. Mamer thinks the extra spread of feet in front should give assistance in getting around in mud or snow.

Pine River—Bodies of 31 sheep, which had starved to death, were found huddled together where a hay stack had formerly been near the Feshan place east of Pine River. The animals belonging to J. L. Colling had become separated from one of his large flocks and had wandered to the hay stack in search of feed. Apparently trapped there by the deep snow which fell after they found the hay, the sheep devoured the stack and then met their doom, helpless to escape their snow prison.

TROPICAL BIRD FINDS IDEAL WINTER RESORT

Benson.—Most Bensonites, resigned to the idea of wading through snow drifts in galoshes until at least the early part of July, have given up the last lingering hope that spring is lurking around even the most remote corner. And among our feathered friends there is one optimistic adventurer who was sadly disillusioned last week. At the height of the storm one day, when a northeast gale was all but yanking the eaves from the house, Mrs. Ward Clarke of this city glanced out of the window and saw perched in the yard, chirping glumly to himself, a cardinal bird. The cardinal is a semi-tropical bird and seldom is seen north of the Missouri boundry. The theory was advanced that the bird might have been blown off its course in the storm.

RE-EMPLOYMENT OFFICE CLEARING HOUSE FOR LABOR

Local Agency in Position to Assist Anyone in Need of Help

As spring activities begin, the National Re-employment Service is prepared to assist in bringing worker and employer together. Any one in Pennington county who desires labor of any kind should make inquiry at the NRS office, located at Thief River Falls in charge of Elmer Stanghelle.

"The NRS office," explains Dreng Bjornaraa, state director, "provides a clearing house through which persons in need of help may contact qualified workers. In other days, it was the usual practice for those desiring to hire a man to visit the places in each community where idle persons had a habit of congregating. Since NRS entered the field, practically all persons wanting jobs have registered with our local representatives and the workers have come to look to that office for assignments, possibly because the various federal agencies have been the source of most employment. Private employers of labor, in many cases, have not yet come to appreciate that the NRS office, rather than former hang-outs, is the place where workers can be quickly found."

Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, is anxious that private employers make use of the NRS office. "All our workers are registered at the NRS office," he says, "and if those who need men take advantage of the service offered, then WPA is able to obtain accurate data as to those who leave WPA for private jobs and it also puts us in a position where we can terminate on WPA any worker who has been offered a job at prevailing wages but who, for any reason, fails to take such job. The Works Relief program functions best in those communities where the public in general looks to NRS to meet its demand for workers. With spring farm operations beginning, we desire to reduce WPA rolls as fast as our workers are offered other work. Our quota is based upon the expected pick-up in private employment this spring."

NRS officials in Minnesota indicate a good demand for farm help, 178 positions having been filled during the week ending March 20th.

UNRECOGNIZED DYNAMITE CAP WOUNDS FACE, NECK

Windom.—This time curiosity wounded a man's face, neck and shoulders. Alec Yold, while storing lumber in a garage, found a dynamite cap, a curious looking gadget, which he thought belonged to a radio. He decided to open it and see what it was, and taking a board that was handy hit the small object. It exploded scattering pieces of the copper casing into his face, neck, and shoulder. The seemingly unharmful gadget proved to be a dynamite cap.

Taxpayers Association Urges Budget in Local Units to Reduce Taxes

Measures requiring all taxing units to operate on a cash basis and a budget are now being considered in both houses of the Minnesota Legislature. The bills have been introduced by Senator Fred Miller of the Senate Tax Committee and Representative Carl Eastvold of the House Rules Committee.

The cash basis bill would require that all municipalities operate on a cash basis and live within their levy, while the budget bill would require that a tentative budget be made up each year by local officials. This proposed budget would be published so that all citizens could study it, and would appear with a notice calling a budget hearing open to the public.

In speaking of the bills, James P. McDonnell, president of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, points out that at this hearing the citizen would be given an opportunity to present his views on proposed levies.

"The citizen would have a voice", McDonnell says, "and it would make for 100 per cent home rule. In fact, it would be an aid to levy boards to hear the views of local citizens before they make up their budgets, just as is now the case in township meetings. The budget plan, plus cash basis, would keep real estate taxes from ballooning to the bursting point, and ability to pay would be considered instead of ability to levy."

Preaching Mission Will Visit Northwest Towns

Forces working for the spiritual awakening of Americans, for arousing the church people of the country to the need for social and religious betterment will move into Minnesota April 19 to 21 and for the weeks immediately following.

Churchmen in Minneapolis and St. Paul are now arranging for a four-day preaching mission in the two cities beginning Sunday, April 18 and closing Wednesday, April 21. These meetings in the two cities will be followed by meetings out in the state and the Northwest including Fargo, Fergus Falls Crookston and Bemidji.

This series of meetings is in line with a national movement of the churches and will be one of several such series held in the west this year. Speakers and church leaders of national fame will conduct the meetings. The aim of the speakers and workers will be to bring home to Americans the fact that irreligion threatens to destroy our civilization and makes it necessary to muster the forces of the Church for greater strength to stress the need of a restoration of Christian thinking as a guiding principle of men and all nations.

TRANSIENT WANTS NEW EASTER SUNDAY SOCKS

Belle Plaine.—A transient named Harold Graberg, who says he doesn't remember where his home is, but that he last worked at Clarkfield was arrested here after he slipped a bunch of silk socks into his pocket while leaving a clothing store. The hosiery counter is near the main entrance and several displays of Easter hose appeared in racks above. Graberg's arm encircled one of the display racks, and presto! The socks were in his pockets. That is, nearly all the socks; one fell out on the walk outside the entrance to suggest the direction the shop lifter had taken. The trail was followed and at a cafe down the block, where the recent clothing store visitor had paused for refreshments, a quick search of his pockets revealed the missing footwear. The transient was taken to Belle Plaine's lock up for the night and given a hearing the following morning at Shakopee.

USE AND WEAR OF TRUNK HIGHWAYS NEARLY DOUBLED

Use of State Roads Increases 74 Per Cent in Past Eight Years

Use of Minnesota trunk highways, which means wear and tear on road surfaces, has increased 74 per cent in the last eight years, in addition to the increased destruction of road surfaces resulting from higher speeds and the greater use of trucks and buses.

This is shown by a comparison of gasoline gallonage consumption by years, requested by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, to supplement information being obtained through the statewide traffic survey now being made through cooperation of the State Highway department and the United States bureau of public roads.

The increase in traffic use of Minnesota's trunk system imposes a growing maintenance burden and improvement obligation that is additional to that imposed by the increased size of the trunk system, which was expanded from 7,000 miles to 11,500 miles by the legislative action that took responsibility for 4,500 miles of highway off the shoulders of the counties and placed it on the state.

In 1929, eight years ago, 357,000,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed in Minnesota. In 1935, gas consumption, the nearest available measure to an accurate yardstick on traffic, had increased to 442,769,000 gallons. From 1935 to 1936, in only one year, this was increased another 11 per cent, to 483,000,000 gallons, or an increase in eight years of 74 per cent.

In spite of the 74 per cent increase in road use, wear and tear, and in spite of the 65 per cent increase in the mileage of the trunk highway system, Commissioner Elsberg pointed out in an address last week at Wadena that the highway department's records will show lower expenditures in almost every division during the last four years, with an 11,500-mile system, than during the previous four years of the eight year period, when the system comprised only 7,000 miles of roads.

Maintenance costs for the 1929-1932 period averaged $651.09 per mile annually, and during the 1933-1936 period $595.56 per mile, he cited.

Revenues from all state and federal aid sources for road purposes, that is after sinking fund requirements have been met and $375,000 a year set aside for the secretary of state's office for license fee collections, enabled the department to spend $99,211,000 in the 1929-1932 period on the 7,000 mile trunk system.

During the 1932-1936 period, with 11,500 miles of trunk roads, the department has spent only $55,273,000 of state and federal aid funds, or $44,000,000 less. Minnesota has had available during that period, however, $20,000,000 in special federal funds, and when this is added to the state and regular federal aid funds, the total for the last four years is brought up to $76,000,000 for the 11,500 mile system. This, however, is still approximately $23,000,000 less than was expended during the previous four years on the 7,000 mile system, Commissioner Elsberg pointed out, showing that the state has not been expending lavish sums on its trunk roads.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Werking

Before Turn of the Century

Early records of Thief River Falls reveal that 40 years ago this month heavy snows interfered with traffic. We read: "The early part of the year 1897 was notable for snows blockades on this branch of the Great Northern. One train a week was the extent of the service and the stage driver between this city and Crookston was able to make but few trips with the mail."

Feb.6,1897, the state supreme court handed down a decision declaring the legal organization of Red Lake county with Red Lake Falls as the county seat, the proposition having been voted on at the general election in November, 1896. The notes on the city's history also include the following:

In February also an effort was made to secure the establishment of a mail route between this city and Roseau. On Feb.23 fire in the O. P. Johnson store threatened to wipe out the business section of the city but the fire was extinguished by the department before it broke out of the building.

The next month a murder introduced a harsh note into this pioneer symphony. It seems that there was a Chippewa brave near Squaw Point who bore the name, George Washington, as many Negroes do in the South. This Chippewa was charged with having killed a Canadian Chippewa named Bakoe. We do not learn from the item in the notes any details of the affair, but we assume the killing occurred in a quarrel when the Indians were drunk. Anyway, George Washington, escaped but was captured near the Agency the folling August and after a trial was sentenced to the state penitentiary.

It seems strange that long before President Theodore Roosevelts' residence at Oyster Bay made that long eastern place well known, there was an Oyster Bay restaurant in Thief River Falls. It was operated by John Thivirege. In the summer of 1897 the restaurant was found afire but the flames were extinguished. "The notes say," Investigation revealed the guilt of L. J. Barnes who had left the country when the finger of suspicion turned in his direction. He was later arrested at Neche, N. D., pleaded guilty and implicated a man named Goodbody who later was acquitted. Barnes was sentenced to a term in the state prison."

The principal event of the year 1898 in the city is recorded below:

"On April 29,1898, C. A. Robbecke received a telegram instructing him to enlist 15 men for service in the Spanish war. Those who enlisted were Sam Bardelson, Harry Jones, Jos. Johnson, T. J. Flyn, Frank Wiley, Albert LaBree, Sam Turgerson, Andrew Stenseth, Roy Mallory, Charles Kivel, Arne Arneson, Christ Nygaard, W. E. Canning, C. A. Traverse and Lyman Rogers.

"On the day of the departure of these would-be heroes Miss Hust Robbecke served a farewell dinner at the Ogahmah hotel and when the train pulled out of the station Thief River Falls citizenry in all its numbers was present to bid the boys Godspeed. After signing the papers at Crookston the list was reduced to a very few and these in the end were forced to spend the summer - and the war at Chickamauga training grounds."

The summer months were not of historical value, we are told, the only event of any importance being the general election campaign as far as county politics was concerned. The campaign developed into a hot fight for supremacy between Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls in which the honors were evenly divided.

On the night of December 22, 1898, the Arlington hotel block, located at the corner of Main avenue and Second street and formerly known as the Great Northern hotel, was destroyed by fire, entailing a heavy loss and giving the city its first serious conflagration. In the fire John Wilson, a clerk employed by Spiro Bizazzo who owned the structure a store in the corner room, was burned severely.

No other events are recorded as important by the chronicler of the city's history for 1898, although it is probable readers may recall others.

CONTRACTS ARE SIGNED BY ALL BUT 2 TEACHERS

Miss Minnie Leavitt to Retire After 17 Years of Service Here

MUSIC CONTEST TO BE HELD HERE APRIL 24

Total State Aids Received During Year Aggregate $39,890.65

All but two members of the public school faculty now have signed contracts to continue at their present posts during the coming school year, Supt. Morris Bye informed the board of education at its April session Monday evening. The two who will not return are Miss Minnie Leavitt, school librarian, and Miss Erma Springen, music supervisor, both of whom are discontinuing teaching at the end of the present term.

Miss Leavitt is retiring on pension after 35 years of teaching service in Minnesota. A graduate of Litchfield high school, Mankato teachers college and the University of Minnesota, she began her teaching career in the rural schools of Meeker county and later served as high school principal in Pine River, Kerkhoven and Lake Benton.

Following a period of service in International Falls, Miss Leavitt came to this city where she has served as school librarian the past 17 years, during the first ten of which she also taught English. The board at its meeting adopted a resolution commending her for her service in the local schools.

In his report to the board Mr. Bye gave a detailed account of the intramural athletic program which reached its climax in the interclass basketball tournament in the Auditorium last week. The program, which was carried out under the supervision of B. W. Gabrielson, Miss Harriet Helquist, Vincent Schneider and Maynard Tvedt, involved the participation in basketball of 22 boys' teams with 207 players and 17 girls' teams with 155 players.

Mr Bye stated that a part of the work being done in the boys' physical education classes under the direction of Mr. Gabrielson will be demonstrated at an indoor circus to be held in the Auditorium Friday evening of this week. The program will include a variety of tumbling and acrobatic acts.

Preparations also are being made for the district music contest to be held at the Auditorium in this city Saturday, April 24, and there is every evidence that it will be a big event, Mr. Bye said. He added that the groups entered to date include 689 contestants from Alvarado, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Fisher, Fosston, Newfolden, Red Lake Falls, Stephen, Warren and Thief River Falls.

Mr. Bye's report revealed that state aids of various kind received during the current school year aggregate $39,890.65, including $9,387 in high school tuition, $1,500 in teacher training aid and $29,003.65 in special state aid.

At the meeting C. E. Helquist, recently appointed to the board to succeed Dr. A. M. Smith, resigned, took his oath of office and qualified for his new duties. Dr. A. E. Jacobson was elected vice president succeeding Dr. Smith.

At the meeting the date of the 1937 poultry show sponsored by the association was tentatively advanced to the first week in November, final arrangements being left in the hands of the board. 307 BIRTHS AND 130 DEATHS NOTED IN COUNTY IN '36

Figures Show Little Change From Those for 1935 in Pennington

The ratio of births to deaths in Pennington county in 1936 showed little variation from the figures for 1935, according to a report received by Clerk of Court Adolph Eklund from Dr. A. J. Chesley, secretary of the state board of health and registrar of vital statistics.

The report reveals that there were 307 births and 130 deaths in the county in 1936 compared to 303 births and 145 deaths in 1935. As usual, approximately two-thirds of the births and deaths were recorded in Thief River Falls, there having been 217 of the former and 84 of the latter.

Goodridge village reported five births and no deaths, while in St. Hilaire there were no births and four deaths. Leading the townships were Rocksbury with eight births and ten deaths and North with 13 births and two deaths.

MOST OF COUNTY FARMERS JOIN IN SOILS PROGRAM

86 Per Cent Sign up to Date, County Agent Douglass Announces

An aggregate of 86 per cent of Pennington county farmers eligible to participate in the 1937 federal soil conservation program had signified their intention of qualifying for benefits available under the program up to the first of this week, County Agent R. M. Douglass announced, adding that 1,650 work sheets have been prepared covering tracts of land in the county.

An effort is being made, Mr. Douglass stated, to complete the sign up work before spring seeding gets under way, so that each farmer may know in advance the amount of benefits he may expect to receive. Owners of more than one tract of land met with Mr. Douglass Wednesday evening to ascertain details of the program.

Nearly three-fourths of benefits payable in this county under the program in effect last year have now been paid.

EXTRA TERM OF LEGISLATURE IN PROSPECT

Regular Session Scheduled to be Finished Late Next Week

TWO HOUSES DISAGREE ON TAX LEGISLATION

Pass Measure Abolishing State Conservation Commission

Should a special session be necessitated by legislative deadlock on tax matters, Governor Benson said Wednesday, it will come "more than a month" after the current legislature adjourns. The present session is scheduled to end April 23 or 24.

"I can say that at least more than a month will intervene between this legislature and any special session that may be called," Governor Benson said.

Asked if this held the possibility that the legislators would be called back to their desks in the hot summer months, Governor Benson replied: "That may be. At least, it will give them time to return home and talk to the people."

Fear of deadlock between the senate and house in the closing hours of this session grew at the capitol Wednesday. The house has passed the administration income tax bill, one of the principal measures, and an amendment virtually rewriting the complicated proposal is before the senate.

The state senate tax committee late Monday completed work on its plan for an omnibus tax bill to furnish additional funds for relief and old age pensions during the next two years, preparing a measure expected to raise an even $10,000,000 annually.

In winding up its work on the bill, the committee virtually threw out the stiff taxing of chain stores undertaken by the house in a bill prepared by the commerce committee. The senate tax committee wrote a chain store tax into the bill, but in view of supreme court decisions limiting the scope of such taxation, confined their efforts of levying a tax for licensing purposes only. The rates proposed by the committee would produce $275,000 to $300,000 a year.

A bill abolishing the five-man state conservation commission and supplanting it with a single commissioner, already approved by the senate, was passed by the state house of representatives by a vote of 101 to 3 Monday.

The senate bill was amended, however, to leave unmolested the monies received from game and fishing license fees, instead of depositing them in the general revenue fund. The game and fish department now receives and expends the revenues from such sources for conservation purposes.

The measure now goes back to the senate for concurrence in the amendment. The act would become effective on July 1, 1937.

Stearns of Minot, was driven here, during the night, local police having learned that the driver obtained twelve gallons of gasoline at Devils Lake after which he fled without making payment.

SEEK WPA GRANT FOR 4-H BUILDING ON FAIR GROUNDS

Board Seeks Much Needed Improvement Estimated to Cost $1,200

Applications for WPA labor grants to cover several proposed projects at the county fair grounds, chief of which is construction of a much needed 4-H club building, will be made within the next few days as a result of action taken at a meeting of the fair board Monday evening.

Also to be sought is a connection between the city water mains and the fair grounds, which project was discussed with members of the city council. Plans call for a one and one-half inch pipe from the hydrant on Fourth st. to the fair grounds, with smaller pipes leading to the carnival lot and the barns.

A third project calls for the application of a layer of black dirt on the race track to cover the present clay and gravel.

The 4-H building, blueprints of which are now being prepared, would be 40 by 65 feet in dimensions with a porch 10 by 65 feet, and is estimated to cost $1,200. The building, which would be located west of the secretary's office, would provide space for 4-H exhibits and demonstrations as well as a rest room and seats on the porch to provide a place for fair visitors to rest.

The board granted the use of the fair grounds to the baseball team during the summer months.

Lundgren as secretary; Carl Christianson of Goodridge, treasurer; and a board of directors including one representative of each township thru which the highway passes.

Comprising the board are Alfred Longren, North township; Sever Hanson, Silverton; Waldie Christenson, Cloverleaf; Tom Belland, Goodridge; Andrew Uglem, Reiner; and Jay Payne, Goodridge village.

Members of the road committee of the Civic and Commerce association stated they had been given to understand that construction of 16 miles of the highway east from this city could be financed out of highway department maintenance funds provided the department could procure without cost additional land needed to widen the right-of-way from the present width of 66 feet to 100 feet.

Eight farmers present at the meeting whose lands lie along the highway volunteered to grant the needed right of way on condition that the work of improving the highway be carried to completion during the current season, and members of the association expressed confidence that they would secure the cooperation of other land owners to make possible the much needed improvement.

Plan Spring Events at Legion "Pep" Meeting

Spring Exposition and Legion Convention to be Headliners

Plans for a variety of events and activities in Thief River Falls during the next few months were outlined Friday evening at a well-attended meeting arranged by the Legion post, with members of the Civic and Commerce association and Junior Chamber of Commerce as invited guests. Vice Commander O. C. Paulson presided in the absence of Post Commander Harry R. Lund.

In connection with a discussion of details of the spring exposition to be held in the Auditorium and arena May 6, 7 and 8, W. E. Dahlquist told of arrangements that had been made for a cooking school sponsored jointly by the Legion post and the Times, to be held Friday afternoon and evening, May 7, and Saturday afternoon, May 8.

Mayor W. W. Prichard pointed out the importance of arranging events such as the spring exposition to attract visitors to Thief River Falls, and his remarks were endorsed by Walter Jung, president of the Civic and Commerce association; Paul A. Lundgren, secretary; W. L. Carlisle; and Douglas Booren, president of the Junior Chamber.

O. C. Paulson, Ninth district commander of the American Legion, stated that the district convention will be held in Thief River Falls June 11, 12 and 13, and declared that, in point of attendance, the event promises to compare favorably with the 1925 state Legion convention held in this city.

Pointing out that it is not planned to solicit funds from local businessmen to aid in financing the convention, Mr. Paulson stressed the fact that the success of the event depends largely on the cooperation of all residents of the community. Committees to be named shortly, he said, will include in addition of Legionnaires members members of the Civic and Commerce association and Junior Chamber.

Following a discussion by George Lee and F. E. Tunberg of last year's junior baseball program, in which nearly 70 boys participated, the post voted to sponsor this activity again during the current season under the supervision of Mr. Lee and a Legion committee.

Mr. Lee and Douglas Booren also told of plans for a senior baseball team to be sponsored by the Junior Chamber, and stated that a six-team league is now being organized with the prospect of the local aggregation facing stiffer competition than was the case in the 1936 season.

An enjoyable feature of the evening was an excellent Dutch lunch which was served at the close of the business session.

CITY COUNCIL O. K.'S $22,350 IN NEW BUILDINGS

Buys Water Main Pipe and Calls for Cement Bids Tuesday Night

TO REGULATE SALE OF FIRECRACKERS

Extend Thanks to Groups Contributing to Success of Sports Arena

The city council at a lengthy session Tuesday evening approved $22,350 in applications for building permits, purchased a quantity of water main pipe and voted to call for bids on 800 sacks of cement or less to be used in constructing sidewalks.

Also approved were the appointment by the park board of Carl Larson as park caretaker and Alfred Flattum as assistant. Following a discussion of the nuisance created last year when firecrackers were shot off for a full month or more in advance of the Fourth of July, City Attorney Theodore Quale was instructed to draft an ordinance limiting the time of sale of fireworks from July 1 to July 5.

Building permits granted at the session included those to the Skarstad-Daniels Lumber company, $7,000; A. M. Magnuson, store building on East Third st. $10,000; O. L. Ihle, remodeling the building on Main av. recently vacated by Oen's hardware department, $1,800; Gospel Tabernacle, structure on Duluth av. N. between Third and Fourth sts., $3,000; and A. G. Gabrielson, basement for residence, $350.

Three nearly identical bids were opened for a supply of six-inch water mains, the purchase being made from the American Cast Iron Pipe company of Minneapolis on its bid of $1,331.30.

Acting on a petition filed last fall by Crocker av. residents asking for the construction of a double block of sidewalk south from East Third st., the council moved to proceed with the work, utilizing WPA labor, and advertised for cement to be used on that and other sidewalk projects.

Fire Chief Leonard Hanson informed the council that a district fire school would be conducted in Thief River Falls Sunday, April 25, and requested aid in financing the event, which he said will probably attract an attendance of 200 or more if the weather is favorable. The council voted to appropriate $125 for the purpose.

Mayor W. W. Prichard called attention to the need of condemning a number of old sheds along alleys in the residence district, and said they should be razed before they fall down. He suggested that it might be well first to get in touch with the affected property owners before taking other action.

Mr. Nelson of Goodridge, appearing in the interest of the rural electrification project sponsored by residents in his locality stated that authorities in Washington have altered their requirements and are now not satisfied with the rate of two cents a kilowatt quoted by the city last year when asked to provide current. After a discussion,

W. C. T. U. News Notes

FIGHTING WHITE RIBBONERS

The only temperance organization which has come through the liquor debacle intact, and has retained all of its fighting character, is the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. So healthy is this organization of white ribboners that it is now engaged in raising a total of $1,000,000 to be used in a comprehensive educational program aimed at beverage alcohol. These women believe that education is the first step in bringing this nation back to its senses. Through the public school, college, the newspaper, radio, motion picture, road sign, and a dozen other ways, the W. C. T. U. is tackling the job. There are 10,500 local units of this organization throughout the nation and its membership is steadily increasing. The new movie, "The Beneficent Reprobate," is hailed as the finest and most effective shot at beverage alcohol yet produced. When its representatives go on the radio and begin a national newspaper advertising campaign not only will the liquor forces lose sleep, but prohibitionists will awake from sleep. In addition to its liquor program it stands as a bulwark against the legalizing of lotteries in this country. Another attempt will be made to do this in the next session of Congress. The W. C. T. U. is on the job and can be counted upon to fight to the last ditch this malicious attempt to legalize the gambling industry. Every Christian man and woman should support these women in their grand fight.—Illinois Baptist News.

BLOOD AND GARMENTS IN BOX CAR START SEARCH

Brainerd—Bloody garments, apparently belonging to a girl of ten or twelve years, found here last week in a box car of the Northern Pacific railroad, started agents and officials of the state bureau of criminal apprehension on an effort to trace the route of the car to this point. Fragments of an Argentine newspaper and magazine, found with the garments, and blood-stains in the car, are expected to provide clues to aid the investigation, which already has resulted in tracing the car to the vicinity of New Orleans.

40 Northwest School Students Win Places on Annual Honor Roll

A total of 116 students at the Northwest School earned scholastic averages of 2.00 or higher during the winter quarter to gain places on the honor roll and high scholarship lists. Forty students, including 28 boys and 12 girls gained places on the honor roll, while 76 other students, including 50 boys and 26 girls, earned high scholarship averages. Final statistics show that 34 per cent of all the boys and 30 per cent of all the girls enrolled earned scholastic averages of 2.00 or higher. The honor roll includes twelve per cent of the boys and ten per cent of the girls.

To gain high scholarship ranking, a student must earn an average of 2.00-2.5 in all subjects. An average of 2.5-3.0 entitles students to honor roll rating. The perfect average is 3.00 and students receiving "A" in all subjects gain the perfect 3.0 average. In the latter group is James Weckwerth, Hazel, advanced.

School Clinic Will be Held on the Minnesota 'U' Campus April 26-30

Police and peace officers throughout the state will lay aside their official duties for four days, April 26-30, and "go to school" at the University of Minnesota in an effort to keep pace with the rapidly changing methods of fighting criminals.

Designed principally for peace officers for the smaller towns in the state the course will be the second of its kind to be held at the University. The first one, held last summer, in which traffic and safety experts as well as some of J. Edgar Hoover's Department of Justice agents took part, provided an intensive and valuable week of training for the assembled officers.

The school will be held at the University's new Center for Continuation Study building under the auspices of the League of Minnesota Municipalities. The police school committee planning the courses is headed by Chief Louis Claude of Rochester, who was active in organizing the institute last year also.

Desired Land

The gentry of the Middle Ages thought little of trade and business, but were obsessed with the desire for land. Land to them was the source of power and wealth, for which men strove, and this was the explanation of the castles — these safeguarded the land.

An Abbot of Joy

In Norman and Angevin times (1066-1485) an Abbot of Joy was a master of revels.

A Thousand $$ For A Text!!!

Some individuals have publicly and privately advanced the idea that Christ has changed God's weekly rest day from the seventh to the first day of the week, and made the bold assertion that Scripture could be produced in support of this claim.

A thousand dollars are hereby offered to any one who can furnish us with a Bible text stating that Christ has ordained or commanded the keeping of the first day of the week in the New Testament, and thus they are granted the golden opportunity to prove whether they be true or false teachers. To the first one able to produce the said text this liberal offer will be available in

Talbott, Farm Leader, Dies After Car Accident

C. C. Talbott of Jamestown, President of the North Dakota Farmers Union, died in a Bismarck hospital last Thursday.

President of the state Farmers Union since its reorganization approximately 11 years ago, Talbott had been active in the cooperative movement for many years and *was enroute to a speaking ap*pointment on agricultural matters at the time of the accident.

Talbott's automobile plunged into a ditch near Steele March 26. He was brought to Bismarck for medical treatment and began failing Wednesday, lapsing into a coma.

Mr. Talbott spoke at a Farmers Union convention in Thief River Falls last year.

God's Grace Is Topic of Evangelist Sunday

"Who is like unto our God who pardons iniquity and the transgressions of the remnant of His heritage? Who may be compared to Him who declares to repentant sinners, 'By grace ye are saved'. There is no part of the Bible where grace is not mentioned. It is found twelve times in the Book of Genesis. It occurs 26 times in Psalm 136. All in all it is found 164 times in the Bible. The grace of has from the foundation of the world appeared to all men. God is extending His free grace to all who will meet the conditions and accept the terms of salvation through faith in our Lord Jesus Christ". So stated Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture on "The Free Grace of God" at the old Methodist church last Sunday night. The Back to the Bible lecture program for next week is announced elsewhere in this paper.

LOCAL RIFLE CLUB PARTICIPATES IN VALLEY TOURNEY

Miss Harriet Jung Second in Individual Handicap Match

Eleven members of the local rifle club took part Sunday in the first of what will become an annual tournament in the newly-formed rifle league. The Forks Rifle club sponsored the tournament at their indoor range at East Grand Forks. The four clubs represented at the tournament were the Forks, Thief River, Strandquist and the Warren Rifle clubs.

The tournament consisted of two parts: individual handicap and two man team. The individual handicap course was 10 shots in each position, prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing, for a possible score of 400.

High scorer in the individual handicap match was Alf Setton of Strandquist whose total aggregate score was 393. Second high was Harriet Jung of Thief River Falls with 392. Carl Wennberg was high man in the prone division with 100 for both his actual and handicap score. Len Hanson of Thief River Falls was high man in the sitting division with 93 for an actual score and 100 for his handicap score. W. G. Coulter and Dr. Omundson of East Grand Forks won the kneeling and standing events respectively.

The two-man team match was won by L. E. Ferguson and George Breslaff of East Grand Forks. Their score was 354.

Appropriate medals will be awarded to the winners in each division and to the individual handicap and two-man team winners. Noon refreshments were served by the Forks Rifle Club in their club rooms.

Rainfall During Week Delays Seeding Start

Showers Monday and a heavier rainfall Wednesday served to delay a general start on field work on farms in this section, altho with favorable drying weather for a few days work will be under way in many parts of the county. Ice in the river above the dam has been disintegrating this week, the break up of the ice corresponding closely to dates in most previous years.

73 WPA Workers in This District Secure Other Positions During March

Summaries of employment, issued this week by both WPA and NRS authorities, show that relief workers gradually are going into private employment; that as business offers them other jobs at prevailing wages, they are leaving the work relief program. This information was made public this week at the Detroit Lakes office of J. B. Kovarik, district WPA director, after he had digested figures from the St. Paul office of Victor Christgau, WPA administrator and Dreng Bjornaraa, state director of the National Re-employment Service. According to the WPA records, during March, in district No. seven, which includes Pennington County, there were 74 WPA workers who had obtained jobs in private employment. In the state as a whole, for the month, the total number leaving WPA for other work was 951.

Warren Athlete Will be Feted at Duluth Banquet

Tenny Nordstrom of Warren will be one of the three stellar Gustavus athletes honored by the Gustavus Adolphus Arrowhead Alumni Association at their annual banquet in Duluth, April 24. Unanimously chosen all-state basketball center this year, Tenny also led the league in scoring with a total of 132 points or an average of eleven points a game. In addition to his amazing scoring exploits, Tenny played beautiful defensive ball and was the main cog in the Gustie machine. His graduation will leave a gap that is already giving Coach Myrum sleepless nights and graying hair. A versatile athlete, Tenny also starred at end in football, where his ball handling ability made him an ace pass receiver on the Gustie championship grid eleven.

Red Lake Indian Lands to be Leased April 19 for Farming Purposes

Sealed bids for lease of land located along the western edge of the Red Lake Indian Reservation for agricultural purposes will be received by the Superintendent, Red Lake Indian Agency, until 4 p. m. April 19, 1937 or permits involving the use of the land during the calendar year 1937. Bids must state designation of land desired as referred to by tract numbers as shown on base map at Agency office and must state acreage of land to be farmed and additional acreages to be broken out during each year of permit.

Revocable permits will be issued for periods of not to exceed five years, said permits providing for delivery of one-fourth share of all crops raised upon the land, to be delivered in the case of grain to appropriate elevators in the name of the Superintendent, Red Lake Agency; in the case of hay, delivered in the stack on the land; and cultivated crops other than strictly garden crops for the use of permittee, to be delivered in appropriate pits or markets as may be designated by the Superintendent, Red Lake Agency.

Fees for the execution of said leases as required by existing regulations are as follows:

When total consideration of permit is less than $100.00, a fee of $1.00 will be collected; when less than $250.00 a fee of $2.50 will be required; when more than $250.00 a fee of $5.00 is required.

First 1937 Job Risk Law Contributions Are Payable by April 30th

More than 60,000 letters were put into the mail this week by the state unemployment compensation division, as the due date for collection of first 1937 quarterly contributions from all employers of one or more persons was set at April 30, 1937.

The letters, sent by the division to all employers of one or more persons in Minnesota, contained report forms for the payment of contributions, which must be paid in full by April 30.

The rate of contributions for 1937 is 1.8 per cent of payrolls. The entire contribution is to be paid by the employer, with no deductions permitted from the wages or salaries of employees, it was stressed by Frank T. Starkey, chairman of the state industrial commission, which is administering the law.

Commissioner Starkey also pointed out that, while the unemployment compensation division has spared no expense or effort to contact every employer in the state, there no doubt are many employers who will not receive forms at this time. It is the duty of these employers who do not receive forms by April 17 to write to the Minnesota Unemployment Compensation Division, Shubert Bldg., St. Paul, for forms, Mr. Starkey said, because the state law specifically requires all liable employers to make contributions whether or not contacted directly by the state.

324 Drivers Licenses Suspended or Revoked First 3 Months of '37

Three hundred and twenty-four motor vehicle drivers licenses were suspended or revoked in Minnesota in the first quarter of 1937, January, February and March, according to a report by Gil Carmichael, director of the state Drivers License bureau, to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner. There were 71 revocations and 63 suspensions in March, Mr. Carmichael said. Of 183 revocations so far this year, 175 of them were for drunken driving, the report shows, and of 141 suspensions 90 were for reckless driving.

Since the bureau was established in 1934, there have been 2,635 revocations and of these 2,423 were for drunken driving.

Ramsey county led in revocations in March with 21. Hennepin and St. Louis were tied for second place with 10 each. Others were scattered through the state. Hennepin led in suspensions with 17. Ramsey was second with eight and Goodhue had five. Of March revocations, 66 were for drunken driving, three for failure to stop after an accident and two for manslaughter.

Of licenses revoked in March, 70 were men and one a woman. Of suspensions, all 63 were men.

Drivers Urged to Check Cars for Spring Driving

Now that automobiles are coming out of winter storage in large numbers in all parts of the state, the state Highway patrol has broadcast a warning to drivers to check all cars for equipment, such as brakes, lights, horns, rear view mirrors. "We are finding many of our one-eyed machines are machines that have been stored during the winter," said Chief John P. Arnoldy. "The same is true of defective brakes and other equipment, brakes and lights being the most important. If drivers will check their cars before putting them on the streets and highways they will avoid trouble later on."

Despite its pious attitude, the mantis is an enemy of many other insects, which it seizes between its "prayer legs" and devours. When mating has been completed, females invariably attack the smaller males and bite off their heads

GAMBLE'S CREST TIRES

Here's perhaps the most drastic, startling change in price policy that has been made by anyone in the tire industry in many years.

How can we do it? Here's how. We believe the general public is sick and tired of all the confusion about 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th line tires. For that reason Gamble Stores are now carrying only one complete line of tires—our top grade 1st line CREST—the finest a great modern factory with almost 40 years experience knows how to build. Thus we cut down our stocks, eliminate lines, simplify stock keeping, and speed up turn over. Our tremendous increase in sales will more than make up for our reduced margin. Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

SOME IMPROVEMENTS COST LITTLE

It is a fine thing to have improvements in the city but the bad thing about improvements is the fact that most of them cost a lot of money. The number of dollars that can be spent is limited. The more we spend for one thing the less there is available for spending on something else.

Fortunately, however, not all improvements are expensive and during the past week we have contacted a few of our chronic community complainers to get ideas on what might be done to make life in the village less objectionable. Some of them have merit.

We asked seventeen of our grouchiest citizens why they regretted the approach of Spring and seventeen of them replied that Spring would be o. k. if it wasn't for the dangle worms. Which convinced us that a lot of our people would be less unhappy if the dangle worms could be eliminated. And now is the time, as we understand it, to battle these pests. Perhaps a committee of vigilantes should be organized, with block chairmen and all that sort of thing. A "War on the Worms" parade and a few indignation meetings might be in order. With a little help from the local chapter of the Snoopers Club the central office might keep a list of the names of worm growers who would immediately become social outcasts, shunned by all good people. Dangle worms wouldn't have a chance if we started hating them several weeks before they started annoying us.

The second peeviest community peeve, we discovered, centered around dogs. This was a double pointed peeve. The world's meanest man, according to some, was the dog poisoners. Another group was of the opinion that the world's most inconsiderate people were dog owners who permitted their pets to become neighborhood nuisances. It occurred to us, therefore, that the solution to this problem might be comparatively simple after all. If people who own dogs could be induced (or compelled) to keep their pets from becoming nuisances, that large portion of our population that places human rights above dog rights would be less unhappy. Then there probably would be no dog poisoners. And then the dog lovers would be less unhappy. And who should take steps to bring about this state of happiness? Why the dog lovers, of course. Those who really like dogs will do themselves and their dogs a good service by insisting that dog laws, providing reasonable protection for their neighbors, be immediately passed and thereafter rigidly enforced.

Peeve number three, in the order of its popularity among our grouchiest people, is the bicycle. The group that complained of bicycles was made up largely of motorists and pedestrians. Motorists complained that bicycle-riding kids drive like mad through the streets. Pedestrians objected to bicycle races on the sidewalks. There should be an easy and sensible solution to this problem. Many towns are now licensing bicycles as a first step toward traffic regulation. Model ordinances provide for safe driving practices—safe for the youngsters themselves, and conducive to the happiness of oldsters who drive or walk.

Another reason why several of our most unreasonable people disliked the summer was because the Fourth of July celebration starts so early in June. They seemed to think that one day of fire crackers should be enough. It is a debatable question. Age is definitely pitted against youth in this controversy—which means that we progressives will have to come out in favor of noise but nevertheless there is a lot of merit to the complaint of the reactionaries in this case. And isn't it about time something be done to make the reactionaries happy?

Well this is enough of this sort of thing for one issue. The point we wanted to bring out is the fact that there are a few improvements that might be made in the city that wouldn't add to the burden of the taxpayer.

In the State Senate

By Sen. H. L. Tungseth

The major topic of conversation around the Capitol this week, and I presume also throughout the state generally, has been that of the occurrence last Monday at the State Capitol at the time when the "Peoples' Lobby" had gathered in St. Paul for the purpose of emphasizing certain legislation in which this group is vitally interested.

The "Peoples' Lobby" was given opportunity to speak to the senate and also the house of representatives and the several speakers who took part in this procedure spoke ably and briefly and left a very good impression with the legislature. A large number of people had gathered, a fair estimate is perhaps 1000. The unfortunate part of the story was the action on the part of some dismembered minority groups who took it upon themselves to exercise threats and force in connection with their requests. These people stormed some of the committee rooms and attempted a sit down strike in the senate chambers in order to force such legislation by the senate as they were interested in. However, it is only fair to those people to say that no one attempted any violence and when the Governor requested them to leave the senate chamber, they immediately complied with his request.

The Twin City press and many other political newspapers throughout the state offered to the public a very unfair picture of the situation. The conservative group in the senate joined hands in condemning the Governor for things he supposedly had said and his failure to properly police this group so as to avoid any unpleasant actions on their part. The accusations, however, made against the Governor are very much exaggerated and unfair. He has been misquoted on application of what he said and certainly the Governor is not expected to be a local police officer and in such capacity check the conduct of various conventions throughout the state. The city and county officials have full charge of the state building and property within their respective territories and if any police protection had been required, certainly the Governor has no authority to call on local police nor would he be expected to interfere with the regular duties of the county sheriff. Only when local authorities fail to handle any given situation is the Governor expected to call the Militia or otherwise take a hand.

Any mob violence or unreasonableness on the part of any group that was here or which may be here at any other time, is deplorable. Nothing is gained by physical force or threat. There are no members of the state legislature that can be frightened by such methods to work or vote for certain bills. The reaction is always unfavorable to any legislation which is suggested in connection with mob violence. When we speak of undesirables and improper conduct in this connection, it is not fair either to throw the blame upon the Farm Holiday for such because the organized body and convention was very well conducted and consisted of respectable and fine citizens from throughout the state.

MAN IS "SITDOWNER" WHEN DINNER BECKONS

Austin.—A Mower county farmer has learned to know what a "sitdowner" is like. At any rate, the man he refers to may be designated as such when the dinner table is set. A big healthy looking fellow, who wanted to hire out for the season, wanted to begin work at once as he was tired of loafing and just couldn't loaf any longer, came to the farmer's house and asked for a job. He was hired and since it was noontime, he joined the family at dinner, the Easter dinner with home-cured ham, mashed potatoes, and all the fixings. "He showed he was a good worker," said the farmer, "by the way he moved away the fodder piled on his plate." After dinner the newly-hired worker went to the barn, disappeared through the back door, and has not been seen since.

PRANKSTER AND VICTIMS DISAGREE ON JOKE IDEA

Red Wing.—Tired out after a night of dancing and anxious to reach home many participants in a ball held at Ellsworth recently were one in declaring that the "meanest man on earth" had been carrying on what he evidently thought was a huge joke at their expense, while they were making merry at the party. His "fun" took the form of twisting handles from automobile doors and making it impossible for owners to enter them for the drive home. It is reported that between eight and ten cars were locked in this manner, one car losing its handles from the four doors. The guilty person must have been a man of strength, since it was evident that he had twisted off the handles, there being no marks to show that a hammer or other tool had been used. The drivers of the cars agreed that had they been able to locate the prankster, the "joke" would have been on him.

Winnebago.—While blasting stumps on the H. S. Muir farm a mile and a half south of town, a new type of government explosive let go with a terrific blast and resulted in trees and stumps being blown high into the air and about 100 feet of the 20 foot embankment sliding into the river which divides two farms. Four of the trees fell in such a manner that, lying across the river, they resemble a group of Roman monuments. As an experiment, some of the powder used in the Boulder Dam construction was being used. Whether the men misjudged the power of the explosive, or placed the containers top side down, no one was able to explain. A ridge of the trees stood between the stumps and the river bank, and when the two storage batteries which controlled the firing of the explosive were turned on, the concussion split a wide crevice in the ground and the embankment settled in the river bottom with a rumble like distant thunder.

TURGHAI PROSO
MILLET

TURGHAI PROSO Turghai Millet grows three feet tall and has a purple spreading head. The stems bear a wide leaf similar to corn and are not woody. This variety introduced in 1930 has been found to be especially adapted to the Northwest as it will withstand considerable drought. It is a red seeded variety, very much in appearance like the early Fortune seed. Government reports show that Turghai has yielded from 50 to 70 bu. or heavy seed and three tons of hay per acre. The state experiment station in preliminary tests of this variety, finds it out yielding other Proso Millets by a considerable margin.

Turghai Proso Millet contains 17% protein and is one of the finest feeds for hogs, cattle, sheep and poultry.

RED RIVER VALLEY WATER CONTROL BILL IS ENACTED

Water Conservation Measure Passed by Senate Last Friday

A bill to provide Minnesota's concurrence in a tri-state compact for water conservation in the Red river valley got final legislative approval Friday night when the senate unanimously voted passage, 55 to 0. Already adopted by the house, the bill which would create a tri-state commission on North and South Dakota and Minnesota for a Red river water conservation program, then went to Governor Elmer Benson for signature.

The bill was revived unexpectedly by Senator Richard N. Gardner of Staples, who said he voted to lay the bill on the table two weeks ago "on a misapprehension as to its contents."

The commissioner, under the Minnesota bill, would have authority over all the valley excepting the Otter Tail lakes drainage basin. This action was excluded by amendment.

North Dakota and South Dakota already have adopted similar enabling legislation. Senator C. I. Oliver, Graceville, and Rep. Ernest Gross, Wheaton, sponsored the Minnesota measure.

The prize in the magazine contest that puts the question, "What would you do if you were given a million dollars?" may go to the Georgian who suggested "Count it."—Detroit News.

Punchboard Sharpers Fined $100 at Hallock

The two men and two women who were arrested at Hallock some time ago on a charge of operating a punch board skin game, were fined $100 each and costs and upon payment were released. Records of the criminals showed they had had previous engagements with law enforcement officers, with one of the men having a record of 14 arrests within the past four years. County officers had in their possession a number of the much publicized punch boards and upon investigation, found all of them identical. The winning number on each was located in the same spot on the board. It was therefore a simple matter for the shysters to sell a board to some restaurant and subsequently follow up and get the winning number.

Valley 4-H Club Week at N. W. School June 21-26

Plans for county, district and state 4-H club events during the coming summer were discussed Wednesday of last week as county club leaders and assistant county agents from 11 Northwestern Minnesota counties concluded an all-day session at the Northwest School of Agriculture in Crookston. Headlining the forthcoming activities for which the leaders made plans is the annual Red River Valley 4-H club week at the Northwest school, slated June 21 to 26. The event is being held later this year than usual because of the fact that schools generally are dismissing a week later.

ITASCA PAGEANTS TO BE PRESENTED AGAIN THIS YEAR

First of Series of Four Pageants Will be Given July Fourth

The Itasca Park pageants will be presented again this year, it was announced by Earle A. Barker, president of the Northwestern Minnesota Historical Association, following his return from St. Paul where he consulted with officials of the conservation commission and George H. Bradley, tourist and publicity commissioner.

There have been but four performances scheduled under the new plan, the dates being July 4, July 18, August 1 and August 15. If the attendance warrants, an additional presentation may be given on August 29. Plans are also being made for the possible showing at Camden State Park, near Marshall on July 10 and 11. This park is one of the newer ones in the state and would give the people of that part of the state an opportunity to see the pageant.

Historical features will not be played up as prominently this year as in previous productions, Mr. Barker stated. Instead the Indian folk lore will be used as a basis for the pageant, giving an opportunity to include more action and more romantic story. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Searls are again writing the story and will direct the performances. No arrangements have been made as yet for a showing at Duluth.

"It is probable that final arrangements will be completed in a very short time and work on the story will be started," Mr. Barker said. "The performances this year are made possible through the hearty cooperation of the conservation commission and Mr. Bradley."

SWITCHBOARD OPERATOR AVERTS SERIOUS FIRE

Hastings—Alertness and prompt action on the part of a night operator at the local telephone exchange probably saved a drug store here from a very destructive fire. Miss Madeline Schabert's suspicions were aroused at one-thirty o'clock one morning when the switchboard "number light" indicating Eddy's Drug store began to flicker. Thinking that prowlers might have broken into the place, Miss Schabert, the operator, summoned the night police. When the officers arrived, they found a blaze burning briskly in the rear of the establishment. The fire department was called and through its work the flames were soon under control. The rear of the store and its contents were considerably damaged by fire, water and smoke. The "twinkling" of the number light on the switchboard, it was later learned, was caused by short-circuiting of a telephone wire which was exposed to the flames.

James Williams Presents Wonders of Liquid Air

On Tuesday afternoon, April 6, James Williams, demonstrator of liquid air, appeared at the Municipal Auditorium as one of the numbers of this year's Northwest Assemblies Programs.

Mr. Williams conducted a very interesting program and performed many astounding feats. A few of the experiments conducted were as follows: A balloon, dipped in liquid air shrivelled up, and later regained its shape; a rubber ball, after being dipped in liquid air, was bounced and immediately broke; and a lit cigar, having been dipped in liquid air had enough power to cut a screen.

Many other interesting experiments were performed, and thoroughly enjoyed by the entire student body.

Name: James Williams

Home town: Minneapolis

University attended: University of Minnesota

To what fraternity do you belong: Sigma Alpha Epsilon which is the largest national fraternity and boasts of such members as Rudy Valee and Bobby Jones.

What did you major in at college: I took the pre medic course and plan to go back soon and major in medicine.

What do you want to specialize in: Surgery and X-ray.

What is your hobby: Printing such as journalism. I also enjoy movies and especially like Gary Cooper and Cary Grant. How do you like to travel: Car—I drive a Ford, but I hate that make of car.

What did you think of "Gone With the Wind": I didn't bother to read it. I read the first two and the last two chapters of "Anthony Adverse", and I knew what the whole book was about. I'll wait and see the movie version of it. What is the main purpose of liquid air: Liquid air is used in production of oxygen, which is used extensively in hospitals for oxygen tanks, used in treating pneumonia.

Have you had many close escapes in working with liquid air: I nearly blew up our home once, and down in Indiana when I was gargling the liquid air I accidently swallowed about fifteen drops, and nearly froze my esophagus.

How long have you traveled: One and one half years.

Could you freeze, say a cat, like you told one could a frog, and have the cat come back to life: No, for you see a frog hibernates.

Could you freeze a bear under those conditions: No, for the bear isn't an amphibian, as is the frog.

Could individuals be revived after freezing in liquid air, such as those experiments that are now extensively studied in this field: No, for the temperature in those experiments is 0 F., while liquid air is 290F.

What sort of audiences do you prefer to lecture to: The audience right here in Thief River Falls is one of the nicest I have or ever hope to lecture to.

How many programs do you average a day: Around three.

JUNIOR BOYS WIN INTERCLASS B. B. TOURNEY THURS.

Faculty Men Defeat Senior Boys 37-17

Three new school champions in the boy's division were crowned as the current intramural basketball season was brought to a close with the termination of the first annual All-school tournament held at the city auditorium April 6 and 8.

The Juniors annexed the high school championship; the Tigers won laurels in the junior H. S. race; and Washington grabbed the grade school title.

In the only boy's game of Tuesday afternoon the Sophomores beated the Freshmen by 26 to 8 score in a dull contest.

Washington trounced Knox for the grade school title by a topheavy tally of 24 to 10 to begin Tuesday evenings activities. In the final evening game, the Juniors outlasted the Seniors boys to win 23 to 18 after trailing at the end of the first half.

The Tigers finished at the top of the Central cage race with an 11 to 7 victory over the second place Dragons.

A faculty men aggregation gained an upset victory over the Seniors in a riotous melee Thursday evening by a 37 to 17 count. The faculty presented a sturdy combination that had the weary Seniors more than somewhat bewildered.

The Juniors won a gruelling struggle to wrest the high school boy's title from the Sophomores boys in the tournament finals by a 36 to 34 count. The nip-and-tuck battle smacked strongly of varsity competition with both teams exhibiting unerring accuracy in every variety of shooting as a feature of the contest. Nicholson was score leader with seventeen points while Jerome Salveson brought up second with nine counters.

Immediately after the final game, the various trophies and medals were awarded by Mr. Bye. The champion teams were presented elaborate trophies for their meritorious work. The Sophomores were honored by winning the cheer trophy besides the trophy for the best between-the-halves act. The act was led by Loren "Bones" Stadum while Joan Dahlquist, Joyce Bennes and Anna Hanson acted as Soph yell leaders. The lower classmen were further honored when the sportsmanship trophy was awarded to the Freshmen. Earl Nicholson was presented the medal as high scoring boy for the tournament.

Vic Jung, Ado Lorentson, Milt Nesse and Gordon Caldis served capably as officials for the entire tourney.

Mr. Gabrielson has been in charge of boy's intramural basketball while Mr. Schneider and Mr. Tvedt have served as co-coaches for junior high and grade school basketball competition. All are to be congratulated for their efficient and unselfish service and it is our hope that all yearly basketball programs will be climaxed by gigantic inter-class tourneys in future years.

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

Kenny Holmgren

Kenneth Holmgren, commonly known as Kenny, isn't exactly fond of hearing girls giggle. He was born in Enderlin, N. D., on October 31, 1919. His future ambition is to travel, with the "King of Bobos" as his inspiration. (What Kenney is after is a nice easy life after slaving away for four long years.) He prefers listening to the radio for a pastime. He likes Simone Simon on the screen and also James Cagney, but he isn't consistant for his favorite movie is "The Count of Monte Cristo." In the line of music he prefers Henry Busse's orchestra playing "Moonlight and Shadows". Jack Benny has the best radio program. As a spectator Kenny prefers baseball to any other sport, and physics to any other subject. A perfect dinner is always topped with a luscious piece of banana cream pie and then to the newspaper to see what "Blondie" is doing that day.

When Lincoln High School's social season started last Friday with the masquerade, around ninety people attended. This was a good crowd but it could have been much larger. The masquerade is one of the two school social functions that is presented every year. Pupils plead for more of these parties. This is naturally to be expected but these parties are not attended by nearly as many students as are setting up the cry for more parties. This naturally causes a question in our minds. Why try to get more parties when these given are not patronized by all or nearly all students? When the Juniors give their Prom, the students should all turn out and show that they really want bigger and better school parties.

During last week a new achievement in Lincoln High's progress was taking place. That was the interclass and interschool tournament which climaxed the regular intermural basketball activities. Fifteen basketball teams took part in this, bringing forth champions in four fields. This event will undoubtedly be continued as an annual affair of the school, which will be looked forward to and awaited by all pupils. It undoubtedly was what was needed to give more pupils an added interest in school that did not indulge in any other extra curricular work. We believe that this affair will grow and take on added interest as years go by. Some time ago interclass games were exceptionally well attended, now it looks like they may come back. Here is hoping they do and also to the ones responsible for the tournament congratulations. It was a great show.

Annual Junior-Senior Masquerade Held Friday

The annual Junior-Senior masquerade was held last Friday evening, April 10, in the Sons of Norway Hall. The seniors sponsor this dance with the juniors as their guests. The students are all supposed to appear in costume and masks; although, it seems almost impossible to remain unrecognized among students, no matter how well disguised you are. For instance, the mysterious ghost who appeared during the evening and had everyone guessing for a while was soon discovered to be our own Eric with a few sheets draped over him.

When the time came for the grand march a mysterious "lady" appeared to lead the march with the senior class president, Don Olson. This heavily veiled "lady" who minced along so daintily, turned out to be our rough and tough football captain, Milton Nesse. Another new "girl" appeared who was very popular with the senior boys, and this was none other than Cliff VeVea.

Two prizes were awarded for the best girl's and best boy's costume. These prizes were awarded to Lorraine Baken, who wore a Tyrolean peasant costume, and Donald Anderson who wore a George Washington Costume.

Several of the teachers appeared in costume along with the students and there were many other interesting costumes besides those mentioned. Everyone enjoyed the dance and we are all anxiously awaiting the Prom next month.

Interclass Tournament All-Star Fives Chosen

Five all-star aggregations, three in the boys division, and two in the girls division, were selected at the close of the interclass basketball tournament last week. The boy's teams were selected by the ten lettermen of this years varsity squad while the girl choices were made by the participants in the girls games of the meet. Great Coral Reef Old Geologists estimate that the great coral Barrier reef which fringes Australia's northeastern coast for more than a thousand miles has been building more than a million years. Throughout the length and breadth of the Coral sea, an area of more than 2,000,000 square miles, there are myriads of coral islands, banks, reefs, shoals and atolls.

APRIL ANTICS

Spring: 'Tis said around our fair school that Milt N. no longer dodges (literally) the sweet young things but rather approves of said things. That's about the first sign of spring. And still more about Milt that get-up which he appeared in at the masquerade. Pretty foxy if I do say so myself.

Belle: Betcha more than one girl was jealous of that new Senior girl who was so popular at the masquerade. In case you don't know, I'm referring to Cliff V. Betcha his feet were sore too.

Sour-puss: It has been said that the members of the Junior class felt slighted after the tournament trophys were awarded. However, you would never have known by their cheery countenances. Mind that now!

Modern: Who says our little hamlet isn't up-to-date? Why the sophomores are so up and coming that they aren't satisfied with motoring in cars. Let it not be said for they toddle about in motorycles—no less.

Juvenile: And I looked around and what did I see but some of our distinguished boy students whizzing past on bikes, Don L., Lynn B., Archie M., and Jimmy P. for instance.

Hopeful: After seeing all those happy faces at the honor student assembly, the lower-classmen are worrying about what they'll say when they're called up there. Optimistic, aren't they?

Inquisitive: Mrs. Poppenhagen's little boy Milton, would you answer a question please? Thank you—now for the question. Were you able to sit down comfortably Saturday morning? Don't fret Milt, we'll say no more.

Pondering: Wonder what Jane E. and Eileen B. would answer if you asked them where they were Friday night. Well, it doesn't do any harm to wonder, does it?

Highway: Faithful friends of Marcella R. have worn a regular highway up to the hospital. Well, at least a path. Best wishes, kid, we're all pulling for you.

Rushed: In my humble opinion, the teachers—Riggs, Montague, and Gabrielson should be quite flattered by the attention they received from some of their feminine students on Sunday afternoon. Of course that's only one opinion.

Finale: For the grand finale, it is only fitting that we amble back to the masquerade. Things to remember from that gigantic affair: Julian P. and his true hobo outfit. Lorraine B., Don A., and their prize-winning costumes. Erling M., the Norwegian, alias Scotch lad. Miss Dahlen—the Egyptian running loose in T. R. F.

BAND NOTES

During the interclass basketball tournament various sections of the high school band performed without the aid of Mr. Riggs as the director. The sophomore members of the regular high school band organized a small band of their own and used that as the main part of their act on the last night of the tournament. The band was evidently appreciated because the sophomores took the prize on their act, which really means they took a prize on their band. Incidentally, Ralph Gustafson the solo cornetist in the regular band, played a solo during the act, which probably also helped win the trophy for the sophomores.

The junior members of the high school band also organized a small band and played at various intervals during the games both Tuesday and Thursday evening. The two bands added spirit to the cheering from all the class sections and seemed to be appreciated by all the students.

EIGHTH GRADE GIRLS WIN OVER SENIORS FOR TITLE

Junior Girls Down Faculty Women 2-1 in Close Contest

The Eighth Grade girls scored a decided upset by carrying off the girls all-school basketball championship in the interclass tournament at the city auditorium last week. They waded through two formidable contenders in the Sophomore and Senior girls' teams to finish at the top of the standings. For their efforts, they were presented with a handsome trophy by Mr. Bye after the final tourney game on Thursday evening.

The tournament opened Tuesday afternoon with a thriller in the form of the Senior and Junior girl's game. After trailing most of the way, the Seniors rallied to eke out a 10 to 9 victory.

Another close game resulted in the evening session, as the Sophomores truimphed over the Freshmen girls 16 to 14 in a hotly contested overtime engagement. Mary Ann Morben tallied the final basket to decide the issue.

The Eight Grade girls began their march to the title by humbling the Sophomore representatives by an 11 to 9 count. Thursday afternoon. It marked the third successive girls' tournament game which was decided by a one or two point margin.

The Juniors girls were consoled with a 2 to 1 victory over the faculty women team comprised of the Misses Helquist, Dahlen, Thoreson, Cook and Dahlquist.

The championship affair on Thursday evening was another closely contested duel with little to choose insofar as floor honors went. The Seniors, however, took it on the chin as the score indicated, giving the Eight grade girls a 7-4 decision and; with it, the all-school girls championship.

Marjorie Helquist and Alverda Lund, Eighth Grade co-captains, were outstanding for the Central representatives, while Ragna Folkedahl, Senior captain, and Hettie Gustafson were impressive on the losing sextet.

The medal for the high scorer in the girls divisions was awarded to Mary Ann Morben, a sophomore. All girls basketball activities have been under the able supervision of Miss Harriet Helquist who has carried out a highly successful sports program since coming to Lincoln high school as director of girls' athletics.

Matheson, Morell Lead Graduating Class

On Thursday afternoon a special assembly was called to announce the honor students of the year's senior class. The twelve highest ranking students in the class are now given recognition for their work.

The valedictorian of the graduating class is Marjorie Matheson, who has amassed 44 honor points to obtain this position. Lois Morell, who has 38 honor points to her credit is the salutatorian. Both these girls have been very active in extra-curricular activities throughout their four years in high school and have always been outstanding members of their class. Herbert Schroeder has the distinction of being the 3rd highest in the class and the highest ranking boy. The other honor students are: Ragna Folkedahl, Vivian Havel, Alfred Nelson, Elizabeth Dahlen, Selmar Christopherson, Gorden Neset, James Peterson, Vernon Wedul, and Robert Sorenson. There are seven boys and five girls included in the group.

After all the honor students were up on the stage, Mr. Claffy called on several of them for short impromptu talks. Marjorie Matheson, Elizabeth Dahlen, Bud Nelson, and Vernon Wedul each told what they had learned during high school and gave some good advice to the freshmen.

These students represent the top ranks of the senior class and they deserve the praise and admiration of everyone for their accomplishment in high school.

FIRST ANNUAL CIRCUS TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Tumbling Team and Band to Present Varied Program

The first annual all-school circus will be staged at the municipal auditorium tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. The tumbling team is sponsoring this gala event most of the acts will be furnished by personnel from this group.

Among the featured acts billed is a spectacular flame dive. Who the diver will be is a mystery and how he will land is another mystery. The only way to find the answers is to be sure to be present at the auditorium tomorrow evening.

Side-by side with the flame dive is a high dive from the rafters and again the dare-devils name is being held from the public's view.

No circus would be complete without freaks and there will be an abundance of such animosities and human oddities there tomorrow evening. Add to all this trapeze acts, hand-balancing, an adagio act, pyramids, dancers, spring-board acts, the high school band, and what have you? No doubt about the answer, a real circus! Yes, there will be refreshments too. Candy, peanuts, pop, and ice cream.

The admission prices are: Grade school pupils, 10c; high school students, 15c; Adults, 25c.

Remember, this circus is one night and one night only, so be sure to come. Bring a few extra nickels or dimes and have the time of your life at the First Annual Lincoln High School Circus.

PROWLERETTES CORNER

Guess our next year's frosh (the 8th graders) are plenty thrilled—and aren't our prospects for next year's varsity squad simply splendiferous? But adieu to that court game—I sniff spring smoke in the air and I look longingly at that other court off the football field done up in concrete—yup, tennis gals. Look up your rackets—the time's not far off, and they say the tennis tourney comes off the last few week's in May.

The Senior stunt man in his baseball outfit caused me to wish (almost desperately) to get on the turf and curl my fingers around a bat again. Oh, spring—ah-choo!

No more hanging the ceiling with the ball due to Hit Pin—cuz the tourney's over. Outcome was: Lorentson's "Hitlerites" lost to Paulson's "Lucky Strikers"; Chommie's "Gopherettes" lost to Snelling's "Gas House Gals"; Dahlquist's "Boodiebugs" lost to Olson's "Peppy Peppers"; Parbst's "Zippers" lost to Erickson's "Snappers"; and Gulseth's "Dark Horses" lost to Havel's "Kod Liver Kids". Each losing team provided treats for a sort-of-a party. Gulseth's team (before the party started) blind-folded the "Kod Liver Kids" and saw to it that each member had a dose—½ teaspoonful—of cod liver oil. Ugh!

Hats off to All-star girls' basketball team: Lillian Samuelson, Hettie Gustafson, Mary Ann Morben, Ragna Folkedahl, Mathilda Paulson, and Eileen Buoen. Special congratulatons to you, Mary Ann, for being the highest girl scorer in the tournament!

Over a hundred attended the performance of "Lady Francis", an operetta, presented by the High School Girls Glee Club directed by Miss Burke and Mr. Jaspers. All enjoyed it very much and received much amusement from the character Bridget O'Harrigan ably taken by Carol Hovland.

The band concert which followed the operetta was well received. The Band under the direction of Mr. Ohnstad had rehearsed entirely new music and offered a short concert which proved to all that the band has made exceptional progress this winter. Much credit should be given Mr. Ohnstad for this. The admission charges were very low as only a small amount was raised, but this will be used to purchase additional equipment for the band. —Jack Ripple received a check for $50 as first prize in the essay contest conducted by the Josten Manufacturing Company of Owatonna. Jack's essay "Art in Every day Life" was of unusual merit and received the highest rating.

BAD ROADS ARE GOOD PROFITS

Holdingford— Having received only $25.00 for a new road right-of-way, an Avon farmer hoped to realize a more liberal profit when spring road conditions made travel difficult. A motorist, observing that a new strip of road, not yet packed was especially bad, decided to follow a narrower farm trail. To his amazement he saw that the tongue of a sleigh stretched across the road, barring further progress. When he inquired why the vehicle was holding up traffic, the motorist was informed that a charge of twenty-five cents was made for all salesmen and persons from town driving through the yard. A special price of five cents was given to farmers.

"My Telephone is worth much more to me than it was 15 years ago"

says H. E. Almquist
—one of our customers—

"I have noticed continued betterment in telephone service," said Mr. Almquist. "The more telephones there are the easier it is for me to keep in touch with friends and relatives and to carry on my business."

• • •

As the number of telephone users in a community increases...and as they make more calls per person, the cost of providing service for each telephone user tends to go up. It requires more central office equipment, more wire and more labor for each user.

However, constant telephone research, together with more efficient and economical methods of operation have kept the cost of providing service from increasing as much as it otherwise would have. As a result, we are able to connect you with more persons and to provide you with faster, more accurate and more dependable service at charges which give you more for your money than ever before.

PURSUES BLACKSMITH TRADE FOR 32 YEARS

Canby—With the exception of a six months "vacation" which came about when the Diamond Match company offered him a job as band leader back in the days of Coxey's army, T. C. Wallace has worked continuously at his blacksmith's trade for 52 years. "If all the blacksmithing that Albert Aulie and I have done were put into one pile, it would make a pretty good sized heap," he thinks. Mr. Wallace, who holds a diploma for smithing, forging and master horse shoeing, is proud of the fact that he made two dozen miner's picks—picks that dug the first iron ore on the Vermillion range near Tower and also the strong box in which the miners' payroll was hauled. It was made from boiler plate, 12 inches by 10 inches with inside lid hinges. It weighed 110 pounds and containing $12,000 it made "a good lift for two men."

DAIRYMEN'S GROUP TO GIVE GAVELS TO VALLEY 4-H CLUBS

Project Aimed to Encourage Dairy Improvement in Red River Valley

Four-H clubs in the Red River Valley will have an opportunity to earn solid walnut gavels with the 4-H club emblem inscribed upon them in a project to be sponsored this year by the Red River Valley Dairymen's association it was announced by C. M. Pesek, secretary.

The project is in addition to the cream grading demonstrations which the association sponsors at county fairs, and for which it has appropriated $200 to be used as prize money during the coming season.

One hundred gavels will be awarded to 4-H clubs in the dairy improvement project which the Dairymen's association will sponsor. Interest and activity on the part of the 4-H clubs in behalf of improved dairying will determine the awarding of the gavels. Clubs will file reports not later than November 1 with the county agent of the respective counties in the valley.

The reports will cover the number of boys and girls enrolled in 4-H dairy work, the number of new dairy enrollments for 1937, the number of demonstrations given by dairy teams, and by individual, the number of 4-H dairy animals exhibited by the club's members at county fairs, county and local achievement days, the awards received, the dairy booth at the county fair, if any, dairy floats entered in achievement day programs and the like, advanced dairy discussion at regular meetings, and any other particular activity in which the club may have participated in behalf of improved dairy conditions.

Young Republicans to Hold State Meeting in Minneapolis April 24

Interest in political circles is centering on the Third Annual Convention of the Young Republican League to be held at the Curtis Hotel in Minneapolis, April 24, when new officers for the young G. O. P. organization will be chosen.

The by-laws of the League provide that no person shall hold office more than two years and a lively fight is in prospect for the position of state chairman which will be vacated by the present holder of this office, Harold E. Stassen, of South St. Paul.

The Republican Party, the committee said, should be a party "that will present an aggressive, intelligent and fair-minded opposition to those now in office."

Representation at the Minneapolis convention is based upon the vote cast for the Republican candidate for governor in the 1936 general election with each county entitled to two delegates at large and one additional delegate for every 1,000 or major fraction of 1,000 votes cast for the gubernatorial candidate last year.

Continuing Contract for Teachers Now Law

Minnesota's new law authorizing continuing contracts for teachers is an important step toward making teaching a real profession, Mrs. Myrtle Hooper Dahl, president of the Minnesota Education Association, said last week.

The continuing contract bill provides that teachers' contracts remain in force from year to year unless terminated by a majority vote of the school board or by written resignation. The law does not apply to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, where the tenure act of 1927 provides tenure after a three-year probationary period.

Red River Valley History

By Wm. V. Working

(Local Events 1909-1911)

The beginning of 1909 was marked by an announcement of importance to Thief River Falls. It was that the Soo line would soon begin construction of its line to Duluth from this city. The line was built the following year, completed Sept. 24, 1910.

A memorable event occurred April 23, "an event," we read, "which to a certain extent had much to do with future history of the city." This was the destruction by fire of the Red Lake county court house at Red Lake Falls while the county seat fight still was at its height. This was followed May 12 by the unexpected filing of a petition containing 899 signatures asking that the county of Red Lake be divided and that Pennington county be created. The petition was filed with the secretary of state.

The first flowing well in the Thirteen Towns was located at Kratka in May, 1909. It was 208 feet deep and had a capacity of 150 barrels per day. Two county officers died within a month in that year. County Auditor O'Brien died May 14 and the death of County Treasurer Tandberg took place June 3.

July 6 the council purchased sites for two parks, one located in the hollow south of the city and the other at the end of Bridge street on the east side. About this time need of local hospitalization was felt and discussed. September 20 a mass meeting was called for the purpose of discussing ways and means by which a hospital could be secured. Committees were appointed and great enthusiasm was displayed but the proposition was eventually dropped.

"The first part of January, 1910 witnessed the passing of two of the pioneers who had seen the city grow from a small hamlet to a large metropolis and who had been strongly identified with this progress. These were Hans O. Nelson, who passed away on January 7, and J. W. Wallin who died on January," we read in early notes.

Here are some facts about the high school that may be of value some time in writing a history of the city schools.

"At a special election held on April 2 a vote for the purpose of erecting a new high school resulted in the proposition carrying by a poll of 173 to 3. The contract for the building was let on April 23 to Lars Pearson of Minneapolis for $35,750."

The city auditorium was formally opened on May 23-24 by the appearance here of the "best musical comedy companies then touring the country." May 16, 1910 W. R. Hoag arrived with a crew of men to stake out Judicial Ditch No. 11 and the first dredging was done May 20. The rest of the year was devoted to the county division fight ending in the division being favored by the voters at the election November 8. We were not correct in saying the "rest of the year," as nearly two months of 1910 still remained after the election, but little else of importance is recorded for that period, none that we consider worthy of mention here.

We have this note for the beginning of 1911:

"A bulletin from the postoffice department, issued about the first of the year 1911, gave some indication of the wonderful growth of the territory comprised by the Eleven Towns and which was opened to settlement in 1904. There were 14 postoffices in that territory, these being Brunkeberg, Erie, Hazel, Highlanding, Hilda, Kuehnel, Kratka, Malone, Torgerson, Mavie, Neptune, Rhoda, Rodell and Sunbeam.

"The population of the county of Pennington according to the census taken in 1910 was announced as 9,566 of which 3,714 lived in this city. John H. Ley, compiling a city directory during the spring, found the city's population to be 4,692, figures which were more nearly correct.

"The fine new high school building was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies on Feb. 28, 1911."

At a meeting of the Commercial club held on April 18 to discuss the proposition of the city acquiring water power, a resolution was adopted "that the council purchase the dam at St. Hilaire but the purchase never was made."

June 23, 24 and 25 the city was host to the Sangerfest and the three days were memorable ones for the music loving people of the northwest who gathered here in large numbers. On August 19 and 20 local business men made a trip to Grygla "to see the country and inspect the big drainage system then being constructed in that section. The junket was a revelation, even to those who had lived here for years and seen the country develop from a wilderness into a garden."

"During the summer," we find, "there was much agitation for an auxiliary light plant, both a steam and oil system being advocated. The council finally decided on Diesel oil engines and on October 28 the contract for the equipment was let to the Northwestern Electric Equipment Co. of St. Paul."

November 9 excavating for the new Evelyn hotel began and plans for several new business places were announced. December 20 the Dr. Grundy family, early residents of the city, left for its new home in Toronto, Canada.

Exhibit Space is Nearly All Taken for Building Show

Local Business Places Join Forces to Assure Success of Event

'REVELATION REVUE' AT AUDITORIUM MAY 8

To Feature Closing Day of Spring Exposition May 6, 7, 8

Plans are now well advanced for what will undoubtedly be the largest building show ever to be presented in this section of the state, which will be an outstanding feature of the spring exposition to be held under the sponsorship of the local Legion post in the Auditorium and adjoining arena Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 6, 7 and 8.

With more than twenty exhibitors already signed up for space in the huge arena, the prospect now is that the demand for accommodations will exceed the capacity of the building, according to Palmer Tommerdahl, chairman of show arrangements. Each exhibitor will occupy a space 17½ by 14 feet.

Local establishments that to date have announced their intention of participating include Montgomery Ward & company, Oen Mercantile company, Bridgeman Creameries, Larson company, Robertson Lumber company, Central Lumber company, Skarstad-Daniels Lumber company, Danielson Brothers Electric shop, Ed. Lee, Northern Woodwork company, Glass and Paint shop, Borry's garage, L. W. Best Electric Service, Thief River Bearing company, Peterson-Julien company, Independent Grocery & Fruit company, Alnes Electric Service, Kiewel Products company, Land O'Lakes Creameries and Ted Ness.

To insure a large attendance at the building show no admission fee will be charged at any time during the day or evening. In addition, free entertainment will be provided in the arena Thursday evening, May 6.

The feature attraction at the Auditorium Friday afternoon and evening, May 7, and Saturday afternoon, May 8, will be a cooking school to be conducted under the joint sponsorship of the Times and Legion post by Mrs. Olga V. Hanscomb, widely known culinary authority, in charge of the Betty Service department of the St. Paul Daily News. Admission will be free to the public and a large number of prizes will be awarded to those who attend.

An entertainment program featuring the "Revelation Revue" will be presented at the Auditorium Saturday evening, May 8, O. C. Paulson, entertainment chairman, announced. The show, lasting an hour and forty minutes, embraces a cast of 26 persons, the headliners being Lenora Henley, prima donna; Chief Chihlaloo, full-blooded Indian baritone, who is coming from Chicago after appearing on the Orpheum circuit; and Harold Olson, appearing as "Professor Wort, Swedish comedian.

Dances will be held at the Auditorium both Friday and Saturday evenings following the programs.

THREE TRANSIENTS GET THIRTY DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL

Convicted of Shoplifting and Vagrancy in Municipal Court

Three transients who arrived in this city on a freight train last week are now serving thirty-day sentences in the county jail after appearing last Friday before Judge Lincoln Arnold in municipal court.

John Ryan, 64, one of the trio, giving his address as Philadelphia, was convicted on a charge of shoplifting after several paint-brushes and other articles were found in his possession. The other two, John O'Brien, 37, Oakland, California, and Thomas Cassidy, 47, Detroit, Michigan, were found guilty of vagrancy, while additional charges may be placed against at least one of them in connection with the theft of two mail sacks early Friday morning from a truck on the Soo depot platform. The sacks, which contained nothing but empty mailbags, were found later not far from the depot. Postal inspectors are making a check of the case.

One of the same group is also suspected of having attempted to break into the office of the Land O'Lakes poultry plant the same night, the intruder having fled when an employe of the plant appeared on the scene.

Pennington Co. Chapter of Red Cross to Elect Officers Monday Night

Officers of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross to serve during the coming year will be named in the annual election to be conducted in the public library next Monday evening, April 26, at 8 o'clock, Mrs. C. M. Adkins, secretary, announced today. A feature of the chapter's activities late in the winter was the assembling and forwarding of more than $1,000 in voluntary contributions for the relief of flood victims in the Ohio river valley.

DR. BILLINGS TO TALK ON TURKEY RAISING TUESDAY

Noted Authority to Visit County Co-operators Wednesday

Turkey producers of Pennington County will have an opportunity to get some pointers on turkey production next week when Dr. W. A. Billings of the University Farm will spend two days in the county, according to R. M. Douglass, county agent.

On Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. there will be a meeting at the Hilden & Olson hall in St. Hilaire and Tuesday evening a similar meeting will be held at River Valley starting at 8 o'clock. Various diseases of turkeys and chickens will be discussed as well as some of the more general matters involved in turkey production.

Wednesday will be spent visiting with co-operators throughout the county. Any turkey growers who would like to have Dr. Billings help them with their turkey problems is asked to leave word at the county agent's office this week.

TOM MEHEGAN IS ELECTED HEAD OF THE ROTARY CLUB

Officers Named for Ensuing Year at Luncheon Tuesday

In the annual election of officers conducted by the Rotary club Tuesday noon at the Evelyn hotel, Tom Mehegan was named president of the organization, succeeding Dr. O. F. Mellby, who has served during the past year. Mr. Mehegan will take office July 1.

Other officers elected include Dr. Baldwin Borreson, vice president; Stanton R. Dahlen, secretary; A. C. Peterson, treasurer; and M. P. Erickson and Philip Bryant, directors.

Mayor W. W. Prichard discussed the campaign for a memorial to Charles M. Babcock, of which he is Pennington county chairman; and Mr. Mehegan told of plans under consideration for an addition to the Evelyn hotel. Others who spoke briefly were Mr. Dahlen, A. J. Rau, A. B. McLaughlin and Mr. Peterson.

Delinquent Personal Property Tax Warrants Go to Sheriff Friday

In compliance with the law governing the collection of delinquent personal property taxes, Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund Friday will turn over to Sheriff Arthur Rambeck approximately 400 warrants calling on Pennington county property owners to pay the amounts assessed against them. LEGISLATURE SESSION ENDS IN JAM TODAY

Appropriation Bills Expected to Total More Than $75,000,000

RELIEF BILL STILL HELD IN CONFERENCE

Revenue Fund Grants Total $13,000,000 More Than in Last Session

Appropriation bills, totaling between $75,000,000 and $80,000,000 for the next biennium were in progress for final approval of the 50th state legislature early today as it wound up its regular 90 day session.

The relief bill, by which the house and senate were $3,000,000 apart, still was in conference with a bitter controversy raging in the committee.

Worked out in conference in the closing hours of the session were the big education bill, totaling $24,158,000 and the social security appropriation of $11,744,000, and the state building program, totaling $1,215,000.

The relief bill is expected to total nearly $11,000,000 for the first year of the biennium, with no estimate as to what the amount will be if the appropriation for the second year is included.

Appropriations from the revenue fund, excluding relief, totaled $58,408,940, as compared to $44,884,997 appropriated from the revenue by the 49th legislature. Whether the relief appropriation will be made from the revenue fund or financed by borrowing still was uncertain. The senate provided for payment out of the revenue fund, the house by issuance of certificates of indebtedness.

Appropriations to be financed by borrowing approved up to early today totaled $6,715,000 as compared to $18,150,500 financed by borrowing by the 1935 legislature. The latter total, however, included $12,625,000 borrowed for relief, not in the 1937 total.

Following are the major appropriations for the revenue fund passed by both houses:

State departments— $8,825,102, an increase of $710,534 over two years ago.

Board of control— $11,641,784, an increase of $2,853,196 over 1935, approximately $1,500,000 of which, however, was due to a deficiency appropriation to finish out the current biennium, for which the 1935 legislature deliberately under-appropriated.

Semi-state activity— $1,468,779, a decrease of $464,958 under the 1935 total.

Claims —$100,718, a decrease of $54,346 under 1935.

School aid to districts where rural credit lands are situated—$200,000, an increase of $50,000 over 1935.

Social security (old age assistance) blind aid and aid to dependent children) $11,774,000, an increase of $9,024,000 over 1935.

Education— $24,158,600, an increase of $1,784,614 over 1935.

Mysterious Exhibit in Times Window Proves to be Simply a Mud Puppy

The mysterious denizen of Red Lake river, on display the past two weeks at the Times office, where it has attracted hundreds of interested spectators, all of whom asked the question "What is it?" is definitely identified today in a letter from Samuel Eddy, assistant professor of zoology at the University of Minnesota.

As suggested by two or three residents of the community, the creature, writes Professor Eddy, is a mud puppy, scientifically known as Necturus Maculosa.

"This animal", he writes, "is found pretty well over the state and seems widely distributed, but it is not found as frequently as its distribution may indicate due to the fact that it is hiding most of the time in muddy streams and lakes. Many people think this animal is harmful, but it is quite harmless. It is closely related to the frogs and salamanders."

APPLICATION ON BUS LINE GETS LOCAL HEARING

Petersen and Atwood of the Railroad Commission Preside

DECISION WILL BE ANNOUNCED LATER

Sentiment Favors Lines to Detroit Lakes and Baudette

A hearing on the application of the Triangle Transportation company for permission to operate a bus line from Baudette to Thief River Falls and from Thief River Falls to Detroit Lakes on Highway 59 was conducted Wednesday morning at the court house by Hjalmar Petersen and Harold Atwood, members of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission.

A preponderance of the testimony given at the hearing by representatives of Baudette, Erskine and other communities along the proposed route favored the establishment of the line. The chief objection was entered by a Mahnomen truck line, which opposed the carrying of express packages on the busses. The commission's decision is expected to be announced shortly after May 5.

Edward Carlson, representing the transportation company, stated that a 14-passenger bus would leave Baudette at 7:25 in the morning, reaching this city at 10:45, leaving Thief River Falls on the return trip at 8 in the evening and arriving at Baudette at 11:20. The Detroit Lakes bus would leave this city at 11:05 in the morning, arriving there at 1:25, and would leave Detroit Lakes on the return trip at 4 o'clock. The line, he said, would connect with other busses reaching all parts of the country.

A representative of the Baudette city council testified that residents of his community were strongly in favor of the proposed bus line owing to the present inadequate train connections for persons traveling in this direction. Similar testimony was given by Mayor Halvorson of Erskine and Dr. Stuurmans of that village.

Cites "Chiseling" on Part of Some Old-Age Aid Recipients

Commenting on a news story dealing with a recipient of old age assistance in Walker who sold his property and offered to reimburse the county for aid extended to him, John X. Lynskey, Pennington county old age assistance supervisor, cited the law which states that "Any person who aids or abets in buying or in any way disposing of the property of the recipient shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor."

County authorities, he said, are taking steps at the present time to recover all old-age assistance paid to date to recipients who have sold their property without the consent of the county agency.

Several cases of "chiseling", Mr. Lynskey added, have been brought to light in Pennington county in recent weeks. Investigation has disclosed that old-age assistance recipients have failed to disclose savings accounts ranging from $300 to $1,400. The county he said, may take steps either to recover the money or prosecute the individuals.

H. PETERSEN AND ATWOOD ADDRESS LOCAL F.-L. CLUB

Former Governor Deals With Events Occurring During His Term

The court rom at the court house was well filled Wednesday evening by members of the Thief River Falls Farmer-Labor club who assembled to hear talks by Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners Hjalmar Petersen and Harold Atwood of St. Paul, who had conducted a bus line hearing in the city Wednesday morning. Ward Long, president of the club, introduced the speakers.

In the course of his rambling remarks Mr. Petersen gave sidelights on incidents that occurred during his brief term as governor succeeding the late Governor Floyd B. Olson, and briefly discussed the state income tax and a state civil service law. He stated than in making 19 major appointments during his short term as governor, he had conferred with party leaders but that he had used his own best judgment in reaching a final decision.

Referring to the state income tax, Mr. Petersen expressed the opinion that rates might properly be raised to some extent, but that all proceeds should be allocated to the schools as at present. He endorsed the English civil service setup, and declared that if a bill is enacted in this state it should contain nothing of the spoils system.

Mr. Atwood outlined the activities of the railroad and warehouse commission, stating that in respect to size it ranks second only to the state highway department. Among its activities, he said, are grain inspection, regulation of public warehouses, livestock weighing, and telephone, statistical, engineering, signal, bus and truck, rate and weights and measures departments.

The serving table was centered by a beautifully decorated, three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom. Soon after the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Knadle left on a brief wedding trip to Omaha, Neb. They are at home at 2517 Nineteenth Street, Columbus.

Mr. Knadle was graduated from Lincoln high school with the class of 1927, and since that time has been with the F. W. Woolworth Co., having for the past five years been manager of the Columbus store. His bride was graduated from Kramer high school in 1933 and since that time was employed as cashier and stenographer of the Woolworth store, until her resignation two months ago.

On the Thursday evening preceding her marriage, Mrs. Knadle was the honored guest at a cocktail party given at the home of a friend at Columbus. W. C. T. U. News Notes

Christian Herald editorial

Take off your hat and cheer: the W. C. T. U. has just entered the lists against Barleycorn with a campaign of temperance advertising and education so up-to-the-minute that the wets have gone into a huddle over it. If the wets thought the W. C. T. U. was dead and buried in the same grave with the Volstead Act, they have another thought coming.—Pictures talk. And there are plenty of pictures on the dry side, plenty of evidence; all we've needed is someone to trot it out in good enough shape to really catch the eye and hold it. The W. C. T. U. has done it, at last, and the W. C. T. U. deserves the thanks of all long-suffering friends of temperance.

United Presbyterian editorial

The W.C.T.U. is to be commended for its firm adherence to the educational principle . . . It is a program such as the one now proposed that offers a real solution to some of our social evils. The method is slow and difficult, but sure.' The faithful and consecrated women, whose organization has had years of experience, and has carried on persistently in fair weather and foul, are deserving of our goodwill and active support. in.

BUDDY CRAVES TO SEE CITY SIGHTS

Sauk Center. A craving to see the sights of the city, led little Buddy Trattles, 2½ years old, to devise a way for accomplishing that purpose. He climbed upon the front of the bumper of the car belonging to his father, A. D. Trattles, farmer residing two miles west of Sauk Center, and rode into town. He was not discovered until his father parked the car in the city, and the little fellow was then removed safe and sound, none the worse for his precarious trip. Upon returning home he told his mother that he had to get to town once in a while. To add to the dangers of the trip the front bumper was loose, but luckily Mr. Trattles drove slowly.

RUNAWAY CAR BREAKS HOLE IN RESIDENCE

Mankato.—The Oscar J. Carlson family here thought that an earthquake had broken loose shortly before midnight one night last week when a driverless car belonging to Clarence E. Carlstrom, traveling in reverse crashed into the house and smashed a hole in the concrete block foundations. Carlstrom's car was parked on the street when its owner started to crank it. The gears were in reverse, and when the car started, it "looped the loop," and then plunged at the Carlson house. Carlstrom, meanwhile, was clinging to the front bumper of the car in a vain effort to drag the runaway to a halt. He suffered bruises and lacerations of the face, legs and arms.

Damage to Highways in State Caused by Frost of Last Winter Worst in History of Motor Travel
Miles of Roads in Many Areas Are Affected by Severe Weather; Repair Work Is Under Way With Number of Projects Routes and Boulevards

CONCRETE'S RESISTANCE TO SPRING "BREAK-UPS" IS WORTH MILLIONS TO TAXPAYERS EVERY YEAR

When the frost comes out or the rain pours down, concrete pavements "can take it." They're always ready to get you through with safety.

Even after the terrible punishment of the past winter, routine inexpensive maintenance quickly puts concrete back in condition for the heavy summer traffic. There is little or no interruption of service. Aggravating detours and costly delays are avoided.

Make first-hand comparison of pavements and you'll demand dependable, all-season concrete. Concrete is safe, economical, usable—in all seasons, rain or shine, day or night.

Minnesota spent $50,750,000 in ten years to repair and maintain state trunk highways. Paving more of the heavy traffic routes with concrete is the best way to reduce this expense.

Elks Prize Winning Essay Written by G. Werstlein, Jr.

Below is published an essay by George W. Werstlein, Jr., which won first place in the junior high school division of a contest sponsored by the local Elks lodge. The essay deals with the subject, "Why the United States has the best form of government." George is in the eighth grade at St. Bernard School.

I think the United States has the best government, because the constitutions of both our Nation and our States embody a plan of government in the interest of all the people. The rights of rich and poor are considered and protected.

Our government is a government "of the people" because it is the people's government, one that they possess; a government "for the people" because it is a government planned for their welfare, and in their interest; a government "by the people" because all the people have a share in carrying on the government. This makes it possible for any citizen who possesses the true qualities of leadership to take his place among those who help to guide a great republic.

The constitution recognizes no class, but it is built upon the foundation principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity, to protect the people and government.

We have a system of courts in which the United States Supreme court is at the head. This court has been given more power than any other court in the world.

Our government is not a democracy in which the individuals exist for the state but on the contrary the state exists for the people.

The individual is a part of the state. He is not only ruled but he helps to rule. How different is the present rule of Germany, Russia and other European nations; with their communism, socialism, fascism and other rulings which take liberty away from the people.

Our government is composed of three different departments, namely, the executive department, the legislative department and the judicial department.

1.—The legislative department, composed of the House of Senate and the House of Representatives. This department makes the laws.

2.—The executive department, composed of the president and his cabinet members. This department executes the laws.

3.—The judicial department, composed of the chief justice and his eight associate justices. This department interprets the laws according to the constitution of the United States.

These three departments check up on each other.

A bill must be passed by both houses and signed by the president before it becomes a law. If the president consents to any law that is doubtful the supreme court may declare it unconstitutional as was done with the N. R. A. and the A. A. A.

Our government differs from nearly all other governments in having a written constitution that is the "Supreme law of the land." Many other countries have written constitutions but in most of them the constitution can be modified and overridden by acts of the legislative branch of the government.

The American constitution is the most wonderful work ever struck off at any one time by the mind and purpose of man. It ranks above every other written constitution for the excellence of its scheme, its judicious mixture of definition and principle.

The makers of this great document showed unusual judgment in selecting the best features of forms of government with which they were familiar, and adapting them to the needs of a growing republic. Government by the people of the United States will always be as good as voting American citizens make it. It will be as bad as we allow it to become.

It is certain that we cannot do our part intelligently unless we know something about the organization of the government, what it is expected to accomplish and how its work it done. So children are required to study about their government as a part of their regular school outline, thus making them good citizens and future leaders in our great nation.

Every citizen of the United States has personal liberty. One man cannot take from another any privilege that the individual justly claims for himself. On the other hand every citizen must obey the laws of the land. There are officers appointed to see that these measures are carried out.

A strong central government under the control of the people is the best kind of protection for honest, industrious, liberty-loving men and women.

Our government is divided into states. States are divided into counties. Counties are divided into townships, thus making it possible to give the necessary attention to the individual.

United States is a new nation, yet it is one of the richest and most advanced nations in the world. Could this be so if our form of government was not the best? Many other nations have and are basing their form of government on ours. Why? because they see what it is doing to our nation and our people.

FAMILY CAT MOTHERS TINY HAIRLESS PUPPIES

This mother cat has adopted the tiny hairless puppies and mothers them as she does her kittens. Peggy takes care of the other three. Four of the pups are entirely hairless except for a small patch of fur on their heads. The fifth takes after the "papa", a Boston Spitz. The mother dog is owned by Adolph Jensen, of the Union Taxi company, and his brother H. L. Jensen, caretaker at the cemetery, is the owner of the cat.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

A round of cheers to B. W. Gabrielson, high school physical training instructor, for the bang-up good circus he presented at the Auditorium last week. Considering the short time he has had to work, the progress he has made in teaching gymnastics is quite remarkable. Given a couple of years to develop his material and he will turn out some tumblers and acrobats of real ability. Another instructor who made a good impression on the large audience that attended the circus was bandmaster R. G. Riggs. Under his direction the band performed very creditably.

Now that we know it is only another necturus maculosa, we have lost interest in the freak that has attracted hundreds of spectators to the Times window during the past two weeks. We'll wager that no other member of his family has ever received the constant care and attention that this fellow did. And he, himself, probably doesn't appreciate the service he has been getting.

THAT "LUNATIC FRINGE"

That there are many conflicting opinions as to what actually happened when the "People's Lobby" stormed the State Capitol a few weeks ago is not strange. The most fair minded spectators, sitting side by side, often disagree as to what they see. For this reason the following comment by the Park Region Echo of Alexandria, a strong Farmer-Labor paper, is interesting, indicating as it does that other besides "reactionaries" are getting pretty well fed up on the crazy antics of those whom Editor Coy refers to as a "lunatic fringe."

On this page we print a photograph of a group of radical hangers-on of the People's Lobby, who heckled the Senators and who staged the "sit down strike" in the Senate chamber last week. This picture is part of the propaganda put out by the conservatives, who hope to keep this incident going for weeks (by taking it into the contest and using it to stir up so much antagonism against Governor Benson that the public will overlook the fact that the Senate is betraying the people of Minnesota. If people can be kept talking about Governor Benson, they may overlook the fact that the Senate is deliberately loading the little fellow with more taxes and letting the big fellow off easy.

Why should a Farmer-Labor newspaper print such a propaganda picture?

We are doing it to show the good Farmer-Labor people of this part of Minnesota what sort of folks are boring their way into the party and doing it all the harm they can.

It will be noticed in this picture that practically all of the group have raised their clenched fists. This is known the world over as the sign of a communist. [illegible]

WATER FOR HALF A MILLION PEOPLE

(Minneapolis Journal)

A measure important to the welfare of residents of a territorial area of 35,000 square miles, with a population of 500,000, has just become a law in Minnesota. It is the Red river valley conservation project, and the law advances the work of a tri-state committee, really a joint planning board activity of Minnesota, North and South Dakota.

The Red river basin comprises about 16,000 square miles each in Minnesota and North Dakota. It constitutes the exact geographical center of North America. The Minnesota State Planning Board declares that water conservation in this area is essential immediately if these areas are to be "safeguarded against tragic losses during drouth periods." The problem, the Board says, is especially acute where Breckenridge, Thief River Falls, Crookston, Fargo, Grand Forks and some other cities have experienced critical water shortages.

The project as a whole has been dealt with by the Legislatures of the three States, Minnesota just now. The Minnesota Legislature excluded from the project the whole Otter Tail river basin, although the two other States adopted the plan in entirety. This difference is alleged to jeopardize the tri-state [illegible], since federal participation might be withheld in these circumstances. However, Minnesota legislators have commented that the bill would have failed of passage if it had included the Otter Tail basin.

These qualifications are of the future. What counts is that the three States are getting together on an undertaking that affects the agricultural, industrial, commercial and recreational economy of an area of half a million people. It is greatly to be hoped that the discrepancy in the Minnesota law will not seriously impede progress toward water conservation in an important region.

THE SAD FABLE OF A BASEBALL GAME THAT ENDED BASEBALL

(By Robert Quillen)

The home team was playing the last crucial game of the season. The stands were packed with frenzied, yelling, sweating fans. Above the unceasing din of partisan enthusiasm rose the shrill cries of vendors: ice cold drinks, cigars, cigarettes, and candy. The sun blazed from a cloudless sky.

A man stood in the batter's box with a bat on his shoulder. On the ground at his feet was a flat square mat variously known as the home base, the rubber, and the plate. The batter waited.

Facing him from the pitcher's box was the town's idol, a pitcher who had broken all records and seemed unbeatable; a hero unspoiled by fame and undaunted in the pinches.

The pitcher tied himself in a graceful knot, uncoiled like a steel spring, and a white flash exploded in the catcher's mitt.

"Ball one", said the umpire.

The pitcher's eyes hardened. He had heard that verdict nine times in succession and he was tired of it. Grimly he wound up again, and again the white streak flashed.

"Ball two", said the umpire.

Once more the pitcher tried.

"Ball three", the umpire said.

It was too much. The pitcher held the ball and turned to face the bleachers, holding up his hand for silence.

"There's no sense in going on with this", he cried. "Judging by the decisions already made against me, I see no reason to believe that any future pitch of mine will be called a strike. We can't hope to win this game until we get a new umpire."

"You ain't puttin' 'em over the plate", yelled an indignant fan.

"I don't claim to be doing that", said the pitcher. "I only say that I can't win this game without strikes and the umpire calls it a ball if it isn't over. He is living in the past and ruling by rules that were made a century ago. I demand a new umpire."

"Why not change the rules instead of the ump?" demanded the fan.

"There isn't time for that", said the pitcher. "This is an emergency. And, anyway, the fans might not approve the change. Give me a young umpire who will call it a strike when I say it is."

So a new umpire came in and the game was won, but it killed baseball. Each pitcher appointed an umpire who suited him and the fans [illegible] faith in their decisions.

"The people", in political parlance, it sometimes appears, no longer includes the taxpayers.

Up at Baudette, according to the veracious Billy Noonan, lives a man who phoned home to get his wife's permission to stay down town until 10 o'clock.

Simile—As leisurely as the activities of John L. Lewis.

Those who predict a balanced budget at an early date are putting too much static in their statistics.

Noting the present price of sweet clover seed, one realizes that the plant has traveled a long way since it was considered a weed.

With the gardening season at hand, the thoughtful husband will provide a light weight spade for the lady of the house.

John J. Raskob, it seems, made a mistake to join the anti-Roosevelt Liberty league. Now he's being sued for back income taxes.

Soon comes the time when the fishing season "widows" go into mourning.

The national administration is taking on a big order in working for lower prices at the same time it advocates higher wages and shorter hours.

Looking Backward

From the Times of April 21, 1927

The local Modern Woodmen lodge is organizing a baseball team with Frank Heppa as manager and Charles Dostal as captain.—Mrs. J. M. Bishop, president of the state Legion auxiliary, was selected to represent the organization at the national convention to be held in Paris. Fire Sunday caused $1,000 damage to the A. I. Fox home at 316 Kendall av. S. Members and friends of the Trinity church congregation contributed nearly $2,200 in an Easter offering to apply on the cost of the new church. Ole Christopherson, farmer of this community, is leaving shortly on a visit to his old home in Norway. Charles Gustafson is leaving in May, in company with his brother, G. O. Gustafson, on a trip to Sweden. John P. Magnuson, 73, [illegible] store at Hazel, died in Plummer April 17.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From News-Press April 19 1917

County Attorney H. O. Chommie, J. H. Ray, Mayor P. H. Gambell, E. M. Stanton were speakers at a patriotic meeting in the auditorium. So large was the crowd that more than 500 were turned away. J. H. McKinney was elected president of the local automobile club, which is affiliated with a state organization. The graduating class of Lincoln high school will number 61 this year. Jung's bakery has recently added several units of new equipment to its plant. Announcement was made of the sale of the News-Press to H. Z. Mitchell of St. Cloud. Abe Sapero left on a buying trip to Chicago and eastern centers.

TAME WOODCHUCK HERALDS SPRING

Northfield. Pussywillows, the chirping of a robin or the sensation of an uncomfortable head cold are among the more general accepted signs of spring, but at the Oscar Olson home here, it is the appearance of a woodchuck which heralds the new season's arrival. The little animal has for five years been a regular caller at the back door. This year the woodchuck, or groundhog, awoke from his hibernation and made his first visit on March 29. Last year he did not appear until April 19. The woodchuck is very tame and eats from the hands of his friends. [illegible] Many people come to see him each summer.

91 DRUNKEN, CARELESS DRIVERS JAILED IN MARCH

Ninety-one drunken and careless motor vehicle drivers were jailed by the Minnesota Highway patrol in March, according to a report by John P. Arnoldy, chief, bringing the total for the first three months of 1937 to 234. Sixteen of the defendants were turned over to district court and the others tried in municipal and justice courts. Convictions resulted in all cases.

CIRCUS GIVEN BY SCHOOLS FRIDAY WAS BIG SUCCESS

Capacity Crowd Sees Gabrielson's Tumblers and Other Offerings

The first annual all-school circus presented before a capacity audience at the Auditorium Friday evening was a revelation of the work being done in the high school and grades by the physical education department under the direction of H. W. Gabrielson. The young athletes gave convincing testimony that it soon may be unnecessary to go away from home in quest of acrobatic talent.

The parade opened in time-honored style with a parade around the "arena", participated in by members of the tumbling team and pupils from the lower grades in clown costumes, headed by little "Pepper" Lee on a tricycle.

Mr. Gabrielson's proteges gave an excellent demonstration of tumbling, springboard dives, pyramids and feats on the flying trapeze. Specialties included tap dancing by Lorraine Amundson and Dorothy Blanchard; juggling by Wesley Johnson and William Carlisle, assisted by George E. Lee; and a sensational leap by Billy Claffy from the Auditorium rafters into a gymnasium mat supported by a group of boys.

Crookston Will Vote May 14 on Proposed Winter Sports Arena

Crookston voters will go to the polls May 14 to cast their ballots on a proposed $25,000 bond issue for the construction of a winter sports building as a WPA project.

The special poll was called Tuesday night by unanimous vote of seven aldermen present at the adjourned session of the city council, called for the purpose of deciding the special ballot question.

The WPA project for construction of the winter sports building as outlined by I. S. Miller, speaking on behalf of the Crookston Association of Public Affairs, M. O. Foss, Fergus Falls architect, who has drawn preliminary sketches, and WPA officials, calls for a building to cost $66,153, of which $23,308 would be city funds and $42,845 would be provided from WPA monies. Labor costs on the building would be $36,500 which would be furnished entirely by the WPA. In addition material to the cost of about $6,300 would be provided from federal funds, according to the proposed project.

The building would be 124 feet wide and 228 feet long. It would have a self supporting roof without posts or girders, built of planking in a spider-web effect.

Senior Cast Selected for "Big Hearted Herbert"

The Senior class play cast has been chosen and is now at work rehearsing. The characters and players are as follows:

Herbert Kalness—Milton Nesse
Robert Kalness—Bruce Prichard
Elizabeth Kalness—Vivian Havel
Martha—Marjorie Matheson
Herbert Kalness, Jr.—Archie Monson
Alice Kalness—Margaret Munt
Andrew Goodrich—Alfred Nelson
Amy Lawrence—Brunell Erickson
Jim Lawrence—Donald Olson
Mr. Goodrich—Leonard Holquist
Mrs. Goodrich—Elizabeth Dahlen
Mr. Havens—James Peterson
Mrs. Havens—Solveig Fjelstad

The setting for the play, "Big Hearted Herbert", is in a small mid-Eastern city. This play is taken from a story by Sophie Kerr and it was published as a serial in the Saturday Evening Post under the title of "Chin Chin". This comedy had a long run in the Baltimore Theater in New York.

Nesse, in the leading role, seems to be well cast as the grouchy, ill-tempered husband and father of a budding young family. He is a typical old fashioned man who refuses to give up his old traditions and habits. Playing opposite him is Vivian Havel, as the hard working wife. The children of the family include two boys, one of high school age, Archie Monson, and a grade school boy, Bruce Prichard. The young daughter of the family is Margaret Rae Munt who is about to marry in spite of her father's opposition. Her prospective groom is Alfred Nelson. The roles of the supporting cast are also exceptionally well taken.

Some of the outstanding choral groups heard included the Denfeld high school a Capella choir of Duluth and the Tech High school choir of St. Cloud.

The bands that played included South high school band of Minneapolis, Willmar high school band, Mason City, Iowa High school band, Carleton College Symphony band and the University of Minnesota band.

Miss Springen and Mr. Riggs were able to hear a great variety of music, including some of the numbers to be used in the music contest Saturday, and they were also able to get instructions from [illegible] of the great musicians in action.

At the conference, Mr. Riggs was appointed to serve on the nominating committee of the Minnesota Bandmasters' Association.

Panic

A woman ran out of a house shouting "Fire!" A passerby started to run to the fire alarm, while another dashed into the hall and, being unable to see or smell smoke, turned to the excited woman and asked: "Where is the fire?"

"Didn't say fire! I meant murder!"

A [illegible] crowd at that moment and demanded to know who had been murdered.

Bitter Sweet

The master of ceremonies, after a flowery speech, exclaimed: "Gentlemen, the toast is 'The Ladies—God bless them,' for, after all, they are the sweets of life."

CAPACITY CROWD WITNESSES FIRST ANNUAL CIRCUS

Varied Program of All School Talent Is Presented

The First Annual all-school circus held last Friday evening was a tremendous success. The crowd exceeded all expectations as did the entertainment.

The circus opened as all real circuses do, with a parade in which all performers marched once around the auditorium with the accompaniment of the high school band. Immediately following the grand parade the spotlight was thrown to Wesley Johnson and William Carlisle who proceeded to display their talent in the art of juggling. And talent they had, working both separately and together in acts with the bouncing balls. After they had finished Coach George Lee added his accomplishments with three basketballs and received a large ovation from the audience.

The tumblers from Central school contributed their acts which included forward and backward rolls, head springs, hand springs, and dives. Acrobatics by the two Anlin brothers was a highlight on the evening's program and their stunts gained large applause from the crowd.

The adagio act, in which a dummy was thrown about, fooled a large group of the people and provided a thrill when the dummy was thrown from the stage out onto the main floor.

The grade school clowns took part in two races and also tumbling on a small scale. A few of the youngsters proved to be good divers although not always landing on the correct portion of their anatomy.

Something new was provided when a few members of the tumbling team took to the flying rings doing mostly cut-a-ways. Mr. Gabrielson proved himself a real artist on the rings swinging upright on his hands and completing a long cuta way which landed him at the very edge of the crowd.

Billy Claffy executed a jump from the rafters into a mat held up by members of the tumbling team. Lorraine Amundson and Dorothy Blanchard presented two tap dancing numbers.

The high-spot of the program was reached when the lights of the auditorium were turned off, and a circle of fire appeared. Using the springboard, several members of the team dived through the hoop. A cry was drawn from the crowd when Clarence Freed failed to clear the hoop and his legs caught on the flaming rim. He got through however, without being burned.

Pyramids made up a big part of the evening's program and the performance were brought to a close by a large pyramid on the stage.

This circus was one of the most successful ventures ever attempted by the school and credit should go first to the director of it all, Mr. Gabrielson, and to all performers, including the high school band.

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

Dee Noper
Joe Provencher

Did you know? They call her Dee, "Helen Jane, in the breakfast club presents the best radio program," says Dorothy Noper. She was born August 6, 1919 in Thief River Falls. Collecting souvenirs is her hobby. Dorothy is not partial to any popular orchestra but she is quite determined when it comes to a selection, she prefers "Moonlight and Roses" to any other popular number. In the line of books and authors, she prefers Hauck, and the book "Pink House." She might have outgrown, "It's time to go to bed, Dorothy!" It still is her pet peeve. Although she realizes its necessity for that schoolgirl complexion. A meal is satisfactory to Dorothy when topped with rhubarb pudding. On the screen she likes William Powell, Myrna Loy, and the picture, "After the Thin Man." Oh! here's the answer, Dorothy's favorite sport is swimming and ballroom dancing—try it girls. Dorothy hopes to be a business woman and her newspaper interest is, Tillie, the Toiler." A bit of advice, my dear, life isn't just one big comic strip.

I think Julien Provencher's favorite dish would make anyone's mouth water. It is quote: "plum pudding, the way my mother makes it" unquote. He was born in Thief River Falls on April 25, 1919. For a hobby he plays with radios. Something which has peeved him for some time is the fact that adjoining room hasn't a [illegible] in both and I believe he has some ideas as to how to improve upon a boarding school because that is his inspiration for his future ambition, which is to manage a hotel. He frequently questions, "One never knows, does one?" "White Legion" and its author Doyle, are favorites of his. On the screen he prefers Cesar Romero, Madge Evans and "Maytime". He also likes Henry King playing "When My Dreamboat Comes Home." Allan Carrons, organ melodies, and Nelson Eddy also rate high with him. I don't know if it's the instructor or the subjects because when questioned what his favorite subject was he said English IV, with J. Kyle Montague in charge, with emphasis on the latter part. Did you know modesty is one of his virtues, he doesn't claim to be a genius, but does admit "worrying" the ivories is his favorite pastime.

Eleven typing students sent specimens of their shorthand penmanship to the Gregg Writer in New York, all of whom received certificates for [illegible] pins for superior shorthand penmanship.

Lincoln High school seems to be having more new events than ever before this year. The latest one of these was the all-school circus held last week. This event was one of the most successful of the school year. It was exceptionally well attended with the auditorium housing a near capacity crowd. This event showed what a bit of work and enthusiasm on the part of the students and instructors can do for the school. This is another event which we hope will become an annual occurence, which it should easily do. Our school will be having a more up-to-date and wide awake feeling if these events are continued so let's continue them. Our hats are off to Mr. Gabrielson for his fine work.

With only seven weeks of school remaining, a few of the Seniors are probably wondering about graduation. They are the ones who are not at least fairly sure, in their own minds, that they will be on the stage when diplomas are given to the rest of the graduating class. These students have but one alternative, that is to double their efforts and show that they are at least trying to pass graduation requirements. Every student in school with even a mild splattering of intelligence should be able to graduate from a high school course. Those who do not do so, feel thoroughly ashamed. Let's not have any "ashamed feelings," Seniors. Let's all get down to work and graduate!

TRACK, BASEBALL PRACTICES BEGIN

Jack Adkins Captain of 1937 Track Squad

The arrival of spring brings with it the inevitable crackle of base hits and the flashing of spikes. After a year's absence, baseball again becomes a varsity sport and track activities are again being renewed. Coach George Lee will have charge of baseball this spring, but will be freed from coaching track as Mr. Gabrielson has been engaged to tutor the cinder contenders.

Mr. Lee will have a large number of diamond aspirants at his command when the call is issued. The majority of last year's city junior league team will undoubtedly be out for a place on the varsity nine. The all-important mound position will probably be the strongest link of the team. Helmer Sahl whose meteoric rise to higher company had local fans all agog last year, will probably be the first string chucker. Leonard Holquist, who occupied the hill on the last high school team, should give the Prowlers a second twirler of high class. Selmer Christofferson as regular backstop should give the Leemen a capable receiver, Milt Nesse and Bob Quale have divided chores at catching on the outfield.

Reuben Mickelson and Gordon Caldis at first, Wallace Tunberg at second, Roy Lee at third, and Sammy Dicken at short stop will probably form the infield. Sahl may also see service at some short field positions.

Promising fly chaggers for the outfield are Lynn Booren, Alvin Dicken, Lowell Nesse and Cliff Olesen. Besides these, there will be other contenders, many of whom, may penetrate the already strong aggregation.

A game with Crookston has been arranged for on May 13 and another contest at a later date. Five or six games will probably complete the season.

Only three veterans return from last spring's track team. They are Captain Jack Adkins, Milt Nesse, and Selmer Dicken. Mr. Gabrielson will face the sizer human task of replacing Malcolm Magnuson, Vic Jung, Lowell Nesse, Jack Booren, and Gilbert Mickelson, all of whom were claimed by graduation. "Bud" Nelson, James Peterson and Selmer Christofferson are outstanding prospects for the varsity squad.

Extra practice will go on during the regular physical education period for all boys. All, who are not playing football and desire a place on the track team, are requested to report for special practice after school to Mr. Gabrielson promptly in order that they may receive due consideration.

An inter-class track meet may be held in the first part of May in order to get an idea as to what additional new material is available. A dual meet plus the district and regional meets will constitute the outside competition.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

Hi ho, "draw a bucket of water" or "Rain, rain, go away, give the G. A. A. girls a chance to play" tennis, kittenball, hiking, steak frying at the end of a hike, oosh my. In other words, Mr. Weatherman, "let's call the whole thing off".

This week goeth in the call to bat. Come ye who love the sweet smack of contact between a hard swung bat and swiftly pitched ball. Practices twice a week after school Monday and Wednesdays. Tuesdays and Thursdays are reserved for tracksters. If you are out for both my what exercise you'll get—only, points are points in G. A. A. language and the time draws near for determining the "L" girls with the most points. She gets a loving cup trophy. Y'Know.

Posture again, girrls, and it's rumored that a good many Gym lassies are going to play Venus on the pedestal with Mary Chommie. They would rather like the place. The classes marched on! Chins up, tummies in, hips down, natural even swing, and come out a winner.

Weight—look at the time—and I don't at that "peanuts and chew nut cand" affair—wonder who does the [illegible] Jack A. [illegible] plenty but at anything.

Gym's and wear your rubbers.

APRIL ANTICS

How's about a little Who's Who of our own? You know ya just can't let the seniors walk away with the one and only Who's Who. So just for fun let's "gus" about:

Bob Kielty—'member the Kielty boys a few years back? Well, there's another one coming up. He's just a freshman, you know, but he stands a slim chance of becoming a sophomore next year. He's got a girl already and his girl's a sophomore but still Bob is a pretty good sized kid.

Earl Nicholson—He was born sometime I suppose and has grown up to be a nice big healthy boy. He is a sophomore and oh what a Romeo. In the Inter-class tournament he won a gold basketball and now he's the apple of every girl's eye. Especially Dorothy Lang we're told.

Lorraine Amundson—Everyone calls her "Squirt" but we know different. Ivan H. and another kid were both counting her around last Sunday. Gosh—they went riding and to the show and everything.

Marion Dillon—Darn it. You just can't keep these seniors down. She is the girl what Eric likes and he carries her picture in his billfold and he sits and looks at it all during assembly period.

Ralph Gustafson—His daddy has a garage and lots of cars. But he's a pretty good old sock too—mind you, he chases after junior girls and he's only a sophomore. Whew!!!

Peggy Paupst—Gee Whiz she's another senior. She is the envy of all the girls on account of she has got pull around a "frat" house at Grand Forks and also on account of it she went to a military ball at the same place.

Ken Engelstad—This little feller is a sophomore again but he sticks to his own class. But he doesn't suffer from that. Oh boy no! He and Enid O. have the best of fun. As a matter of fact they're just about as bad as Dorothy J. and Harold H.

Ardith Haney—Dark brown eyes and dark brown hair and a girl besides. Now, we don't want to drag up any scandal and we certainly don't want to mention a new couple. But when we were scouting around like little scouts always do, we spotted Ardith with Perry F.

Don Anderson—Betcha he's approximately 17, and kids that are 17 are usually in love and any boy in love is in love with a girl and the girl in the case is a junior (so is Don) and her initials are F. H.

Lorraine Baken—As "True Blue" as they make them. Why she traipsed way down to Plummer to see a kid from way down "South someplace."

WIND-CHILL

Looks like spring is here—at least a few of them so called students are looking tired lately.

Wow! Only seven weeks left of school! and then only a few more till it starts again.)

Some of our senior girls seem to be traveling around the country a great deal. Even as far as Red Lake Falls.

Senior day! Oh Senior Day! How we await your coming. (with apologies to Mary Livingston)

All our blossoming young juniors and sophomores seemed to have a swell time at that gigantic barn dance last week end. Some fun.

And our basketball co-captains of the coming year seem to be after the other half of the student body in great style.

And do you notice all the anklets blossoming out now days.

And that circus uncovered some great future talent for the coming high school teams.

Our own error—Then one Progress headline puts out the headline "over 25 out for track berths"

To The Freshmen

I wish to thank the Freshmen class and some of my friends for the lovely flowers they sent to me during my recent bereavement.

THREE SQUADS ARE ACTIVE IN GRID PRACTICE

Thirteen Lettermen Return As Nucleus for 1937 Squad

As spring football merges into its second week in session, a tentative first string lineup is being formed as the potential stars are being filtered from the "scrubs". Coach George Lee has been juggling his gridders frequently to determine at which position the gridders show the greatest aptitude. The present first string line has at ends, Don Lorentson and Clark Mickelson, Carl Sundberg and Ray Bredeson at tackles, Orville Eide and Wesley Johnson at guards, and Captain Bob Hanson at the center post. Two backfield combinations have been used with varied success. One combination has Lynn Booren at quarterback, Lowell Nesse and Milford Haughom at halfbacks, and Gordon Caldis, former center understudy, at fullback. Wallace Tunberg holds the quarter position on the second quartet with Lynn Booren shifting to half, teaming with Nesse, and Haughom being switched to full.

Only three regulars of last year's forward wall are out for practice. They are Lorentson, Bredeson and Hanson. Bredeson has been shifted to tackle to fill a gap caused by absence of Loren "Bones" Stadum, regular tackle, who is out of action because of a stubborn knee injury, which he suffered in basketball last winter. The line posts should be adequately filled as there are many experienced holdovers together with a host of newcomers. All of the present first stringers saw extensive service last fall with the exception of Karl Sundberg, Sundberg a husky sophomore tackle, whose forte is power and plenty of it, should fit in well with the new line scheme.

The absence of Pomeroy Hill has caused some anguish in forming a backfield. Hill is not out for spring football and he may not be back next fall as he intends to transfer elsewhere. Mel Haughom appears to be a diamond in the rough and he may partially make up for Hill's absence. Haughom is a veritable speed demon and should have what it takes to become a sterling backfield performer.

Negotiations are under way for a football game with either Warren or Crookston here on Thursday evening, May 6. This game would be held in junction with the Spring Exposition and would be held a fitting finale for the spring training grind.

EXCHANGE

Advice to all classmen

Freshmen: Don't whoop in town or skip church.

Sophomores: Don't lead people to believe you're freshmen.

Juniors: Don't think you're as good as the seniors.

Seniors: Don't aggravate college freshmen. You'll be one next year—we hope.

The Spud, Moorhead.

Our Coach:

Have you any idea what it is that the teams mean when they talk about their "coach?". It is talk about their "coach?". Is it No, that's a bus. Maybe it's what their opponents are carried out on when injured. No, that is a stretcher. After some investigation, you'll finally discover that coach is a mysterious and inspiring member of the faculty who spends two and three hours a day teaching the team how to win, and how to correct their errors. If the coach can take that much time off each day to build up a successful team, let's take just a few minutes off to congratulate him on his fine work to show that we appreciate what he has done.

DISTRICT MUSIC CONTEST TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Mrs. Humpstone, Mr. Howard Are Chosen for Judges

The annual 10th District Music Contest will be held in Thief River Falls Saturday, April 24, in the municipal auditorium.

Events will begin at the auditorium at 8:30 in the morning, with the small instrumental and vocal groups, woodwind groups, and vocal quartettes, trios, and octettes. At 10 o'clock mass band rehearsal will be held in the skating arena. The members from all the contesting bands will participate in this performance. At 11:15 there will be a massed chorus rehearsal for the cantata to be presented in the evening.

The afternoon program will begin at 1:00 with the large vocal groups, including mixed choruses and boys' and girls' glee clubs. Following this the various bands will perform.

The evening performance will begin at 8:00 with the cantata "Hear My Prayer", and "Fair Ellen", sung by the massed chorus of 325 voices. Miss Carol Humpstone of the Music Department of North Dakota University will direct the chorus and will also serve as judge of the vocal entries in the day's contest. The massed band of 250 members will play four numbers including "O Light of Life", "Grant Us to Do With Zeal", "Soldier's Chorus" from Faust, and "Moment Musicale". The massed band will be directed by the instrumental judge, John C. Howard of the University of North Dakota. The evening program will be an inspiring spectacle because of the number of participants, and the music to be heard. Persons interested in the individual schools will want to attend the afternoon session to hear the various groups perform, but everyone should attend the evening program and see the various schools give a massed performance.

There are eleven schools represented in the contest, including Alvarado, Fisher, Climax, Fosston, East Grand Forks, Crookston, Red Lake Falls, Stephen, Warren, Newfolden, and Thief River Falls. Five towns are entered in the Class C division for bands and only three in Class B. Thief River Falls is in the Class B division.

The decisions of the judges will be announced after the evening festival. Thief River Falls music lovers should take advantage of this opportunity and attend this colorful school event.

Bees Swallow Nectar

When bees buzz from flower to flower, they are not gathering honey, says a writer in Pearson's Weekly. They are collecting nectar, which they swallow and partially digest. This is later regurgitated and deposited in the combs of the hive as honey. A bee would have to make about 30,000 trips and gather nectar from approximately 3,000,000 blossoms in order to produce one pound of honey. Since bees (workers) only live about six weeks, no one of them ever makes more than about one-tenth of a pound of honey in a lifetime.

RECORD SNOW COST STATE $1,215,514 FOR THREE MONTHS

Cost Considerably Higher Than in 1936, States N. W. Elsberg

Heavy winter snow, which set a 60-year precipitation record in some parts of the state, cost the Minnesota highway department $1,215,514 for snow removal the first three months of 1937, or $188,679 more to keep the roads open than in the same period of 1936, according to the maintenance divisions report to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner. Expense was $1,026,835 the first three months last year.

Snow fall reached a depth of 112½ inches (9⅓ feet) at Brainerd, according to highway reports, while Detroit Lakes reported 104½ inches and Morris had 82. Heaviest drifting occurred in and near Morris and Willmar, while Marshall and Windom were also deep in the drift country.

Minnesota had the wettest winter since 1891, according to federal meteorologists. For December, January and February, the average precipitation in the state was 3.86, compared to a normal average of 2.28 for those months.

Snow fall ranged from 60 to 70 inches in most part of the state.

Total snow removal expense in 1936 on state highways was $1,106,816, January to December inclusive. To date in 1937, the department has spent $1,215,514 and to this must be added, in computing the total for the year, $274,800 for erection and dismantling of some six million feet of snow fence. Of this approximately $24,000 was for new fence, although a comparatively small amount was purchased last fall. To its 1937 expense, the department must add whatever it will cost to keep highways open in October, November and December next fall.

While the cost of highway maintenance for the nearly 11,500 miles of road increased, no state highway was closed for more than a few days this year and no main trunk route was closed for more than 24 hours, except in isolated cases. Approximately 600 units of snow removal equipment was used. Counties were assisted in some cases on secondary roads where state equipment was available and overtaxed county plows were unable to do the job.

To offset the higher highway expense, the Northwest's drouth-stricken farmers, especially Minnesotans, were benefited greatly by the added moisture to surface soil. The northern part of the state, which includes the famous wheat growing territory, received an average of 44.7 inches of snow, according to government figures. The March snow was of "immeasurable benefit to farmers," one government official said.

Water Levels in Lake Bronson Rise Rapidly During the Past Week

During the past week waters have risen very rapidly at Lake Bronson says the Bronson Budget. In fact on Monday evening the water raised 12 inches and since has been raising continually until at the present time a large area is inundated. Depth at the old swimming beach is 21 feet with a variation down to 10 at other points.

Water is rushing through the spillway and high over the inclosed portion of the drain, to the extent there is a depth of 16 feet on the spillway side of the dam.

The pouring of concrete to complete the structure is now in progress. A group of men are clearing the back area of trees to take care of further inundation.

Lake Bronson is rapidly taking form and will be a point of attraction and recreation for local people and tourists with the coming of summer. It is reported more than 200 people from North Dakota and other Northwestern points viewed the dam Sunday afternoon.

Will Discuss Traffic Control on Reservation

Regulation of traffic through the Red Lake Indian reservation will be the subject of a conference in the Bemidji courthouse at 10 A. M. Friday, April 30. The State Highway patrol has no authority within the reservation territory, which is traversed by state highways 89 and 1. Attending the meeting will be representatives of various governmental and civic groups. Federal, state, county and municipal authorities and others interested are invited to attend the meeting, according to A. V. Rohweder of Duluth, chairman of the Minnesota Public Safety committee. A noon luncheon will be held under auspices of the Bemidji Civic and Commerce association.

LIGHTED PIPE MAKES TORCH OF AUTOMOBILE

South St. Paul—Dr. J. E. Bingham has found a way to get a baked enamel finish on his car without calling in the services of a painter. Stopping at a filling station to order gas, he walked around near the attendant and continued to smoke his pipe vigorously. The air suddenly was filled with flames and the vent on the tank became a torch, baking the enamel on the back of the car. The pump and hose were enveloped in a sheet of sudden flame and everyone leaped back to safety. A boy scout, passing by, scooped up a double handful of sand and ran to the blazing tank and dribbled it into the tank through the flames. Later the men slipped back within fighting distance and threw a cloth over the gas tank and smothered the flames while the car radio played, "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

LEGISLATURE SPECIAL TERM MEETS MAY 24

Regular Term Ends Saturday Without Agreement on Taxes

SEEK TO AVERT RISE IN REAL ESTATE TAXES

Session Prolonged Three Days After Scheduled Closing Date

Minnesota's legislature came to a bitter finish late Saturday with affairs of state in a mess that a special session will try to unravel May 24.

Governor Elmer A. Benson called the special session to convene May 24 immediately after final adjournment of the house.

He gave as his reasons the failure of the fiftieth legislature to enact a tax program so that revenue might be raised to finance relief and old age assistance and at the same time balance the budget without increasing the levy on real estate.

Such a situation as the state has never seen was created by the deadlock on a tax program, accompanied by caustic denunciations on each side and an atmosphere that bodes ill for the next attempts at a program.

It was exactly 5:56 p. m. when the house finally adjourned sine die.

Failing to get a tax program, the legislature, ended its work three days behind schedule by:

Holding up two major appropriation bills that total $38,000,000.

Declining to pass a tax levy bill to raise the money for appropriations already made—a tax levy that would have exceeded 27 mills.

Throwing a big tax bill into the scrap heap after four conference committees had failed to reach an agreement.

Filling the record with statements sharply assailing what has occurred on both sides.

Here is the tax bill on which the legislature almost agreed, then abandoned Saturday:

Corporation income tax, 7 per cent first year, 6½ second year, then 6 per cent.

Individual income tax, 1 to 10 per cent, the top rate of apply on incomes over $20,000.

Moneys and credits tax, 4 mills.

Iron ore occupational and royalty tax, raised from 6 to 9 per cent.

Telephone gross earnings tax increased from 4 to 7 per cent on large companies.

Increases in tax on other gross earnings, such as freight lines, sleeping car companies, trust companies, etc.

Tax of 5 per cent on gasoline pipeline gross earnings, none on natural gas.

Drastic increase in inheritance tax and a gift tax.

Increase from 60 cents to $1 a gallon in taxes on hard liquor.

A chain store tax, details not worked out.

The points on which they differed when they broke up:

Whether distribution of income tax to schools should be on basis of actual attendence figures or number of children of compulsory school age. The senate chose the more generous method to give schools about $2,000,000. It would have meant $200,000 to Minneapolis.

Whether federal income payments may be deducted in paying the state tax as at present. The house declined to allow the deduction.

Which of two methods should be used to figure income tax exemptions the senate yielding to the house plan if the house would yield on the other two differences.

Most of CCC Workers Transferred to New Project From Thief Lake

Restoration of the Mud Lake area in Marshall county as a migratory waterfowl refuge has now been started by the biological survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A recent executive order sets aside 56,170 acres ultimately to be acquired for the refuge and names it the Mud Lake migratory waterfowl refuge.

Thousands of waterfowl nested in the mud lake area before drainage began there in 1911. At that time the lake covered about 5,000 acres and was from 2 to 6 feet deep. It was studded with marshy islands and surrounded by many small lakes and pot-holes. Peat fires that followed drainage destroyed much of the vegetation providing food and cover for wild ducks and other wildlife. Most of the area has since been found unsuited for agriculture.

Among waterfowl that will benefit particularly by the restoration of Mud lake are the mallard, blue-winged teal, gadwall, redhead, canvasback, and ruddy duck. These still frequent the area, but in small numbers as the lake usually is dry.

Through the Resettlement Administration and with the cooperation of Minnesota authorities the biological survey already has acquired a large part of the refuge land. A contract for building the main dam for impounding water has been awarded to a private contractor. CCC boys in a biological survey camp cooperating with the state in developing a state refuge at Thief lake have practically completed their work and now will devote most of their time to improving the new federal refuge, which is nearby.

L. D. Longley, superintendent in charge of the biological survey work at Thief Lake, announced this week that of 157 CCC workers employed on conservation projects in Eastern Marshall county, only 25 per cent are now engaged on the Thief lake project, the remainder being at work on the Mud lake undertaking, where they are building roads, clearing the lake bottom and making a survey of the refuge.

WEEK-END FALL OF SNOW MAKES MUCH TROUBLE

Sleet Causes Breaking of Nearly 500 Telephone Poles in Area

NORTHWEST HIGHWAY TRAFFIC IS HALTED

Seeding Operations Further Delayed for a Week or Longer

An almost unprecedented late April rain, sleet and snow storm that brought a total precipitation estimated at more than two inches to this community last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, broke off nearly 500 telephone poles in this section, brought highway traffic to a standstill and caused a further delay of a week or more in seeding operations.

Rain started falling Friday, and early Saturday turned to sleet and then to snow which continued Sunday, and which was driven by a high wind that caused drifts to form across the highways, causing many cars to be stalled for varying periods between this city and Red Lake Falls and on Highway 1 to Warren.

A. J. Rau, manager of the local exchange of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, reported that on the Bell system rural lines out of this city alone approximately 200 poles were down Saturday morning, and that 65 or more phones in the city were out of order due to broken lead-in wires. Two crews totaling twenty workers immediately began the work of restoration, and service had been restored by Monday evening. Electric power service at St. Hilaire also was interrupted by the storm.

The storm, which reached its height Saturday, greatly inconvenienced nearly 600 high school students who came to this city that day from other communities to participate in the district music contest at the Auditorium. Only a portion of the large number of visitors attempted to brave the storm, many spending Saturday night and Sunday here.

Travelers returning from the Twin Cities reported that the snow did not extend as far as Detroit Lakes or Bemidji. The latter city, however, was reported to have received a total of 2.78 inches of precipitation over the week-end, while 2.05 inches was recorded at Grand Forks. Electric service was seriously interrupted in towns served by high lines in the western part of the Red River valley almost as far south as Moorhead.

COUNTY BOARD SEEKS BIDS ON 1937 ROAD WORK

Jobs Approved Monday About Half of Total for Last Year

ESTIMATE COST OF PROGRAM AT $18,000

To Get Bids on Seven Miles of Construction and 30 Miles Graveling

All highway improvement projects to be carried out this year in Pennington county were decided at an adjourned session of the county board Monday.

The work, involving seven miles of construction and approximately thirty miles of graveling, is little more than half the program carried out in 1936, according to Paul Roy, board chairman, who declared that the board is determined to keep the county road funds on a cash basis.

The projects, on which bids will be opened at the court house May 24, involve an estimated expenditure of about $18,000, all the money that is expected to be available this year from the gasoline tax, state aid and the county road and bridge levy.

Construction work on which bids will be received includes two miles on State Aid Road 1 in Hickory; two and one-half miles on State Aid Road in Rioner; and two and one-half miles on County Aid Road 34 in Black River.

Proposed gravel surfacing jobs include five and one fourth miles on State Aid Road 1 west from St. Hilaire, and the following county aid road jobs: No. 37, six miles in Sanders; No. 20, three miles in Norden and North; No. 7, three miles in Numedal; No. 13, two miles in North; No. 5, six miles in Mayfield and Deer Park; No. 17, three miles in Smiley; and No. 28 one and one-half miles in Rocksbury.

Local Baseball Club Enters Four-Team Loop

Four Towns Represented at Meeting in This City Tuesday Night

The Thief River Falls baseball team sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce was assured of faster competition than it experienced last year when a new four-team league to be known as the Red River Valley league was organized at a meeting in the Civic and Commerce association rooms Tuesday evening.

The loop will include teams from Warren, East Grand Forks and Oslo, as well as this city. The sport of baseball is well established in all the towns represented, and each community has an ample supply of talent, so that some hard-fought contests are in prospect during the season, which is scheduled to get under way Sunday, May 30.

The league schedule, to be drawn up next week, calls for two games to be played each week during the season. Officers elected at the meeting Tuesday include E. T. Snowfall Permits but Three Towns to be Represented in City Sunday

As a result of the heavy snowfall and high wind Saturday and Sunday, firemen from only three northwest communities managed to reach Thief River Falls Sunday to attend the scheduled district fire school and annual meeting of the Border Firemen's association.

Hallock, Kennedy and Crookston were represented at the meeting by a total of 13 men. Members of a delegation that left Baudette sent word that they had become stalled at Greenbush and were unable to complete the trip.

In spite of the small attendance, an informal meeting was held, at which Charles Gehrke of St. Paul, deputy state fire marshal explained the arson law and the laws governing condemnation proceedings. Ross Smith of Crookston, president of the Minnesota State Firemen's association, extended an invitation to the group to attend the state convention in Crookston in June.

STORMY WEATHER MARS SUCCESS OF MUSIC FESTIVAL

Evening Program Canceled; Local Entries Receive High Rating

The most unfavorable weather conditions imaginable marred the success of the District 10 high school music contest held Saturday at the Auditorium.

So heavy was the fall of wind-driven snow during the afternoon that the massed band and choral festival scheduled for the evening was canceled so that visiting students could leave by daylight for their homes in northwest communities. As it was, however, many were obliged to remain in this city over the week end.

In spite of the adverse conditions, fully 650 pupils and their directors were present in the city for the occasion. All groups that were scheduled to participate managed to arrive with the exception of a few from Fosston and Stephen, according to Supt. Morris Bye, in charge of local arrangements.

The vocal entries were judged by Carol Miles Humpstone and the instrumental by Professor John E. Howard, both of the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks. The Thief River Falls entries fared exceedingly well in the ratings, the band being given an A rating; brass instruments, A; woodwind instruments, A; boys' glee club, A; girls' glee club, B; boys' double quartet, B; mixed voices, B; and mixed chorus, C.

The present switchboard, Mr Rau stated, while satisfactory when first installed following the Auditorium fire five years ago, is no longer adequate because of increased traffic loads. The new equipment includes a 1,440 line switchboard, equipped with 1,000 common battery circuits, twenty toll lines and 30 rural lines.

LIVING COSTS MOVE UPWARD

According to a recent survey, the amount of food that can be purchased by an American laborer for nine hours of work requires 12 hours of work in Denmark and Sweden, 13 hours in Switzerland, 14 in Norway and Holland, 15 in Great Britain, 20 in France, 22 in Germany, 23 in Belgium and 29 in Italy. This survey, of course, is based on the compensation for similar work and the food costs in the respective countries.

Comparisons of this kind deserve more serious consideration by the American people than they receive. The present tendency is to condemn the defects of what is generally referred to as our "system" without proper recognition of the many benefits which that "system" has brought to us. It is a fact that our people of moderate means today are far richer than were the rich people of two centuries ago. We forget that even up to less than a hundred years ago, acquiring a pair of shoes was an event of considerable importance in the life of an average individual.

There can be only one logical reason for this great increase in wealth during the past century and that is the fact that we have produced more. Two centuries ago the supply of consumable goods was very limited. Maintaining an adequate food supply was the most difficult problem of society, and the majority of the people were engaged, in one form or another, in the task of providing food. Wages barely provided sustenance.

Today, under improved production methods, food is cheap. A few hours of labor will buy a week's supply. We common people eat fancier foods than the rich did two hundred years ago. We have fruits and fresh vegetables the year around. Coarse bread, once the main course of the common man's meal, is now a health food, eaten to give overloaded stomachs a rest.

Only a small part of our labor is required for the purchase of food. The bulk of our wages go for other things. We live in comfortable homes that are equipped with many modern conveniences. We buy radios and automobiles and washing machines. With what we have left over after our food is paid for we build fine public buildings, maintain an elaborate school system and insist on hard surfaced highways to drive our automobiles over.

In setting forth these self evident facts it is not our purpose to argue that we should be satisfied with what we have. As yet we have barely scratched the surface of our possibilities. But it is important, in planning for a future of greater abundance, that we give consideration to those factors that have made our past progress possible. And, boiling that down to simple terms, we have more because we have produced more.

The only possible way we can have more of the things we want is to produce more of the things we want. Costs of desirable things must be lowered. Costs can be lowered through greater efficiency. If increased efficiency is offset by shorter hours of labor then all we gain is more leisure. And that is one of the things we are going to have to decide in the near future. We are going to have to decide whether we want more leisure or more of the things that labor produces.

If we want more leisure then let's all of us get down on the same basis. If a six hour day is long enough for the man who labors then it should be long enough for the farmer too. There is no reason why the farmer should exchange the products of twelve hours of labor for what is produced in six hours. If the farmer works only six hours the price of food will go up. The laborer will not like this. But when the laborer works only six hours then the price of goods goes up and the farmer gets the short end of the bargain.

This is a problem that is not going to be easily solved. Under a system of free trade, the laws of supply and demand provide natural adjustments for such situations. Too many artificial barriers now retard such adjustments, however. The farmer operates on a free trade basis. He takes whatever the market will pay him. Labor, on the other hand, is strongly organized and is beginning to insist that it will not work unless it gets its price.

Sooner or later, and probably in the near future, this situation is going to result in another period of economic chaos. Costs are going up. They will go higher. We are just beginning to feel the effects of government spending. Labor is making a futile effort to shift its share of the cost of government spending to other groups by wage increases. These, in turn, merely hasten the day of reckoning by accelerating the advance in prices. We have had many strikes but the biggest one is yet to come. That will be the buyer's strike. The cost of goods will advance to a point where buyers will drop out of the market. And then we will go through another cycle of unemployment.

That result could be avoided but to avoid it would require moderation and intelligence and those qualities are not much in evidence at the present time. Maybe a good old-fashioned panic is going to be necessary to bring us back to straight thinking again. And the sooner we get back to straight thinking the sooner we will resume that march of progress that has given us, and will continue to give us, an ever increasing abundance.

Folks hereabouts are glad an early Easter means an early spring. Just think how late it would have been to get the crops in this year if we had had a late Easter.

BUCKLER RETIRES

It seems a little early to start talking about next year's political campaign but the following observation by the Bemidji Sentinel will probably prove interesting to those who think in terms of district politics:

> Well defined reports state that Congressman R. T. Buckler will not be a candidate for re-election next year and it is also stated that his secretary, Harold Hagen, is putting in a bid for the post. That his brother, George Hagen of Crookston, now in the legislature, is also willing to go to Washington seems to be no secret. Plans of the Farmer Labor leaders will, however, have to take into consideration the merits of State Senator Harry A. Bridgeman of Bemidji who, while he has made no statement regarding his attitude, is a natural prospect for the office. A liberal of long standing, a leader in the senate, an active and prominent member of the railroad brotherhoods and a man who has demonstrated his ability in legislative matters, Senator Bridgeman will be given consideration from every part of the district. While Bemidji is not well located geographically to demand attention from all parts of the district, Senator Bridgeman through his own acquaintance will be able to draw support from even the farther end of the territory. It will be interesting to note the progress of this campaign.

4-H Sunday in Church to be Observed May 2

Thousands of Minnesota 4-H boys and girls will be in church Sunday, May 2, to especially observe the day as Rural Life and 4-H Sunday in Church, announces T. A. Erickson, state 4-H club leader, University Farm, St. Paul.

"The 4-H movement has been recognized as one of the great character building elements influencing rural boys and girls," explained Mr. Erickson, "and in order to emphasize these character building values of club work and to stimulate a closer contact between this work and the church, the plan of designating a 4-H Sunday in church was initiated in 1925. Consequently, every fifth Sunday following Easter is known as Rural Life and 4-H Sunday in Church."

Evangelist Discusses Bible Baptism Sunday

"The baptism instituted by Jesus was a burial of the old sinful man with all his tendencies to evil and a resurrection from the watery grave to walk in the newness of life. This is the only baptism practiced and recognized by the New Testament writers. This was the baptism advocated by the great reformers of the 16th century, but not accepted." So stated Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture on "Bible Baptism" at the old Methodist church Sunday night. The next week's program is announced elsewhere in this paper.

Bemidji Man Endorsed for Federal Judge Post

USED BINDERS, MOWERS AND RAKES

We have two McCormick-Deering Binders, one and two years old. Two Mowers, a Minnesota and one McCormick-Deering, only one year old. Besides several other older mowers, binders and hay rakes and on any one of these we can make exceptional bargains right now.

TRACTOR TIRES AND CHAINS

Some may worry about the rubber tires on tractors due to wet conditions this spring, but we have a tire chain, the HODELL, which will solve the problem. Rain, mud, snow or ice will not worry any farmer if he has HODELL TRACTOR CHAINS. Rubber tires on tractors is the great forward move. GOODYEAR Tires are far in the lead for farm tractors and with the Hodell chains at a small investment, your worries are over.

DELAYED SPRING WORK

There is still plenty of time for planting of all average crops in this section, and we can well consider ourselves lucky to have the moisture, compared with sections now having dust storms. The thing important is to have the necessary farm equipment and machines to complete the job in a hurry. Two new McCormick-Deering Grain Drills are all we have or can get for this year. But on most everything else we can still supply. Besides, we have a number of used tillage tools and grain drills at exceptional bargains. We are at your service.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

After having agreed upon many of the major proposals for a tax program the Conference committees of both the House and the Senate at 5 a. m. last Saturday gave up the ghost and declared that it was useless to proceed further. On Saturday both the Senate and the House adjourned sine die and Governor Benson announced that a special session will be called for May 24. This will give the rural members of the Legislature an opportunity to return home and take care of the spring planting and all members of the Legislature a needed rest.

In the meantime the House voted to appoint an interim tax committee in an effort to work out a satisfactory tax program.

For a time it looked as if a complete tax agreement would be reached, although it was generally admitted that the special session would have been necessary to prepare the needed laws as an insufficient time remained to perfect the program. Monday was the last day that the governor can sign bills. And it was generally agreed that the tax bill could not be prepared for his signature by that time.

The Legislature broke up with intense bitter feeling on the part of both liberal and conservative groups. The former charged that most of the Senate conferees were corporation lawyers representing the interests of the corporations that are their clients, rather than the interests of the people. They also charged the conservatives with agreeing on a certain program which, on its face, would balance the budget and provide for no increase in the real estate tax levy, upon which the Governor insisted, but that when it came to working out the machinery for carrying out such a program they, in fact, nullified their own agreement.

In calling a special session Governor Benson stated that the tax program acceptable to the Administration and acceptable to the people must provide not a fictitious balancing of the budget, but real balancing of the budget, together with a reduction in the real estate tax levy, because of the unjust heavy tax burden which now rests upon real property.

At the last minute he endeavored to bring both groups together. He issued a statement which also clarified the important tax issues before the Legislature so that the people, confused by the misrepresentation in the daily press, may understand the situation. The Governor pointed out that the only question before the Legislature is whether a heavier tax burden shall be placed upon "big business, corporations, public utilities, the Steel Trust, and those of great wealth" or whether an added burden shall be saddled on those who own real estate.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

A most remarkable philosophy of the present day politicians is their utter disregard for the honesty of purpose and the best interest of the state or country as a whole who have honored them with their present position. It appears that the majority of them once elected to public office they seem to believe that it is a personal affair, regardless of the purpose for which the people elected them to office.

Take President Roosevelt for instance. After spending billions upon billions of the taxpayers money, just note what he is doing. Much of this money has been spent for a worthy cause, and has been a blessing to thousands of our people in need, while millions upon millions have been wasted thru extravagance and careless political set-ups. After thus spending the people's money, he is now using his popularity so gained to destroy an independent judiciary, which in turn will destroy the very fundamentals of our American form of government, and declare it progressive legislation!

If there ever was a piece of "Reactionary" legislation attempted in the history of the United States, Roosevelt's plan to circumvent the constitution, and appoint six Supreme Court Judges to act as stooges, in order that he may dictate decisions according to his view of thinking right or wrong. If this is not the most flagrant and abominable piece of "reactionary" legislation ever attempted in our land, we would like to know what it is. Common sense tells any one that it is not "progressive" which political stoolpigeons are trying to cram down the throats of the American people today.

But, the American people are thinking, and refuse to be lead by a ring in the nose by such cheap misleading "political" claptrash, which contain neither sense nor logic. It recalls the historic bible event at the banquet of King Belshazzar! "Thou art weighed in the balance and art found wanting."

My dear Mr. Editor:

The decision in favor of the Wagner Labor Act leads us to the opinion that the majority members of the Supreme court have taken a mental laxative.

The efficacy of such a treatment on the remaining and four minority members of the court is to be doubted, as they are chronic sufferers of reactionary obstipation—and that disease is practically incurable.

ALL ROAD PATROLMEN ON DUTY 5 TO 7 P. M.

Because of a sharp increase in the volume of traffic and accidents between the hours of 5 and 7 p. m., all highway patrolmen have been ordered to be on duty on the highways those hours. Schedules must be so arranged that other work is performed at other hours, according to the order of Chief John P. Arnoldy. The patrol expects a marked increase in its duties as soon as the new uniform highway traffic act becomes operative.
